Legend of sword and fairy 3

This waizhuan (side-story) for the third game in the Xianjin Qixia Zhuan series is not directly related to this story-wise, but graphics and gameplay-wise both are almost identical. It uses the same fully 3D graphical machine, role-playing system, and turn-based battles with visible tactical enemies, an indicator that shows the speed of your actions and enemies (allowing additional strategies), and two kinds of energy bars for special techniques. For an unknown reason, the sanctuary of the sacred goddess on Your mountain has been destroyed. The head of a kung-fu school, Xu Changqing, ordered a young student named Nangong Huang to look for Qinleng, a Chinese deity who has knowledge of Wu Ling, five spiritual wheels. Only with the help of this knowledge can peace be restored in China. Nangong Huang accepts the mission, eager to prove that he is worthy to be the student of the shu mountain school, the most respected school of kung-fu. The young man is not afraid of the dangers he will have to face, since he is well trained in acrobatics and powerful sword magic. However, he is quite inexperienced in love – and among other dangers, this is exactly what awaits him in his adventure!

It was first aired on Taizhou Broadcast Station in June 2009. Chinese Paladin 2 was not shot because the producers felt that the third game had a much stronger story than the second. [1] The series achieved massive popularity and topped the ratings chart in various regions of China. [2] The award for contribution to the Sichuan festival was awarded. [3] Summary This is a prequel to The Chinese Paladin and takes place 50 years earlier. Jing Tian Ge) is a naughty pawnshop assistant who, because of the power of a mystical jade, crosses paths with the spoiled and sassy Tang Tang Jian (Yang Mi). Xue Jian is the beloved granddaughter of Tang Tang Manor of Kun, who meets with danger when an evil cult tries to take control of Tang Manor. Xu Changqing (Wallace Huo), the eldest disciple of the Mt Shu Sect helps the couple in defeating the cult and rescuing the Tang Manor. Meanwhile, Chong Lou (Jerry Huang), ruler of the evil world, breaks into Suo Yao Pagoda Mt Shu to retrieve a magic sword. He transfers the sword to Jed Tyan, claiming he belonged to the latter when he was a deity in his previous life and forcing Jinning Tyan to fight with him. The 5 elders of Mt Shu Sect call on Jing Tian and Chang Qing to achieve 5 mystical pearls to seal the Suo Ya Pagoda and destroy a powerful force of evil in order to save the world from destruction. Together with Xue Jian, the team set out to complete its mission. On the road, they overcome various obstacles and have to solve mysteries related to their past. Long Kui (Cecilia Liu), a 1000-year-old ghost emerges from the magic sword Jing Tian possessed. She claimed to be Jiang's princess, and that she's her favorite brother. Later, Jing Tian realizes that Long Kui is telling the truth so he travels with them. Xu Changqing then meets Zi Xuan (Tiffany Tang), a 200-year-old descendant of the goddess Nuwa. Chang Qing discovers that her memory was sealed and was, in fact, the love of his life in two lives. Struggling to cope with his emotions and carry the burden to save the world, he initially rejects it. Jing Tian also comes to realize that it was Fei Peng (2,000 years ago) and Long Yang (1,000 years ago). Xue Jian also discovers that it was originally a fruit created by Xi Yao, a goddess who guards the tree in the celestial realm. It blooms a flower in 500 years and grows a fruit in 1,000 years. In the end, Evil Sword Immortal occupies the world and is in control of all 6 kingdoms that make it almost impossible to win. Jing Tian combines forces with everyone, including Chang Qing to defeat him. Long Kui sacrificed herself by sealing her spirit on the sword to strengthen her. The franchise focuses on a number of Chinese mythology-based video role-playing games, but also includes two live-action TV series adapted from the games. The eponymous first game of the series is published by Softstar's Crazy Boyz (狂創劇) team in 1995, became both commercial and critical success, and many sequels have been born because of its popularity. The video game series has since branched out into other genres, such as business simulation games and MMORPGs. It has been regarded as one of the most iconic Chinese RPG series ever made. It is the second installment in The Legend of Sword and Fairy (or Chinese Paladin) video game series, and serves as a sequel to the first game. The game incorporates wuxia, shenmo and fantasy elements. Plot The story is set eight years after the end of the first game. Wang Xiaohu, a boy from the same homeland as Li Xiaoyao (the protagonist of the first game), has reached the age of 18. When he was still a child, he was impressed by the story of how Li bravely risked seeking a cure for his sick aunt, and since then looked up to Li as an idol. Although he hasn't had a chance to learn from Lee, he still hopes to become a great hero one day. Wang inherits his master's precious weapon, the Demon Blade, and embarks on his own adventure. He meets the three female protagonists: Li Yiru, Su Mei and Shen Qishuang. Li is the daughter of Li Xiaoyao and Zhao Ling'er. Su (appeared as an anonymous baby fox in the first game) is the daughter of a snake demon and a vixen demon, and vows to avenge her parents, who were killed by Li Xiaoyao and Lin Yueru; Shen is a new character who has no obvious links to the first game. Meanwhile, China is in a state of chaos as demons roam the earth unchecked since the Demon Prison Tower collapsed in the first game. A monk named Master Qianye appears and hires followers to form a sect known as the Great Merciful Sect to confront demons and save people. This sect, along with the Mount Sect (now led by Li Xiaoyao) are seen as the pillars of justice in jianghu. On the other hand, Kong Lin, assistant to the Lord of demons, seeks to recover three treasures and put them to resurrect the Lord and allow demons to rule the world. The four protagonists set foot in the dangerous world of jianghu, where they discover the secrets of their past, understand the concept of forgiveness and love, and participate in the battle between good and evil.
