PES 2020 Pre-order Now! Page 2 As the industry stands at the precipice of a new generation of exciting consoles, we believe that now is the right time to share some of our plans for the future of the PES franchise with you. To that end, we're excited to announce that we're working next-generation football titles aimed at really covering our core concept of The Pitch is Ours. This title is being developed with the latest engines that will allow us to dazzle you with surprising improvements to all areas of the game. Expect models and animations of more realistic players, enhanced physics, photorealistic visuals, and more. We recognise that many of you are passionate about the new MyClub and Master League content, and we are also excited to share that big updates works for these two modes. However, the sheer scale of everything we aim to achieve the appearance of the next gene has made it necessary to cement our efforts in other areas of development. As a result, we have decided to launch PES this year as a streamlined offer in the form of season updates. That being said, we are still very confident that the This year's game offers fans more than enough pleasure to overcome them until our next gene title is ready to launch. This year also marks a quarter of a century since the first PES title was released. To commemorate these milestones, and more importantly, to show our gratitude to you, our loyal fans, we are pleased to announce that this year's PES will be launched at an affordable anniversary price and will also come with some bonuses. Currently, we aim to start the next gene championship test sometime in mid-2021, with an estimated release date later in the same year. Until that time, we look forward to seeing you back on the pitch in this year's season update. Look forward to more news about our next gene project closer to release. PES Development Team
