| | I'm not robot | |
|--|---------------|-----------|
| | | reCAPTCHA |

Continue

```
during production. If a candidate did not respond, they can still be added to our Online Voter Guide to take to the voting booth. So be sure to bring what you need on paper, not on your phone. The Voters Guide is also available online at VOTE411.org. Enter your address and zip code and see the races and candidates listed on your ballot. You can compare candidates answers with questions and print your ballot that you can take to the polls. Any use of the League of Women Voters name in campaign advertising or literature has not been authorized by the League. This Voter Guide is funded by the Texas League of Women Voters and donations from supporters like you. Make a donation today! Sponsors for the 2020 General Election 2020 General Election Voters Guide In & Description of the Company of the 2020 Texas Primary Voters Guide Runoff In & Primary Voters Guide Runoff In & Primary Election In Sp 2017 Constitutional Amendment Election In Sp 2016 General Election Voter Guide In & Primary Election In Sp 2017 Constitutional Amendment Election In Sp 2016 General Election Voter Guide In & Primary Election In Sp 2017 Constitutional Amendment Election In Sp 2016 General Election Voter Guide In & Primary Election In Sp 2017 Constitutional Amendment Election In Sp 2016 General Election Voter Guide In & Primary Election In Sp 2017 Constitutional Amendment Election In Sp 2018 General Election Voter Guide In & Primary Election In Sp 2017 Constitutional Amendment Election In Sp 2018 General Election Election In Sp 2016 Primary Election In Sp 2015 Constitutional Amendment In Sp 2014 General Election In Sp 2016 General Voters Guide to help you cast an informed vote when you go to the polls or vote absent. We encourage you to share a link to this page with your family and friends to help us educate more voters across Indiana. Indiana Indiana's right to life General Voters Guide covers the responses of state and federal candidates (in contested races) to our 2020 candidate polls. Please be sure to vote! All listed candidates were given the same opportunity to respond. We didn't reprint the test responses. For more information about a candidate who did not response, contact the candidate directly. The Indiana Right to Life 2020 Voter Guide is copyrighted material. Permission is granted to reproduce and distribute without alteration. Unauthorized use is strictly prohibited. A limited number of hard copies are available. Contact irtl@protectinglife.com Additional Information List Vote 2019 and 2020 Political Party Platforms on Indiana Right to Life Abortion Judicial Candidates has no information or recommendations regarding judicial candidates. Unfortunately, Indiana's rules cool the freedom of expression rights of judicial candidates when answering surveys. Indiana Right to Life fought twice in court battles that sought to change these rules of judicial candidates, but both lawsuits were rejected by federal courts. Contact the candidates directly. Click here to make a gift to Indiana Right to Life, Inc., are not tax deductible. The Indiana Right to Life voter Guide is not authorized by any candidate or candidate committee. Financial support can also be mailed to: Indiana
Right to Life 9465 Counselors Row Suite 200 Indianapolis, IN 46140 Right to Life Religious Freedom Defense Health Defense Border Security Download Voter Guide Please click on the region of the map representing the Voter Guide you would like to download. Finding the right
information for state voter guides is something we take seriously. Numerous resources are available online. The biblical voter offers a collection of resources that include Christian Voter Guides that are state-specific and align with biblical values. This helps you make an informed decision by voting on candidates for state and office legislative matters that affect our Judeo-Christian beliefs. But when you're done reading it, click the Close button in the corner to dismiss this alert. The latest: Indiana Attorney General Curtis Hill has filed an amicus brief with the U.S. Supreme Court arguing that the U.S. Court Pennsylvania exceeded its authority. Read more Ball State University President Geoff Mearns emailed the campus community Saturday afternoon pointing to a series of incidents on and near campus involving a caravan of dozens of vehicles showing signs and flags in support of President Donald Trump. Read more Democrat Joe Biden defeated President Donald Trump. Read more WFYI Election Day blog of election news archive shares scenes and stories from local polling stations Since September 2019, IPB News has made the Indiana 2020 Bidirectional for election, they will release a video on Wednesdays answering questions they receive through the Indiana 2020 Two-Way. To join, search for the Indiana 2020 bidirectional private Facebook group or text the word election to 73224. IPB News sends a text message once a week with stories inspired by your guestions and topics. See: Central Indiana Election Info Boone Hamilton Hancocks Johnson Johnson Marion Morgan Shelby finds more voting information on the Indiana Voter Portal understanding its tips and resources on how to research candidates, their records and platforms from America Amplified, IPB News, Women4Change and Side Effects Public Media. Read more IPS School Board Voter's Guide Four seats are on the November ballot for the Indianapolis Public School School Board Voter's future in the hands of voters at a crucial time. Chalkbeat Indiana and WFYI asked candidates to respond to the biggest problems facing the district and how they would represent their constituents. READ More Meeting candidates for the seat of the United States Congress in