Liz D wrote a review August 2020Key West, Florida215 Florida215 useful votesWe have camped here twice in the last few months. The campground is great. The sites are large and well maintained but still quite private. The layout makes it easy to park even with a larger RV/campervan. There are a few short hiking trails and the lake is beautiful. We saw a lot of birds, armadillos and turtle gopher. We thought it was a bit mucky for swimming, but the water was nice. Unfortunately, the kayak/canoe rental was closed when we were there, so there wasn't as much going on.... Well, not only did we see the wildlife we had to experience nature at its best! Plants, birds, wildflowers and alligators [to name a few]. I recommend this adventure whenever you are close.... Date of the experiment: February 2020John H wrote a review February 2020Fort Wayne, Indiana100 contributions8 useful votesWe spent several hours here hiking. The trails are well marked and easy to walk. The trees are not huge, so we had a nice overview of the flat terrain. Date of the experiment: January 2020Kathy J wrote a review Jan 202025 contributions3 votes usefulWalking trails and landscapes not as enjoyable as some of the nature reserves in the area that we have been too. It's a great place to kayak, though. Has playgrounds and picnic areas that are perfect for families with children. Date of the experiment: December 2019From M wrote a review Jan 2020London, UK61 contributions45 useful votesBeautiful views on the lake, feels wild and natural. There is a large area to enter and swim in the lake. Unfortunately, we didn't try to swim in the lake when we saw the crocodile warning signs. Say it is safe to swim in the lake if you have a person on look at it outside and get out as soon as you see a crocodile! They said beware of letting the kids swim in the lake as the crocodiles would go after the kids first! We had the privilege of seeing a wild turtle just passing by walking in the bush....
