I recently tried playing 1v1 Friends at tetrisfriends.com, but Arena mode is very different than you can play in 2P Mode Battle.The game ends after one KO and no matter how many lines you send and the lines you get from your opponents always have a space gap of 1 for example. So I want to ask there's a way to play 2P Games Battle with friends? Otherwise on tetrisfriends may be possible other websites? And also what are the gameplay of choice among competitive players?. The choice game mode among competitive players tends to be similar to the Arena - one hole per attack line, with varying rules for how the attack line is scored/distributed/over the counter/etc. The 2P rule is designed to work around the issues of playing Versus against replays rather than direct opponents. The general consensus is that the flat assault row 'pull-of-war' design eliminates many of the interactions between players and the strategic considerations that come with it. Aside from the more valuable combo in Versus than in solo scoring mode, the procurement viability of the t-spin patterns repeatedly caused by the bottom of the flat playfield makes the optimal battle strategy very similar to that of attack mode such as Ultra.Mechanics bomb in Tetris Battle on Facebook trying to conclude aspects of player interaction in Live Versus mode while still providing the basis of the game The combo becomes stronger under this system, since you can clean through the attack line while still building material to extend the combo simply by placing a piece somewhere on a bomb (while the attack line with a hole requires you to spend at least one block of material per piece to maintain the combo, and putting in place more restrictions on how pieces can be placed to clear the line). All in all, bomb mechanics make things more offensive-oriented than it's already with combo strength in recent games. But, for topics, I'm not sure what alternatives there are to play 'pull-of-war' or 'scoring races' oriented live multiplayer games at the moment. Combat Tetris may be your best bet, as suggested. I know Tetris Friends on Facebook is used to allow you to send Ultra mode score challenges to your friends, but that doesn't really bring you aspects of playing directly or the ability to KO.