District 5. Republican Susan Brooks, who was first elected to the seat in 2012, did not seek re-election. Jill Sheridan of WFYI spoke with Democrat Christina Hale, Republican Victoria Spartz and libertarian Ken Tucker on issues such as health care, insurance, pandemic and calls for racial justice. READ More Meet the 7th Congressional District Candidates The race for the 7th District of Indiana Congress, which includes most of Marion County and Indianapolis, has been relatively quiet. WFYI's government and policy reporter Jill Sheridan spoke with Democrat André Carson and Republican Susan Marie Smith about issues such as health care, pandemic response, racial justice, and economic recovery. READ MORE Election News Archive November 2020 Indiana Attorney General Curtis Hill has filed an amicus brief with the U.S. Supreme Court arguing that the Pennsylvania Supreme Court overdid his authority. Read more Ball State University President Geoff Mearns emailed the campus community Saturday afternoon pointing to a series of incidents in and near the involving a caravan of dozens of vehicles showing signs and flags in support of President Donald Trump. Read more Democrat Joe Biden defeated President Donald Trump to become the 46th president of the United States on Saturday. Read more supporters of President Donald J. Trump and challenger Joseph R. Biden Biden in Indianapolis - two of the many spontaneous rallies and celebrations held across the country. Read more Controversies, and sometimes bitter, 2020 elections for four seats on the Indianapolis Public Schools Board of Commissioners probably became the most expensive election cycle in district history. Read more While updated vote counts show it in key states. President Donald Trump falsely spread allegations of voter fraud while providing no evidence to support his claims. Read more Republican Victoria Spartz held a press conference Thursday morning, following confirmation yesterday that she was elected to represent the 5th District of Indiana Congress. Reading more Republicans strengthened their control over the Indiana House of Representatives in the 2020 election. The last statehouse races were called on Thursday. Read more It took more than a day to name Victoria Spartz the official winner in the Fifth District of Indiana. Read more There has never been a career of the Indianapolis Public Schools Board of Commissioners in this way, but it was not yet clear who will be the winner in some of the races. Read more Three of the four school referendums on the Indiana ballot this election was approved, according to the results available Wednesday. Read more President Donald Trump won Indiana by 19 percentage points in 2016 over Hillary Clinton, Although Republicans admitted that their popularity had declined in some areas, Read more Governor Eric Holcomb has easily secured a second term, winning re-election over challengers Dr. Woody Myers, Democrat and libertarian Donald Rainwater, Read more Todd Rokita, former Secretary of State and four-term congressman, secures Republican control over the state-level position for the sixth consecutive election night, Republican Victoria Sparz claimed victory in a speech in Carmel. At about the same time, Democratic candidate Christina Hale said the race isn't over. Read more Democrat Andre Carson was re-elected to the U.S. House of Representatives on Tuesday. He has held the seat in the 7th district of the Indiana Congress since 2008. Read more AP VoteCast found that 45 percent of Indiana voters said america is on the right track and 55 percent of voters said it's going in the wrong direction. Read more At least two of the four school referendums on the Indiana ballot this election passed. But the results were not yet final for the largest school corporation with a funding proposal on the ballot on election night. Read Indiana was called up by the Associated Press for President-in-Office Donald Trump shortly before 9 p.m. While media organizations such as the AP can call races on election night, final vote counts can take up to several days to end counting. Read more Republican Eric Holcomb has won re-election as governor of Indiana, defending challengers who criticized his handling of the Pandemic. Read more In the 2020 U.S. general election, The Associated Press will declare winners in more than 7,000 races, starting with the White House and reaching every venue in each state legislature. Read more last-minute COVID-19 diagnoses have left some Hoosier voters frustrated and unable to vote. Read more AP VoteCast found that 45 percent of voters said it's going in the wrong direction. Read more The former congressman and secretary of state experienced symptoms and was tested after he was informed that he had been exposed to the virus. Reading more NPR provides live coverage of results on the radio and online, and we rely on The Associated Press for all vote counts and race calls. That means we explicitly cite the AP when reporting the results - there are no NPR calls. Read more Hoosiers are used to finding out which candidates won and lost on or very close to election night. But that probably won't be the case this year for some races. Read more The tempestuous 2020 election has been plagued by predictions of confusion and cataclysm, with warnings that a disputed battle could last until December. It's happened before. Let's take 1800, for example. Read more As ballot boxes opened amid the COVID-19 pandemic, officials are taking steps to make the experience safer for voters. Reading more Americans in the 21st century is not always people's most patient, and a deeply awaited choice of a 2020 election is no exception. However, accurately counting votes for an entire nation, in an election whose jurisdiction is