And even now, while many of us are at home all day, or at least more than we were before, the breakfast sandwich maker has seen a surge in popularity - and it keeps selling out. It's easy to see why: the breakfast sandwich maker quickly turns out to be warm, fresh, delicious breakfast sandwiches, so you can eat by filling breakfast every day without having to stand check over a splashy skillet or turn to another bowl of oatmeal. You can customize your sandwich, get creative with the ingredients you have on hand, and enjoy a restaurant worthy of sando straight from home. Here's how it works: Connect the machine; it switches on automatically and heats up quickly. Choose your favorite breakfast bread, such as An English muffin, cookie, croissant, or pancake. They just have to fit in the maker's rings. Then pack the bottom ring stuffed like cheese, vegetables, sauce or pre-cooked meat. (I personally love sausage patties, but you could use Canadian bacon or pre-cooked bacon.) Finally, lower the top section (with a sliding plate) over the bottom of the ingredients and pour into the lightly beaten egg. Place the other half on the breakfast bread. Then close the lid. Set the timer for about five minutes (times vary depending on egg size and personal preference) and go about your business. When the timer goes out, slide the plate down to make the egg fall on the sandwich, and you're ready to eat. (Target also sells the maker timer, so if you want an all-in-one feature, it's a good choice.) My favorite part, besides eating a fresh, hot breakfast sandwich just the way I want it in a few minutes? The rings are dishwasher safe and come right out of the machine easily, and everything is nonstick so you don't have to worry about an egg clinging to a sliding plate or a cheese frying side machine. Buy: Hamilton Beach Breakfast Sandwich Maker, $24.99; Amazon If you have a few mouths to feed and want to speed up production, Hamilton Beach also makes dual breakfast sandwich maker, which has two machines in one. But like a lone sandwich maker, it sells out almost as soon as it's okay. In addition, breakfast sandwiches that can be used by the maker of mini pizzas, sliders, grilled cheese and more. I always have a pack of English muffins in the freezer, and when I feel less than ready to cook, I've been known to break out of the sandwich maker and fill it with marinara, mozzarella, olives, red onions, and a couple of slices of pepperoni. It's definitely not Nonna's pizza, but pinch is a brilliant substitute. This is just the best device I've ever bought! We use it more than I'd like to admit! Seriously, just buy, you don't do it. It! wrote one reviewer. The classic sandwich maker is a neutral silver color, but can also be purchased in red. If you try it and love it, you should definitely consider adding them to your holiday gifting list. Hamilton Beach usually releases limited edition colors for the season holidays nearby. Top reviews of The Latest Top reviews Over the last few decades, I'm not a breakfast person. ㄟThe staff were very friendly and helpful. If you're into the morning celery juice trend, it can mean a juicer. If you are more likely to spend $20 each week buying overpriced egg and cheese sandwiches in the corner of the store, that could mean hamilton beach breakfast sandwich maker ($24.99). I went with the last one. Mostly because it's small, easy to clean and operate, and makes a breakfast sandwich in under five minutes. It also doesn't hurt that it has over 3,000 five-star reviews on Amazon, though it sort of looks like a TV infomercial trick or something a genius eight-year-old would brainstorm. In exchange for $25, I now know what my food is, save money to buy my fresh ingredients, and factor in less stops on my way to work in the morning. It's not completely transformed me into a breakfast person, but that doesn't mean I'll save money, time and eat better if I choose one. It's also a big bonus that it doesn't take a ton of property in my shoe-box kitchen. And if you're cooking two, there are dual models ($32.45) (which are basically just two of those machines sandwiched together). Here's how you use the Hamilton Beach Breakfast Sandwich Maker in real life: life:
