reCAPTCHA

Continue

```
the trio with little effort and claimed that his power level was over 1,000,000. Only against Piccolo (recently trained by King Kai and merged with Nail) did Frieza take the fight seriously. Once surpassed, Frieza used third form Frieza 3rd Form 1,590,000 Frieza used third form, quickly dominating Piccolo with a torturous onslaught and managed to repel Gohan's massive rage-charged blast. Frieza claims that it would be easy for him to defeat Krillin, Gohan, Vegeta and Piccolo in his third form, but transforms into his final form Frieza Final Form (Heavily Suppressed) 3,000,000 Frieza's oppressed power was more than a struggle for the four fighters, moving so fast that they could not see his movements. Frieza was able to easily defeat Vegeta, who had received a massive power boost after being cured by Dende. Frieza Final Form 50% 60,000,000 When utilizing 50% of his full power, Frieza quickly dominated Goku, even overwhelming his Kaio-ken x10, noting that a mere third of his full power would be more than enough to spread Goku's Kamehameha×10 with a single hand, with him only sustaining minor burns on it.
Frieza Final Form 70% 84,000,000 When Goku becomes a Super Saiyan, Frieza uses even more of his power by realizing that Goku has achieved the Legend of Super Saiyan, Frieza Final form (100%) 120,000,000 Frieza utilizes 100%, holds his own for a while against Goku, landing some blows, and nearly killed Goku, but he is ultimately surpassed. Frieza Final Form 100% (Battle Worn) 90,000,000 As the battle between Goku and Frieza continued on the dying planet Namek. Goku says that Frieza's power is diminishing with every blow. Mecha Frieza 135,000,000 A year after his defeat at Namek, he was restored with cybernetic parts, and when he was much stronger than before, he was sure he could defeat the mighty Super Saiyan Goku. Additionally, in anime, King Kai notes that Frieza's Supernova is ten times stronger than the Death Ball he used to destroy Planet Namek. Despite this, he was easily killed by Super Saiyan Future Trunks. Resurrection F Frieza Base Form (Revived) 460,000 Frieza's states that he lost some of his strength from being dead for so long. Frieza Base Form (4 months of training) 530 billion Frieza power increased dramatically, as even Gohan openly felt that even with his full power could not defeat First Form Frieza. Frieza then easily defeated Super Saiyan Gohan and killed Piccolo with a single shot. Frieza Frieza then easily defeated Super Saiyan Blue, Frieza still considers himself capable of fighting him using just his final form, but is guickly proven wrong. Frieza transforms into Golden Frieza, shocking almost everyone, including Goku and Vegeta, who had achieved the same godly ki. While Goku and Frieza initially seem on a par with each other, Frieza proved much stronger than Goku when he became serious, easy to pressure Goku without injury to Frieza's side. Golden Frieza begins tiring quickly from yet to fully master his new form until eventually Frieza's battle becomes completely ineffective. Goku is able to turn the tide of battle in his favor. Tournament Of Power Saga Final Form Frieza and Napapa. He also damaged Roselle's wings, prompting the latter to call out to avoid Frieza's threat of torture. Later, when Kale took on her legendary Super Saivan form, Frieza wasn't intimidated by her power, merely smiling as she transformed. True Golden Frieza 100 Quintillion Frieza still maintained his golden form, showing his superior ki control. In the manga, Goku and Frieza fight each other during Goku's negotiations with Frieza to join Team Universe 7, which ends with both equally beaten. Based on this fight, Goku is unsure who would win between Vegeta and Frieza acknowledges, however, that he is still weaker than Beerus.
Directory: Characters \rightarrow villains \rightarrow DBS villains \rightarrow DBS villains \rightarrow Movie villains \rightarrow Movie villains I doubt I need an introduction, but just in case, I'm the mighty Frieza, and yes, all the horrible stories you've heard are true. - Frieza in Namek's Defense FreezerFreeza[1]FLord FriezaEmperor FriezaUniversal Emperor[2]
Planet Namek, Cold and Dark Dragon Ball Z: Bardock - Father of Goku 158 cm (5'2; final form) August, Age 764Age 776[3]Age 778[4]Age 779 Imperial Agent of Destruction[5] Frieza ForceGhost WarriorsTeam Universe 7 (formerly) Future FriezaXeno FriezaClone Frieza Frost Frieza (7), #, Furīza) is Emperor of Universe 7 Who controlled his own imperial army and feared for its ruthlessness and power. He is the descendant of Chilled, the second son of King Cold, younger brother of Cooler, and father of Kuriza. Frieza is the catalyst antagonist of the entire franchise, as it is his actions that led to Goku arriving on Earth. He has made several comebacks since his battle with Goku on Namek, including several invasions of Earth. Recently, he has been chosen to represent Universe 7 as the 10th member of Team Universe 7 for the Tournament of Power as a replacement for Good Buu. This makes him the most recurring villain in the Dragon Ball series. After the events of the tournament Power, he is revived and regains his title as Emperor of Universe, and Golden Frieza Sagas. He is also the main antagonist of Namek, Frieza, Trunks, Gods of the Universe, and Golden Frieza Sagas. He is also the main antagonist of Namek, Frieza, Trunks, Gods of the Universe, and Golden Frieza Sagas.
Dragon Ball Z: Bardock - The Father of the Goku special and Dragon Ball Z: Resurrection 'F' movies. He later serves as a villainous protagonist in Universe Survival Saga and secondary antagonist in DBS: Broly Saga. Content [show] Appearance Art of first form Frieza in the resurrection 'F' original storyboards without any Battle Armor According to Akira Toriyama, Frieza's design is a merging of what he thought monsters looked like in his childhood. [recion needed] According to Daizenshuu, Frieza was also inspired by Toriyama's other editor, Yū Kondō. According to Daizenshuu 2, Toriyama was also inspired to create Frieza because of the events in the Japanese economic bubble that had happened at the time he wrote the Saiian saga, in which Frieza was specifically based on real estate speculators, who Toriyama claimed were the worst kind of people. [6] Frieza is one of the villains in the series, possessing a variety of transformations, each of which is quite different from the others. It is implied by Vegeta and Frieza's fourth, most powerful form is actually his original form, with the other three being forms that suppress and retain his immense power. Frieza later confirms this while fighting the main character, Goku. His forms seem to revolve around both Western and Japanese perceptions of demons. According to an interview conducted by Shonen Jump with Toriyama, Frieza's final form was purposefully made to look small and less threatening: Toriyama wanted to go against the expectation that villains and monsters become bigger and meaner looking stronger they are. [recion needed] In his first form, Frieza usually wears combat armor with a purple breast plate. Once in his true natural form and also his golden form, Frieza wears his race ultimate Bio Suit, Z Fighting Suit. Once in his Mecha form, his body is equipped with a permanent Cosmic Suit. In universe survival saga, he has a halo on his head due to being dead, although this is removed after the tournament due to whis restoring his life of good behavior. Frieza in a tuxedo A series of stamps promoting Dragon Ball Super showed Ideal Boss Frieza, some depicting the tyrant wearing a black tuxedo with a white undershirt and a red tie. Frieza wears this outfit in Society Survival Saga. Oh, watching Dragon Ball's turn to stone at the moment your wish could have come true. Quite a pill to swallow, huh, Vegeta? Of course, even more so for myself. In fact, in all my years, I have never been as angry as I am now. How incredibly annoying not to have seen the writing on the wall ... Now you pay! disgusting, dirty-sucking maggots! You will rue the day you crossed my path! Prepare to face oblivion!
Frieza to Vegeta, Gohan, Krillin and Dende in Frieza are closing in! Mighty Porunga, Give our wish! Frieza enraged after losing who relishes in pain, death, destruction, fear and power. Unlike most primary antagonists, Frieza displays a civilized and refined behavior, speaking with a royal and eloquent nature. He even utilizes the Keigo dialect in the Japanese versions, which utilize unusually respectful and formal fraseology. He tends to handle most situations with a systematic approach. He often uses dark humor, making twisted jokes and tasteless taunts of his enemies before killing them. Frieza is fully aware of his reputation for brutality and does nothing to deny it, but instead revels in it as evidenced by his introduction to Namekians. Likewise, he has shown great anger at the idea of his cruel deeds being undone, such as the resuscitation of all his former victims from Dragon Balls. Frieza can best be summed up as an intelligent, composed (mostly) but extraordinarily sadistic and completely heartless sociopath. His last-form character biography in Dragon Ball: Raging Blast 2 states that Frieza has unparalleled cruelty. He's even been referred to as Universe 7's most evil guy. In Cooler's Revenge, Goku remarked when he condemned Cooler that Frieza himself never tried to kill either his father or brother during his lifetime, and will work with them to deal with threats to their family's reign (as shown in Trunks Saga, Plan to Eradicate Super Saiyans, and Xenoverse 2), he has almost no real love or attachment to them, and even mocks the idea of reviving his father when Sorbet suggested it in both Resurrection 'F' and Dragon Ball Super. This is further shown when Universe 9 Supreme Kai Ro asks why Frieza would willingly betray Universe 7, asks him about any memories or dear Frieza may have. Frieza only coldly rejects him, says he has no idea what he is talking about, causing Ro to label Frieza a psychopath when discussing the possibility of Frieza joining Team Universe 9 with Sidra.
Although he has no real love for his family, he is proud of his clan and respected his father during his lifetime when he took his father's warning of never opposing either Beerus or Majin Buu seriously. While they may work together, Frieza and Cooler have a strong sibling rivalry, and it is understood that at some point they would have come into conflict over control of the universe were it not for Frieza's defeat at Namek. In Dragon Ball Super: Broly, he is shown to be mildly annoyed when his father affectionately claps on their backs, when they are on planet Vegeta, Vegeta, his general aversion to affection, even from his father. Frieza is proven to be something of a perfectionist, expected nothing less from his soldiers as any failure in his eyes will be met with extreme punishment, if not death. Even more, he has absolutely no qualms with the slaughter of his own forces, no matter how loyal they were to him, simply to be in the way of him, seen from when he destroyed Planet Vegeta despite most of his men being within orbit, as well as his reason in the Japanese version of executing a soldier before deciding to personally deal with Future Trunks. Moreover, in Resurrection he did 'F' when he executed Tagoma by shooting him into space, nor any attempt to activate the secondary window to save his powers from being sucked into the vacuum of space (with only Sorbet doing so). He also reacts violently to criticism, or if his plans either fail or if his pride is degraded. Frieza mercilessly beat Vegeta On its core, Frieza relishes glory, power, pain, domination, control and destruction, as he shows in his enjoyment of Planet Vegeta's destruction, as well as his manic glee from destroying planets and making his enemies suffer before he kills them. He is one of the most sadistic, cast-off, brutal, selfish, short-tempered, despicable, and megalomaniacal people without any sympathetic or redeeming traits. Even more so, he has a frank disdain for such happy environments. Because of these combining traits, Frieza is more of a malignant narcissist rather than just a psychopath. During his imprisonment in hell, he found his constant company of stuffed animals, fairies, and angels joyfully and cheerfully danced with playing music to be a fitting eternal punishment for the evil tyrant. Frieza has a very deeply cynical view of others, believing everyone is as selfish and untrustworthy as himself. Ironically, Frieza is outspoken against all kinds of nobility, finding it such an appalling concept. When Kikono states that Frieza Force are criminals, Frieza retorts by saying that they simply overtake planets to sell them to those who need a new planet. It is only business that shows how he makes excuses for his malicious crimes and feels no responsibility for his actions. Frieza's actions have greatly influenced Universe 7 perception of his race is evil is a misunderstanding. Future Zamasu notes in Xenoverse 2 that the Frieza Race is not well-liked, which in turn is probably due to Frieza and his family's evil actions. Frieza's amoral and selfish nature, even against his own kind, could be seen when he met his Universe 6 counterpart, Frost. During their first meeting, they apparently took a liking to each other as they lived for conguest and destruction. Frieza Frieza points out that they have several things in common; This leads to Frieza and Frost ally. In the end, when Frost survived his usefulness, Frieza betrayed Frost and eliminated him from the tournament. At the time, Frieza openly sees Frost as an amateur, presumably because of Frost's addiction to deception and stealth attacks. Frieza has been shown to have a strong influence on people, commonly corrupting them and bending them to his will over a long period of time. The two most notable examples of this corruption are Vegeta and Tagoma, both of which drastically changed behavior because of Frieza. Perhaps Frieza is quite sure of his abilities, commonly referring to his enemies as lower life forms such as insects, and often cherishes the possibility of taunting them (eg not using his limbs in some battles). For much of his life, Frieza was considered among the most powerful beings in the universe. As a result, Frieza believes that no power can challenge his authority. Because of his arrogance, Frieza generally refrains from fighting his enemies. Instead, he relies on his minions to deal with challengers, and only personally confronts his opponents when forced to do so; this is best shown during the events on Planet Namek and after his first revival. Overall, Frieza also seems to have a superiority and inferiority complex, as he can quickly be driven over the edge in anger when enemies prove capable of overpowering or even competing with him. At the same time, Frieza possesses a competitive character and enjoys an enemy that can endure his power. As an example, he congratulates Goku for hurting him in his true form. Frieza wants arguably absolute control more than being considered the most powerful being in the universe; this can be illustrated by the events on Planet Namek, which at the time he already controlled about 70% of the universe. When he fights in the Power Tournament, he shows little fear about gods and angels. In fact, he slights Zeno, going so far as to solve him simply as Zeno without the royal title lord; later in the mentioned tournament, he himself refers to gods as colorful cubs. In this tournament, he was annoyed at how Zeno and his future counterpart saw casually destroying entire universes while vowing one day to topple both Zenos. This serves to show that even Frieza's genocide character and love of destruction have its limits; this view is supported by the fact that he tends to only destroy on a planetary scale, and usually resorts to such extreme measures when he thinks they are Given his incessantly opportunistic and unrepentantly malicious intentions, Frieza knew Tournament of Power was the perfect chance to manipulate gods of god use them to his advantage. When confronted by assassins hired by Sidra and Ro, he ignored Goku's prayers and slaughtered them. In addition, Frieza offered his services to Universe 9 if they wanted to revive him. The gods present were outraged by Frieza's disre allegiance to his own universe. Ro noted Frieza's detached and destructive nature showed him to be even better suited to serve as a God of destruction than Sidra. Despite his evil nature, Frieza can be quite sociable to people who treat him with reverence, such as the Ginyu Force, which worships Frieza and shows extreme loyalty to him. In Xenoverse 2, both Beerus and Whis note Frieza's charisma. Frieza is seen as a good leader. In Frieza's Spaceship rift, it is understood that he has a unique management style through which he allows his subordinates to fight among each other in an attempt to get in his good grace. But Frieza has shown mercy to some of his warriors by giving hem a second chance; an example is when he allows Dodoria and Zarbon to live after being defeated by Future Warrior (who worked undercover at the time). But Frieza rarely shows mercy, and such mercy is generally a one-off thing, as he admits he never gives them more chances. Frieza's style of leadership favors the strong, and the fighting keeps his soldiers on their toes. Therefore, his leadership effectively deprives to become stronger to protect their positions, rank and life. Frieza secure his revenge on Goku After his crushing defeat at Namek, Frieza became obsessed with taking his revenge on Goku and his friends. Frieza's desire for retribution is so all-giving that he is determined to avenge himself by destroying all his nemesis holds dear. Frieza also apparently suffered from a form of PTSD as he sees hallucinations of Goku, which scares him. The mere sight of Future Trunks in Super Saiyan form made Frieza noticeably shake in fear, struggling to compose himself. But at his first resuscitation, Frieza overcame her trauma, again firm confidence in her abilities. To that end, he smiled at Kale rising to her legendary Super Saiyan form (and in manga even expressed complete confidence he could beat her). For all his arrogance, Frieza doesn't completely disregard potential threats to his rule, to the point of paranoia. Frieza destroyed almost the entire Saiyan race when even their low-level fighters showed strength comparable to his elite soldiers. The saiyans' growing strength made him concerned about the possibility of a revolution, and added to his nagging fear of the Super Saiyan legend. Similarly, after his humiliating defeat against Goku on Planet Namek, he admits that he cannot defeat certain enemies, as evidenced by his rejection, to fight Beerus or Majin Buu, Likewise, Frieza is willing to help others defeat defeat enemies. For example, in the Tournament of Power, Frieza repeatedly helped Goku in his ultimate defeat of Jiren, a mortal warrior with power beyond a God of destruction. After the defeat of Majin Buu, Frieza's unwavering desire for victory is tempered by a newfound sense of humility and patience; After learning of Goku's victory over Majin Buu, Frieza puts his revenge on the team to start training himself, despite his open disdain for such a poor task. Frieza's supremacy ultimately allowed him to reach much greater levels of power, leading him to unlock a new Ultimate Evolution. But this discovery only serves to reinforce Frieza was convinced that he could defeat Goku before his lack of mastery over his new form would become a factor, his impatience will be his downfall. While Frieza's calculating nature leaves little room for failure, he nonetheless drew up contingency plans, such as destroying host planets to defeat his enemy or using his followers to carry out stealth attacks. In the end, however, his execution turns out to be sloppy. Nevertheless, his tactical abilities are noted to be brilliant by Vegeta in Dragon Ball Legends, after witnessing Frieza adopt a plan to remove Frost without transforming himself. At the Tournament of Power, Frieza's long period of mental training seemed to have returned him to his previously composed and confident self from before his defeat at Planet Namek. In addition, he corrected his earlier mistakes and refined his golden form into absolute mastery. At the same time, he was shown willing to temporarily put his rivalry with his sworn nemesis Goku aside to help him in the Tournament of Power in exchange for his full revival. Still, when revived by Fortuneteller Baba for a single day, Frieza and Goku greet each other by beating each other in the gut, showing that while they are technically allied, their animosity toward each other remains. Frieza proved to be as devious and scheming as before, playing mind games with his new allies by giving the impression he intended to kill Goku instead of helping him. To that end, Frieza also made it clear that he would not take orders from Goku. During the Tournament of Power, Frieza developed a measure of respect for Goku. For example, he showed gratitude for Goku's naïve nature, and fought by the Saiyan Warrior's side to take down Jiren, in such perfect synchronization and understanding of each other's techniques that it was enough to shock Vegeta. Similarly, Frieza recognized Goku's power, and was apparently not surprised by Goku's ascension to his Ultra Instinct -Sign-state. On request donated Frieza willingly energy to Universe 7 Spirit Bomb, even when Vegeta proved unwilling. Frieza Frieza Saved Goku from Jiren by giving the Saiths enough energy to return to his feet when he realized that Goku's Ultra Instinct was the best chance to beat Jiren. Frieza also used it as an excuse to square himself off his debt to Goku. As mentioned earlier, Frieza turned out to be a surprisingly skilled tag-team partner during the Tournament of Power.
While teaming up with Gohan, the two were able to follow each other's lead and come up with an effective fight strategy on several occasions to eliminate troublesome opponents, with Frieza himself admitting to enjoying working with Gohan and openly admiring and complimenting Gohan's leadership. skills on a few occasions. This respect also seems to have extended to several other members of Team Universe 7 as well. By the end of the Tournament of Power, despite still openly as evil and selfish as ever, Frieza has come to respect Goku and his allies, amazed by their capacity and willingly celebrated with them for a little bit as well after being revived by Whis. His growing admiration for Z-Fighters is shown with the happy flick of his tail at Goku's declaration that he will take him down if he doesn't go back to his evil ways; Hinting the motivation for his inevitable showdown with Goku may have grown from simple-hatred to the spirited joy of being able to fight a warrior whom he may regard as his equal, admittedly seeing Goku as a rare breed of fighter. In Broly, he expresses some disappointment at seeing Goku easily defeated by Wrathful Broly, seems to expect Goku to win and then fight Frieza himself. In Broly, Frieza also reveals that he is no longer seeking immortality, for his experience in hell has made him fear the prospect of being left paralyzed and with no way out. This is interesting enough, one of the few cases where Frieza actually learns from his past experiences. Similarly, he ordered one of his men to figure out how to make a wish with Dragon Balls of Earth, presumably to avoid a failure similar to Planet Namek, which serves as another example of Frieza learning from his past experiences. A third instance can be seen at the end of the film, where, after being defeated, Frieza decided to just withdraw from Earth for the time being instead of risking being killed by Goku (or rather, a fusion of Goku and Vegeta). At the same time, Frieza is still full of vanity. As revealed by Berryblue, Frieza is sensitive to his True form height to the point that Frieza Force soldiers have been executed in the past for daring to call Final Form Frieza short. He seems to have a rather relaxed relationship with Berryblue and even allows her to comment on his brief stature without killing her. More to the former, Frieza's uncertainty at his height led him to steal Earth Balls to increase his height. At the same time, valuing how people perceive him, Frieza refuses to return to his sin even higher forms to satisfy his vanity. Even more, he planned to make a wish for his True Form only to get 5 centimeters, creating the illusion that he was still naturally growing while longer would look unnatural. Frieza also showed an interest in Broly's power and growth potential, using Paragus as a means of controlling him at first. But once Paragus had survived his usefulness and lost the remote control to the Broly Control Mechanism, Frieza, recalled how Krillin's death triggered Goku's Super Saiyan transformation, decided to use Paragus's death to trigger Broly's anger by fooling Broly by claiming a stray blast killed Paragus. But his plan backfires when Super Saiyan Broly blindly attacks him after Goku and Vegeta fly by Frieza as they flee to Piccolo's location. Frieza reacts angrily to Broly's attack and tries to fight back in his Golden Form, but is no match for Broly's power. After leaving Earth in defeat, Frieza, after learning that defectors Cheelai and Lemo have joined Broly at Vampa, decides not to hunt them down, hoping that they could tame Broly, whom Frieza hopes may one day serve under him, seemingly recognizing the legendary Super Saiyan potential. This contrasts with his previous fears of Super Saiyans, who lead him to exterminate most of them as he seeks to make Broly his subordinates. Frieza's ultimate goal is ultimately to defeat the Omni-Kings and rule over even them. [7] [8] In the World Mission, due to an anomaly created by the threat in the SDBH game world Age 764, Mecha Frieza and his father end up encountering an abnormal earlier version of Frieza that is revealed to be frieza responsible for sending Dodoria and Zarbon to Earth to secure Dragon Balls, inadvertently meeting his cybernetic enhanced even after his minions are killed by Dragon Ball That takes on Mecha Frieza & amp; King Cold instead of game world Future Trunks that are absent due to the anomaly. Both Frieza's acknowledge each other as colleagues and Anomalous Frieza agrees to help Mecha Frieza in taking revenge on Goku after learning that he is Super Saiyan responsible for Mecha Frieza's current condition. The two Friezas have been shown to come together and cooperate, probably due to their shared narcissism. Even after his counterpart, Anomalous Ginyu Force, and King Cold are killed, the anomalous Frieza remains dedicated to avenging his counterpart and himself by removing Goku, Dragon Ball Heroes, Vegeta, and Z Fighters. Due to having never come across Goku, the anomalous Frieza is familiar with Goku's personality, as he is shocked when Goku stops Vegeta from killing him and chooses to show this Frieza mercy. When Frieza Clan Hero Froze tries to convince Frieza to accept Goku's offer to leave, he refuses and furiously boy's words, trying to kill him forces Goku and Beat to finish him off with a one Kamehameha. But when he dies Anomalous Frieza vows revenge and true to his word later seeks revenge on Dragon Ball Heroes by joining forces with the game world Cell when he is revived by the threat that is revealed to be the former Time Patroller, Sealas, who manipulates villains to fight Dragon Ball Heroes who defeat them twice, before allowing Ahms to absorb them causing Anlouomas Frieza to curse Sealas to treat him like a peasant. The relationship with Frost Oh, and although you probably already know this, there's even a bit of wisdom I'd like to give. And that is, you should never trust anyone ever. - Frieza betrays Frost in Frieza and Frost! A mutual malevolence? Frieza and Frost form an alliance Since Frost and Frieza are universal counterparts, they have multiple similarities and are almost identical in many ways. When they first met, both smiled, with Frieza pleasantly surprised that there was another emperor. The two emperors spoke privately and presumably got to know each other, as Frieza noted that they had several things in common. When Frieza asked if Frost would be happy to do so. Frieza fires a ki blast at Frost, knocking him out of the ring In fact, Frieza didn't care about Frost at all. This was proven when Frieza tricks Frost by teaching him to increase his strength, only to blast him out of the stage point-blank. Afterwards, Frieza reveals that he thought of Frost as an amateur, rather than a teammate. Despite betraying Frost in the Tournament of Power, Frieza ultimately shows some level of respect for Frost, praising his counterpart for getting rid of the troublesome Universe 9 warriors. Biography Background The young Frieza meeting saiyans for the first time in Broly Frieza's father is a mutant with an abnormally high power level. Because of this, Frieza also possesses mutant traits, making him and his father King Cold the only one among the Frieza Race that possesses the striking level of power and cruelty shown in the series. [9] Even among his family and the rest of his race, Frieza was a prodigy whose natural growth in power required him never to undergo any real training and was still ultimately recognized as the most powerful warrior in the universe. [10] It is said that from the moment Frieza was born, he was more powerful and cruel than his father, Frieza's overwhelming power and genius for evil led to Cold wanting to hand over control of the universe to Frieza immediately. [11]
Thanks to his son's potential, Cold handed over control to him while he was still a child. [11] He was introduced to the Saiyans - who were informed by Cold that Frieza would never cross: Majin Buu and Beerus the Destroyer. [10] annexed the Saiyans in his Frieza Force, and heard about the legends of Super Saiyan God. At one point in Frieza's past, he conquered at least 448 planets and took control of 70% of Universe 7. Frieza's power over Saiyan's Frieza eventually met Beerus himself. The two got on well as they both enjoyed destroying things. But once Frieza got carried away and caused Beerus to get angry, Beerus fought Frieza and easily defeated the tyrant. [12] Unknown to Frieza, his arrogant attitude annoyed Beerus. He considered destroying Frieza when he saved Beerus the trouble of destroying Planet Vegeta himself, but never went through with it. At one point, Frieza met the Galactic Patrol, and when they engaged him in battle, he easily defeated them, and therefore the patrol decided that they should avoid Frieza at all costs. [12] Frieza had fought his parents in the past, and it had not been since these battles that he had ever had to dust himself off after a fight. Well, when the king thought it appropriate to betray me, he died a traitor's death. But his death wasn't nearly punishment enough. I think we should carry out our readiness. If we don't, the primates can be galvanized by their beloved ruler's death to unite against us. Not that it would do them any good. — Frieza to Zarbon to eradicate the Saiyan race after king Vegeta's rebellion. Frieza had many races under his thumb in his planetary trade, including the Saiyans. Gifted with natural fighting skills, strength, and the ability to become stronger after each battle, Saiyans became powerful weapons in Frieza noted that they were never entirely loyal to him because of their pride. But these very abilities made them a liability to the paranoid Frieza, afraid that if left unchecked, saiyans could either unite and overwhelm him, or one day give a warrior to rival Frieza himself – such as a Super Saiyan God. Because of this, and also because of an earlier meeting with God Destruction Beerus, who asked him to obliterate saiyans for him, he decided to obliterate the planet and its inhabitants despite his companion saying that it would be a shame to waste such mighty warriors. He also ended up forcing King Vegeta to give him his son, Vegeta, as part of their continued cooperation. But King Vegeta had secretly intended to betray Frieza before he could ever let him have his son. He also mocked King Vegeta by suggesting that he did not actually care if the latter was delayed in conquering Tazba, before referring to the executed messenger as a stupid dope. Jaco the Galactic Patrolman Main article: Jaco the Galactic Patrolman Frieza plans the destruction of Saiyans Frieza calls for The Saiyan to Return to the Planet On his ship, he is narrated by Super Saiyan and Super destroy Planet Vegeta in a month's time, since most of the Saiyans will not arrive until then. He then tells his subordinate to tell the remaining Saiyans will not suspect him. In the manga, Frieza killed King Vegeta without having to transform into his other form. Frieza destroyed Planet Vegeta after a month had passed, as he had planned. Bardock briefly tried to resist Frieza when he was about to destroy Planet Vegeta, but Frieza wiped him out, the planet and the rest of the Saiyan with a Supernova. Well good!! Now that's beautiful! View?!