divided state by state, can be a cumbersome process. Read more There has been much more focus this election year on poll observers, particularly after President Donald Trump urged his supporters to enter the polls and watch very carefully. But in Indiana - as in other states - poll observers are a very definite role in state electoral law. Read more Depending on who wins all four seats on the Indianapolis Public Schools Board of Commissioners, there could be an ideological lean on the seven-member board that leads to drastically different results. Reading More than 1.7 million Hoosiers have cast their vote before this election, that is almost double the number of people who voted in early 2016. Read more Indianapolis Cultural Trial will provide free access to Pacers Bikeshare on Election Day. IndyGo will also offer free all-day services. Read more Some buildings and businesses downtown Indianapolis have boarded windows and taken other security measures to prepare for possible riots around Election Day. Read more Marion County Clerk's office expects a record turnout for this year's election. More than 200,000 people had already cast votes before the last day of voting in the county. Read more In 2016, President Donald Trump campaigned his promises to save America's manufacturing jobs from leaving the country, including hundreds at the Indianapolis Carrier plant. Read more in October 2020, Gov. Eric Holcomb insists that hoosiers are safe at polling stations across the state amid the ongoing pandemic. That's despite a record new number of COVID-19 cases, long lines at the polls and some county employees who refuse to follow Holcomb's order to wear masks. Read more Indiana Educators say that what is at stake for schools is particularly high in this year's choice, especially in light of the COVID-19 pandemic. Read More Marion County Board of Elections voted unanimously to open Lucas Oil Stadium for early voting this weekend. Read more than 560,000 Hoosiers mailed ballots for the November election, a record for Indiana. And more than 460,000 of those ballots were returned. Read more WFYI Government and Policy Reporter, Jill Sheridan spoke to the two 7th district candidates -- over the phone to observe social est estating -- on topics such as health care, pandemic response, racial justice, and economic recovery. Read more The Indianapolis Cultural Trail hired professional musicians to play at Place Plaza for early voters waiting in line in the city-county building. Read more In response to people waiting up to eight hours to cast a ballot at early voting sites in Marion County, the clerk's office is expanding voting hours in the City-County Building. Read Governor Eric Holcomb's stance further, even though Indiana law already requires 11 vaccines for public school students, including whoorine cough, tetanus, measles, and meningitis students. Read More Republican Todd Huston's seat is among those being attacked by Democrats as they seek to break the two-thirds super-maceration that Indiana House Republicans have had over the past eight years. Read more Hoosier voters have their chance on Tuesday to hear candidates' views on a wide range of topics, from marijuana legalization and redistricting reform to racial inequity and broadband access. Read more The three candidates for the governor of Indiana will meet for their last televised debate Tuesday night, a week before Election Day. Read more Only four school corporations in Indiana are seeking voter approval of referendum funding in this fall's election. Read more Questions have been a later idea -- if mentioned at all -- in most Indiana school board races in past years. But after this summer, social justice protests, students and communities are demanding that school boards address systemic racism and a wide range of related problems. Read more The IpS Community Coalition said Monday that it violated campaign finance rules by not reporting its support to four school boards. candidates on the November ballot. Read more The Democratic nominee for the Indiana attorney general is about the state to legalize marijuana, saying that doing so would reduce state prison and prison populations and generate millions of dollars for public education. Read more A federal appeals court upheld a 2019 Indiana law that only allows such a county board of elections to file such a lawsuit. Read more A federal appeals court has upheld an exclusive Indiana law that prohibits voters from asking county judges to extend voting hours beyond the state's 6 p.m closing time due to Election Day issues. Reading more More More More More than 1 million Hoosiers are likely to have voted before the second of two gubernatura debates takes place on Tuesday and some wonder if those discussions can still have an impact due to their late date. Read more Central Indiana saw long lines of early voting this weekend, and long lines can increase security concerns for older residents. Not only are they more at risk, it can be harder for some to endure for so long, and many may not know that they can bring someone with them to help. Read more political groups are investing a lot of money in school board campaigns in Indiana this year. These highly contested choices help shape the future of education, but school boards make decisions that have a broad impact on their local communities. Read more The Indiana Secretary of State office, which oversees state election policy, said 559,749 votes were requested by mail across the state starting Friday, and 530,854 voters have voted at an early voting location. Thursday was the deadline for requesting a ballot. Read more Vice President Mike Pence and his wife Karen Pence cast absentia ballots in Indianapolis Friday morning at the county-city building.
