They operate almost silently, have no harmful release and do not pollute the water and air environment. The first trolling electric motor was produced in 1934. He was created by American O. Schmidt, who later lived in Weatland, North Dakota. There he organized his first production, from which he began to conquer the world. The success of the Minn City bot engine soon demanded the development of expenses, which could not be recommended in the same place. So the company was in the city of Fargo, bordering on Minnesota, where its facilities still lie. There he got his modern name Minn Kota, which is directly related to the Minn Kota's entire history of electric motor development is associated with the company's continued desire to develop and implement the most innovative solutions and technologies. Thanks to this, min Kota's modern trolling motors have achieved technical and operational characteristics that make them a leader in the outdoor electric motor market. The quality and reliability of minn Kota's outdoor motors has proven to be timely and more than a generation of anglers and vacations. It cannot be otherwise, because they are all tested at this indicator at the manufacturing level. Minn Kota's existing internal standards provide no opportunity for existence despite basic marriages and irregularities from approved technology. The motto of the American company Minn City is anywhere. Anytime as long as you need it, allowing you to feel confident, calm and comfortable on water at home. Minn Kota is short for MINNesota-North DaKOTA - at the border the two states are the city of Fargo, where Schmidt launched its production. Since its inception, Minn Kota has been leading a trolling motor market and driving the fishing community as a whole. Entire.