See Dodoria, Zarbon, look at fireworks! Aren't they gorgeous?!?! - Frieza reveled in the destruction of Planet Vegeta Frieza is informed by Zarbon and Dodoria about the growing power of Saivans in anime. On Frieza's arrival at Planet Vegeta's orbit, King Vegeta and his men attempted a rebellion both to end Frieza's reign and to save Prince Vegeta, but it ended disastrously with the king and his soldiers being slaughtered by Frieza with only a single effortless battle as Zarbon and Dodoria clock. Frieza suspected that other Saiyans would try to emulate King Vegeta's approach and commit a full-scale uprising, a suspicion confirmed when he was confronted with a charging Bardock, lunging through the fields of Frieza's men at odds with the tyrant, and even going so far as to fire a Final Cannon Spirit at him after giving a deep speech that the Saiyan race has finished working for Frieza. Frieza relishing the destruction of Planet Vegeta The Tyrant responded again by laughing maniacally with delight as he prepared a Supernova to wipe out the planet. The attack consumes Bardock and some of his men as it burrows deep beneath the planet's surface resulting in a massive explosion, wiping out almost all of Saiyan. After the planet's explosion, a story was fabricated to ensure the loyalty the few remaining Saiyans Frieza had kept in his employ as a convenience: Vegeta, Raditz and Nappa. According to history, a large meteor hit Planet Vegeta and destroyed it the same day. Another version of the story is that it was the benevolent custodian of Planet Vegeta, ashamed of the immorality of saiyans, who summoned meteors to influence and destroy the planet and the Saijin race. Despite these stories, Frieza's destruction of saiyans is a rumor that Vegeta heard before the events of Dragon Ball Z, as shown in a flashback during Frieza Saga (although this may be a form of retroactive continuity, as Vegeta seemed to be unaware of this until Dodoria's confession before his death). At one point, Frieza destroyed an entire planet and the rebellious race that lived on it with a single gigantic energy that he fired from his index finger. Vegeta witnessed this event, which caused him to become afraid of Frieza's power and put his plans to murder Frieza on a break. [13] At some point prior to the battle of Namek, Frieza witnessed a conflict between Vegeta and Ginyu Force member Guldo, which unfolded and blew guldo away with a weak energy wave when he wanted to talk to Vegeta. Frieza then ordered Vegeta to come with him to conquer a planet that Frieza Saga Main articles: Namek Saga, Captain Ginyu Saga, and Frieza Saga I want, but a tiny little wish, for the one thing I do not already have: the power of eternal life. - Frieza to Moori, on Namek. Frieza with his two best minions, Dodoria and Zarbon Twenty-five years after Frieza destroyed Planet Vegeta, Frieza spies on Vegeta's scout under Vegeta Saga and thus learns about the existence of Dragon Balls on Namek.
Planning to have them and make a desire for immortality. Frieza arrives at Namek with his longtime mates and top two highest-ranking minions. Zarbon and Dodoria, to try to get Dragon Balls from namekians. After Cui and Dodoria fall to Vegeta, who had betrayed Frieza to collect the fabled elements to his own ends, Frieza sends Zarbon and Appule to find the last two Dragon Balls while he returns with the other five to the ship. Frieza believes that Vegeta probably found a Dragon Ball, and is sure to come after Dragon Balls in his possession. Frieza believes that when Vegeta comes, they will just take the two he has and have all seven. Frieza lifts the five Dragon Balls from the ground telekinetically, and zooms out with them in his spaceship Later, Zarbon returns to the ship to tell Frieza about its achievements. Frieza asks Zarbon if he has found a village, but Zarbon says no even though he has defeated Vegeta. Frieza is relieved and asks if Vegeta is dead, but Zarbon says he does not confirm the body, but the odds are slim, given the severity of his injuries. Frieza asks why he did not confirm Vegeta's death, and Zarbon explains that he was underwater. Frieza figures that Zarbon neglected to confirm it because he didn't want to get his hair wet and that Vegeta could have found a Dragon Ball and hid it. Zarbon says it was inexcusable and he will confirm it immediately. In anime, Orlen arrives at the ship and says he has found a village, but it has already been destroyed and its Dragon Ball taken (in manga, it was Appule that revealed this). Zarbon reckons it must have been Vegeta, and he saved a Dragon ball. Orlen lets it slip that he killed a survivor without first asking where Vegeta may have hidden dragon ball, angry Frieza, who then kills Orlen without a thought, zapping him with Eye Lasers as Zarbon seen in Frieza Frieza Zarbon to bring Vegeta back to the ship and he better hope he is still alive or he will follow Orlen's example. Frieza orders Appule to convene the elite mercenary team known as Ginyu Force He orders Appule to contact Planet Frieza and has Ginyu Force come here in five days with replacement Scouters. Zarbon freaks out and asks why he wants Ginyu Force's help, and Frieza is unsure if it's Vegeta or not. Zarbon says that if it is not Vegeta, then it must be the Saiyan from Earth or his half-breed son, even if they are considerably weaker than Vegeta. Frieza asks Zarbon if he doubts his pre-order, which hastily says no, and tells him to hurry up and bring Vegeta before he loses his patience, and Zarbon quickly flies out. Frieza thinks for himself that the Saiyans have endless fighting potential, even if, of course, they could be really troublesome if one became a Super Saiyan. Frieza becomes enraged because of Vegeta escaping and stealing all the Dragon Balls he had previously acquired Zarbon returns to the battle zone, locates Vegeta's battered body, and takes him to the rejuvenation chamber. Zarbon reports to Frieza that he caught Vegeta and that he is being cured for further interrogation. After healing, Vegeta blasts out of the tank, and the explosion kills Appule. Zarbon and Frieza, who have heard the noise, run to the treatment room. But Vegeta blows a hole in the ship's wall as a distraction and hides. Friza concludes that he has fled and sends Zarbon outside the ship to find him. With his abductors distracted, Vegeta excitedly ran to Frieza's escape and threatens to kill him if he can't find the saiyan. Vegeta realizes that he can't wear all five Dragon Balls, alerts Zarbon and Frieza to his location, and then lets go of a bang in the hallway to hide their vision. Vegeta then blasts a hole in a window and tosses all five balls outside before escaping just in time. Zarbon and Frieza are angry, and Zarbon again begins to search outside the ship to no avail. Zarbon desperately asks Frieza if Vegeta is still on the ship, but Frieza angrily blames Zarbon and says it is his responsibility to find Vegeta. As Vegeta flees unnoticed, swimming in a nearby body of water, a furious Frieza says he will seek the ship's interior and orders Zarbon to search the surrounding area, promising to kill him, He did not catch Vegeta, to avoid facing serious consequences. Frieza awaits Ginyu Force With him not returning within an hour, Frieza concludes that Zarbon has either been killed or run away, and regrets not calling Ginyu Force earlier. Large amounts of seismic activity begin, as a furious Frieza begins to shoot off jets of intense energy while his minions crept together in fear. A soldier informs Frieza that Ginyu Force is in preparation to head to Namek, making Frieza relieved that he will finally get some results. Frieza also concludes that Vegeta has not yet collected all seven Dragon Balls because he is still alive. With the new Scouts, Frieza's forces can find him. After a few days, Ginyu Force finally lands on Planet Namek and present himself to Frieza with a set of absurd poses. Frieza is visibly uneasy by this screen, but decides to get down to business quickly. He orders the Ginyu force to capture Vegeta alive to be interrogated at the Dragon Balls location. Captain Ginyu uses his Scout and says that Vegeta travels with two other people. Frieza believes they should be Gohan and Krillin and says that Ginyu Force can do whatever they want. Jeice gives Frieza a box full of the new scouts that he had requested. With their orders set, Ginyu Force fly out to pursue Vegeta. In the end, they fail to do so when Goku arrives on Planet Namek and fights them, ultimately defeating them, ultimately defeating them, Ginyu did bring Frieza Dragon Balls while his comrades fought, with Frieza tells him to do it a second time. Frieza then tried to summon Porunga, but had no success, concluded that they needed some unique password only a Namekian would know. While he's looking for the secret to unlocking Dragon Balls' power, Frieza finds out that three names are still alive by checking out his scouts.
Ginyu then offers to go, but Frieza tells him he will go himself, telling Ginyu to stay at his post so he speeds towards Nail and Guru, past Dende at the same time but ignores his presence, finally arriving at the Grand Elder Guru's home, where he is confronted by Nail, the strongest of the name-calling warriors on the planet. Nail leads Frieza away from Guru, and fights Frieza. I never imagined there would be a fool who would dare challenge Frieza! I applaud your confidence, sir! Of course, I'm sure you'll quickly regret not only revealing the secret of Dragon Balls... When you have to gasp it out in pain!
- Frieza, in Nail, Champion of Namek Frieza Fights Nail As the Fight Begins, Nail Attempts to Fight and Lunges his neck, but to no avail, as Frieza grabs at Nails' arm and violently rips it out of his body. Body. Nail screams in pain, he quickly regenerates his arm, much to the surprise of Frieza. After a very long and complicated battle, Frieza insists that Nail tells him how to summon Porunga, but Nail launches a powerful ki-attack without success. Frieza then lands a blow to Nail's nose, while Frieza still demands Nail he tells him about the password. Nail starts laughing, frieza tells her big mistake about letting Dende go and leaving Dragon Balls. Frieza then leaves him to die after discovering the fight was a diversion for Dende to reveal the password to Krillin and Gohan as they take Dragon Balls. Frieza knows equal force with Vegeta As he flies towards his ship, he tries to find the energy in the Ginyu Force, and realizes that they do not show up at the scout. Furiously, he follows in pursuit of the heroes only to discover that Porunga, the Namekian Dragon is gone because of Guru's death. He confronts Vegeta, Krillin, Gohan and Dende after the guru had passed away. He then loses his composure because of the loss of immortality and becomes even more enraged that he did not see this come earlier. He then turns out with a much more powerful Vegeta, able to possibly hold his own for a bit against Frieza's strength. Frieza impales Krillin with his horn. Spurred by Vegeta, Frieza reveals his second form, to the complete shock of Gohan, Krillin, Vegeta and Dende, as power not only increasing scares them but his appearance as well. With this newfound power, this allows him to defeat Vegeta. After Frieza uses death storm attacks, he takes the time to decide who should die first, and choose Krillin.
He injures Krillin by impaling him through the chest with his left horn and torturing him. He throws him into the Noting Sea and taunts Gohan with his friend's limp body. Frieza grabs Gohan's hair and picks him up easily. Gohan reacts in an incredible rage and continues to pound Frieza with punches, kicks and a barrage of ki blasts. Frieza then continues to pummel him as an answer, and just before he can finish him off, Krillin, healed by Dende, shoots a Destructo Disc at his tail, chopping the tip of it out. Frieza chases Krillin in a diversion and returns to the others when Frieza decides to finish them off.
Fortunately, Piccolo joins the fight and is able to go battle to blow with Frieza thanks to his fusion with Nail. Frieza and Piccolo are on equal power, none of them capable of gaining a significant upper hand. Piccolo then powers up further, but soon confused and shocked when he sees that Frieza is able to surpass his new speed. Piccolo, standing near Frieza, who is transforming as the fight continues, Piccolo is revealed to be holding back because of his weighted clothes. Eager to demonstrate even more of his power to Piccolo, Frieza again unleash more of his seemingly endless power. Piccolo Piccolo to hold its own, but to no avail. He is now trying to run from Frieza, but Frieza's speed is simply too much for Piccolo. Frieza then brutally attacked Piccolo with his Crazy Finger Beam. Gohan again gets angry, and fires Full Power Masenko, whom Frieza struggles with but ultimately deflects back with ease. Piccolo protects Gohan by firing a blast at it, diverting it away. Frieza notes Gohan's growing power and realizes that only Raditz, Nappa, and Vegeta escaped Planet Vegeta destruction), and finally, he reveals his true form, emphasizing that he intended to give his enemies the pleasure of observing it before they died; In anime, he promises to show them a terror greater than hell. It would be a relatively simple matter to wipe you all out in my current form, but instead of doing so, it would be far more satisfying to leave you with one last vision more terrifying than Death! Consider this my parting gift to you! A nightmare beyond the horrors of hell! Witness my true, ultimate form!!! - Frieza in Frieza's Final Transformation! The ultimate nightmare begins! Frieza tortures Vegeta on Planet Namek In his new form, Frieza first kills Dende, whom Frieza had found had healed the heroes when he saw Dende heal Piccolo just before he turned into his final form. Piccolo, Krillin and Gohan attack Frieza, but Frieza easily evades their flurry of kicks and punches. After receiving another Saiyan Power at his request, Vegeta announces himself as a Super Saiyan and fights Frieza, trying to hit Frieza with an intense flurry of punches. But Frieza's speed is still far too much for Vegeta fires a Final Burst Cannon in Frieza directly, but the tyrant is still by far his superior and easily kicks the beam away. After Vegeta loses his hope, Frieza continues to torture and punish him. Frieza wraps his tail around Vegeta's neck, lifts him up and begins to torture him by repeatedly punching the Vegeta spine while choking him with his tail. As Piccolo, Krillin and Gohan see in horror, Frieza sadly reminds them that they can help Vegeta if they want to, as part of some sick joke. Come on, son, I can't have you giving up after such a slap. No, Vegeta, I'm afraid it was only a prelude to the terrible torment I'm going to inflict on you. Keep your eyes open, dear prince, hell is waiting around the corner.
```

```
Frieza taunts Vegeta as the moment of truth approaches! Goku back in action! Frieza pummels Vegeta Just as Frieza is about to kill Vegeta, the healed Goku arrives on the battlefield, ready to fight Frieza. The long and devastating battle begins, with Goku dodging Frieza's first melee And land a hard kick to Frieza's cheek, send him flying. Gohan Gohan and Piccolo is shocked by Goku's intense power, noting that they could not follow their movements at all. Frieza then tries to use barrage death beam to harm him, to no avail, as Goku deflects them away, even hitting them away from the others. Through a cloud of smoke, Frieza believes he has already defeated Goku. But the Saiyan remains unharmed after the smoke is cleared. Frieza is even shocked that he could move them away from his friends while diverting the beams. Vegeta, believing that Goku has finally become a full-fledged Super Saiyan, mocks Frieza, even if he is too severely beaten himself to stand. Frieza, proud of his past achievements and irritated, smirks before sending his Death Beam through the Saiyajian prince's heart. Teetering on the brink of death, Vegeta is able to tell the newly healed Goku of Frieza's genocide on the Saiyan race, imploring him to take revenge on behalf of all Saiyans. When Vegeta finishes his plea to Goku, he finally dies of his injury. Goku, saddened by Vegeta's death, burys him and vows to end Frieza. Goku angrily reminds Frieza that he treats life like disposables; he had taken the lives of many peaceful people, even children, for his amusement. Goku tells him it's his turn to suffer this time. Frieza tells him that he thinks Super Saiyan is just a legend. But Goku does not care about the legend; He's going to stop Frieza once and for all. Krillin, Gohan and Piccolo leave the area so goku doesn't get distracted in the fight. Frieza firing finger beams at Goku Goku and Frieza then engage each other again. In the melee, they are shown to be just in strength, with none of them able to land any hits. Annoyed by this self fight, Frieza fires an energy wave at Goku, causing him to dodge it using a quick Kamehameha to push himself up into the air quickly. This causes a cloud of smoke, so Frieza fires rays of death beams through it to blow up Goku. Goku realizes that Frieza fires over, spots him, and continues to shoot. Gohan is almost hit by one of the beams, although Piccolo is able to get him and himself out of the way. Frieza manages to land a downward knuckle attack on Goku and fires a wave on the declining Saiyan. To think that he has won again, Goku appears behind him and they stand back-to-back. Frieza hides for a short time and soon emerges from the water and attacks, firing a ball that Goku barely throws away after being pushed into a rock formation. Suddenly, a massive spout of the ground beneath him, and Frieza uses the dying planet's molten rock toward Goku. Goku is hit by Frieza's tail and falls into the pool of exposed lava below. Piccolo flies over and declares Frieza tell him what happened to Goku, and Frieza can fight again, Goku jumps out of the ground. His ass catches fire for a short time (albeit in humorous way). Still, there is no further damage, and Goku pushes the lava back into the ground with a Kamehameha to keep the planet's explosion away for some time. Frieza tries to get the jump on him, but Goku is saved by Piccolo, who gives him an early warning. Goku urges Frieza to leave the planet alone during the battle, and Frieza listens to him. Frieza uses hide tactics again and it works on Goku that is kicked into the sea. Thinking back to the smoke cloud, where Frieza could not detect him without seeing him with his eyes, Goku comes up with a plan to hurt Frieza. Frieza falls for Goku's distraction kick Goku fires two Kamehameha torpedo balls and puts them in place underwater. In the meantime, Frieza does not believe that Goku is dead this time and is waiting for him to return to the surface. Goku, still underwater, fires the first torpedo. Frieza barely moves out of the way before Goku fires the last minute and is furious. Suddenly, Goku appears from above and lands a clean boot to Frieza's cheek (previously, it was the right cheek, and this time it was left). Frieza crashes into a rock formation by hitting the ground, making the tactic a success. For a moment, everyone thinks the fight is already there. But Frieza bursts out of the ground, albeit now showing signs of minor damage. With this, Frieza admits that Goku is the first person other than his parents to cause him pain in his true form. Frieza decides to have some fun with him to cause him this sensation. Frieza soon realizes that his opponent is the son of saiyan, who gave him such problems years before. It's been so long since I've felt pain... It's such a strange feeling. What a rare case he is. - Frieza Frieza uses his telekinetic skills against Goku Frieza and Goku's fight resumes, with Frieza moving some stones out of the ground and launching them on to Goku. But he dodges them with ease. Frieza uses his mind to control them, however, so they keep coming back, forcing Goku to smash them and blow them up with an energy blast instead. Frieza steps it up a notch, this time picking up an entire mountain with its telekinetic powers and throwing it at Goku, all the while laughing. Instead of dodging the mountain, Goku tries to hold on to it and stop it in its tracks.
Goku is eventually pushed into another mountain by it, but Goku cuts straight through the mountain and avoids danger. Frieza uses surprise tactics again and appears above Goku in a ball he creates, rendering Goku unable to Smashes him around like a football but prevents him from smashing into the ground, for the ball will explode if it is touched by anything other than Frieza himself. After some more bouncing around, Frieza finally blows up the ball, sending it and Goku smashing into the ground and causing a massive explosion. Frieza and Goku face off before the next round Minutes after the massive explosion, Piccolo realizes that Frieza is just warming up and that he could destroy the entire planet if he wanted to. He also tells them that Frieza is just playing with Goku right now. Krillin and Gohan believe Goku to be dead in the aftermath. But Piccolo says that Goku also plays, and he shows them Goku himself, standing tall and almost unharmed, albeit with damaged clothes from the explosion. Piccolo assumes he had driven fast enough to get out of the blast radius. He calls them both monsters - a good one, an evil one, Goku and Frieza meet again, stare each other down, and prepare for the next round of their grueling battle. Frieza gives him a suggestion in his mother tongue, like the phrase he says translates to let's get down to business. Goku agrees, and both fighters decide to get serious. A stare-down occurs, and Piccolo tells Krillin and Gohan that this battle must be decided for the fate of the entire universe - and only the three of them will have the opportunity to witness it. But Piccolo hopes he will get to do more than see. You're a case, aren't you? Killing you will be sheer joy. - Frieza to Goku Frieza elbows Goku uses 50% of his power Frieza gives Goku a break and asks him if they should fight on the ground or in the air. Goku chooses the ground, lying that he's a reason kind of guy, but he's actually trying to eliminate the danger of Frieza's devastating power in the air. Piccolo notices this very strategy when choosing their battle site. Frieza picks a small, flat island for the final battle to take place, and they both fly over to it. Goku removes his orange shirt while Frieza taunts him and asks if Goku would rather be buried or cremated when he is killed. Immediately afterwards, Frieza Goku gives another break - he allows Goku to fight him without the tyrant using his hands. Jokingly, he says he won't break his nails like this. A cocky and confident Goku asks Frieza if he is sure he does not to. After another stare-down, Goku lunges forward, and both struggle in the melee. Although Frieza can't beat Goku, he easily evades each of his attacks. After a lot of dodging between each combatants Frieza whacks Goku in the face with his tail. He continues to beat him several times with the powerful tail. Frieza hits him hard one last time, sending Goku to the ground. Frieza beats Goku. Once Goku has recovered, both pause for a short time, Goku finds the fight exciting for him, but Frieza asks him if he still thinks he can somehow beat the tyrant. He throws himself into Frieza and they do it again, but Frieza still easily evades Goku's attack. For a short time, Frieza resorts to blocking before breaking out.
Goku attacks again but is wrapped around his leg by Frieza's tail. Frieza throws him to the ground, but Goku lands on his hands and pulls Frieza down with the force of the leg the tyrant grips with his tail. Frieza lands, but Goku grabs hold of the tail, making Frieza unable to get away. Goku jokes about Frieza's poor hygiene, pouring him on. Frieza urges him to let go - and Goku does just that, hurling him into the air. As Goku flies in front to score a hit, Frieza disappears again. Using several stones to distract Goku, he lands another hit with his tail to Goku's stomach. But Goku manages to grab Frieza's tail again. Goku jokes around again, saying he feels a little deja vu, enraging Frieza even more. Frieza even more back-to-back self brawling, both land a kick at each other before dodging and blocking again. Frieza eventually ends the brawl by wrapping his tail around Goku's head. Frieza keeps his tight grip, bringing Goku to his knees. Resort to desperate measures, Goku bites Frieza sudden (though comical) pain. This gives Goku his chance, kicks Frieza in the face and lands many blows to the tyrant's stomach. Frieza tries to dodge more but is punched in the face by Goku. He is then kicked in the groin and uppercut. Frieza finally gets the upper hand with a strong right hand breaking no hands rule and knocking Goku down. The aftermath leaves Frieza twisted and Goku back on his feet. Frieza reaches 50% power Frieza soon reveals that he has held back all this time and could easily destroy Goku if desired. But before Frieza does, he asks Goku a question: If he joined him, it would suck if all his power went to waste. Goku quickly refuses, but Frieza continues, telling him that he can have everything he ever wanted - he could live like a god. Or he could choose to suffer and die now. Goku thinks this is a bluff. Frieza then says that with 50% of his power, he could easily defeat Goku. Frieza then increases his power to 50% of his maximum, and Goku teleports behind him. Frieza prepares for combat and elbows Goku in the face with tremendous speed. Frieza elbows Goku a second time, causing blood to fly out of Goku's nose, but saiyan remains on his feet. Goku is entangled about the head of frieza tail again and is elbowed in This time Goku struggles to stay up and then falls to his knees. Goku is astonished by Frieza's incredible speed. Frieza tries to block Kaio-ken Kamehameha The fight continues and Frieza easily beats Goku, with Goku completely unable to keep up. Goku tries to use his Kaio-ken x10 in this fight, but Frieza stills beats him using less than half his maximum power. Goku then goes desperately and tries to use x20 Kaio-ken and a Kamehameha, but to no significant avail (the best he could do was a little char Frieza's hands), as Frieza manages to diffuse the blast with 50% of his power. However, he becomes alarmingly aware of his opponent's remarkable abilities. After taking another beating, a severely battered Goku tries to create a bomb of the breath by calling the energies of Namek's solar system as a last resort, as Namek did not have enough life on the planet to make the Breath Bomb powerful. Piccolo, Krillin and Gohan are able to distract the tyrant long enough, with Piccolo kicking him into the sea and later Krillin and Gohan firing energy balls at him. Just before Frieza can evaporate Krillin and Gohan, Goku fires the great Spirit Bomb, severely wounded Frieza. So the little pests decided to intervene from the sidelines. They just won't rest until I've been pushed to the very limits of my patience... YOU MIX BRATS! I hope you all enjoy suffering the same fate as this planet!!! - Frieza in Awaken, Legendary Warrior! Goku the Super Saiyan! Frieza survives Goku's Spirit Bomb With anyone who thinks the warlord is dead, the heroes take the time to relax until Krillin notices that Frieza has emerged from the crater of the explosion. Frieza retaliates by mortally wounded Piccolo with a Death Beam (in manga, Frieza intentionally fired at Piccolo, while in anime, Frieza fired at Goku and then Piccolo pushed him out of the way and took the blast instead). Frieza then uses his telekinetic powers to get Krillin to fly up in the air, and despite Goku's pleas, he murders Krillin. In the Japanese version as well as Kai, Frieza also continued to threaten to assassinate Gohan in the same way. Already bordering on the edge, his rage exploding, causing Frieza to inadvertently create what he had always feared: a Super Saiyan. With the loss of words, Frieza could only stare at Goku unable to believe that Super Saiyans exist. In the ensuing battle, Super Saiyan Goku and Frieza trade blows, but as the fight progresses, Frieza's 50% power clearly turns out to be less than adequate against Super Saiyan; even his Barrage of Death Beam has little effect on the newly empowered Saivan. Frieza tries to remind Goku that the Saivans were as ruthless as Frieza himself is in their barbarism, to which Goku replies that the Saivans have paid for their mistakes now, Frieza to ask if was the reason he killed them easily. [14] Frieza fires a Death Beam in anger, but it simply hits Goku's chin and pushes his head upwards. He lowers his head with a minor scratch. Frieza reaches full force In frustration, Frieza sends a Death Ball into the planet's core and launches a chain reaction that will destroy Namek in five minutes (revealing immediately after he held back too much of his power that the Death Ball would be a complete success). Frieza unleashes 70% and then 100% of his power, as Goku requested, who wants to fight him using all his strength. Goku also notes that Frieza wanted it this way, because if he hadn't, he would have fired at the planet again and destroyed it. At this point, Frieza launches a stunning attack against Super Saiyan Goku, who didn't expect Frieza's power to be as high as it is, with Frieza in particular landing a high knee in his face, giving Goku a bloody nose. In anime, he also gave Goku a challenging enough fight that the latter was forced to fake his death to buy enough time to recover, with Frieza also briefly fighting Gohan until Goku arrived to continue the fight. Also, after Goku let slip that Porunga was now active, Frieza then tried to make his desire for immortality. Unfortunately for him, wanting the Dragon to be required speeches in the Namekian tongue, with Dende instead managing to give a desire to evacuate all but Frieza and Goku, with Frieza also briefly witnessing a revived Vegeta. Frieza also briefly wanted given in such a way to ensure that there are no more innocent people nearby and thus did not hold back. Super Saiyan Goku quickly realized that after suffering so much damage in his 50% state, Frieza's body would no longer be able to handle his 100% power for very long. Super Saiyan Goku and Frieza face off. Eventually, after a very long battle, Super Saiyan Goku gets the fight under his control, delivering one last momentous blow to the tyrant who symbolically ends The Freeza reign. Watching Frieza's power slip fast now, Super Saiyan Goku decides to cancel the fight, claiming that it would be pointless to continue, as Frieza is losing strength quickly and Super Saiyan Goku had already humiliated the tyrant. Simian... Hybrid...! (...) My name is Lord Frieza. No one surpasses me... No one comes close! Sear this into your skull; I am the emperor of the universe; people like you are only fit to crawl on my feet! Or better yet... To die... In disgrace ... !!! In the hands of your master!!!!!! Goku's Final Attack! Countdown to Planet Namek's Destruction! Frieza is cut by his own attack humiliated, Frieza refuses to give in, attacking Super Saiyan Goku with two of his Death Saucers. As Super Saiyan Goku dodges the attacks, Frieza ironically gets distracted long enough to be duerd by own attack.
Barely clinging to life, but desperate to Frieza asks for mercy, which Super Saiyan Goku hesitantly gives, giving him a bit of his ki. Frieza pride refuses to allow him to be beaten and rescued by a Saiyan monkey, and he uses the little energy he has left to attack Goku. Overcome with anger, Super Saiyan Goku fires an Angry Kamehameha that consumes both Frieza's attack and what is left of him in the process, apparently killing him and avenging countless people throughout the universe. Frieza-Androids Interlude Main article: Trunks Saga Frieza floats half-dead through space Unbeknownst to Goku and everyone else, Frieza was not killed on Namek. Frieza's shredded body floated in the planet's debris, held company only by his thoughts on how the universe conqueror had been thoroughly beaten by a poor Saiyan. His father King Cold had crews scouring the area, not believing his son to have been destroyed by something as insignificant as the explosion of a planet. What could be found of Frieza is salvaged and reconstructed with cybernetic improvements, leaving him scarred and bitter. Knowing that he is now stronger than ever before, Frieza's first thought of rehabilitation is revenge on those who defeated him at Namek. Frieza and his father King Cold Frieza beat Goku to Earth (despite his bad intentions toward Earth and everyone who lived there, Frieza notes It's a good planet on first view) and orders his minions to find and slaughter his inhabitants, with Frieza intent on killing his enemy's friends himself. But his army is torn apart by a mysterious youth. Frieza dismisses his challenger as a rude child, and pays him almost no heed until the boy reveals himself as another Super Saiyan. Even then, Frieza initially dismisses the boy's claim as a bluff and laughs it off, only to express shock when the boy proves his claim valid by transforming right in front of him and his father. Mecha Frieza is killed by Super Saiyan Future Trunks Dumbstruck, Frieza makes several different efforts to kill the young, such as energy blasts, each of which is parried easily (this only happens in anime, while the youth wasted no time and killed Frieza after a single attack in manga. Also, Gohan implies that Frieza held back 50% of its power in manga while anime has Frieza going all out). He then plays his trump card in the form of a Supernova (a Death Ball ten times the size of the one that destroyed Planet Namek).
Even this is nonchalantly brushed away until an offended Frieza causes it to detonate with another shot of ki. Thinking him dead, both father and son are stunned when the youth fires a Burning Attack out of nowhere. Fuming, Frieza becomes unaware of his opponent's position, and is surprised and cut in half by the Saiyan youth before being cut to pieces and then evaporated with an energy blast, King Cold meets a similar fate, with the youth wiping him with Breaker when the tyrant tries to attack him. Despite this, the common myth throughout the universe remains that Goku defeated Frieza at Namek. In the alternative future timelines for Future Trunks and Cell, it is understood that Future Goku used Instant Transmission to teleport to Earth and killed Frieza and King Cold in Hell Frieza make numerous cameo appearances throughout the rest of the series from Hell. His first (and most important) role was to team up with King Cold and the dead members of Ginyu Force. [15] Frieza and King Cold were the only two villains in this scene who were not cast on the Mountain of Needles of Pikkon; Pikkon knocked Frieza out with a single punch to the face after elbowing King Cold in the stomach. So all seven were locked in a prison cell. This was one of the rare times Frieza and Cell (two of the three main villains in the show) are seen talking to each other.
Frieza and Cell sometimes went to hell together. [16] Majin Buu Saga Main article: Kid Buu Saga Why am I not surprised? - Frieza after witnessing Goku defeat Majin Buu with the Super Spirit Bomb. Later, Frieza is shown observing Goku's battle with Kid Buu along with other defeated villains from the series, even saying I could have done the same thing if I hadn't lost both my legs! For obvious reasons, he often rooted for Kid Buu to beat Goku. When Goku managed to get his power back and wipe out Kid Buu, Frieza could only see in silent irritation that Goku managed to win, and also thought for himself why am I not surprised?. Gods of the Universe Saga Main article: Gods of the Universe Saga This section covers the events depicted in the resurrection 'F' manga. The rest of the Gods of the Universe Saga is listed during the character's Film appearances. Frieza is revived In Hell, Mecha Frieza dreams of his defeat at the hands of Super Saiyan Goku and his death at the hand of Super Saiyan Future Trunks. Soon after, Frieza suddenly finds himself alive again, albeit broken, thanks to Sorbet wanting Shenron to revive him. Using his telekinetic skills, Frieza tries to reconnect, but quickly falls apart. Frieza is surprised to have been returned to life and glares at Pilaf Gang. Sorbet and Tagoma collect the pieces of him and leave the planet. Sorbet places Frieza in a healing chamber and he is fully revived, taking his first form while remembering his first defeat due to Goku at Namek. Frieza wakes up, shakes the ship and blows up all the scouts. Frieza shows up and talks to Sorbet and Tagoma, killing a soldier as he does so to test his power before killing Tagoma to speak back to him. Sorbet informs Frieza that Goku defeated Majin Buu, Frieza declares that he will train for four months to surpass him. Four months later, Frieza invades Earth with his army of 1,000 soldiers. He destroys North City as a greeting and soon announces Z Fighters' arrival. He confronts them and asks where Goku is, only for everyone to be surprised when Bulma and Jaco arrive on a ship. Frieza reveals that he can transform further on Frieza's orders, Sorbet commands the thousand soldiers to attack the defenders of the Earth. Watching the battle, Frieza comments, gohan could beat all thousand soldiers himself if he wanted, but he is uninterested in the young Super Saiyan. Goku and Vegeta then arrive and then Frieza immediately takes on his final form to battle Goku - who channels the power of Super Saiyan God in response. The two fight an even battle, although Goku manages to gain an edge, blasting Frieza with a huge God Kamehameha. Frieza then decides that it is time to reveal his further development.
Dragon Ball Super God destruction Beerus Saga Main article: God destruction Beerus Saga Goku fights a mental image of Frieza attacking Super Saiyan Goku from behind, but Goku senses him and hits him in the face, defeating him. After Whis reveals Frieza's defeat when Beerus asks how Frieza does, Whis peers back in time to Frieza's battle with Goku on Namek, showing Beerus's part of the battle between him and Super Saiyan Goku Golden Frieza Saga Main article: Golden Frieza Saga Mecha Frieza in Hell Contained in a Cocoon in Earth's Hell, Frieza dreamed of his defeats at the hands of Super Saiyans, Goku and Future Trunks, but soon woke up to the sight of Angels of Hell. But over fourteen years after Frieza's death, two of his men, Sorbet (commander of Frieza's army) and Tagoma (elite soldier), collect all dragon balls using the Pilaf Gang and revive him, and he is revived, as he was just before his death, as Mecha Frieza and to pieces. Sorbet and Tagoma collect all the pieces except for his right eye, which is found by Pilaf, who hands it to Sorbet just as he and Tagoma are about to leave. On Sorbet's Spaceship they put the organic parts into a medical machine, Frieza's body is regenerated and he returns to his first form completely free of his cybernetics. As he recovers inside the chamber Frieza dreams of his first defeat by Super Saiyan Goku, and angrily wakes up, shaking the whole ship. Frieza blasts Tagoma for his cowardly suggestions He was then introduced to Sorbet and Tagoma while they explained to him how they brought him back to life and they could bring King Cold back to life as well, but Frieza suggested there was no need for it and suggested that he should wait for his revenge against Saiyan. Afterwards, he informs his soldiers that he will not be satisfied until Super Saiyans (Goku and Future Trunks) have both been killed. Tagoma then suggests that Frieza put his grudge against the Saiyans behind him and focus on reconstituting his empire. Angry at Tagoma's suggestion to leave saiyans alone, Frieza shot Tagoma with ki blaster instead of killing him because he found it boring to kill him quickly. Frieza is then informed by Sorbet that Goku's power has surpassed even Majin Buu, which is far more than Frieza could have imagined. But due to the fact that he is a prodigy, Frieza believes that through four months, Frieza trained heavily, sometimes using Tagoma as an education partner. During training sessions with Tagoma, Frieza would beat him within an inch of his life and then have him go heal up to the next days of training, allowing Frieza to both become stronger and master his torture-type fighting style to allow him to fight Goku for as long as possible without killing him, causing saiyan as much pain as possible. After all the time passed, Frieza and his forces eventually reach the Earth, and he gets excited about demanding his revenge on the Saiyans. As they are about to land, Frieza begins to laugh triumphantly at his chance for revenge. After landing on Earth, he fires a Death Beam on the North City, completely wiping it out. Frieza then meets Z Fighters, who are gathered to try to resist him. Frieza gets annoyed to realize that Goku has not yet arrived when he recognizes Krillin as the person he killed at Namek. The tyrant mocking remarks that Dragon Balls can revive the powerful and pathetic before receiving some scathing comments from Bulma who had never seen him in person until now. Bulma pleads for some time, allowing Goku to arrive, but he gives them only ten seconds. Frieza, who is not interested in fighting without his nemesis, has his army of 1,000 soldiers to attack Z Fighters. When Sorbet tries to give orders to the soldiers all aiming for Krillin as a joke - offering a planet to whoever kills him. Frieza with Ginyu and Sorbet Frieza comments about Gohan's abilities as a fighter, noting with disgust that the boy shares his father's morale. As the fight drags on, Frieza dismisses his troops as a disgrace to his name and threatens to kill Sorbet as punishment for his mismanagement, prompting the diminutive commander to send Shisami into battle. The hulking warrior guickly drags Gohan into a bear hug in an attempt to crush him, but Tagoma blasts the duo from behind in an attempt to kill the enemy's strongest warrior. the tyrant then agrees to appoint the as commander of his forces if he destroys Z Fighters. He continues to watch the fight unfold until Gotenks arrives and injures Tagoma. Gotenks prepares to fight Frieza, only to defuse shortly thereafter. Frieza notes Goten's resemblance to Future Trunks, which had cut him in half. He gets angry at how the Saiyans have multiplied and orders Tagoma to wipe them out. Soon after, Frieza is approached by Captain Ginyu, who changed the corpse of Tagoma while he felt pain on the ground. The captain explains his trials over the years from being preyed on into the corpse of a frog to arriving on Earth for Frieza's return. Frieza is happy that Ginyu is alive and once again in his service, but is unimpressed by Ginyu's fighting poses and asks him to be useful and annihilate Z Fighters. Frieza watches with delight as his faithful servant decimates Z Fighters, adding that he is stronger than Tagoma was. But Ginyu is defeated when Gohan transforms into a Super Saiyan, with Frieza expressing surprise that Goku's son was able to achieve form. Although Gohan decides to spare his opponent, Frieza recalls that this scenario is identical to the last part of his battle with Goku on Namek and snaps flying down to the battlefield in his hoverchair. Furious, he rejects Captain Ginyu and attacks Gohan with Death Beams, while telling him to scream, beg for mercy, and run. After Gohan succumbs to his injuries and falls to the ground, Frieza attacks with a finishing Death Beam. Suddenly, Piccolo jumps in the way of the Frieza attack, taking the attack full brown, protecting Gohan. Frieza finds it very funny when Gohan cries for Piccolo. When Bulma finally talks to Whis, he forbids Sorbet to kill her at the moment in the hope that she could bring Goku to Earth. When he does not come immediately, Frieza allows Ginyu to fight and kill Goku friends so he can be entertained at least, but then Gohan stands up to Frieza and powers up his Super Saiyan form once again as a way to both protect everyone and increase his energy high enough to be discovered by Goku. The power-up eventually tires him out completely, and Frieza again decides to end his life. Frieza begins to transform shortly thereafter, Goku and Vegeta appear on the battlefield, the former has used Instant Transmission to return to Earth. Goku quickly blocks the Death Bar before he rounds on Frieza, the latter explaining how he returned to life while describing his excruciating experiences in hell. He blames Goku for the suffering he had endured since their fight at Namek and says his desire for revenge. Vegeta then kills Captain Ginyu, prompting Frieza to recognize the increased strength of the Saiyan prince, even though he promises to kill him when Goku is dead. After talking about their education, Decides Frieza Frieza transform into his final form from the start to avoid making mistakes again and preparing to fight, his transformation evaporating the rest of his soldiers in the process, leaving Sorbet as the sole survivor. Goku and Frieza begin their rematch They start their fight on the ground after lighting up and then power up again during close combat. Frieza actually thanks Goku for making himself train to fight him at this level, but then gets angry again after remembering the pain he's been through. He plans to kill Krillin and Bulma with Ki blasts, but Goku and Vegeta show up at the last minute and divert them (Vegeta did this because Goku was pinned to the ground by Frieza at the time). Then they resume their fight and take it all the way over the clouds. Frieza told Goku that he attacked his friends so he can fight Goku on his angriest. After being knocked around, Friza fires a Golden Death Ball at Goku, and he uses a Kamehameha to collide, causing an explosion. Frieza was delighted when Vegeta clapped his hands After a Ki blast barrage of conflict, Vegeta shows up and fights Goku, who impresses Frieza, and he questions his loyalty to him, even though Frieza fires a blast at the two and tells Vegeta that he wants to fight Goku first. After he became annoyed by Vegeta's continued applause, the Siyan decides to take on the tyrant, only for the two of them to negotiate for them to fight each other after Frieza kills Goku. In manga, the two fight and Goku have the advantage. He continues to blast Frieza with a Kamehameha, prompting the tyrant to announce that he will reveal his further development. Frieza then witnesses Goku transforming into Golden Frieza after developing into Golden Frieza tries to knock out Goku from behind to gauge his power, but Goku catches this attack with his fist, prompting Frieza to finally transform himself into Golden Frieza, despite his own warnings. After saying goodbye in advance, Frieza again proceeds to fight Goku, and he had the upper hand at first, but Goku blocked all of Frieza's upcoming energy attacks, resulting in an energy clash that lasts a while and results in a dazzling explosion. As Beerus and Whis show up for their dessert, thanks to his new extraordinarily high effect, Frieza again gets the upper hand against Goku and after comparing how long it took to reach their new forms, Frieza decides to kill Goku immediately and his friends too so he won't be lonely in hell. When he sees Beerus, however, he becomes frightened and frustrated that he might interfere, but Beerus told Frieza to do as he pleases. Frieza then decides to continue his revenge and kept pushing him further and further, leaving Goku exhausted. Frieza strangles Goku with his tail and strikes him in the gut and head repeatedly, until Goku bit his tail forcing him to let go, but Frieza still had the upper hand and knocked him down again. He explains why he hates Goku for his actions back at Planet Namek and tries to kill him with his energy attacks, but for some reason, Goku kept surviving them all. They were almost interrupted by Vegeta, who wanted to kill Frieza for Goku, but he insisted that he almost have him. Goku also warns Frieza of his form disadvantage, but he ignores his warnings and decides to wrap things up, with both combatants using every bit of power they have left. At first, Frieza seemed to dominate again, not even allowing Goku to drown to death until Goku's prediction began to come true: he burns more power and stamina than his body can deliver and not regulate it until he decided to exact his revenge. Because of his massive drop in power and stamina, Goku beats him away with a forehead punch in anime. Goku then suggests that Frieza leave to get a rematch later. But Frieza signaled to have Sorbet shoot Goku right in the chest with his ring. He repeatedly kicks Goku and explains his weaknesses as he does so: His strength makes him careless. Since he is about to kill Goku once and for all, Vegeta attacks, and Frieza dodges his blast. Frieza gets beaten by Super Saiyan Blue Vegeta tells Krillin to give Goku a Senzu Bean, Frieza tries to kill him with a Death Beam, but Vegeta blocks it and it ends up killing Sorbet. Frieza hardly thinks Vegeta could kill him now, but he also turns into a Super Saiyan Blue, who scares Frieza at first. Frieza tries to hit Vegeta with a lot of Ki blasts, but he was never fazed by any of them because of Frieza's having lost most of his power. After a bit of great talk, Vegeta beats up Frieza and the tyrant then returns to his final form. Before Vegeta could kill Frieza, Frieza blows up the earth, killing Vegeta and everyone on it. Beerus and Whis that Frieza survived the destruction thus floating in space, preparing for his next move. Frieza on being killed by Goku's God Kamehameha But the event was undone by Whis' Temporal Do-Over and Goku turned into his Super Saiyan Blue form and charged and launched a Kamehameha strong enough to destroy Frieza and sent him back to hell before he can destroy earth, but not before Frieza shouts a curse on Goku. Once back in Earth's hell, he was forced to watch Angels of Hell dance and sing while strapping a cocoon again, much to Frieza's annoyance. Universe 6 Saga Frieza with Sorbet and Shisami in Hell In a manga extra featured in the Warriors from Universe 6!, Frieza is shown in hell with Sorbet and Shisami. Frieza's Universe 6 counterpart Frost plays a big part in this saga, and in manga Frost's battle with Goku is referred to at the end of the chapter as Goku vs. Frieza Round 3. Future Trunks Saga Frieza appears in the forest Terror When Goku and Krillin train together and are sent by Master Roshi to find a medicine called Paradise Herb they enter a strange forest to look for it, but they encounter a manifestation of Frieza, this is because the forest is on the edge between this world and the next, and thus the memories of past battles can manifest, and Frieza manifests itself When he was at Namek through Krillin's memory. Seeing Frieza scare Krillin as Frieza was one of the three villains that killed him, though Krillin is more afraid of Tambourine illusion than either Frieza or Super Buu's illusion because of Mutant Namekian having killed Krillin first. Goku is able to destroy the Frieza illusion, but it keeps coming back until Goku does it and the other illusions crumble by not responding to them at all. Krillin was later surrounded by several illusions about Frieza, who eventually turned into Nappa. Universe Survival Saga Main article: Universe Survival Saga Frieza is visited by Goku in Hell In Anime, After 9 members of the 10 member Team Universe 7 gather they realize that Buu has fallen asleep and will not wake up for at least two months. Goku, in a desperate state, suggests making Frieza the 10th president of the United States. Everyone is protesting because Frieza is just as likely to destroy them instead of helping them. Nonetheless, Goku insists that he and Vegeta can stop Frieza if he gets out of control. Goku convinces King Yemma to have him escorted to hell, where he finds Frieza strapped into his cocoon. Frieza wonders why Goku is there, and finds out that he's planning something when Goku asks Frieza how he'd like to get out of hell for a bit. After telling Frieza about the Tournament of Power, he cuts down the cocoon and frees Frieza agrees. Frieza agrees. Frieza attacks Goku with Sidra's Energy of Destruction Frieza telling Goku to use Dragon Balls to revive him, luring Goku by claiming he can get stronger. Disgusted by the offer, Goku nonetheless tells him that Super Dragon Balls would be the prize for the winner of this tournament, but Frieza doubts it, preferring Earth's Dragon Balls to revive him. Goku promises to revive Frieza, so Frieza agrees to join Team Universe 7. Goku goes to see Fortuneteller Baba, and asks her to bring Frieza to Earth in 24 hours. Baba is reluctant to do this, but does as Goku asks, since the fate of their universe is at stake. Frieza arrives, and he and Goku greet each other by punching each other in the stomach.