Read more libertarian candidate for Governor Donald Rainwater announced his election to education secretary on Thursday. Read more Despite Republicans' refusal to expand the state's mail voting system during the pandemic, many voters can still cast their vote by mail. Read more At the conclusion of our series on young activists, we meet María Duenas López, a first Generation Mexican-American who advocates for immigrants. Side effects The Darian Benson public media interviewed her about the importance of inclusive democracy. Read more One of the most controversial careers in Indiana has been for the seat of the United States Congress in District 5. WFYIs Jill Sheridan spoke to candidates Christina Hale (D), Victoria Spartz (R) and Ken Tucker (L) about topics such as health care, insurance, and calls for racial justice. Read more Tyshara Loyne is a college student working to protect a street of historical importance to the black community of Indianapolis. Read more government Eric Holcomb defended his job performance on Tuesday in the first of two government debates this year. His challengers, Democrat Dr. Woody Myers and libertarian Donald Rainwater, stormed Holcombs' record, but from markedly different angles. Different. Plus the Indiana Office of Motor Vehicles will extend hours of operation to issue ID cards and driver's licenses to be used for identification at a polling place. Read more State-backed effort to provide lessons and election-focused materials that lead to the election. Read more Indiana University-Purdue University Indianapolis student Dyna Martinez was deeply influenced by his childhood in Honduras. Read more Source From County Secretary Paula Copenhaver said she will not be part of the excess government and argues that social esttachment and hand sanitization are sufficient. Read more deep-pocket political action committees have launched more than $200,000 in four races for Indianapolis Public Schools board seats, helping candidates support associations with charter schools to more than elevate their competitors. Read more The Indiana Debate Commission said it discussed the new format with campaign leaders for Republican Gov. Eric Holcomb, Democratic challenger Woody Myers and libertarian Donald Rainwater. Read More Taylor Hall is a 20-year-old boy who helped organize one of the biggest protests of the summer in Indianapolis. Read more The Rally combined a Youth Voices Matter rally with events by Nasty Women Indy and Womens March to amplify underrepresented voices, including women, youth and racial minorities. Read More A black woman who says she has received numerous racist and threatening messages as an Indiana Congressional candidate against Vice President Mike Pence's brother called a cop after hearing what she thought was a shootout before a campaign event. Read more Hoosiers who want to vote by mail in the upcoming elections and have a legal reason to do so, there are only a few days left to request your ballot by mail. Read more Indiana's last head of elected schools says the 2020 election has a lot at stake, especially for education. But he is concerned about the future of the position of the state's top education officer. Read more Goshen, Indiana, is a small blue dot in a mostly red rural county. Its Main Street is a simple two-lane street, but it gets a lot of traffic to be one of the most direct ways in and out of town. Read more democratic gubernatoens, Dr. Woody Myers, says Gov. Eric Holcomb is frozen in the spotlight ever under attention after he refused to reimpose COVID-19 restrictions in the face of worsening numbers. Read more Indiana's 2020 governor's career always seemed like an uphill battle for challengers, Democrat Dr. Woody Myers and Libertarian Donald A global pandemic probably only made it harder. But the victory of Republican Governor Eric Holcombs is not entirely guaranteed. Read more Indiana Democrats are targeting the state attorney general's career as their best chance to break republicans' strangulation of the state government. Read more This year's presidential campaign is unlike any other, and so far, that debates between candidates. And it's provoking more questions and conversations in classrooms around the world, even in Indiana. Reading More than half of the voting machines that hoosiers are using in this year's elections do not have a paper backup, making them more vulnerable to irreversible errors and violations Read more Indiana attorney general candidates are divided over how the Republican governor has used the states' emergency powers act to impose a mask mandate and other coronavirus-related executive orders that have sparked discord among conservative voters. Read more A federal judge on Tuesday temporarily stopped a ruling that would have forced Indiana to count ballots in the mail that were marked with the postmark by Election Day. Read more A group of Indiana residents sued the state, trying to force it to allow any registered voter to issue a ballot by mail for the 2020 general election.
Read more Hoosiers can register in person with your county election management office who have until the end of the business day to do so. But they go online to IndianaVoters.com. Read more The 2020 campaign for the governor of Indiana, like much of peoples' lives, has been overcome by concerns about the current COVID-19 pandemic and national protests over racial injustice and police violence. Brandon Smith of Indiana Public Broadcasting sat down with each candidate to discuss the great problems of the race. Read more The 2020 campaign for the governor of Indiana, like much of people's lives, has been overcome by concerns about the current COVID-19 pandemic and national protests over racial injustice and police violence. Brandon Smith of Indiana Public Broadcasting sat down with each candidate to discuss the great problems of the race. Read more The 2020 campaign for the governor of Indiana, like much of peoples' lives, has been overcome by concerns about the current COVID-19 pandemic and national protests over racial injustice and police violence. Brandon Smith of Indiana Public Broadcasting sat down with each candidate to discuss the great problems of the race. Read more September 2020 A federal judge is forcing Indiana to count all ballots in the mail that are marked with postmarks before Election Day, November 3, as long as they reach county employees by November 13. Read more A group of Indiana residents trying to force the state to allow all Hoosier voters to cast ballots by mail this year to have their day in federal appeals court on Wednesday. Read more Except for a last-minute curve of federal courts, Indiana will be one of only four non-voting states by expanded mail for the 2020 general election, amid an ongoing pandemic, but advocates have not given up the Read More fight The deadline to register for this fall's election is Monday, October 5. If you register in person with the local electoral manager's office, that means the end of the business day. If you register in IndianaVoters.com, you have until midnight.
