Balloon defense 4 hacked

Hack Information: Unlimited Money / Lives [Total: 31 Average: 4.4/5] Bloons Tower Defense is a game that has been around for a long time. One of the latest editions in the series, Bloons Tower Defense 4 Hacked or BT4 Hacked has everything that makes this series great. It features the same addictive and strategic gameplay. Like other tower defense games, your goal is to stop enemies, in this case, balloons, from getting into your base. The game gives you a number of lives run out by each balloon that passes undestroyed. The game ends when you lose all your life. This BT4 Hacked game has several different tracks and difficulties that make it suitable for challenging players of any type. Kids and adults will find the game fun and engaging. Each track has a track where balloons, or as they call it in the game, start traveling when you start the round. The area around this path is a space where you can place defense units that will destroy. Each track has a related difficulty level ranging from beginner and intermediate to advanced and expert. The track design reflects this classification with more difficult tracks having less space for you to place defense units and wider paths for balloons to escape. There are 18 different units and traps in the game BT4 Hacked that you can set on the track. They are gradually unlocked as you progress through each round. Each unit performs different attacks and can be upgraded to increase range and damage or even add new capabilities. Buying and upgrading it requires money earned but destroys balloons in rounds. BT4 Hacked game has four different difficulty levels. They are an easy, medium, hard and extra tough acocalypse mode. Difficulty determining the amount of life you start with, how expensive the items are and how many rounds you need to survive to get through the game. Doomsday mode is unlocked when your in-game ranking reaches 31. In it, keep laying eggs endlessly until you run out of life.