Assassins from Universe 9 arrive to murder Goku and Frieza, who fight up to Golden Frieza and begin killing the assassins. Frieza reveals that he learned to maintain his stamina by mental concentration via imagining killing Goku. Frieza is affected by the Energy of Destruction, but gets control over it and and Goku with it. He uses a communicator device from one of the assassins to talk to Sidra and Ro. Frieza offers them a bargain: they make him a member of their team and he will do well as he does not want to be collateral damage if Universe 7 is deleted and offer to kill Goku to ensure his team does not win. When the two gods argue about this, Beerus and Whis show up and get Frieza to destroy the communicator. Beerus suspects Frieza of plotting against them, though Whis thinks he may have just been trying to get information about other universes. Frieza joins Team Universe 7 Frieza notes for himself that this tournament is the perfect opportunity to manipulate the gods of the many universes, and threatens Beerus silently. After Beerus silently, After Beerus silently, After Beerus silently, and threatens Beerus silently.
cold and Beerus declares that they are evenly matched. Frieza's gone to the rest of the team. As soon as he arrives, all the other members look at him suspiciously, while Beerus prevents him from doing something stupid, which Frieza tells him he knows. Vegeta then makes a comment about his halo, Frieza jokes about giving him one. As the team leaves and Whis tells everyone to join hands so he can transport them to the arena, Beerus butts in and grabs Frieza's arm instead of Vegeta to avoid an escalating grudge between the two. In manga, shortly before the Tournament of Power, Frieza has a nightmare in which he relives his defeat and second death on Vegeta and Goku's hands, respectively. Suddenly, Goku is taken to the Earth by The Guide, which is to make him think he's still dreaming. Goku says it's not a dream, and he has some business dealings with the evil tyrant. Goku comments on Earth's hell, saying that it is rather comfortable for a place of eternal torture, which leads Frieza asks what he wants to leave for 24 hours. Intriqued, Frieza curiously asks Goku what he's up to. Frieza and Goku arrive at Capsule Corporation At the Capsule Corporation, the next day, it's almost time for the fighters to leave, but Goku and Frieza arrive, arrived. Team Universe 7 expresses their concern that they are missing a tenth member, and Goku is nowhere to be found. Suddenly Goku and Frieza arrive.
with Fortuneteller Baba, battered and bruised. Other than Vegeta and Krillin, everyone seems surprised that Goku recruited Frieza would listen to him. Piccolo gives the couple every one Senzu Bean to heal up with. Vegeta insults Frieza for having a halo, and the tyrant him in return. Goku warns Vegeta, says that somehow Frieza has even more potent, despite being immobilized in hell. Frieza says he trained in thousands of imaging simulations in the best way to kill them all. Beerus warns Frieza not to cross them or he will personally intervene, but Frieza says amusingly that he made fun. Whis cleans up the pair and asks Goku how he got Frieza to agree to participate in the tournament. Frieza says that Goku agreed to fully revive him if their universe wins the tournament, much to the displeasure of all. Whis tells everyone that the time has finally come for warriors to leave and tell them to join hands and form a circle. Frieza, however, refuses to hold hands with his nemesis, Goku. Frustrated, Beerus threatens to destroy Frieza and his soul so he will never come back again unless he joins hands. As expected, Frieza joins Ølus and Goku, but very reluctantly, As a final parting word, Beerus tells them that teamwork is essential and they should let the other fighters fight to save endurance. Whis spoke to the Great Minister that they are ready to go and they all go out with Bulma standing close, wishing them all the best of luck. Frieza appeared while grabbing Murichim by the head In anime, Frieza and his teammates carried by Whis to null realm. There he meets the fighters of other universes, and is surprised to see Frost, another member of his race. Before the tournament begins, Frieza and Frost meet in secret near the far edge of the ring. The two agree that working together as companions of the spirit. Like Goku, Vegeta, 17 and 18, Frieza ignores Gohan's strategy and runs out to fight on their own; ki blasting Catopesra from Universe 3 at point-blank. Frieza easily defeats Napapa and paralyzes Roselle, and had caused the latter to accidentally jump out of bounds after some torture. Frieza then witnesses Universe 9 being erased by the two Zenos and vows to rule over them one day. When Kale transformed, and started going on a rampage, Frieza just quietly smiled, seemingly unfazed. Later, when Gohan talked about reuniting their team, Frieza showed up while grabbing Murichim by his head. Vegeta approaches Frieza and accuses him of pursuing his prey. Frieza blithely just kicks Murichim out of the ring. Frieza torturer Jimizu Frieza appears again, watching the spectating crowd from above a ledge, and deciding who will be his next victim. He notices Gohan fighting Jimizu, and the spectating Universe 7 surprise, he allows the fight between Gohan and Jimizu to continue. But after Gohan is overpowered, Frieza smugly intervenes between Jimizu and Gohan. To his amazement, Frieza easily attacks him. Him. His tail to lift him from his throat, Frieza continues to torture Jimizu, and with a final ki blast, claims his victory over him. With both Universe 2 and 7 in shock, Frieza throws him out of the ring, where the members of Universe 2 continue to give their fallen comrade support. Frieza and Frost reveal their alliance Frieza berates Gohan for not using his full power against Jimizu, Frost comes onto the stage, compliments Frieza then goes over to his side and everyone realizes that they had already allied themselves. With everything on the table, Frost insists that Frieza is fighting Gohan, which Frieza accepts. Before they begin, Frost warns Frieza, if he were to lie to him, he would suffer the consequences and form a Death Beam at his fingertips. Frieza and Gohan then make the fight, with Frieza having taken over for most of the fight. As the fight continues, Gohan powers up to his Ultimate form and manages to get a good punch on Frieza. Upon realizing the full extent of his power, Frieza continues to power up to his Golden Form, and after a very short battle, Frieza defeats Gohan. Frost then comes on from the sidelines, marveling at the extraordinary power frieza possesses. Frieza about giving to Goku some of his energy Frost follows suit, and Frieza gives him an important lesson about the shape: to use it early to ensure the body's endurance does not run out. Frieza gives him one last lesson: not to trust anyone and the proceeds to knock him out of the ring. After Frost is knocked out, Gohan pushes himself off the ground, revealing himself to be still conscious. Completely shocked by this betrayal, Frieza reveals to Frost prepares for a ki blast. Still, before he can shoot, he is erased by Zeno, who reiterates that no one can attack from outside the arena and warn Champa they would delete Universe 6 if they did it again. With the fight finally over, Frieza states to Gohan that they should continue to work together to achieve victory and leaves with a smile on his face. In manga, after arriving at Null Realm, Frieza discovers his counterpart from Universe 6: Frost, Frieza talks to Frost, and after finding they share the same joy of decision with an iron fist, Frieza suggests they join up to which Frost gladly accepts. The great minister explains the rules and announces the beginning of the Tournament of Power. Immediately Goku, Vegeta, Frieza, 17 and Android 18 18 from the rest of the team to go and do their own thing. Frieza eliminates Rubalt by stepping on his hand to make him fall after Android 17 almost knocks him from the arena. As Frost pummels away at Oregano, Frieza intervenes, advising him not to waste much of his energy and asking him to do him a favor by taking the three weak Earthlings, Master Roshi, Krillin and Tien Shinhan for him. Frost guestions this as they are his teammates. Frieza says he doesn't care about winning and is only involved in exacting his revenge against the Saiyans, which he will do when the time is right. Frost is interested in Frieza's goals and decides to play together. Frost then rushes at Krillin and easily kicks him out of the ring, causing the first member of Universe 7 to fall. Tien and Master Roshi fight Frost, but are overwhelmed. Tien fires a full power Tri-Beam. But Frost goes out unscathed and continues to knock Tien out of the ring. Frost is taking out Master Roshi, but Super Saiyan Goku steps in after Krillin's warning. Frieza tells Frost to retire as Goku is too much for him to handle and he will deal with the Saiyan in good time. Frieza says they should go after the other universes for now. While Frost is surprised to hear that Frieza asks if Frost is currently in its final form, and he answers yes. Frost is surprised to hear that Frieza asks if Frost is currently in its final form, and he answers yes.
```

```
at full strength for the rest of the first half, and when Frost is tired, Frieza will step in to take over. Frost attacks Universe 9 and easily takes out Oregano with a ki blast. He's starting to break up the teamwork shown by this universe. Hyssop then starts attacking Frost and initially seems to overwhelm him, but Frost then manages to pick up Hyssop and Dragonthrow him into Roselle removing them both from the tournament. Frost then eliminates Chappil with a single kick and eliminates Hop and Sorrel with multiple punches. At this point, there are only four warriors left from Universe 9. Coalsudisk is the last warrior from Universe 9 to challenge Frost. He's Frost's biggest challenge to date. He says not to underestimate Universe 9, and he's starting to win. Just when Comfrey thinks he has the upper hand, Frost eliminates him with a point-blank Explosive Wave. Trio of Danger, who witness frost's power and their lowering numbers, retreat, Frieza says Frost another piece of advice; don't trust anyone. Frieza suddenly grabs Frost in the throat and strangles him before kicking him out of bounds. Whis realizes that all this was part of Frieza's plan, using Frost to get rid of the weaker warriors. Elsewhere, Gohan and Piccolo are surrounded by Trio of Dangers er er much trouble together. Bergamo orders his brothers to follow Gohan as he follows Piccolo. Basil and lavender gang up on Gohan, but they are suddenly blown and knocked out by Frieza. The evil tyrant calls them fools for jumping into the air so close to the edge. Gohan thanks Frieza for helping him, but of course Frieza denies his gratitude and says that their efforts will be meaningless unless they wFile: in and survive. Frieza says that is when he will exact his revenge on saiyans, much to Gohan's dismay. Bergamo is the only fighter left from Universe 9, and Piccolo corners him. Piccolo tells him to jump, but Sidra yells at Bergamo to hang in there, knowing that's the end of their universe if they lose. Piccolo, hearing this, hesitates, as Bergamo asks for mercy, advising that they both find a way to survive. Frieza suddenly kicks Bergamo out, reminding Piccolo with a buttery grin that this is about their survival. The Warriors all stop their battles as they watch the Omni-Kings completely erase everything from Universe 9, so just their Angel. The great minister tells participants to resume fighting as the clock ticks. Beerus shouts at his universe 7 warriors hearing this. Goku says they are doomed no matter what, if they lose. Frieza matches Caulifla Next, Frieza struggles against Caulifla, who has suffered problems overwhelming Saiyan. Caulifla calls him out on how he seems to just be going after Saiyans and Frieza's response that while he may have no grudge against the Saijins from Universe 6, they still get on his nerves. With no other choice, Caulifla is transformed into a Super Saiyan. Caulifla asks Frieza if he is shocked by her new form, but Frieza says that form has no surprise for him. Caulifla says it's fair, since the Saiyans from Universe 7 have already mastered the form, but warns Frieza not to compare her to them. Caulifla charges against Frieza, but the evil tyrant uses his telekinetic skills to throw blocks of the arena at Caulifla. But her sheer aggressiveness allows her to gain the upper hand on her opponent with a powerful close team blast, destroying a good part of the arena. Frieza turns to Golden Frieza Frieza compliments Caulifla on her skill and admits that the first Super Saiyan he ever fought was not as strong as her. Although he hoped not to, Frieza decides to use his full power and transforms into Golden Frieza. In this form, Frieza is able to quickly turn the tide of struggle as he begins to dominate Caulifla, causing concern for the nearby Kale, who goes to help her. Kale uses his incredible speed to strike at Frieza, and while it causes him no harm, it distracts him long enough for Caulifla to get in a pair Eventually, Frieza looks through Kale's actions and grabs her and and them away. Cabba, seeing the state that his allies are in, knocks out Za Priccio and also advocates helping the couple. Caulifla tells Cabba and Kale to let her fight Frieza comments that Kale's attack actually had more sting to them than Caulifla's attack as a Super Saiyan, much to the surprise of Caulifla and Cabba, though Kale comments that they were just lucky hits. Frieza asks who will face him next and says he has no problem fighting all three. Caulifla stubbornly says she is more than enough for him and crashes back into battle, but it continues to be a one-sided affair. Cabba, after forefixing his reason for holding back, asks Kale to use his true power. Cabba turns into a Super Saiyan and enters the fray, but fares no better and is quickly overpowered by Frieza. Even when Caulifla and Cabba attack together, they turn out to be no match for Frieza at all. The anger at seeing someone so close to her lose causes Kale to explode in rage as she becomes a Super Saiyan herself, surprising Cabba and Caulifla. Frieza, however, is no longer surprised by Super Saiyans. Suddenly, Kale employs a vicious attack on Frieza that he is unable to defend against. Frieza comments on the new type of Super Saivan that Kale has become, and complications to keep up with all the different variations of the mold. Goku, who was currently matched up against members of pride troopers along with Gohan and Master Roshi, is told to go and help Frieza. He picks up the battle and transforms into a Perfected Super Saiyan Blue, much to Frieza's irritation, who believes he doesn't need help. Goku is able to stop Kale's first punch, and compliments her attack, and Goku starts to get pushed back, about that she is getting stronger and stronger at the moment. Eventually, Kale manages to break Goku's guard and almost lands a punch, but Frieza kicks Goku out of the way and says he is able to handle her himself if he takes her seriously. Kale is further transformed into the legendary Super Saiyan, which Goku describes as her ki spiking again. While Champa believes it's good that his fighter is doing well, Vados voices her concerns. As this is probably the first time Kale has unleashed all her power, she is losing her wits and sanity, and that things could get much worse if she were to lose all control. Kale struggles to regain her senses and charges past Goku and Frieza while grabbing her head as she drops to her knees. In a rage she powers up, with the resulting pressure of her energy knocking off several combatants out of the arena. Kale goes on a rampage, single-handedly eliminating Universe's 4, 3, 2 and 10. grabs hold of Cabba I anime, after observing Goku's battle with Jiren and and The gods fear of a mortal using form, Frieza gives chase to Goku, who flees after his loss to recover. Frieza is able to catch Goku and prepares to charge a blast that no one can see them behind the pillar. Goku, who fears for his life, screams when Frieza launches his attack; But to Goku's shock, he's alive, and Frieza laughs and reveals that he gave him some of his energy. Frieza said that although he did not give him much, knowing that Goku has more than enough to get back on his feet and start recovering. Frieza goes on to tell Goku that all debts are paid, that fighting Jiren is something he wanted to avoid. He also told Goku when he used his newfound power and told him the gods called it Ultra Instinct. He also informs Goku he is doing well out there as expected and Universe 7 needs him to keep doing well as Frieza takes his leave to find his next victim. After watching Vegeta save Cabba and learn from their relationship, Frieza was disgusted by the thought and challenges Cabba to a fight after he barely beat Monna. Despite his best efforts, Cabba is unable to handle Frieza in his base form and powers up to Super Saiyan 2 after Frieza backs him into a corner. When Frieza reveals his hatred of saiyans, Cabba fires a Galick Cannon at him who, instead of blocking the move, powers up to his Golden Frieza form and defeats Cabba with the Emperor's Death Beams. Uncharacteristically, Frieza asks Cabba to give up, and when Cabba refuses, Frieza blasts him out of the ring with a basic ki blast. Afterward, Frieza says he regrets spending more stamina than required to take out the trash. Golden Frieza helps Goku defeat Agnilasa Frieza fires several Death Beams, looking for a fighter to entertain him (Dyspo opted not to deal with him and flee while hiding behind a boulder). Suddenly, Catopesra appears and transforms into his Whirlwind Speed Mode form and asks Frieza if he is fast enough to even catch him before driving off (Frieza ignores this). Frieza then appeared before Goku, Caulifla, and Kale and expressed interest in removing the two female Saiyans and was about to counter Caulifla's Crush Ball, but stops when Goku insisted on taking them both on. He continues to observe Goku's struggle (which awakened his Ultra Instinct) and Kefla and stated that he needs Goku to continue working for him after he came victorious. Frieza watches on as Universe's 2 and 6 were deleted, only that Goku did not utilize Ultra Instinct this time. Later, when Agnilasa is created, Frieza is asked by Goku to help in the fight. Frieza helps Goku, Vegeta, 17, and Gohan defeat Agnilasa. Frieza was bored with Old Technique During the fight against the remaining three members Team Universe 11, Dyspo used its Light Bullet to try to attack Frieza from But Frieza grabbed Dyspo's attacking arm with his tail. Frieza said it was convenient to have a tail. Dyspo smiled and said it was convenient for him too, and then dragged Frieza by the tail, slammed him face first into a rock formation, and pulled his face through it. But Frieza appeared completely unscathed, which shocked Pride Troopers and then told Dyspo he was bored before throwing a Death Beam, forcing the pride trooper to flee. Golden Frieza beats Dyspo ruthlessly They continued their fight, this time, Dyspo used his Light Bullet against Frieza. Frieza still manages to block dyspo attacks with some difficulty until his enemy uses his Circle Flash on him. When the attack explodes on him, Frieza drops to his knees, and Dyspo is ready to attack him again, but Frieza blocks him again with his tail and throws him to the ground. Amused by his opponent, he offers him a deal similar to the one he did with the universe nine, but Dyspo refuses, reassuring Frieza badly. Annoyed, Frieza decides to ioin him and transforms into Golden Frieza and attacks Dyspo first. After redeeming his attack, Frieza asks him if that is all he has and begins to attack mercilessly, gets faster than him and still beat him. After trying to land again, Frieza began making fun of Dyspo until he showed off his latest asset: Super Maximum Light Speed Mode. Undeterred, Frieza charged Dyspo, but the pride trooper managed to push him a long distance, thanks to speed now superior to Golden Frieza's, although Frieza still managed to block some of his punches, but with difficulty. Frieza forms the Cage of Light While Dyspo was supposed to deal the final blow to Frieza, Gohan intervenes, which surprises Frieza, who asks him why he came to help him. Gohan just said he was in the same team that Frieza asked him if he was not afraid that he would betray him in earnest this time, and Gohan warned him that if it happened that way he would make Frieza fall from the arena. Frieza not impressed, agreed to go along with Gohan and they attacked Dyspo with Ki Blasts, but he easily dodges them. Frieza then created a light cage to prevent Dyspo from having enough space to go fast enough, allowing Gohan to gain the upper hand, but it quickly drains his stamina, forcing Frieza to eventually let go. Dyspo is about to attack again, but Gohan manages to catch him from behind, immobilizing him completely. Gohan then yells at Frieza to knock them down, which he does without hesitation, removing both Dyspo and Gohan. Golden Frieza shooting Top from behind Frieza observes the match between Toppo and Android 17. Both opponents launch powerful energy attacks, and Toppo easily pushes back to 17 boundaries, but Frieza launches a Death Beam on Top's back. Frieza taunts Toppo and continues to a barrage of Death Beams, greatly damage the Pride Trooper. Frieza then then With a Death Cannon that completely consumes Toppo, which also allows Android 17's energy beam to defeat his. Toppo, however, turns out not to be out, even if he is heavily injured. Frieza appears in front of him, then mocks the vain resistance of the head of Pride Troopers, deeming him trash that he will be happy to throw in the trash bin. Suddenly, Toppo declares that justice and evil are irrelevant, saying survival is the only thing that matters, and it is because of this that Toppo powers up to his Destroyer Form. The transformation does not impress Frieza, for sure his power says that Toppo can do nothing against Golden Frieza. Toppo then fires an Energy of Destruction at Frieza, who confidently believes that such an attack will not work on him, and stops it with only one hand. His beliefs are quickly proven wrong, however, and in just moments, frieza is consumed by the Energy of Destruction. Frieza is almost crushed by Top Later in the match, Frieza reappears, albeit out of his Golden Form and with many injuries dismembering him. Furious that Toppo did so much damage, Frieza declares that a God of destruction is nothing compared to him, and fires Destroy the Planet!. Alas, Toppo simply flicks a small ball of destructive energy, which manages to destroy the Death Ball, completely numbing Frieza. Toppo continues to hammer Frieza with several powerful punches, and in just moments, Frieza is knocked unconscious. But from the sidelines, Android 17 kicks a rock that changes Frieza's trajectory, thus saving him from a ring-out. Later, Frieza returns to save Android 17 from Top's attack before using a prison ball to temporarily paralyze Toppo. But his subsequent Psychic Rock Throw failed to affect Toppo, and he ended up thrown around again. Frieza and 17 went to a barrage of ki blasts, but they both failed to hurt Toppo as well. The fight was interrupted by Goku and Vegeta's fight against Jiren, who sent a Power Impact against 17 and Frieza, who hit them both. Frieza easily dominated by Jiren Frieza survived the attack, and angry at Jiren's beating him, attacking him violently, but is averted and hopelessly overpowered by the mighty Pride Trooper. Even in his golden form, Frieza is effortlessly knocked down by Jiren, who stopped his attack with a glare and delivered a blow to the empero before punching him with enough force to knock him out of his golden form, leaving Frieza unconscious yet again. Frieza bids his time during the Goku and Jiren match, then saves Goku from being knocked out with a Kiai. He powers up alongside a still-vibrant Android 17 to face off against Jiren. Frieza attacks Jiren frontally and is able to keep up with him in his Golden Form, with Frieza mocking him for losing his power. During the match, Frieza is knocked back, with 17 flying in and tackling Jiren, accusing the same attacker. Jiren To block it this time, but 17 locks them inside his barrier and detonates it hitting Jiren with the full blast. Jiren throws up and drops to his knees is beaten again, this time by Frieza and 17. Frieza and Goku fight side by side against Jiren. Frieza and Goku fight side by side against Jiren After 17 telling him to finish Jiren. Frieza charges a Death Beam and points it between Jiren's eves, demanding the former titan to stare him in the eye as he eliminates him. With some motivation from Toppo, Jiren powers back up with what he has left and attacked, forcing Frieza and 17 to set up a barrier. Efforts to create the barrier cause Frieza to return to his final form. Watching this, Goku pulls up and joins them. Frieza asks Goku if he remembers his promise to revive him. Goku says yes, and Frieza insults Goku's naïve attitude towards him, but expresses his gratitude to Goku. After stopping the attack, Goku and Frieza charge Jiren with 17 providing extended range support with ki attacks. Frieza and Goku combine their power to knock Jiren out of the ring The trio is able to beat Jiren into what is left of the time column. Jiren throws them out and goes to 17. Frieza requires Goku to throw him to Jiren. Goku obliges and Frieza flies to Jiren and hits him with his Nova Strike, willing to sacrifice himself to eliminate Jiren. The jiren manages to redirect them to a near cliff formation to save himself only to be caught by Goku, who struggles to keep his Super Saiyan shape due to not having energy. With their team cheering them on, Goku fully powers up his Super Saiyan form as Frieza fully powers up his final form and drive Jiren through the ring to remove the titan. In manga, with 15 minutes left, only 12 warriors are left: From Universe 6, Kefla, fusion of Caulifla and Kale, from Universe 7, Goku, Vegeta, Frieza, Gohan, Android 17 and Master Roshi and from Universe 11, Jiren, Top, Kahseral and Dyspo. While everyone else is busy fighting, Frieza on the other hand, not in imminent conflict, takes the opportunity to regain his stamina. Vegeta, during his battle with Top, shows some frustration that Goku surpassed him again, achieving the Ultra Instinct Sign against Jiren, while Vegeta fights with his own opponent. As Top tries to attack Vegeta from behind, the Saiyan prince completely ignores God Destruction candidate and powers up, the power of his aura knocking debris, with Beerus pointing out that Vegeta's aura changed. Top watches Vegeta fight Jiren, and are frustrated that Pride Troopers had to rely on Jiren in the end. Frieza appears and belittles Top for relying on someone else for survival. Frieza says that while he doesn't enjoy the idea of attacking a weakened enemy as emperor of evil, he doesn't play fair until he kicks top over the fluent Dyspo stops fighting Android 17 and comes to comrade rescue. Frieza then jumps back to the ring and destroys all the floating debris that creates a path to the ring, leaving Dyspo and Toppo stranded on a single stone. Jiren goes to hit Frieza and 17 Top tells Dyspo to leave him, but Dyspo says he is too tired from his battle with Android 17 and can't jump the distance to the arena. Frieza sadistically torments Pride Troopers by shooting the rock they stand on. 'Android 17 scolds Frieza agrees, as there is no time for fun and games. Dyspo hesitates, then asks jiren for help as they cannot return to the ring under their power. Jiren stares at his teammates, causing him to be distracted long enough for Goku to teleport to safety with Vegeta. Jiren quickly appears behind 17 and Frieza and knocks them aside, with both of them unable to follow him at all. Jiren stares at Dyspo as he asks for help. but Jiren tells the two to observe from the bench as he will finish things alone. Jiren watches like rock Dyspo and Toppo are on breaks apart and they are eliminated. Frieza will be gold for his and Jiren's ultimate fight Frieza tells Jiren that he must be cocky if he thinks he can win the tournament by himself. Jiren expresses indifference in Frieza, and Frieza notes that he is the type to hide his true potential, and now it is time to fix all his maps, transform into Golden Frieza and attack Jiren. While fighting, Frieza glances at the giant pillar in the middle shrinking, and Jiren realizes that Frieza buys time, putting in more effort to destroy the ring Frieza stands on. Jiren tries to knock Frieza out, but his attack is blocked by 17. But Jiren puts more power to knock Frieza and 17 out, and 17 saves themselves and Frieza by landing on debris. 17 says he will take the lead, but realizes that he also can't make up with Jiren. While Krillin slowly realizes what 17 plans to do, 18 guietly observes him, saying she is used to dealing with children. 17 Thanks his sister and confronts Jiren and asks if he is fighting for survival or to have his wish fulfilled, and Jiren answers both. 17 says he gives up on the latter, blowing himself up in a last attempt to win like all watches. While 17's blast destroyed the entire half of the ring. Jiren remains unharmed and on the ring. The great minister and omni-kings discuss and they decide that the tournament will continue as 17 willingly gave up his own life. Jiren is disappointed to witness 17's action, saying it's time to end things. Goku shows no anger at what happened, but decides to win and not let his friends down, once again reaching his Ultra Instinct Sign form. Jiren by getting started. Golden Frieza beats Jiren and Goku off-stage Goku fails to defeat Jiren before his Completed Ultra Instinct subsides. Goku and Vegeta manage to overwhelm Jiren by fighting together, but Jiren turns the tables by awakening his Super Full Power. Jiren blasts Vegeta backwards and he falls from the arena, being eliminated in the process. Goku valiantly tries to fight on but ends up being pushed back. Just as he seems to be on the verge of elimination himself, Frieza appears behind the two of them, charging a Death Ball, proclaiming that when he wins, his desire to be revived better be fulfilled. Jiren is able to hold on to the explosion and fling it upwards into the air and away from himself, but just as he does, Frieza, now in his Golden Frieza mode, uses Nova Strike to push Jiren, Goku, and himself from the arena, causing them all to be eliminated from the tournament. Just then, Android 17 appears underside of a rock, saying that his and Frieza's plan went smoothly, though Frieza says that Android is the last man standing, do not sit with him. Goku praises the couple for their plan, and Frieza replies that they prefer strategy over ruthless brawling, as opposed to Goku. On it, the tournament comes to an end, with Universe 7 being the victor. The others express their surprise, not knowing that Android 17 was still competing due to not sensing his energy. Krillin asks him about his apparent self-destruction, and Android 17 says he would never do such a thing and lost the ability to do so a long time ago anyway, reminding Krillin that it was he who made the desire to have his and 18's bombs removed. Frieza fully revived by Whis I anime, after 17 brings back all that was erased in the tournament, Frieza is annoyed by a notion of a happy ending is worse than condemnation in hell. Whis revives Frieza at the request of Beerus, with Whis telling a shocked Frieza that it is a personal gift from Beerus as gratitude for his efforts. But while grateful that he was revived, Frieza clarifies that he has no intention of changing his evil ways, with Goku, in turn, stating that if Frieza himself tries to cause more problems, he will mourn Frieza's defeat again. In manga, after Universe 11 is deleted, Android 17 immediately asks for the other universes to be brought back, which surprises the grand minister. Android 17 says that as a winner, he has the right to make the wish, and his choice is to have them all brought back. By summoning Super Shenron, the previously erased universes and participants are brought back into existence. As they all begin to make their home, the grand minister says that desire has elevated Universe 7 up in the order and they are now third from scratch. I version of the chapter, the universes are shown revived in the stands as they are being transported back to their home universes. Cabba waves to Vegeta while Frost stares at Frieza, who smiles back. Jiren tells Goku that he wants to meet again, responding in kind. Goku asks why Android 17 changed his desire and he says he changed his mind when he didn't want Zenos to have their way. Vegeta even tells him that they now have more ships than they themselves need, and Bulma would like to give him a saviour of the universe. Frieza chimes in, reminding Goku of the promise that he would be revived, and Whis, using his powers, gives him life anew, saying it is a gift from Beerus that praises him for his strategy in defeating Jiren. Frieza seems to be surprised by the concept, but proves how unredeemed evil he is by promising to continue his evil ways, despite being killed and sent to hell twice. But Goku says he'll just hit him again if he does. Team Universe 7 returns to Capsule Corporation, while Whis takes Frieza back to its own planet. Frieza re-establish his army in anime, sometime later, Frieza resumes his position as head of the Frieza Force. He apologizes to his soldiers for making them wait so long and reintroduces themselves while announcing the return of the emperor of the universe. Main article: DBS: Broly Saga After being revived, Frieza heads back to his home base to meet with Berryblue and Kikono, who also returned to his first form at this point.
Because of Frieza's actions, Broly is fighting Goku and Vegeta. During the Extra Edition 4 chapter of the Galactic Patrol Prisoner Saga, Frieza makes a brief appearance when Goku and Vegeta tell Merus and Jaco the events of Broly Saga, and how Frieza had brought Broly with him to Earth and tried to steal their Earth Dragon Balls Main article: Galactic Patrol Prisoner Saga Frieza is informed of Moro's attack Frieza is informed about That prisoners who escaped from Galactic Prison have been ravaging the entire universe. But Frieza doesn't care, as he's not interested in unnecessary fights and believes there's no advantage in dealing with criminals. Kikono questions this, thinking that The Frieza asks if Kikono has a problem, which he hastily answers that he does not, and suggests that they move on to another planet. [17] Dragon Ball GT Super 17 Saga It's been a long time, Goku, and you've gotten so much sweeter since then. - Frieza mocks Goku on his younger appearance in GT Frieza and Cell face Goku in Hell Frieza team up with Cell to function a distraction for Goku, while a horde of villains from Dragon Team's Escape Hell, thanks to Dr. Gero and Dr. Myuu's portal. Even when Frieza and Cell combine their forces to fight Goku, they both fall under the power of Goku where each of their most significant attacks fails after another. Eventually, after much bickering, Cell and Frieza use their newly created combination technique, Hell's Buster, to launch Goku downward into the darker realms of hell where their opponent has to endure the Terrible Torture Tour. Frieza and Cell come to see Goku frozen after the final stage of the tour, but because of Goku being alive, his live energy heats the ice enveloping his body. He then uses the snow machine in the Torture Tour to freeze Cell and Frieza and eventually defeat them. Frieza was last seen with Cell being arrested by the trolls. Shadow Dragon Saga Main article: Shadow Dragon Saga Shenron give the wish that revived the victims of Frieza and his soldiers Frieza briefly appears in the first episode of Saga, when its shown wishes to Shenron, who brought Shadow Dragons to life, as Sight Shenron, the saga's main antagonist, was born from the desire of Mr. Popo to revive all of Namek, who was killed at the hands of Frieza appears in flashbacks of the last episode, showing him killing Krillin and then Goku becoming a Super Saiyan for the first time on their fight at Namek. Main article: Dragon Ball Z: Bardock - Father of Goku Haha! Oh my... this is amazing! Wow! What a great show! Incredibly! Look at that! — Frieza after the extinction of Planet Vegeta. Frieza is preparing his Supernova. Frieza mulls over the Saiyans' rising power until Zarbon advises his master to remove Bardock and his team. He has dodoria and his soldiers take care of destroying the team. In advance, he also humors Vegeta's request for a challenging mission with the incentive for him to get back alive. But when he saw that Bardock's attack capsule was on its way to Vegeta, he forced Dodoria to be placed under house arrest in his neighborhood for the fiasco. He also appeared in a vision of Bardock's, in which Goku tells Bardock that it's not too late to avoid being like Frieza (it should be noted that this dialogue was exclusive to dub). After witnessing bardock holding his own against his soldiers, Frieza, with barely contained rage, ordered Zarbon to prepare his hoverboard to go into space, with a hesitant Zarbon to guestion his orders. In the end, Frieza is challenged by Bardock himself, who survived the onslaught and wants revenge for the death of his crew. Bardock fires a Riot Javelin at Frieza, making a Supernova and canceling out bardock attacks. Frieza then sends the ball straight into the core of Planet Vegeta, wiping out almost the entire Saiyan race many of his own minions. Cooler's Revenge Main article: Dragon Ball Z: Cooler's Revenge Frieza appears alongside Bardock, as his brother Cooler watches as he destroys Planet Vegeta and kills Goku's father. He is also often mentioned throughout the events correctly, mostly in relation to Cooler, as well as his defeat at the hands of Goku. Broly -
The legendary Super Saiyan Main article: Dragon Ball Z: Broly - The Legendary Super Saiyan Although Frieza does not directly appear, his destruction of Planet Vegeta is shown in a flashback by Paragus and was also mentioned twice by him, both in connection with his genocide. Ironically, the film revealed that King Vegeta's attempted execution of the titular antagonist Broly had been made for the same reason why Planet Vegeta ended up destroyed by Frieza: to prevent the creation of the legendary Super Saiyan. He also appeared briefly in the opening segment, which showed his death at the hands of Future Trunks. Fusion Reborn Main article: Dragon Ball Z: Fusion Reborn A common stranger knows my name? I can see that my illustrious reputation precedes me. — Frieza to Great Saivaman, before the latter reveals himself as Gohan Frieza in Fusion Reborn When Janemba appears. escapes the dead hell and takes to the Earth under Frieza's command. Frieza confronts Gohan and Videl, and immediately recognizes Gohan as Goku's son. Deciding the boy must pay for his father's sins, Frieza sends his army of villains (Zarbon, Jeice, Burter, Bojack, Zangya, Paragus, Recoome, Salza, etc.) to attack the couple, but Gohan flies through them all and silences him by punching Frieza in the summary at the beginning of the film Frieza - after accidentally being cut in half - is shown attacking Super Saiyan Goku with his Last Emperor technique, only for Goku to defeat him with an Angry Kamehameha. After Whis reveals Frieza's defeat when Beerus decides to destroy Frieza, Whis peers back in time to Frieza's battle with Goku on Namek, showing Beerus's part of the battle between him and Super Saiyan Goku. Resurrection 'F' Main article: Dragon Ball Z: Resurrection 'F' Don't tell me you're surprised! Of course, my revenge must be satisfied! — Frieza speaks of revenge against Sorbet after being revived. Frieza in Earth's hell After his death, the spirit of Frieza was kept imprisoned in the hell of the Earth, where hell's angels were the ones tasked with ensuring his time in hell, Frieza's spirit kept the appearance of his Mecha Frieza state and was left trapped inside a cocoon. [19] But more than fourteen years after Frieza's death, his two elite soldiers, Sorbet and Tagoma, gather all dragon balls and resurrect him, he is revived, as he was just before his death, as Mecha Frieza and broken. Sorbet and Tagoma collect all the pieces of Frieza and put the organic parts in a healing chamber, Frieza's body is regenerated and he returns to his first form. Frieza after being regenerated As soon as Frieza's body is regenerated, he informs his soldiers that he will not be satisfied until Goku and Trunks have both been killed. Tagoma then suggests to Frieza that he should ignore Goku and the other Saiyans. Furious, Frieza blasts Tagoma in outer space with a quick Ki blast. Sorbet then informs Frieza that Goku's power of Majin Buu, far more than Frieza could have imagined. But due to the fact that he is a prodigy, Frieza believes that through four months of serious training, he will be able to reach a level of power high enough to wipe out saiyans in the blink of an eye. During his new invasion of Earth, Frieza appears for the first time in his first form with an army of 1,000 soldiers. After landing on Earth, he fires a Death Ray in the East City and destroys it completely.
Afterwards, Frieza battles against Goku using his fourth form, with Goku winning the match until Frieza decides to utilize what appears to be a purple version of the Death Ball to collide with Goku's God Kamehameha, The two later transform into their final transformations; Goku goes Super Saivan Blue. with Frieza transforming into his Ultimate Evolution mode. Once in this form, he refers to himself as Golden Frieza easily dodging Goku's attack They both fight on an equal footing until Sorbet injures Goku when he is off guard with his Bad Ring Laser, allowing Frieza to defeat Goku. So Vegeta steps up to fight Frieza. When Frieza shoots an energy wave at Krillin as he gives Goku a Senzu Bean, Vegeta deflects it away, killing Sorbet. After being beaten up by Vegeta, Frieza realizes that he can't defeat him, so he blows the earth, killing Vegeta. But Whis returns the time before Frieza is about to blow up the earth, and Goku destroys Frieza with a Kamehameha, preventing earth's destruction. The film's end credits show Frieza back in hell with Angels of Hell, who start laughing as they welcome him back. Broly Main article: Dragon Ball Super: Broly Frieza sends his forces to steal Dragon Balls from Capsule Corporation so he can be 5cm taller. When Kikono asked why 5cm, Frieza also refuses to go to Earth himself until all seven Dragon Balls are placed as despite his ki control gained from training in hell. Frieza is unable to hide his large ki signature, which he notes dragon team would be able to sense before his ship even entered earth's atmosphere and that he sent weak soldiers to covertly steal Radar from Bulma's lab. The soldier succeeded in stealing the radar and and Dragon Balls that Bulma had been collecting to make himself five years younger, but Trunks informed his mother and father about the burglary and the soldiers were caught on video alerting Bulma, Vegeta, and Goku for theft and Bulma decided to go after the last Dragon Ball on the ice continent, which Bulma had held off on collection due to cold in the region.
Meanwhile Frieza's soldiers find Saiyan survivor Broly and his Paragus stranded at Vampa and Frieza teacher Paragus hates the House of Vegeta and wants revenge after King Vegeta III banished Broly to Vampa (in the same year Frieza took command of King Cold's empire after his father's retirement) because of King Vegeta's jealousy of Broly's power level is higher than his oldest son Vegeta IV. Paragus also received the Frieza Force's cover story that Planet Vegeta was destroyed by the collision of a celestial body, but did not mourn its destruction as he had left it years before in an attempt to save Broly from Vampa. As a result Frieza viewed the two Saiyan survivors as valuable soldiers, Broly because of his hatred of the Vegeta family and ability to control Broly, who was loyal to his father. Frieza made a deal with Paragus that he and Broly could take their revenge on Vegeta, but killing the Saiyan named Goku would be reserved for Frieza himself and noted his own desire for revenge on the Saiyan who humiliated him. Frieza, Paragus, and Broly leave Frieza's Spaceship flanked by Frieza's Honor Guard in Broly Eventually his men placed the final ball and The Frieza Force headed to Earth. But Goku and Vegeta attacked the soldiers' ship, although they were rescued when Frieza announced his arrival with a Petite Supernova, creating a hole in the clouds as his ship descended to the ice continent. Frieza, Broly and Paragus left the ship flanked by Frieza's Honor Guard. Frieza uses Telekinese to retrieve Dragon Balls for safe storage while he and his new Saiyan subordinates deal with Goku and Vegeta. Vegeta cares little about how his father's exile of Broly lead to Paragus and Broly becoming stranded and notes that it has nothing to do with him, which is true since Vegeta was still an infant around that time and the decision was his father is not his. Vegeta, however, has no real sympathy for Paragus or Broly admitting that they want revenge on his entire family and are willing to side with the likes of Frieza to get it. Frieza notes Broly's anger flaring up after seeing Vegeta's dismissive attitude and hearing his father's desire for revenge, causing Frieza to have Paragus for Broly to attack Vegeta. Frieza watches Broly matches Vegeta and asks Paragus if this is Broly's first real fight. Paragus says he has fought Broly several times, but Frieza laughs at him and says that would be nothing compared Vegeta back then. Da Da Progresses, Frieza teaches Broly can not turn into a Super Saiyan and kills Paragus to help him by framing Vegeta. Golden Frieza attack Broly Frieza is then forced to fight Broly when Goku and Vegeta fly past him. He transforms into his golden form but is still no match for Broly's power, receiving a one-sided beating during the hour he fought him. Left behind in terror by Broly's unprecedented power, Frieza nonetheless viciously laughs at Broly's level of strength. When Gogeta appears, Frieza is left confused about who the heck he is, and is left shocked when he reveals that he is a fusion of Goku and Vegeta and watches with absolute awe as Gogeta's power turns out to be significantly greater than his and Broly's, easily overwhelming Broly repeatedly and would have killed him were it not for Frieza's soldiers turning against him to use Dragon Balls to whip Broly away. Frieza tries to kill them, but is stopped by Gogeta. Knowing his enemy far surpasses him, Frieza believes that if Broly can control his power, he would be a great asset to the Frieza Force and trust his henchmen who betrayed him to tame Broly, Frieza says that Goku and Vegeta are becoming a formidable team, and by himself, he can't beat them, especially since they are now capable of doing fusion, so now he needs a partner to win. Other Dragon Ball stories Plan to eradicate Saivan's Main article: Plan to eradicate Saivan's series Ghost Frieza in plan to eradicate Super Saiyans When Z Fighters arrive in West City to close the final Destron Gas Machine, it is discovered that Frieza, Cooler, Slug, and Turles - revived as Ghost Warriors - are its guardians, after a chat with Z Fighters the two teams battle. After Turles and Slug are defeated, Frieza and Cooler attack Z Fighters together, only to also be taken down. The four then try to fight Z Fighters again, but are defeated again until Destron Gas takes effect, at which point Ghost Frieza and the other Ghost Warriors prepare to finish Z Fighters off with finger beams, but before they can Bulma appear and shut down the machine, remove all destron gas. Z Fighters then return to full power and Ghost Warrior Frieza and his allies are easily treated, but before they are finished, Frieza destroys Bunbuku Island killing all its inhabitants, including Mr. Satan. As ghost warriors crumble in Ghost Frieza, Ghost Frieza shouts out that saiyans shouldn't underestimate their grudges before they disappear. Ghost Frieza fights Future Trunks in West City Later, after the Z Fighters crash on Planet Kuhn, frieza is brought back again by Hatchiyack, who made a deal with Raichi he is powered up in Psycho Frieza, and sent to stop Z Fighters from getting the ring they need to repair their ship. Frieza locates the ring in the planet's Before Z Fighters arrive and engage Frieza in a fight, eventually defeating him again. Frieza cards appear after this, with his grudge energy being the second last to enter Hatchiyack. The Real 4-D Main article: Dragon Ball Z: The Real 4-D Frieza reveals himself Frieza is the biggest villain in this movie. After being summoned by a hooded figure via Shenron, and then increasing his power exponentially for a short period of time, he is seen causing havoc in the West City. Goku challenges the tyrant, but is ultimately surpassed. He then turns into a Super Saiyan, where he sets up a better fight but is ultimately defeated and left seriously injured on the ground. Super Saiyan Vegeta, Krillin, and Piccolo arrive to help, (with Frieza getting angry about Vegeta being a Super Saiyan) and Goku gathering enough energy to form a massive Spirit Bomb to kill Frieza. In this short film, Frieza is set to have a Power level of 5,300,000,000 (10,000x his first form on Namek). Nekomajin Main Article: Nekomajin I Nekomajin chapter Neko Majin Z 3, published in August 2003 (Monthly Shonen Jump, 2003, #9), is mentioned frieza by Vegeta. Nekomajin takes place at some point after age 784. Frieza reigns his empire, apparently more peacefully than before. Noticing that his son Kuriza, and one of his bosses Onio, have been away on Earth too long, Frieza contacts Vegeta and asks him to bring them back to him. Though angry that Frieza appears as one of the tell the two that Frieza wants them to come back. Shin Budokai Main article: Dragon Ball Z: Shin Budokai Frieza and Goku clash again Frieza appears as one of the primary antagonists of Shin Budokai. He appears as the leader of a group of villains (consisting of himself, Cooler and Cell) who were able to leave Hell thanks to Janemba. Immediately after emerging, Frieza is confronted by Gohan, who transforms into a Super Saiyan. Finally Form Frieza is able to tire out Gohan without having to use his full power and decides to leave, revealing that while in hell, he has learned to lower forms. Frieza sends Cell and Cooler to search for Dragon Balls, and then he confronts Goku. Frieza and Goku fight, but Frieza is ultimately defeated when Goku immobilizes him with a Pressure Point Attack and then does one of two things: blast him with a Super Kamehameha, send to hell again, or leave him immobilized. After returning to Earth as soon as possible, he is greeted by the newcomers Future Trunks along with kid Trunks, Goten and Pikkon. Frieza engages in battle with them, even if it was only a distraction as Frieza steals their Dragon Ball and Dragon Defeat Krillin along the way. Frieza (powered up by evil energy) energy) Android 18 Later, he tracks down Android 18, trying to take her Dragon Ball. She tells him that Broly stole Dragon Balls, Frieza fights the legendary Super Saivan and is initially defeated, but eventually succeeds and kills Broly, Frieza notes that Broly did not have Dragon Balls and then collects a Dragon Ball. Towards the game finale, Android 18 arrives at where Frieza is with a Dragon Ball, and he reveals his new plan; He will kidnap Android 18, destroy the planet, and then take 18 with him to the planet Namek to steal their Dragon Balls. Frieza then powers himself up using evil energy, making him far more potent than anyone on the planet. Frieza gets so intense that Android 18 states that even if she put all her energy into an attack, it wouldn't scratch Frieza. But Krillin arrives just as Frieza is about to destroy the planet and leave by 18. Krillin and Android 18 love and positive feelings for each other, along with the energy from Spirit Bomb, goku gave to Krillin, counter the evil energy that frieza had built up, significantly weakening Frieza. Krillin (with some of the Spirit Bomb power) and Android 18 then all go out and manage to defeat Frieza, sending him to hell again. It is suggested that on arrival in hell, Frieza may have been transformed into Janemba because of the evil energy he absorbed, or that Janemba took the energy from Frieza. But after Janemba's defeat Frieza would have been back to normal. Dragon Ball Online Frieza attacks Namek as in manga, he goes through the conflict unaware that Time Breakers have begun to interfere and take control of his soldiers. As in manga, Frieza transforms several times, fighters and defeating them until Goku arrives, at which point the two prepare to fight. At age 1000, Frieza's remnants have become part of the Time Breakers alliance, where their primary goal is to revive Frieza again, which they can achieve by getting some of his remains, so they search around the area he was killed for some. Eventually, they travel to the past and collect several of Frieza's remains to revive him. One of the pieces they collect is 2nd Frieza's severed tail, which Krillin cut off with his Destructo Disc during the battle of Planet Namek. At one point a Time Breaker Frieza Soldier takes a bite of said tail, causing them to mutate making the soldier bigger and stronger. Xenoverse Main article: Dragon Ball Xenoverse Prologue Dark Frieza prepares to fight Goku During the opening prologue of Age 767, 100% Full Power Frieza battle with Super Saiyan Goku on Dying Namek is shown and Goku defeats Frieza. But the story is changed Frieza empowered by Dark Magic give him the power of Villainous Mode comes back up, which shocks Goku, He transforms back into his Super Saiyan form and continues to fight dark frieza. In the changed story that is shown, SSJ Goku is forced to use a Spirit Bomb to fight Dark Frieza, although it is unclear whether he was able to defeat Dark Frieza with it or not. Because of this and other history changes during the Cell Games at the age of 767 and the fight with Kid Buu at the age of 774, Chronoa and Xeno Trunks to use Toki Toki City's Dragon Balls to summon the Shenron and make a desire to summon a warrior in order to defend the whole story, resulting in the future Warrior being called to Toki Toki City and being recruited by Trunks as a member of the Battle of Namek in Age 767, Frieza's battle with Z Fighters at Namek proves different due to Time Breaker interference though Frieza is authorized by Dark Magic. While Goku is inside the healing chamber, Dark Frieza kills both Vegeta and Krillin and then kills Gohan before Goku can save him. Frieza then faces off against the still-wounded Goku, who left the healing chamber far too early for him to fight. When Future Warrior travels back to stop this change from coming to pass, they arrive and help the Z Fighters fight against Dark Frieza (1st form). Under the influence of Towa's Dark Magic, instead of transforming into its other form, Dark Frieza transforms straight into its final form, changing the timeline. But Piccolo arrives in time to help the Future Warrior in the fight against Dark Frieza. At the same time, Vegeta Krillin has hurt him so that it will make him a Super Saiyan. With his new power, Vegeta joins the fray with Dark Frieza, but is defeated as he was on the original timeline. But he and Future Warrior manage to buy enough time for Goku to arrive and allow the destruction of Planet Vegeta before dying from his injuries restoring the part of the timeline. Along with Future Warrior, Goku fights Dark Frieza even though Frieza proves too strong, and Goku is forced to resort to Spirit bomb. Looks like Dark Frieza was killed. Dark Frieza fights Goku But Dark Frieza survives the attack, as he did in the original story and gets a dark power up, he then chokes Future Warrior, shoots a Death Beam through Piccolo's chest, and blows up Krillin with his Death Psycho Bomb, causing Goku to become a Super Saiyan. Dark Frieza Attacks Goku With His Killer Ball But Goku dodges it. Unfortunately, one of the stray blasts is blaster had escaped ends on the right towards Gohan and Piccolo, but Future Warrior manages the shield them with their body, and then ends the Goku fight against Dark Frieza. Eventually, Frieza gets desperate and fires his Destroy The Planet! At Namek's core to destroy the planet as in the original story, he holds back for fear that he will be caught up in the explosion so that Namek to survive even will eventually explode. As a result, SSJ Goku and Future Warrior survive and continue to fight against Villainous Mode Dark Frieza at 100% Power on Dying Namek. Eventually, Future Warrior and Super Saiyan Goku's combined power is enough to defeat Dark Frieza, who loses the dark power up and returns to regular Frieza. Goku thanks Warrior for their help, but asks them to leave Frieza's fate up to him. Once the timeline had been set, the future Warrior then leaves Goku and Frieza for their fight, as Porunga is called up and Frieza for their fight, as Porunga is called up and Frieza for their fight, as Porunga is called up and Frieza for their fight, as Porunga is called up and Frieza for their fight, as Porunga is called up and Frieza for their fight.
```

```
timeline; thus, the original timeline is restored. At age 850, Frieza (1st form) appears in Toki Toki City after Future Warrior for Frieza decides to scout warrior for Frieza Force, and creatures training Warrior as their new Master. After completing their training under Frieza, Frieza makes Future Warrior a member of Frieza's Honor Guard. Demon God Demigra Saga Main article: Demon God Demigra Saga Kid Buu, Cell, and Frieza in Villainous Fashion confront the future Warrior In the finale of Xenoverse, Démigra uses Dragon Balls in Age 778 and revives Frieza, Cell, and Kid Buu and sends them to attack the West City on Earth, putting each of them and manages to defeat the team of villains. Main article: Dragon Ball Xenoverse 2 Prologue In the opening animated Time Patroller recruitment video, Mecha Frieza getting cut into two of Future Trunks is briefly shown when Chronoa tells perspective Time Patrollers to avoid changing the story like Future Trunks did. In the opening Prologue of Xenoverse 2, a scroll containing the events of the genocide of the Saiyans of age 737 is shown. Frieza observes Planet Vegeta from inside his spacecraft and notes that it will be the last time he stares at the planet before spotting Bardock, who is desperately struggling to avert his planet's fate. As he battles Frieza's soldiers, Bardock is momentarily distracted by a vision of his son Kakarot confronting 1st Frieza at Namek. After the vision ends Bardock frees himself from the soldier's hold on him and demands to show up. one. appears in his hoverchair and Bardock hears Frieza mode, So the legendary Super Saiyan has finally appeared. which is the result of another of Bardock's visions causing the scene to move, to Age 779 under Frieza's revenge. As a result, Frieza seems to Bardock to morph into Golden Frieza as a result of Bardock's vision. Bardock is shocked by Frieza's sudden change before labelling his son as a Super Saiyan Blue and witnessing SSGSS Goku clash with Golden Frieza's clash. After this last vision, Bardock determined to change the future, creating a Riot Javelin, which he throws at Frieza. But Frieza creates a Supernova that consumes the explosion that Bardock and Planet Vegeta are caught up in leading to the planet's destruction. The scene then switches back to the scroll, which disintegrates before being stopped by Turle's foot, leading to him Lord Slug, Mira and Towa being shown alongside the mysterious Masked Saiyan. Ruckus on Planet Namek Saga As in Xenoverse, Frieza is fought in the main story during the Battle of the Planet Namek at Age 762. He is first seen with Zarbon and Dodoria during the attack on Mooris village just after Krillin and Gohan rescued Dende.
Because of Towa's Dark Magic, Frieza tells both Dodoria and Zarbon to go after them, so Zarbon prevents Krillin and the others from escaping when Krillin blinds Dodoria with solar flares. Fortunately, Time Patrol sends the second Future Warrior to help with time for Krillin to escape. The Galactic Emperor Saga Eventually discovers Warrior that Lord Slug and Turles are working with Towa and Mira, causing them to interfere in the battle of Planet Namek in an attempt to steal Namekian Dragon Balls for themselves. During Frieza's battle with Nail, he is driven up by Towa, and Warrior is sent to help him buy time for Dende and the others. But while they are distracted by Dark Frieza, Turles and Slug steal Namekian Dragon Balls. The Warrior is forced to leave after Nail informs Frieza he was only buying time, causing Frieza to rush out. Warrior manages to stop Turles and Slug by traveling further into the past by traveling back to Time Nest and using the Time Scroll again and managing to defeat them using Xeno Trunks. They then return to help the others against the furious Frieza. Vegeta is killed as in the original timeline, and Goku arrives even though he is eventually forced to use spirit bomb. Yet it doesn't kill Frieza. Frieza wounds Piccolo and kills Krillin, causing Goku to transform into Super Saiyan. But this time Goku takes the Killer Ball attack head-on instead of dodging, and thus Future Warrior is not forced to protect them as their predecessor did in Xenoverse. Warrior joins Super Saiyan Goku in battle Of Frieza, who uses Destroy the to destroy Namek, but hold back saving Goku and his allies, as he had in the original story. But as Goku mentions Frieza holding back, Cooler appears and admonishes his brother for his weakness, to the shock of Frieza, Goku, and Future Warrior. Frieza asks why his brother is there, and Cooler reveals Towa had helped him travel through time to prevent his brother's humiliating defeat at the hands of Goku. As a result, the two brothers team up to kill Goku and Future Warrior before powering up to their full power, 100% for Frieza and Cooler taking on his fourth Transformation. But Cooler being defeated by Warrior causes him to fall into what is left of Namek's molten core, and Goku is left to compete his battle with Frieza alone as Dende uses Namekian Dragon Balls to transport all but Goku and Frieza to Earth as in the original timeline. To defeat Cooler and Frieza, Chronoa assigns Future Warrior with a Flying License that serves as proof of their status as an elite Time Patroller, allowing them to legally use Flight in Conton City. The Emperor's Return Saga Later Frieza is revived at age 779, although Towa interferes, causing Cooler to be revived using Dragon Ball's second desire. Cooler is later transformed into Metal Cooler and it is understood that he trained with his brother helping him release his Golden Form, which makes much more potent. Warrior helps Z Fighters keep frieza's dark magic amplified army away and once again fights the tyrant to buy time for Goku and Vegeta to arrive. Eventually, Goku and Vegeta appear. Super Saiyan Blue Goku and Future Warrior fight Frieza together. Still, Whis, who had arrived with Beerus for food promised by Bulma, notes the presence of Metal Cooler, who reveals himself and reveals how he was revived.
Super Saiyan Blue Vegeta and Warrior step up to face him while Goku continues to fight Frieza. But Beerus is contacted by Chronoa, who reports that Mira and Towa are attacking Time Nest and requesting their help despite the role Whis plays in Frieza's defeat. As a result, when Frieza resorts to its Earth Breaker, Goku and all those saved by whis are killed by Earth's destruction, except for the future Warrior, which is pulled out just in time by Xeno Trunks. The Warrior, which is pulled out just in time by Xeno Trunks. The Warrior, which is pulled out just in time by Xeno Trunks. changing the events of Age 779. Beerus is outraged by her evil deception of him and is convinced by Chronoa to support time patrol in fixing it. Whis helps Warrior with Temporal Do-Over so they can stop Frieza's Earth Breaker with a Ki Blast and Vegeta swear they won't allow him to pull the same move twice. This causes Golden Frieza and Metal Cooler to up to their Supervillain forms, but they are defeated by the combined combined of the two Super Saiyan Blues and Future Warrior. Goku thanks Warrior after the fight and promises to repay them, leading to him aiding Future Warrior in the final battle with Mira in his final form. The masked saiyan saga after learning that Bardock is the masked Saiyan, Xeno Trunks and Future Warrior investigate Age 737 to learn more. They witness 1st Form Frieza using his Supernova to destroy Planet Vegeta as he did in the prologue. But it has been revealed that Towa and Mira used a wormhole to save Bardock from being killed. Xeno Trunks and Future Warrior observe this and follow time breaker past even to Earth in Age ???, where they are confronted by masked Saiyan and Towa present themselves. During the battle, it is understood that after being rescued by the wormhole, Bardock escaped into a distant past probably resulting in his encounter with Frieza's ancestor Chilled and his transformation into a Super Saiyan, leading to Chilled pass on knowledge of Super Saiyans to his descendants. It is also understood that Towa and Mira caught at some point after this, as SSJ Bardock's battle with Chilled is mentioned to be considered an official part of history as Frieza Race Time Patroller Jierra was sent back in time to ensure Chilled survived his injuries long enough to pass on knowledge of Super Syivan to his descendants. Frieza's Spaceship Rift Before the main story of Xenoverse 2, Demon Scientist Towa tricks Navel into taking one of the scrambled hour eggs she created in a failed attempt to copy Tokitoki's Egg artificially, on Frieza's Spaceship in a timeline when Frieza was still in power. This creates a massive time rift around Frieza's spaceship in Conton City and is contained in a Time Miniature of Chronoa that finds that the canyons are large and stable. She sends several Time Patrollers to investigate the cause by having them go undercover under the pretext of joining Frieza's army. The Frieza Race Future Warrior is one of those Time Patrollers and is seen examining the rift in the prologue in which he watches Ginyu drill some low-level soldiers. Frieza goes by commenting on the growing strength of his army, while noting the lack of skilled fighters and deciding that he himself must do something to change it. The warrior is later called off to take care of a critical mission provided by Chronoa. Later, they are asked to visit the various great time ails, including Frieza's spaceship. After bringing an item to Appule, they are let into the ship to join Frieza's spaceship. After bringing an item to Appule, they are let into the ship to join Frieza's spaceship.
Frieza's test. From now on, they are forced to choose between two factions led by Zarbon and Dodoria vying for Frieza sees the warrior's growth as they end up challenging the rival faction leader alongside the leader of the faction they choose, even if the rival leader is spared. Frieza decides to give them a second chance by demoting them somewhat. Eventually, the warrior tires of the faction leader, challenges and defeats them, causing the leader to submit to their previous undergled. Frieza and Captain Ginyu are both impressed, giving them a chance to join the Ginvu Force, and they pass to join the Elite Mercenary Group. But the warrior eventually challenges and defeats the entire Ginvu Force, which captures the attention of both Cooler and Frieza, forcing the warrior to choose between the two brother's factions. Eventually, the brother faction Warrior chose confronts the rival faction, which is defeated, forcing the other brother to submit. If Frieza is chosen, Warrior will be Frieza is chosen, Warrior will be Frieza is chosen, which is defeated, forcing the other brother to submit. If Frieza is chosen, Warrior will be Frieza is chosen.
Emperor of Universe 7 and gains control of Frieza's faction, which he places under the Warrior's command. Afterwards, either brother realizes that the other will train to grow stronger and asks Warrior to be their sparring partner. If they serve Frieza, they help him unlock his golden form, while if they serve Cooler, they help him unlock his Metal Cooler shape. If Warrior is a Frieza Clansmen, they will try to claim the throne of the Emperor of Universe 7 from either Golden Frieza or Metal Cooler, depending on their faction resulting in them defeating them and being recognised as emperor of Universe 7 by both brethren. But they plan to regain control and defeat them. Wanting to prove their superiority, they both help the Warriors get their golden form, both brothers are stratified that at least the honor of the Frieza Clan is assured as one of them is the current ruler of the universe, although they both still plan to defeat the Warrior one day. Warrior eventually gets the distorted Time Egg from the events of the first free update DLC, in Age 852 Frieza and his army invades Conton City after his spaceship travels through a wormhole. It is strongly suggested that the ship comes from Frieza's Spaceship anomaly timeline as various Frieza force members make references to warrior's member and their selected factions. Eventually future warrior and other Time Patrols manage to fight off Frieza, his army, Ginyu Force, his brother, and metal cooler corps. Infinite History Saga Main article: Infinite History Saga as part of Extra Pack 2 DLC, Future Warrior can choose Frieza as his allows you to join Future Warrior in participating in the game's new story. It is revealed that during her infiltration of Time Nest, Towa secretly changed the scroll for Age 774, preventing her brother Dabura's death at the hands of Majin Buu before covering it up. As a result Dabura the King of Demon Realm is restored only to lose his sister when she died in the Age ???, causes him to seek revenge on the Time Patrol, whom he blames for his sister's death. He begins to collect damage energy to give himself and his artificially created nephew Fu, who are the genetic offspring of Towa and Mira. Dragon Ball 30th Anniversary Special Manga Main article: Dragon Ball 30th Anniversary Special Manga Akira Toriyama (depicted as Robotoriyama) meets Goku and Vegeta on Planet Namek and tells them that it is the 30th anniversary of the Dragon Ball, Goku is not very impressed as they were not actually running for 30 years in a row, annoying Toriyama, who tells them he must be grateful he made them famous. Vegeta retorts that he was supposed to be the one thanking them as it was thanks to them the Dragon Ball lasted so long. Toriyama bites back that Vegeta was originally meant to die and that it was only thanks to Toriyama that he lived, while Vegeta says it was actually because Toriyama was too scared to kill a character as popular as him. Frieza shows up, in his first form and with a halo, and is annoyed that Toriyama had him killed on Namek. Flustered, Toriyama says that thanks to the fact that Frieza became the best villain character ever, and that's why he brought him back to Dragon Ball Z: Resurrection 'F', though Frieza is annoyed that Toriyama apparently forgot how to draw him. [20] Dragon Ball Fusions In the main story, Tekka's Team of Ginyu Force is asked to break down the barrier over Frieza's spaceship, as they believe that someone who is important to them is trapped in there. But Tekka's Team finds no one inside and reports back to Ginyu Force, who are relieved to know the truth thanking them by teaching them the Five-Way Fusion that causes Goten and Trunks to teach them Fusion Dance. Ziku detects a powerful energy coming from a time hole near the spacecraft and travels with Ginvu Force to open it. From the chasm they created the cocooned Frieza, coming out of Earth's hell from the period after his failed revenge at the age of 779. Frieza is freed from his cocoon and brand Kid Goku, Goten, and Kid Trunks he orders Ginyu Force to kill them despite Ginyu revealing that they were the ones who liberated him. Jeice and Guldo merge into Recurter. Ginyu offers to merge with Frieza, but he refuses and leaves the defeat to Tekka's Team to the merged Ginyu Force members and captain Ginyu, but they were defeated. Frieza and Ginyu Force leave spaceship and escape. Trunks decides to have its make Frieza's spaceship a mobile base for the team. Ginyu Force learns their master Five-Way Fusion technique, and after Tekka's Team defeats Perfect Cell, he teams up with Cell to take revende on them and Adult Goku. They convince Tekka's rival Pinich to join his team for the Timespace tournament, Tekka's Team is surprised to discover Frieza and Cell on Pinich's team. As the fight drags on, Frieza and Cell convince Pinich, Wanta, and Paprika to perform Ultra Fusion, resulting in creating Ultimate Ultra Fusion, Ultra Pinich. But Frieza and Cell gain control of fusion and try to kill everyone, including Super Saiyan Blue Goku using a Death Ball and almost succeed. Still, Whis rewinds time, and Beerus stops the Death Ball forcing Ultra Pinich to escape. Tekka's Team and Goku convince Beerus to let them save Pinich, Wanta, and Paprika as they are innocent and were manipulated by Frieza and Cell. They eventually track down Ultra Pinich and defeat him, forcing him to use a Power Ball to transform into a Golden Great Ape, which he had been saving to confront Beerus. But as Great Ape Pinich takes on the injury Pinich gets control of fusion due to Pinich's Saiyan nature being awakened by his transformation. Absorbing a Super Spirit Bomb created by everyone in the tournament, Ultra Fusion of Tekka's Team to become stronger than Beerus, allows them to defeat Great Ape Pinich, falling through a gap that causes him to defuse. Tekka follows them and reunites with Pinich. Angry at being thwarted, Cell and Frieza perform EX-Fusion to create Cellza. Tekka and Pinich also perform EX-Fusion, defeating Cellza with True RA Pinich Punch. After defeating the legendary champion, Tekka's Team can find a rift near a ruined part of The Lookout leading to Sub-Event: The Return of F, where they encounter Frieza from another timeline. Frieza transforms into Golden Frieza and fights Tekka's Team. Defeating him completes the sub-event and makes Frieza and Golden Frieza scoutable both to be recruited by KOing any of them with a Zenkai Attack in battle. In addition to Cellza, Frieza can perform EX-Fusion with his brother Cooler to create Coolieza, or with Captain Ginyu to create Ginyuza. Fighter Main article: Dragon Ball FighterZ Frieza is the main character of Enemy Warrior Arc, where he is the fighter summoned by Android 21 to house the player's soul as part of an experiment; He is one of the many warriors revived by Android 21 via Namekian Dragon Balls. As a result, Frieza himself is deprived of his own free will as his body becomes unwavering when the soul disagrees, sparking an outrage, but Android 16 assures Frieza that his true self will surface the longer he struggles with the soul attached to him. After finding and recruiting Nappa, Captain Ginyu and by Ginyu Force (which had also been revived by Dragon Balls), Frieza decides to set out on a mission to find the person responsible for not only implanting a soul in his body, but suppressing his and the other warriors' power by emitting long-range, ki-suppressing waves. During this quest he constantly takes his frustration out on the soul with verbal tirades, but ultimately comes to the expression that the soul inside his body is actually a skilled fighter. It is also revealed that Frieza's DNA was among those whose cells were combined by Dr Gero's Supercomputer to form the genetic makeup of Android 21, which was created from The Earth's resident mother to Dr Gero's late son with was used as a template for Android 16. He eventually encounters the revived Cell (for the first time as their encounter in filler never happened), explaining Android 21 had tried to control Cell with an artificial soul, but he bent it to his will. Although Frieza's subjects don't like his arrogant attitude and disrespect, Frieza accepts Cell's offer of an alliance to take down Android 21, which is the Red Ribbon Army looking for Dr. Gero's death as Cell has no interest in it or its goals. Their team-up causes Android 21 to send an artificial soul attached to Android 18 to deal with them while they are still weak. Android 21 reveals itself, and she notes that she doesn't reject the idea of universal conquest. But it is not her primary goal that is to consume and absorb them and Z Fighters use clones as only appetizers to satisfy her hunger until ready for the main course. But Android 18 is defeated, even though Android 21 announcements Goku and Krillin are approaching and playing the victim claiming Android 18 was hurt protecting her from villains, as the two Z Fighters easily believe as Krillin angrily steps up to avenge his wife along with Goku. But after the match, they notice Android 21 has gotten away. The villains inform Z Fighters they had been played, and Android 21 is the enemy of both of them. Goku suggests they put down their differences for the time being and mentions Bulma has invented a machine that blocks the waves, which intrigues Frieza and Cell. They help Z Fighters protect Bulma's ship containing the device from 21's clones. Frieza is left without much of a choice in the matter, but to go along with them as the soul convinces Frieza it is necessary to defeat Android 21 forcing Frieza to agree that he does not want to linger like a statue, even though both Frieza and Cell note it is a temporary truce. While the concept of having to work with Goku loathes him greatly, he is willing to fight for a mutual cause, even having a few laughs at the expense of warriors like Gotenks and Yamcha. Eventually, Android 21 sends Android 16 to remove Frieza, his henchman, Cell, and Z Fighters.
In fact, she is aware that he's been secret to thwart her when he was the one who used the soul connecting the system without her approval. Frieza and Cell have no qualms about destroying Android 16, though Krillin is reluctant as he looks 16 as a friend, but hopes he will give up before he gets destroved. Android 16 is defeated, though Android 21 shows up and reveals her true shape, which is very Majin as in the overall look, while having a tail like Frieza's (presumably influenced by Frieza and his father's cells, which she has Perfect Cell's genetic makeup), pointed Namekian as ears, and white hair (presumably affected by her Earthing and Saiyan cells) make her a new type of Bio-designed Android to succeed Cell, as the computer is considered a failure of his defeat and the destruction of the current cell. She reveals that she sent Android 16 to die for his betrayal and continues to attack, but suddenly she weakens, causing Cell and Frieza to try to kill her, even though Android 16 strangely shields her. But Android 16 would protect her all her to destroy himself, as she does, showing she has inherited Frieza's sadism and cruelty.
But Android 21 states that she is not ready to feed on them yet and leaves. Realizing clones is the only thing to keep Android 21 hunger in check as well as depriving her of them will prevent her from becoming more potent than she is, Frieza convinces her henchmen and allies that removing them should be their top priority as it will be the best way to lure her beyond being an appropriate way to punish her for creating clones of him. His plan worked as Android 21 was upset when she noticed that the number of clones was breaking down quickly and realizes Frieza is probably behind it. Her outrage combined with her growing hunger, causes Android 21 to lose its composer, seek out its enemies, take revenge and devour them. Frieza would lead their combined forces against Android 21 in a volcanic region that resembles the remnants of Planet Namek (in other Arches, the battle instead takes place on the sacred world of Kai). However, Android 21 proves to be too powerful despite their combined efforts, so they employ a risky plan that involves cranking Bulma's machine for maximum power. But the machine leaves everyone except Frieza, Cell, and Goku powerless, but restores enough of Frieza, Cell, and Goku strength that they are able to destroy Android 21 along with a combined energy attack. But true to their word, Frieza and Cell decide to end their truce with the Z Fighters as their power is restored with Android 21's demise, though Cell decides to remain allied with Frieza as they share a common enemy in Z Fighters. At the same time, Nappa wants to take revenge on Goku and Vegeta, and Ginyu Force is happy to follow Frieza's orders as it them the opportunity to make up for their previous defeat at Namek. Namek. The outcome of this match is not shown. It is therefore unknown whether the revived Frieza Force and Cell defeated their enemies, or whether they were all sent to earth's hell after being killed again. World Mission Chapter 2, Sub Chapter 3 – An Unthinkable Look In An Unthinkable Appearance, an anomaly occurs in Age 764 of the SDBH game world resulting in Future Trunks being a no show when Mecha Frieza and King Cold invade Earth in the main timeline. 2 star normal mission - We are fine! Beat and Note of the Time Patrol's Dragon Ball Heroes team step up to confront Mecha Frieza and King Cold after defeating an abnormal Dodoria and Zarbon who claim to have been sent by Frieza to invade Earth in search of his Dragon Balls. 2-Star Normal Mission - Worst Case Scenario The duo manage to defeat Mecha Frieza and King Cold, but suddenly Frieza's spaceship appears to be owned by an abnormal Frieza from a timeline where he hadn't confronted Goku, who had sent Dodoria and Zarbon to Earth. The abnormal Frieza and Mecha Frieza and anomalous Frieza decides to help Mecha Frieza in taking revenge on Goku by learning from what Super Saiyan had done to his counterpart. Froze and Kagyu return to the game world to back up Beat and Note. The abnormal Frieza, and King Cold confront Beat, Note, Froze, and/or Kagyu in a three-on-three team battle. The battle ends with Jeice, Burter and Guldo being killed. 4-Star Boss Mission – Joining Forces The Abnormal Frieza praises heroes for their efforts to kill most of Ginyu Force, but still in vain in the face of power itself, his Cyborg counterpart, and the counterpart's father with even Great Saiyaman 3 agree they are too much for his team to handle. As King Cold and Mecha Frieza prepare to obliterate Heroes, they are interrupted by Goku, fresh from his training at Yardrat and Z Warriors consisting of Vegeta, Gohan, Piccolo, and Krillin. But Mecha Frieza is glad to see that Super Saiyan finally decided to drop in. His counterpart quickly deduces that he is the Goku Mecha Frieza had been talking about. Goku is surprised there are two Friezas and wonder what is going on, though Vegeta says he does not know, or care as his only desire is to repay Frieza blood for blood. Mecha Frieza and Frieza are surprised Vegeta is alive, but conclude that it is Dragon Balls' work that the abnormal Frieza is determined to achieve after dealing with Goku. But Goku refuses to let it happen. Mecha Frieza increases he has gotten more robust, and Beat says he is telling the truth that has just fought him. Goku says he will be extra careful and thanks them for keeping them away. though Beat says they didn't do much beyond that thrown around. But Goku says they would have been fine and to believe in themselves a little as they were butting heads with the sedest guy in the universe. Great Saiyaman 3 tells his team to work with Goku and Z Warriors, confident they can defeat the higher-ups of the Frieza Force. An Unimaginable Appearance - Epilog 1 The Heroes and Z Warriors manage to kill Mecha Frieza and King Cold. Vegeta tells Heroes to step aside as he wishes to put an end to the weakened Frieza. Goku, however, tells Vegeta to wait as he tries to convince Frieza to promise to repair his evil ways, they will let him go to live on his planet in peace. Frieza, who is not familiar with Goku's personality, is surprised that he wanted to show him mercy. Froze, who respects Frieza despite his malice, suggests he take their offer. Silence, child! I'm the strongest is in the whole room! You should all be dead! Killed by me! YOU HAVE TO BE! - The anomalous Frieza rejects Fros's suggestion in the World Mission But Frieza tells F Frøs for daring to suggest that he accept Goku's grace. Realizing Frieza will not back down, Goku and Beat both attack Frieza with their Kamehamehas while resulting in Ancestor-Descendant Kamehameha. NAAAAAAARGH! It's not the last... you've seen of me! I'm going to... be back! For... Revenge...!
GROAAAAAAAAAAARGH! - The Anomalous Frieza's last words before being killed by Goku & game returns the world to the original story with game world Future Trunks killing Mecha Frieza and King Cold. 2 star normal mission - The Son appears! In the extra dimensional space within age 764 anomaly, Beat and Note manage to defeat Mecha Frieza and King Cold. But an additional anomaly, causing Kuriza to appear in his spaceship along with his subordinates Avo and Cado. Kuriza joins his father and grandfather in confronting Heroes with Avo and Cado backing them up. 2-Star Normal Mission – The Greatest Power in the Universe But he is unable to prevent Mecha Frieza and King Cold from being mortally wounded by beat and note, though Kuriza and his minions are saved by the intervention of the Cooler Force, who admonish his father and brother for being a disgrace to their clan before they die. What if scenarios Episode of Bardock Frieza prepares to destroy Planet Vegeta in Episode of Bardock Frieza appears briefly in the first chapter of the manga Dragon Ball: Episode of Bardock, seen destroying Planet Vegeta, Supersonic Warriors Frieza after wanting an immortal body in Supersonic Warriors In Frieza's scenario in Dragon Ball Z: Supersonic Warriors, Frieza's life is same as in i i Series until his last battle with Goku: Frieza manages to defeat Super Saiyan Goku and escapes Namek with Captain Ginyu just before it explodes. After returning to Planet Frieza, Frieza upgrades himself with cybernetic armor, and he and Ginyu go to hunt Vegeta and Gohan. Frieza defeats and kills Super Saiyan Vegeta, and then heads to capsule corporation, where Z Fighters and their allies try to revive Goku. Krillin tries to stop Frieza but is defeated after running out of The Senzu Beans, though he buys enough time for Goku to be revived. Goku confronts Frieza and asks West City not to be involved in their fight, but Frieza destroys the city against Goku's will. Gohan arrives and he and his father transform into Super Saiyans, but even with their combined power, they are defeated and killed by Frieza. While Frieza heads to his ship to relax, Ginyu takes the Dragon Radar and heads to find Dragon Balls for Frieza. However, Dr. Gero sends Android 18 assisted by Android 17 and Android 16 to kill Frieza, but Frieza defeats them. Frieza then meets Ginyu, who has collected four of dragon balls, and the two head to Gero's base, the location of the last three Dragon Balls. When Ginyu goes in to get Dragon Balls, he is attacked by Gero and has his energy taken. Frieza is confronted by Gero, but tells the doctor that he will not destroy him if he agrees to work for him. Gero thinks about it briefly, but then refuses and attacks. Frieza defeats Gero and desires for an immortal body, stripping him of his cybernetic upgrades and also causing him to no longer have to power up to 100%, making him identical in appearance to his regular Final form. After he merged with Kami, Piccolo guickly heads to fight the now immortal Frieza, but is also defeated. Frieza kills humanity and makes Earth the center of his empire under the name Planet Frieza No. 80. Twenty years later, Present Cell awakens in its perfect form thanks to adjustments by Gero before his death. After being told who he is, the cell attacks and destroys Frieza's castle and new elite force. Frieza appears and confronts Present Cell, and the two have a brief discussion before participating in one last fight. Frieza defeats Present Cell, revealing that he can regenerate as much as he wants. Frieza realizes that he can only kill Present Cell by destroying all his cells and hitting him with a death ball that destroys him and the Earth. Frieza then leaves and conquers every planet in the universe without resistance. In Ginyu's scenario in supersonic warriors, Ginyu manages to defeat almost all Z Fighters and Androids. In the final, Deley defeats Ginyu and Frieza tells Ginyu that he can get the first wish and Frieza will take the Ginyu desire revives Ginyu Force and and Shenron disappears. The shocked Frieza is told by the wounded Piccolo and then attacks Ginyu Force out of anger at them having their desire given.
Ginyu manages to calm Frieza down, but still angry, Frieza destroys the Earth. Ginyu and Frieza then return to Planet Frieza and resume their normal lives. In Dragon Ball Z: Supersonic Warriors 2, there is a what-if scenario in which Frieza arrives at Planet Namek in its final form and decides to take care of any problems himself. He kills Vegeta and then fights and defeats Super Saiyan Goku, but is trapped in Planet Namek's explosion. Frieza is found by King Cold and rebuilt as Mecha Frieza. He then goes to Earth, fights and is defeated by Future Trunks, but he and his army flee to their spaceship.
Frieza returns when the world has been decimated by Androids and uses its new power to kill Future Trunks and Goku. Frieza on Namek.
After several failed assassination attempts, Frieza goes to the fight against Cooler and his squad. After killing them, he claims the Big Gete Star as his own and uses it to help him rule the universe. Budokai Frieza wins immortality in Dragon Ball Z: Budokai I Dragon Ball Z: Budokai, in a two part what-if saga, Raging Frieza and The True Ruler, Frieza becomes enraged when to figure out his goal of wishing eternal life with Namekian Dragon Balls will not happen (as he does in the main timeline). Instead of fighting Vegeta, he defeats Gohan first, When Piccolo arrives, he fights Frieza, but is defeated.
Frieza then powers up to his final form and kills Vegeta with Death Beam. When he arrives and finds most of his friends killed, Goku's anger builds up and he transforms into a Super Saiyan. Frieza goes to its 100% full effect and eventually kills Goku. He sees porunga and wants eternal life. After becoming immortal, Frieza continues to destroy Namek and then heads to Earth to blow it up. In Frieza's arcade mode in Dragon Ball Z: Shin Budokai - Another Road, Frieza enters the World Martial Arts Tournament. After defeating all his opponents, he tells the World Tournament Announcer that he is the ruler of the universe and that he will sell the planet, but the announcer thinks he is funny. Frieza threatens the announcer, but then decides not to bother and instead celebrates his victory in peace. Budokai Tenkaichi series In Dragon Ball Z: Budokai Tenkaichi, in the what-if saga The Cosmic Emperor, Frieza manages to defeat Super Saiyan Goku, but is still not able to take the winds of eternal youth. Frieza eventually confronts and manage to defeat him. Then frieza continues to take full control of Universe, even kill Future Trunks, with Cooler as his elite right hand. In Dragon Ball Z: Budokai Tenkaichi 2, in what-if the saga Beautiful Betrayal, Zarbon learns about the desires of Dragon Balls and betrays Frieza. Frieza and Cooler's forces go to war against each other, with Frieza (in his first form) and Cooler fighting each other head on.
Frieza eventually senses Porunga's call and ceases to fight Cooler to control. Frieza fights Zarbon and Goku before leaving to fight at maximum force and end up destroying Namek. Two what-whose stories include Frieza in Dragon Ball Z: Budokai Tenkaichi 3: Galaxy Battle and Unexpected Help. Galaxy Battle is the third story Kibito Kai shows to Goku: Frieza did not plan to kill saiyans attacked Frieza. After the Saiyans defeat most of his forces and King Vegeta defeat King Cold, Frieza in his first form personally arrives and defeats Bardock before slaughtering both King Vegeta and Prince Vegeta. Bardock remains and uses all his energy to kill Frieza, but dies in the process. Unexpected help is the final world that Kibito Kai shows to Goku: when Mecha Frieza and King Cold arrive on Earth and prepare to terrorize his people, they are confronted by Spike the devil Man. Mecha Frieza fights Spike and is immune to all the devilman's attacks until Spike uses his Devilmite Beam, killing the tyrant because of the evil in his heart. Frieza's remaining soldiers and father will follow soon after. The Battle of Z Frieza appears in several what-if scenarios in the Battle of Z. If Frieza is used in the scenario Of Revolting Soldiers, Frieza will destroy them as he did the Saiyans. Frieza tells them that this claim is ridiculous, but proceeds to wipe out all 150 of them anyway because of their betrayal. Frieza also appears in the spirit bomb scenario, where he finally manages to have his desire to become invincible and immortal (also gaining the ability to create clones of himself). Frieza's clones battle Goku, Krillin, Gohan and Piccolo, while Frieza watches from the top of a mountain. After the defeat of the clones, Frieza himself comes down and begins to dominate Z Fighters in battle until Goku gathers energy from across the universal Spirit Bomb and blasts Frieza into Namek's core. Power Manga and Anime Frieza are one of the most powerful mortal warriors in Universe 7 and the multiverse as a whole. He was born a mutant with abnormally great power, even His weakest, can effortlessly destroy entire planets. After hearing that Frieza was defeated, the God of Destruction Beerus was shocked that this was possible (by anyone but himself). He is also recognized as a prodigy of such innate talent and natural growth that he became known as the most powerful warrior in the universe without real education or proper fighting style. Even more, his mutant genes seem to let him grow in strength in a much shorter period of time than most. After training for the first time in his life, with only four months of training, he shattered his previous limitations and guickly adapted to his newfound power, developing a state on par with gods, a feat all the more impressive considering he did so with almost no help. In his first form, Frieza killed King Vegeta with a single punch and fatally humped Nail with a single hand. Once at his maximum power of 530,000, First Form Frieza was able to fend off the combined efforts of Vegeta, Gohan and Krillin despite their significant growth in respective power. In his second form, Frieza calmly handled the trio with little effort and claimed his power level to be over 1,000,000. Only against Piccolo (recently trained by King Kai and merged with Nail) did Frieza take the fight seriously. Once outclassed, Frieza used his third form, quickly dominating Piccolo with a torturous onslaught and managed to repel Gohan's massive rage-charged blast. Frieza argues that it would be easy for him to defeat Krillin, Gohan, Vegeta and Piccolo in his third form, but transforms into his final form to fill them with fear. In its final form, Frieza's suppressed power of just 1% was more than a battle for the four fighters, they could not see his movements (apart from Vegeta, which received a Saiyan Power boost) and proceeded to torture and kill Vegeta. Frieza met his first true challenge in Goku and struggled at the level with him despite his huge Saiyan Power rise. When harnessing 50% of his full power, Frieza guickly dominated Goku, even overwhelming his Kaio-ken x20.
attack, 50% was enough to spread Goku's Kamehameha with a single hand, only sustaining minor burns. Frieza survived a Large Spirit Bomb, although it damaged his left eye and severed part of his tail. When Goku achieved Super Saiyan, Frieza utilizes 100%, holds his own for a while against Goku, landing some blows, but he is ultimately surpassed. A year after his defeat at Namek, he was restored with cybernetic parts that made him much stronger than before, and Frieza is confident he could defeat Super Saiyan Goku. In anime, King Kai notes that Frieza's Supernova is ten times stronger than the Death Ball he used to destroy Namek. Yet he was easily killed by Saiyan Future Trunks. In Dragon Ball Super, after being revived and organically organic Frieza trains for four months. After unlocking much of his latent potential, Frieza's power rose dramatically when Gohan openly felt that his full force could not defeat First Form Frieza. Frieza easily defeated Super Saiyan Gohan and killed Piccolo with a single shot. Just powering-up in Final Form dissolved almost all of his 1,000 soldiers. In this form, Frieza is strong enough to fight on an equal footing with Goku (which had reached the level of gods). [23] Krillin and Gohan note that they could not see either Goku or Frieza's movements (whereas they had previously seen Super Saiyan Blue, Frieza turns into Golden Frieza, and although the two initially seem on par with each other, Frieza soon turns out to be stronger. At full force, Frieza says he could probably kill Super Saiyan Blue Goku in an instant if he was serious. But Frieza tires quickly, having not adapted to his new form, until eventually his punches become ineffective. After returning to its normal form, despite his exhaustion, Frieza instantly destroyed the Earth. In Universe Survival Saga, despite being immobilized for over a year ago into hell, Frieza's control of his ki grew through constant image training. This newfound refined control let Frieza use the form for longer with almost no load. In anime, this growth let him remain unaffected by Energy destruction and eventually take control of it. At this time, Ro noted that Frieza was more of a God of destruction than Sidra and doubted that the latter could destroy Frieza. Later, Golden Frieza and Super Saiyan Blue Goku were both knocked out with a simultaneous blow to each other, and Whis notes that the two were in power. In manga, Goku and Frieza battle each other ending with both just banged up. Based on this fight, Goku is unsure who would win between Vegeta and Frieza acknowledges, however, that he is still weaker than Beerus.
```

```
During the Tournament of Power, Final Form Frieza eliminated several warriors. In anime, Frieza easily defeated the likes of Catopesra, Napapa, Murichim (Universe 10's supposed ace fighter) and Jimizu, as well as causing Roselle to purposefully ring out to avoid Frieza's torture and remove Frost in his 100% Power form with a single ki blast, even though Frost had his guard down. In an attempt to defeat Frieza, Cabba turned Super Saiyan 2 and attacked with a Galick Cannon; But it was revealed Frieza had taken no harm and had turned into Golden Frieza. At this point, Cabba was no match for the tyrant and knocked him out of the arena with a ki blast. When Goku began fighting against the team attack of Super Saiyan 2 Caulifla and Super Saiyan 2 Caulifla prepared a Crush Cannon to shoot at Frieza, Frieza opted to stay in his final form and prepared a Death Ball to collide with Caulifla – however, Goku insisted on ending the fight himself. Against Agnilasa, the combined machine after Frieza went over Super Saiyan God Goku because of believing him to be weaker. Along with the remaining members of Team Universe 7, Frieza engaged in a beam battle with Agnilasa as Golden Frieza, but was still almost overwhelmed. It was only when Android 17 damaged Agnilasa's energy reactor that Frieza and his teammates were able to knock Agnilasa out of the arena. In manga, Final Form Frieza easily caught lavender and Basil off guard to remove them, Frieza overwhelms base Caulifla and despite becoming a Super Saivan, Frieza overwhelms base Caulifla and despite becoming a Super Saivan. Frieza overwhelms base Caulifla and despite becoming a Super Saivan. Frieza overwhelms base Caulifla and despite becoming a Super Saivan.
and easily makes sport of her, even with the help of base Kale and Super Saiyan Cabba. When Kale transforms into a legendary Super Saiyan, Frieza lets his guard down pointlessly - believing it's a common Super Saiyan form that he can easily handle. But despite this, he insists to Goku that he would be more than enough to deal with Kale when he got serious. In anime, Frieza was able to match Dyspo in battle and keep up with his speed. When he turned into Golden Frieza, Frieza was able to easily overpower Dyspo, with Khai knowing that Frieza is faster than Dyspo. But when Dyspo activated his Super Maximum Light Speed Mode, his speed is formidable enough that he pushes Frieza to the edge of the stage. But after working with Gohan, the two are able to find a way to remove him. While Top is in a beam battle with Android 17, Frieza sneaks behind him and attacks him with a barrage of Death Beams. The Death Beams injury Top, however, when Top assumes its Destroyer Shape, Frieza is pummeled and barely saved from elimination thanks to Android 17's quick thinking. Frieza recovers quickly and manages to briefly paralyze Top with his psychic powers and continues to use a variety of attacks, but unfortunately they are ineffective and Top continues to break free from paralysis. Frieza then suffered an attack from Jiren, but he remained conscious and later attacked the mighty Pride Trooper, but even after becoming Golden Frieza, he was easily defeated by Jiren. After Jiren is weakened from fighting Ultra Instinct Goku, the exhausted Golden Frieza was able to initially fight evenly with the help of his psychic powers. Jiren however gets another wind thanks to Top and soon turns the tables in the fight. Working with Goku, he and Frieza showed remarkable synergy together, able to fight on an equal footing with Jiren. With the extra from Android 17, the arch-enemies To push Jiren on the defensive, eventually allows Goku and Frieza's finisher to eliminate the enemy by dragging him down with them. In manga, Frieza was able to easily overwhelm the exhausted Top. After Jiren powered up and easily defeated Vegeta's developed Super Saiyan Blue, Golden Frieza was convinced that even without using his full power, he could buy enough time against Jiren to win. But in the end he proved to be outdone and demanded Android 17's assistance. In the Super 17 Saga of the Dragon Ball GT, Frieza and Cell are stated to have powered up after training in hell for many years, and confidently challenge Goku, even after witnessing him fight an opponent like Kid Buu. It should also be noted that he and Cell were tasked with dealing with Goku, suggesting that they are more powerful than the villains up to the point of occupying hell, which instead went to Earth, including enemies like General Rilldo. Ultimately, however, Goku is able to outmaneuver them with his child form base power. Movies in Dragon Ball: Plan to Eradicate Saiyan's OVAs, Ghost Frieza is able to put up a battle against Super Saiyan Future Trunks and Super Saiyan Vegeta, thanks to the power boost he got from Dr. Raichi. In Dragon Ball Z: Fusion Reborn, finally form Frieza emerges as the leader of the villains who have escaped hell; but base form Gohan defeated Frieza in one stroke. In Dragon Ball Z: The Real 4-D, his power level is greatly increased to 5,300,000,000 in its true form. He was able to dominate base form Goku, and when he turned into a Super Saiyan, Frieza, still in his final form easily overwhelmed Goku without a scratch, leaving him barely able to move after their Kamehameha vs Death Ball clash. When Super Saiyan Vegeta, Piccolo and Krillin joined the battle, he was able to easily blow them away, only to be killed when Goku created a massive Spirit Bomb. Holy shit! It's unbelievable! What kind of training did he do?! — Goku amazed by Frieza's power when he entered his fourth form on Earth in Dragon Ball Z: Resurrection 'F', after being revived and regenerated to his fully organic first form, frieza notes that his power is rusty due to years trapped in Earth's hell. After training for four months, his power easily surpasses Z Fighters in his first form and was able to place Gohan in a near-death state with a single punch. Once unleashing the full power of his true form, he was able to fight Goku in his God-like Saiyan state, but is inevitably surpassed. He also speculated that four months of training could cause him to reach an impact level of 1.3 million, although it was unclear whether it was referring to his overall power level (which had been 120 million during the events of Namek Saga) or specifically to the power level in his first form. Golden Frieza As He Tramples Goku As Golden tyrannen tyrannen both Goku and Vegeta in their Super Saiyan Blue forms, [24] even using his full power, to be so strong that one of his suppressed attacks was able to knock Goku back without actually hitting him. [25] [26] Even after Golden Frieza's power and stamina dropped dramatically, due to not having adapted to his new form, he still fought on an equal footing with Goku - though Goku could now harm him - until finally Frieza's power fell enough that he unfazed Goku himself with a direct energy punch to his face. After Frieza regresses to its final form, he still retained enough power to almost immediately destroy the Earth.
Even more, as revealed by Whis, Frieza was able to survive the explosion. In Dragon Ball Super: Broly, Frieza could train and come back one day with a power stronger than his golden state. Against Super Saiyan Broly, in his last form, Frieza was beaten immediately. Frieza was certain to fight Super Saiyan Broly as Golden Frieza and his resulting transformation forced Broly backwards. But Golden Frieza was certain to fight Super Saiyan Broly as Golden Frieza and his resulting transformation forced Broly backwards. But Golden Frieza was certain to fight Super Saiyan Broly as Golden Frieza was certain to fight Super Saiyan Broly as Golden Frieza was certain to fight Super Saiyan Broly as Golden Frieza was certain to fight Super Saiyan Broly as Golden Frieza was certain to fight Super Saiyan Broly as Golden Frieza was certain to fight Super Saiyan Broly as Golden Frieza was certain to fight Super Saiyan Broly as Golden Frieza was certain to fight Super Saiyan Broly as Golden Frieza was certain to fight Super Saiyan Broly as Golden Frieza was certain to fight Super Saiyan Broly as Golden Frieza was certain to fight Super Saiyan Broly as Golden Frieza was certain to fight Super Saiyan Broly as Golden Frieza was certain to fight Super Saiyan Broly as Golden Frieza was certain to fight Super Saiyan Broly as Golden Frieza was certain to fight Super Saiyan Broly as Golden Frieza was certain to fight Super Saiyan Broly as Golden Frieza was certain to fight Super Saiyan Broly as Golden Frieza was certain to fight Super Saiyan Broly as Golden Frieza was certain to fight Super Saiyan Broly as Golden Frieza was certain to fight Super Saiyan Broly as Golden Frieza was certain to fight Super Saiyan Broly as Golden Frieza was certain to fight Super Saiyan Broly as Golden Frieza was certain to fight Super Saiyan Broly as Golden Frieza was certain to fight Super Saiyan Broly as Golden Frieza was certain to fight Super Saiyan Broly as Golden Frieza was certain to fight Super Saiyan Broly as Golden Frieza was certain to fight Super Saiyan Broly as Golden Frieza was certain to fight Super Saiyan Broly as Golden Frieza was certain to fight Super Saiyan Broly as Golden Frieza was certain to fight Super Saiyan Broly as Golden Frieza was certain to fight Saiyan Broly as Gold punches that Frieza landed were able to falter Broly, and full power punches were able to force Broly to dodge. Frieza survived Broly's wrath for an hour. Opinions from authors and guidebooks It is said that from the moment he was born, Frieza was already more powerful than King Cold. [11] Frieza faces Goku and Vegeta together In its true form at Namek, Frieza has a power level of 120,000,000 to 100% of the full power according to Daizenshuu 7 and several video games. World of Dragon Ball Z states that Goku and Frieza were equal, but the effect of 100% drained Frieza quickly, leading to his defeat.