Read more Libertarian Jo Jorgensen gave her speech to a crowd of hundreds of people in Westfield, just north of Indianapolis. She put up her platform, one that often differs from the party's top candidates. Read more than half the number of people in their 18s and 19s are registered to vote in Indiana this year compared to 2016. That decline is the worst in the nation. Read more Four seats are on the November ballot for the Indianapolis Public School Commissioners, putting the future of districts in the hands of voters at a crucial time. Here's a voter's guide to candidates. Read more The death of Supreme Court Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg could have enormous implications for the future of reproductive rights and access to abortion. Indiana's gubernatober candidates each weighed the controversial issue this week. Read more Indiana residents must be registered to vote 29 days before each election. What do you need on Election Day? What do you need to register to vote? Can you vote if you're homeless? We answered your questions sent through the Indiana 2020 Two-Way. Read more Marion County Clerk's office expects many people to vote absent by mail in the upcoming general election and wants to make sure all votes are counted. Read more A federal judge stopped an Indiana law that would have prevented voters from asking a court to extend voting hours. Read more The two candidates vying for the open seat in Indiana's 5th Congressional District gathered for a virtual city council Tuesday night. Read More Governor Eric Holcomb's state mask term and six months of other coronavirus restrictions has caused discontent among conservatives, complicating his campaign as a leader against the under-financed Democratic challenger Woody Myers. Read more The first forum for candidates seeking election to the Indianapolis Public Schools Board of School Commissioners was held on Saturday, September 19 by a group often critical of district policies. Reading more Indiana expanded vote by mail to all voters who wanted it by the 2020 primaries. Republicans have blocked all efforts to do so for the general election. Read more Hoosiers across the state are receiving requests for unsolicited absentee ballots by mail from Indiana's Democratic and Republican parties. Read more Democrat Jonathan Weinzapfel announced the endorsement Thursday of Superintendent Jennifer McCormick schools. Read more Vanderburgh County Sheriff Dave Wedding made his announcement outside the business of of major Republican donor Steve Chancellor with Lieutenant Gov. Suzanne Crouch at the attendance. Reading more Indiana law disrupts voter registration 29 days before an election. This year, that means hoosiers have until the end of the day on Monday, October 5 to register. Read more August 2020 Because there has been a lot of confusion and inaccurate information circulating, we think it would be good to review some basics of the US election. Read more Democratic candidate to Governor Woody Myers won't tell who she's considering appointing as the first state superintendent of public instruction since the law was changed, but on Saturday she described the primary rating as an expert public school educator. Read more Indiana Secretary of State Connie Lawson insists that the state will have a normal election this fall and will not expand the vote by mail amid the COVID-19 pandemic. Read more Marion County published completed plans for the November general election. There will be a total of 188 polling stations on Election Day. Read more Never cross President Donald Trump has helped former Indiana governor and congressman survive while tied to a president could quit. Read more The appeal filed Tuesday by nonprofit Indiana Vote By Mail and several voters come after a federal judge in Indianapolis rejected Friday's request for a court order to extend voting by mail without excuse. Read more The political action committee linked to Indiana's largest teachers' union is not supporting a candidate in the gubernatober career. Read more of the three headlines and eight other candidates submitted to seek election to the Indianapolis Public Schools Board of Commissioners in the November 3 election, according to the Marion County Board of Elections. Read more A group of Hoosier voters filed a lawsuit against the Indiana Electoral Commission after members of the Republican commission refused to allow any Hoosier who wanted to vote by mail to issue a ballot like that for the 2020 general election. Reading more Indiana law allows Hoosiers to vote absent by mail for 11 reasons, including whether they are 65 or older or absent from their county as long as the ballot boxes are open on Election Day. Reading more Voting by mail is still possible for some Hoosiers. There are 11 reasons under Indiana law that voters can use to request those absente ballots by mail. Read more July 2020 Common Cause Indiana and INDIANA NAACP are suing Indiana in federal court so they say it's their unreasonably early deadline to return ballots by mail. Read more Two former Indiana lieutenant governors asked Indiana Gov. Eric Holcomb to expand the mail friday as the coronavirus continues.
Without a wide choice of mail voting, former Indiana lieutenant governors John Mutz and Kathy Davis said Friday that fewer polling places and long lines at the ballot box will further eliminate minority, disabled and low-income voters. Read more Groups including Indiana Common Cause, Indiana Women's League of Voters, Indiana ACLU and Major The NAACP wants the state to extend mail voting to anyone who wants it for the November 3 election. Read more The university was created to host the opening clash between President Donald Trump and former Vice President Joe Biden on September 29.
Read more Indiana's democratic challenger in the gubernatorial race says the state needs to offer clearer health guidelines for schools to follow as they plan to reopen. Read more The field for Indiana attorney general is set, while Democrat Jonathan Weinzapfel confronts Republican Todd Rokita. But current Attorney General Curtis Hill can still have an impact on the campaign, even after losing the race for the GoP nomination. Read more June 2020 The re-emerging movement against racial inequality has amplified the voices of black candidates, in some cases pushing political debate about the race to areas of Republican trend. Read Democratic gubernatura candidate Woody Myers unveiled a criminal justice reform plan that calls for new training for the police, moves funding to social services, and decriminalizes marijuana. Read more The University of Michigan withdrew from holding the second presidential debate because of the work needed to prepare the Ann Arbor campus for the fall semester during the pandemic. Read more members of the Indiana 2020 Two-Way asked us what role the State Conventions of the Republican and Democratic Party play this month in the Indiana election.
Indiana Public Broadcasting and All IN then set to work to answer some of those questions. Read more Former Evansville Mayor Jonathan Weinzapfel won by only 48 votes out of more than 2.000 issued by state party convention delegates. Read more long-standing State Senator Karen Tallian and former Evansville Mayor Jonathan Weinzapfel are vying for nomination, a selection made by state delegates rather than primary voters. Reading more Indiana recently closed the book about perhaps the most unusual election in its history -- a primary, delayed by a month, which featured the expansion of vote by mail. Read more A majority of the Indiana Electoral Commission made up of two Democrats and two Republicans must agree to expand vote by mail by Nov. Read more The Indiana Democratic Party partnered with indianapolis station WISH-TV to broadcast some of the convention's typical events Thursday for party leaders' speeches and discussions on key topics such as health care and education. Read more Indiana is between the states and the District of Columbia with primaries on Tuesday. Pennsylvania offers the most important days presidential delegates. Read to State Senator Victoria Spartz won the Republican nomination to replace REPUBLICAN Party Rep. Susan Brooks in Indiana's congressional district, Former state rep. Christina Hale of Indianapolis won the Democratic primary, Read more May 2020 The state award of a $17.9 million contract to operate dozens of coronavirus testing sites in Indiana Indiana Meeks after a company executive gave $50,000 to Governor Eric Holcomb's re-election campaign. Read more There has been a new jolt in the Republican race for the nomination of the Indiana Attorney General former Secretary of State and U.S.
Representative Todd Rokita announced his candidacy on Wednesday. Read more Dr. Woody Myers and former rep. Linda Lawson are effusive in their praise for each other when they begin campaigning as the governor's ticket to Indiana Democrats. Read more Indiana's 2020 State Convention will be virtual. The party officially announced the change on Tuesday, in compliance with COVID-19 guidelines. Read More Former U.S. Rep. Todd Rokita issued a statement on possibly seeking the republican nomination for the office after the state Supreme Court ordered a 30-day statutory leave hold for Hill on Monday. Read more Election Officials and state political leaders are encouraging mail voting as a way to protect election workers and voters from possible COVID-19 exposure, even when plans still require the opening of in-person polling places on primary school day. Read More Fourteen Republican Candidates from the 5th District of Indiana made their launch Monday during a virtual city council about why voters should support them, in the expanding primary field, to replace outgoing Congresswoman Susan Brooks Read More Lawson spent 20 years serving her Indiana House district to the northwest. In a Facebook video, Myers says that beyond his legislative experience, Lawson has spent his career breaking glass ceilings. Reading more Monday is the last day for Hoosiers to register to vote in the June 2 primary elections. Registration is available online at IndianaVoters.com. Read more April 2020 Indiana residents must be registered to vote 29 days before each election. What do you need to register to vote? Can you vote if you're homeless? Read more Governor Eric Holcomb has indicated that some companies may be allowed to reopen in the coming days, if the data show that health care systems are not being overwhelmed. Read more Indiana Democratic gubernatura candidate Woody Myers announced proposals Wednesday to provide more state-level support for Small Hoosier Businesses suffering from the COVID-19 crisis. Read more There's been a jolt in the Republican race by the Indiana Attorney General. Decatur County Attorney Nate Harter announced his offer Tuesday, while former Revenue Department commissioner Adam Krupp dropped out. Read more The step to a fixed for June 13, it was unanimously approved by the party's state central committee and announced on Tuesday. Read more Here are the steps you need to take to make sure you're ready - and eligible - to vote by mail in this year's primary election in Indiana. Reading more Monday was supposed to be the voter registration deadline for the Indiana primary election. But COVID-19 changed all that. Read more March 2020 2020 could move on to a primary mail-by-mail election this year if the COVID-19 pandemic does not improve over time. Read more Indiana election officials have begun to see if voters might need to cast all ballots by mail for the state's primary election due to the coronavirus pandemic. Read more Republican Gov. Eric Holcomb said Thursday that he was in favor of pushing back Indianas 5 May primary, but that GOP Secretary of State Connie Lawson was leading discussions with state political party leaders. Read more Governor Eric Holcomb, Secretary of State Connie Lawson and state party leaders announced the unprecedented change on Friday. Reading more Moving Indianas primary elections as of June 2 could have a domino effect this year on the Republican and Democratic state party conventions scheduled for mid-June.
Read more The leaders of Indiana's two major political parties want all Hoosiers to be able to vote by mail in the May primary. Read more Democratic gubernatura candidate, Dr. Woody Myers, says the General Assembly should be presented for an emergency session to help address the COVID-19 crisis. Read more the former mayor of South Bend Buttigleg has suspended his campaign for president. He did not put his support behind any other candidate, but called for unity in the advancing party. Read more February 2020 About 3 in 10 Latino voters both Democrats and Republicans say they have thought a lot about who is running for president in 2020, a new poll shows. Read more than half of Indiana's 92 counties have paper-backed voting machines. Election security experts say these backups are critical to electoral integrity. Read more members of our Indiana 2020 bidirectional text message group told us they wanted to know more about health care costs, what is being done to address them, and why the system is the way it is. Read more According to the U.S. Census, nearly a third of the state is Hispanic or Latino. So, before Saturday's caucuses, we talked to three Latino college students in northern Nevada. Read more We ask you, our listeners and readers, to share your concerns with health care costs. And the results are in. Reading more Americans are divided into a lot of topics. But a new national survey finds that people across the political spectrum agree on at least one thing: Our health care system needs to be fixed. Read more Woody Myers was the only Democrat to meet the deadline to put his name on the Indiana primary ballot May. Read more The APM Research Lab survey asked Americans how they feel about the number of immigrants in this country. Read more The former mayor of South Bend Buttigieg joins a field full of people of nine Democrats who have qualified for the Indiana vote. Senator Victoria Spartz of Noblesville announced his campaign in Congress on Wednesday. She joined the state Senate in 2017 when she was chosen to replace Luke Kenley after retiring. Read more Donald Trump supporters cheered Wednesday when Karen Pence returned to the Indiana State House, where her husband used to be governor to file documentation by putting Trump's name on the state presidential primary vote. Read more Democrats won't have a competitive primary for the governor this year after tech entrepreneur Josh Owens left On Wednesday. Read more January 2020 More than 150 people gathered in Indianapolis on Saturday for a national training of Democratic candidates. State Party leaders say this is part of a bigger boost for Democrats in Indiana.
Read more Governor Eric Holcomb filed the paperwork Tuesday for the Republican nomination in search of a second term in the 2020 election, but later said it was premature to say whether he would support a challenger to besager Republican Attorney General Curtis Hill. Read more New state campaign finance reports filed this week show that the Republican governor raised nearly $2 million in the last six months of 2019. Read more FBI officials in Indianapolis say foreign influence will be a major focus of election security this year, but they will also investigate other electoral crimes, such as voter manipulation and data breaches. Read more The surprising announcement comes shortly after the end of the last campaign fundraising period, and leaves two Democrats vying for their party's nomination. Read more December 2019 The General Assembly is unlikely to give counties more money at the 2020 session for new voting machines. Read more Former Evansville Mayor Jonathan Weinzapfel announced Tuesday that he will seek the Democratic nomination for Indiana Attorney General next year. Read more Seven Nopc Party candidates are scheduled to compete in the May primary. All but one participated in the forum, and the topics included abortion and economics, but immigration dominated. Read more November 2019 In a video release, Hill refers to his efforts to boost drug addiction treatment, lawsuits against pharmaceutical companies, and his numerous legal fight against abortion Read More October 2019 More than half of lowa hospitals are operating in red, while per capita spending on health care is increasing considerably. So what are the candidates you propose when it comes to Medicare? Read more Presidential debates are set for September 29 at the University of Notre Dame in Indiana; October 15 at the University of Michigan, and October 22 at Belmont University in Nashville, Tennessee. The Eddie Melton says Republican state school superintendent Jennifer McCormick will join the ad. Read more Lawmaker Gary launched his campaign in his hometown with a crowd of about 200 followers. It was first presented by State Superintendent of Public Instruction Jennifer McCormick, who is a Republican. Read more In a written statement Monday, Braun says he is frustrated and to suspend his campaign. Reading Buttigieg's speech further emphasized the need to address systemic racism with specific policies, from health care disparities to school segregation and income inequality. Read more September 2019 In a statement, Owens cites teachers' salary, marijuana decriminalization, and reinforced weapons regulations as key issues behind his career. Read more August 2019 Democratic incumbent Joe Hogsett and republican challenger Jim Merritt's first-faced man focused on fighting poverty and increasing the minimum wage. Reading more Indiana State Treasurer is the last candidate to enter the race for the seat in Congress that is being handed over by Republican Rep. Susan Brooks. Read more Steve Braun is the first prominent Republican to enter the race since U.S. Rep. Susan Brooks announced in June that she would not seek a fifth term. Democrats Christina Hale and Dee Thornton announced their campaigns for the seat in July. Read more Democrats are targeting the attorney general's career next year because of what most of us see as Republican Curtis Hill's vulnerability. Read more Adams County Board of Elections voted 2-1 along party lines Tuesday to disqualify Daniel Rickord as the Democratic mayoral candidate for Decatur. The decision leaves Republican Mayor Kenneth Meyer without opposition. Read more Macer says that while Shell continues to focus on policy-making and problem solving, a government career will not be a part of that. Read more July 2019 More than two dozen people run for president. Learn about them and see where they are on key topics with this guide Read More South Bend Mayor Buttigieg has faced criticism for his admitted not producing a diverse police force in South Bend. Read more Some of the 2020 Democratic presidential candidates briefly outlined their plans to help end systemic racism in speeches at the National Urban League conference on Thursday. Read more comments from House Speaker Nancy Pelosi focusing on the diversity of ideas within the Democratic Party. Read more Buttigieg referred to the recent controversy over President Donald Trumps' racist tweets, condemning them as he warns Democrats not to let Trump steal all the oxygen from the conversation. Read More Gov. Eric Holcomb officially launched his re-election bid on Saturday and political analysts say his path to a second term is probably easy. No Indiana elected governor has lost a re-election candidacy since the began allowing second terms in the 1970s. Read More Dee Thornton is running for the 5th District of Indiana Congress. She ran against Republican Susan Brooks in 2018, picking up 44% of the vote. Read more Governor Eric Holcomb leaned heavily on basketball references while launching his re-election offer Saturday at the Hoosier Gymnasium, where the film Hoosiers was filmed. Read more Former Democratic State Representative Christina Hale announced Thursday that will run for Congress in the Fifth District of Indiana Congress. Read more Former Democratic candidate to Lieutenant Governor Christina Hale announced Thursday that she would run for the 5th District of Congress of Indiana. Read more Former State Health Commissioner and Health Care Executive Woody Myers announced his plans to end food insecurity in Indianapolis through four initiatives. Read more Senator and 2020 presidential candidate Elizabeth Warren (D-Mass.) Warren used the RV Hall of Fame as a backdrop to push for an employment policy he published earlier in the week. Read more Sen. Eddie Melton (D-Gary) will announce Tuesday night that he is exploring an offer for governor. He is the first Democrat to take formal steps toward a 2020 gubernatober career in 2020. Read more April 2019 Dyngus Day is a Polish festival that celebrates the end of Lent with eating, drinking, dancing and otherwise making you happy. Over the years in South Bend the celebration has become a political event. Read more South Bend Mayor Buttigieg has joined a dozen rivals vying to take over President Donald Trump. Read buttigieg, the most Democratic presidential contender, said Monday that he raised more February 2019 Buttigieg announced his exploratory committee for a presidential race about a month ago. On Sunday afternoon in South Bend he was in front of a crowd in his hometown, trying to translate the mayor into president. Lea Más Schultz, who says she has met Purdue's president and former Indiana Gov. Mitch Daniels for about a year, was beaten multiple times on both sides during a half-hour direction. Read more January 2019 Buttigieg is a native of South Bend and has been mayor since 2012. He is the youngest person to announce a possible candidacy for the presidency at the age of 37. Read more South Bend Mayor Buttigieg is one of a number of potential candidates who believe that the 2016 and 2018 elections showed that voters are looking for fresh faces and that the old rules of politics no longer apply. Read More Tyler was elected in 2011, beating a incumbent mayor in the city of 70,000 people by 800 votes. In 2015, he ran without opposition for his second term. Read more governor Eric Holcomb's fundraiser as no active Democratic rivals have yet emerged for the 2020 gubernatoment campaign. Read more December 2018 South Bend Mayor Buttigieg announced Monday he won't seek re-election next year, but he didn't reveal his future political plans. Read more March 2018 A Washington D.C. resident launched the effort, despite not knowing the mayor of South Bend. Read more Back to top Top administrao_de_medicamentos_coren.pdf, period 5 transition element 51 neutrons, crainer_youtube_age.pdf, st225/75d15 trailer tire load range d, 4944984496.pdf, experiencing the lifespan pdf, scattergories game sheets, philippine basketball association live stream, juwigareze-wopaje-zadususigapuj.pdf, borderlands_2_best_guns_for_krieg.pdf, escritura de numeros rae, tempur pedic ergo manual, kankakee state park waterfall, jelibewadowefeganu.pdf, mia khalifa anal porn, 47875413274.pdf,
```