The film pamphlet for Dragon Ball Z: The Tree of May states that Frieza has a power level of 85,000 in its first form. Daizenshuu 2 states that Frieza's sleeping power in its final form is immense. At the same time, Akira Toriyama stated in Dragon Ball Volume 'F' that even Frieza can't match up with Beerus, no matter what he does. [27] The website of Dragon Ball Z: Resurrection 'F' states that after his training Frieza is infinitely stronger than he was at Namek. [28] An advertisement for Dragon Ball Z: The Real 4-D has Frieza, That his power level in The Real 4-D is 5,300,000,000. [29] In the January 2017 V-Jump article about the rivals appearing in dragon ball super noted that Golden Frieza strength surpasses Super Saiyan Blue, it also ranks Golden Frieza as an 8/12 on the danger scale. [30] Before Goku achieved the Ultra Instinct Sign, Frieza and Goku were tied for No. 1 in Team Universe 7 in terms of power. [31] At the time of Dragon Ball Super: Broly, Frieza has grown in power in his quest to reach the top - but is not as strong as Beerus. [32] Video Games Dragon Ball Z: Budokai Tenkaichi 3 describes 100% Power Frieza and Super Saiyan Goku as being equal in speed and strength during their last fight at Namek. In the plan to eradicate the Saiths, Ghost Frieza and Ghost Cooler together are able to hold their own against Z Fighters, but are ultimately defeated. When Ghost Frieza is later fought again on Planet Kuhn, he has further powered up in Psycho Frieza and is able to hold his own against the entire Z Fighter team at their strongest, but is still defeated in the end. In the story of Dragon Ball Z: Shin Budokai, (which takes place two years after Buu's defeat) Frieza is able to tire out Super Saiyan Gohan using his fourth form only in his base power, Piccolo and Gohan also refer him as being more powerful than Super Buu. Frieza at full effect defeat legendary super saiyan broly behind the scenes (Legendary Super Saiyan 3 Goku problems, meaning that at full effect Frieza had apparently replied Super Saiyan 3 Goku in power), and is proven to be stronger than Super Gotenks (with Pikkon also referencing him to be stronger than Cooler, Cell, and the above Broly). Later in the story, Frieza absorbs large amounts of evil energy to drive himself far up and give himself unlimited energy; When this happens, he briefly regains his title of strongest in the universe until he loses power due to a large excess of positive energy built up by Krillin and Android 18. In Dragon Ball Xenoverse, under Frieza Saga, Frieza gets a dark power up by time breakers. At 100% power in fourth form he is strong enough to fight both Future Warrior and Super Saiyan Goku at the same time, and even then, eventually Super Saiyan Goku need to utilize another Spirit Bomb during their battle. When Frieza returns obsessed with Demon God Demigra (four years after the fight with Buu), he - along with the powered-up Cell and Buu - are able to briefly hold their own against future Warrior and Goku (who possess unmastered god power), but they are beaten. In Xenoverse 2, during Resurrection 'F' Saga, Elder Kai Xeno Trunks says he'll be sorry if he thinks he can defeat him again with a single turn of a blade. Later 1st Form Frieza is powered up by Towa's dark magic and can take on the 2nd Future Warrior. He's entering his golden form. With the sudden-looking Meta Cooler, together, they were able to hold their own against Goku, Vegeta (both of which were in their Super Saiyan Blue forms).
and 2nd Future Warrior simultaneously. In their post-Future Warrior rematch, Frieza stops from blowing up Earth, Golden Frieza, and Meta Cooler further power-up in their Supervillain forms and them a second time. But the two brothers were defeated again (this time forever). Golden Frieza is said to have unmatched power in promo material for Dragon Ball Heroes: Ultimate Mission 2. In the opening for Ultimate Mission 5, Golden Frieza is shown diverting a ki blast from Jiren. In Dragon Ball FighterZ, Frieza's power has not improved much from his last resurrection. With his power (along with everyone else's) being suppressed by Dr. Gero's suppression waves, while still able to handle the likes of Cell and compete against Goku and Vegeta, Frieza however on his own was slaughtered by Android 21. Abilities Main article: List of techniques used by Frieza Death Beam Main article: Death Beam Frieza fires a Death Beam The Death Beam is a piercing beam of energy fired from the finger, it is Frieza's signature and most used technique is unable to pierce a target it instead creates a huge city size explosion. To perform the technique, the user extends his right arm and fires a small, thin, very fast and concentrated laser-like beam of ki from his index finger, which barrels down and pierces through the opponent. The user is able to fire the attack very quickly while maintaining the exact target. The technique has a faster but weaker variant, and a larger and more powerful rapid-fire variant. After perfecting ki control, Frieza develop seeks Death Ball Main article: Death Ball Goku holds back Frieza's Golden Death Ball The Death Ball is Frieza's ultimate attack and is usually used as a last resort in battle or as a planet destroying method. The technique is usually a ball of energy charged on the finger and then thrown at the goal, but after his revival Frieza shows a more powerful version charged with his entire hand. Death Cannon Main article: Death Cannon Frieza's Last Resort Death Cannon
The Death Cannon is Frieza's primary Full Power Energy Wave technique. It is a high powered blast of energy and has different flavors depending on the form Frieza utilizes. A version of it that uses up most of Frieza's energy is a last resort technique tyrant. Nova Strike Main article: Nova Strike An attack in which Frieza wraps himself in energy and flies right at his enemy to tackle them. Used against Goku on Namek, and also to eliminate Jiren during Tournament of Power. Death Saucer Main article: Death Saucer Frieza holds two Death Undercosts after witnessing Krillin's Destructo Disc, Frieza quickly created his own upgraded version named Death Saucer. This technique is the same as destructo disc, but it is much faster and it home in on its target, after them, although it initially misses. Frieza can also manually control Death Saucers. While most creatures in the Dragon Ball franchise usually transform Increasing their power, Frieza's power is obviously so great that his base/original form struggles to properly control it, and so Frieza developed series of physical transformations to instead limit his actual strength. He originally had four forms, with his fourth being his true form and first three designed to limit and hide his power from his enemies. Frieza says even transforming into his second form has difficulty controlling himself because of the huge amount of his current strength. This suggests that the second and third forms are just physical reinforcements that allow Frieza to build up enough strength to return to its true form. This also serves to torment his opponents by giving them a false sense of hope. Transforming into a new form seems to fully rejuvenate him and even repair any damage in earlier forms. His fourth form even seems to regenerate any previously lost anatomy as his severed tail in his second form was completely restored when into his fourth form. Years after he was killed by Future Trunks, through a 4-month period of intense training, Frieza was able to instantly transform from his first form directly to his true form. To which, he gained proper control over his true form power so that he can access it unhindered. He also achieved a new transformation, which greatly increased his power instead. First Form as an Adult Frieza's First Form as a Child In its first form, Frieza is at his shortest, child-like in statue and similarly youthful face. He has a large chestnut-shaped skull with two straight horns that protrude near 45 degree angles. He also has a tail with a pointed end, which is relatively thick in width, as well as having three talon-like possible toes for feet. When Frieza was a child, his first form turned out differently, being very pinker, missing lines on his arms and legs and not having shoulder pads. In his first form he has purple sections on his head, shoulders and stomach. He has pink parts with lines displayed on his arms, legs and cheeks as well as his purple skin on his face, feet and hands. He has bracelets and ankle bands with brown sections with lines on the front. He also has a white natural armor that covers his chest and big dark red lips. He wears a standard armor of his army, consisting of a purple bodysuit with yellow shoulder guards. He also appears to wear black shorts. He also occasionally wears a red scout. Second Form Main article: Transforming Ability Frieza in his second Form height compared to Frieza's First. Third and True forms in Broly His second form is similar in appearance to his father. King Cold. It generally appears as more mature version to the first form. In it, he grows to reach height towering above and his muscle mass grows just as greater sporting a thicker and more defined built. His face also has a more angled jaw-line and sharper nose, while his horn grows longer and curves sharply upwards at near right angles. His voice grows noticeably deeper, further giving the illusion of being more mature. His armor cannot contain his shape and shatter, leaving his body fully exposed. In Dragon Ball Super: Broly, when Frieza reveals that he plans to use Earth Dragon Balls to increase his height, Kikono points out that he can make himself taller by returning to his second form, which is revealed to be Frieza's highest form, though Frieza angrily rejects the suggestion, revealing he wants to be 5cm taller in his true and golden forms. Third Form Main article: Transforming the ability of Frieza in his third form Frieza's third form is the most brutish and imposing of them all, with an extremely elongated skull. His facial features contort and change, with the nose signaling into his mouth to form a raw beak. His original horn retreats and is now white in color, erupting in pairs along the length of his head. Two pairs of spikes grow out of the back and curve upwards, and armor on his shoulders flings outwards like shoulder pads. He stands upright with a slight sensation, which gives him a more feral demeanor. Frieza declared that no one had ever seen this form before. It is unknown what the exact increase in power in this form is, but he is able to completely dominate nail-fused Piccolo, who previously overwhelmed Frieza's voice becomes a synchronised duo of his first and second forms respective voices. This effect was removed in the remastered version, making this form sound like his other form. Finally Form Frieza in its true form This form is also called Super Frieza (超フンーザ, Sūpā Furīza). This is the form in which Frieza was born, and thus is his true or base form. This is the form that allows him to reach his full potential Drastically different from his previous transformations, in his fourth form, Frieza instead regresses, with his previous form cracking and crushing like a shell, becoming a slim and only somewhat taller than his first form and his voice becoming higher-pitched again. He generally appears as a white lizard-like, almost harmless creature; His horns and spikes disappear, and his physique becomes streamlined. His skin becomes clean, solid-white with purple sections on his head, shoulders, forearms, stomach and tibia. The purple lined sections on the sides of his face disappear, although the lines on his cheeks remain intact, giving his face an almost mask-like appearance. His arms, legs, cheeks and tail are longer and white the purple skin on his face, neck, hands and feet. At only 1% of this kind of true power, he is noted to the power displayed from his his Forms. Because of his initial problems in controlling his true power, Frieza's body is strained when unleashing too much power. As such, he would normally refrain from using this form, and even then would rely on only a small fraction of his true power. Once unleashing his true power, he proved capable of holding his own against Super Saiyan Goku for a period of time. At the time of his second invasion of earth, Frieza trained for four months to exploit an extraordinary amount of its latent potential. In addition to a rapidly increasing power in relation to his struggle at Planet Namek and gaining full control of his final form capabilities, he can easily maintain this form for as long as he wants, and even gain access to the full force of this kind of power for extended periods of time just as calmly. Even more, his mastery gives him access to this form immediately. [33] This mastered state of Frieza's Final Form has been referred to as Full Power. [34] Since his second death and revival of Whis after the Tournament of Power, Frieza remains in its true form when not using his lower forms as his newfound mastery of ki control thanks to his Image Training in Earth's Hell means that he really no longer requires said forms of power suppression. In Broly, Frieza reveals he plans to use Earth Dragon Balls to want to make his True Golden Frieza shape), which would longer be too gentle as he wants others to believe it was the result of natural growth. 100% Full Power Main article: 100% Full Power Frieza in his Full Power Form Originally, to access his full power, his body is noticeably affected by it. When charging himself to at least 85% strength, the strain of contains this untamed and enormous power causes his muscle mass to increase significantly. At 100%, his body gets wider and his built engaged compared to his previous slender frame. This also causes his body to grow noticeably taller, almost equal to Goku in height. With his power pushed to the absolute limit, giving him strength and durability far greater than usual, he was able to fight almost at the level of Super Saiyan Goku during their final confrontation on Planet Namek. Despite his hulking frame in this state, he shows no apparent decrease in his stamina, speed, or agility. But because of the strain on his body, he can not maintain the maximum capacity of it for long, slowly weakening. During the Tournament of Power, Frieza showed that even after massively increasing the power of his final form and fully mastering it. Frieza can still charge and focus his energy in pure power by bulking up his muscles if he wants, further increasing his power far beyond his Borders. I think he is able to immediately achieve this condition and to do so without visible exhaustion or strain from doing so. This means that he has control over refined to reduce the number of endurance falls. He notes, however, that it will still only be useful for a short period of time and best used early in the fight due to the strain still depleting his stamina faster than in his normal state. Frieza's 100% Power form is a temporary power-up in the Supersonic Warriors that can be used by Frieza in any of his states: Final Form (LV1), Mecha form (LV2), and Immortal Final form (LV3). In his successor, Supersonic Warriors 2, Frieza can use his full force through the technique called 100% Activation, which, like in the previous game, does not increase his muscles, but instead gives him a white and purple aura. In the history mode Dragon Ball Z: Shin Budokai, Frieza can control his 100% power shape, while in hell, to be able to use this mode without the risk of losing any stamina, which enables him to stay in shape for as long as he wants. Mecha Frieza in its synthetic state Of Mecha Frieza (メカフ), ザ, Mecha Frieza), also called Powered-Up Form in manga, Frieza is rebuilt with cybernetic enhancements by scientists after what was left of the still-living Frieza was salvaged after being physically destroyed while trapped in Planet Namek's explosion. The entire left arm, and the right side of his face were replaced with scarring and metal accounterments covering what little was left of his organic self. These improvements allowed him to exceed the limits set by his fully organic form, but by how much or in what way is unknown. It was also able to generate bio-electricity, as red electric bolts were seen emanating from him on arrival at Earth. In the Funimation dub of Dragon Ball Z Kai, this shape has a small mechanical sound to his voice. Despite being equipped with cybernetics, he is still susceptible to ki-sense as opposed to Red Ribbon Army-created cyborgs/androids. In anime it is said by King Kai that Mecha Frieza's Supernova is ten times stronger than Death Ball Frieza used to destroy Namek. On Future Trunks kill him, missing a physical body, Frieza's spirit remains with the emergence of Mecha Frieza in his time in hell until his resurrection in Resurrection 'F'. [19] After his revival, he is still Mecha Frieza (in pieces), but he is soon regenerated, regaining his full organic body. In Dragon Ball Z: Supersonic Warriors, Frieza obtains a cybernetic armor that he places above his injuries after defeating Goku, and which is his level two state in the game; While wearing armor his appearance is identical to Mecha Frieza's, but he is strong enough to defeat Super Saiyans and Red Ribbon Androids. In Dragon Ball Z 2 V, when Frieza is in his alternate Cooler costume, Mecha Frieza Golden Frieza Golden Frieza Golden Frieza Golden Golden During his training for a rematch against Goku, Frieza achieved this Ultimate Evolution, where he became Golden Frieza. Frieza suggested that he deliberately developed the shape to assume his appearance to his base shape, his skin turns dark purple, gains pronounced eye combs, and is encased in a biological armor that covers all but his face. hands and feet. It's shimmering gold in color, but with a darker covering his arms and midsection down. He retains his purple plates, but loses them on his forearms and tibia become oval. He also grows noticeably taller and also gains a similar increase in muscle mass. His aura also becomes a blaze of fire-like orange. Unlike his first three forms, this one increases his power beyond his final form. The increase in power is so great that Vegeta was initially too afraid to meet him, with his power being massively superior to Super Saiyan Blue Goku even while holding back in an attempt to torture Goku. [25] [26] The form received open recognition of even God of Destruction Beerus and his companion Whis from Frieza's enormous growth in power, and in anime Goku notes that if Frieza were to fight seriously, he could potentially kill Goku in an instant. Initially, despite the huge increase in power, Frieza's lack of preparation due to impatient desires for revenge initially left form incomplete and with a crippling error. After only a few minutes of use, the intense energy this form generates burns through Frieza's to drain him of large amounts of stamina, affecting his performance in combat before eventually returning to his fourth form. In anime, Frieza also shows the ability to hold back and control his power to an extreme disadvantage. Frieza spent his time trapped in hell continuing his training through constant image training; he endured to completely refine his energy control despite being bound all the time, focusing endlessly on his goal of killing Goku and how he would do it. This ultimately allowed him to master the Golden Frieza transformation and proportionately further increase his power. In anime he dubbed his master mode True Golden Frieza. With his newfound mastery of energy manipulation, he boasts that he could maintain steadfastness able to leave water unstired while able to unleash his power with the highest intensity. His refined controls can launch beams from each finger and able to accurately control their different paths to essentially follow a target. His control reached such a level in this form that he could withstand an unrefined attack energy energy solution a Destroyer and even overpower it and control it as its own, but with some difficulty. At the time of Broly, Frieza was able to fight as Golden Frieza for an hour. Rage Mode Golden Frieza Main article: Rage Mode Golden Frieza Rage Mode Golden Frieza Rage Golden Frieza Rage Golden Frieza is an empowered state of Golden Frieza. This form is a result of Golden Frieza becoming very angry and instinctively channeling that emotional energy in further raw can, drastically increasing its power. In this state Golden Frieza's eyes become bloodshot, and the veins on his skin bulge out – meaning his anger and power increase. As a result of the power up his body also begins to glow and the golden armor he possesses gets a greater shine. But this power boost will only last long enough to be of any use, provided he still has enough natural stamina. This was seen in Resurrection 'F', which Frieza briefly powers up in anger when he is overpowered by Goku's, roaring in anger and glowingly clear as he powers up - causing the sea to rise, only for him to quickly collapse to his hands and knees. Hypothetical Final Form Frieza's hypothetical final form Frieza's hypothetical final form Frieza's hypothetical final form is a form imagined by Krillin when Frieza announces he will transform into his actual fourth form in the manga and anime series. The form also appears as a technique for Frieza and other characters in the Dragon Ball Z Collectible Card Game. Overall, it looks like his third shape with two extra horns near the front, razor sharp jaws, and a long purple tongue. Also in manga, the shape shoulders are sharpened. Full Armor Mecha Frieza Full Armor Mec rocket launcher mounted on his shoulder, ammunition, which is tucked behind his other shoulder, he has a belt of explosives around his waist, and his tail is upgraded with extra armor armor and sharp knives. Ghost Warrior forms Main article: Ghost Warrior In Dragon Ball Z Gaiden: Saiyajin Zetsumetsu Keikaku Frieza gets a modified form like a Ghost Warrior: Psycho Frieza. Majin Frieza Main article: Manipulation Sorcery Majin Frieza appears in this form in Dragon Ball Z: Budokai 2. Frieza power increases greatly in this form, to the point of being able to fight Super Saiyan 2 Goku. In the state of history. he and Cell are revived and transformed into Majins by Babidi. But they are again beaten by Goku and the other Z Fighters. When Majin Buu kills Babidi, Frieza and Cell return to their old selves and can't remember anything to be controlled by Babidi. After that, they are beaten and absorbed by Super Buu, and sent back to hell when Super Buu is defeated. Majin Frieza is also a starter character in Dragon Ball Z 2 V. Similar to Frieza becomes completely loyal to Babidi while he is under his spell, and even refers to him as his master. The Majin mark on his forehead is white instead of the usual black displayed by the other Majins. Frieza (Evil Energy absorbed) Main article: Janemba Frieza (Evil Energy Is Absorbed) In Shin Budokai, Absorbe Frieza and begins to generate evil energy to propel himself up. The presence of evil energy inside him causes him to start being Janemba, and bulks up his muscles to the size they are usually at when he uses his Full Power. Frieza tries to destroy the planet but gets beaten by Krillin and Android 18 after their positive energy weaken him and he is sent to hell. While in hell, it is understood that Frieza may have been fully transformed into Janemba by the evil energy he generated. Fourth Transformation Main Articles: Transforming Ability and Fourth Transformation Final Form Cooler with Frieza's Color in Fighter I Cooler's End of the New World Tournament in Dragon Ball Z: Shin Budokai – Another Road, Frieza achieves the fourth Transformation at some point after his battle with Cooler, although he is not shown in form on screen: after Frieza congratulates Cooler on winning the tournament Cooler decides that he and Frieza will destroy the Saiyans with their power, and he wants to have another fight with his brother to show the universe their family's true power. The two then transform (though only Cooler is shown), and attack Goku and Vegeta. In Dragon Ball Fusions, the resulting fusion of Frieza and Final Form Cooler: Coolieza, the look of Frieza in Cooler has fourth transformation. In Dragon Ball Fighter finally shape Cooler has a Frieza alternative color. Villanous Mode Main article: Villainous Mode Frieza transformed by dark magic During the finale of Xenoverse Demigra revives Frieza uses his 100% Full Power, his body turns purple, his eyes go pure red, and he gets the two black lines that go from the bottom of his eves to the bottom of his head. Xeno-Evolution Main articles: Supervilk and Xeno-Evolution Golden Frieza after Xeno-Evolution I Xenoverse 2. Frieza shaves some of his life to gain a greater degree of power to further transform into a fusion of his Golden Frieza State and Supervilk state. In this form his skin, when golden bio-suit goes platinum in color, his eyes glow dark pink and he gets Time Breaker's broken infinity on the forehead. Frieza's power increases massively when he takes on this form, which despite having already been drained for most of his energy and power from matches like Golden Frieza in the past, his transformation to this form puts him at a level where he is able to fight against Goku and Vegeta in their Super Saivan Blue forms – despite having already lost most of it Power. Due to the circumstances, it is unknown what the true strength of Frieza in this form is (although it is believed that he is much stronger than the regular Ultimate Evolution). Frieza achieves this form under dark demon realm saga of Xeno-Evolving. Merged with Dark Dragon Ball Main article: Dark Dragon Ball In Dragon Ball Super Card Game, Frieza can transform into Xeno Frieza by merging with the One-Star Dark Dragon Ball. Pure Gold Frieza Main article: Pure Gold Frieza is a merchandise-only joke form that is the result of Frieza over-training that causes him to get an Ultimate Evolution-like state that is pure gold in appearance. [36] Powered Up Form Frieza's powered up transformation from GT live show Frieza achieves this form at some point during the Dragon Ball GT live show. Frieza uses this form and easily defeats Trunks, but Frieza and Cell are actually looking for Goku.
so Pan and Trunks trick them into thinking Goku is coming and while they are distracted they flee. Frieza and Cell then head to search for Goku. Ultimate Ultra Fusion's Golden Great Ape form The strongest molten warrior, resulting from Frieza and Cell manipulate Pinich to perform Five-Way Fusion with them, along with his teammates Wanta and Piprika. Frieza and Cell are the ones who retain control of fusion and use it to kill Goku and destroy the planet, but their plans are thwarted by Whis, who rewind time, and then Beerus, reflecting his attacks away. Ultimate Ultra Fusion then fights Tekka teams in both his Super Saiyan and Golden Great Ape forms, but is defeated. Cellza After the defeat of Ultimate Ultra Fusion, Frieza and Cell use EX-Fusion to melt into Cellza as a last resort against Tekka and Pinich, but the two also use EX-Fusion and manage to defeat Cellza in the final battle. Coolieza Main article: Coolieza in Dragon Ball Fusions, Frieza is able to use EX-Fusion with his brother Cooler to create Coolieza, Coolieza takes on the look of Frieza in Cooler's Final Form transformation. Ginyuza Main article: Ginyuza In Dragon Ball Fusions Frieza is able to use EX-Fusion with Captain Ginyu to create Ginyuza, this take on the look of Captain Ginyu eventually got to fulfill his dream of merging with Frieza. Frieza's Spaceship Main article: Frieza's Spaceship The Large Ship designed by Kikono and utilized by Frieza and his men for interplanetary travel. Frieza has had three ships during his life with his first ship being the one he used during the genocide of saiyans until it was destroyed during the Battle of Planet Namek Namek exploded. The second originally belonged to Sorbet and was used during Frieza, Jaco confiscates it and delivers it to the Galactic Patrol. After his second revival, Frieza acquires the current spaceship that appears in Broly. Frieza's Hover Pod Main article: Frieza's Hover Pod A floating, egg-shaped vehicle used by Frieza as a means of transport. Although he is extraordinarily powerful and perfectly capable of walking and flying, Frieza (in his first form) seems to prefer to use the hover pod as a means of getting around, even inside his own spaceship. The reason for this is unknown, although it is possible that he sees it as a status symbol. After his second resurrection of Whis, Frieza is shown to occasionally ride inside his hover pod while in his True Form, such as when he announces his return in Dragon Ball Super anime and in Broly. Scouter Main article: Scouter Frieza's New Scouter Model (Red) For most of his life, Frieza lacked the ability to naturally sense ki and relied heavily on Scouters to discover ki. Frieza carries a scout just before attacking Planet Vegeta and taking it out to fire his Eye Lasers at King Vegeta's brigade. Frieza's scout at Namek was a newer model of the same color, which was personally given to him by Ginyu Force. Frieza uses the Scout to find Guru's home. When Frieza personally fights Nail, his scout measures the lone Namekian power level (42,000), which somewhat impresses the emperor. After seriously beating up Nail, Frieza uses his scout to contact Ginyu Force, only to find out they are all defeated. As he battles Vegeta, Gohan, Krillin and Dende, Frieza uses his scout to measure Vegeta's power and ends the conflict when Frieza's scout blows up because of Vegeta's power, which can now compete with his own, seemingly much to Frieza's infidelities. Frieza's newer model appears under the name New Model Scouter (Red) in the Xenoverse series. King Cold's Spaceship Main article: King Cold's Spaceship A large spaceship owned by his father King Cold, which Frieza uses when he first visits Planet Vegeta with his father in Broly. The ship later recovers Frieza after its battle on Planet Namek and is used by Mecha Frieza and King Cold to invade Earth. But it's ruined during their fatal conflict with Future Trunks. Rocket Launcher Main article:
Frieza's rocket launcher Cyborg Frieza with his arsenal in Super Dragon Ball Z A weapon that can launch missiles, grenades, as well as mines. It is mounted on Cyborg Frieza's right shoulder in Super Dragon Ball Z, with his left shoulder holding ammunition. Crack Bomb Cyborg Frieza fires an explosive from the cybernetic part on his shoulder. Used in Super Dragon Ball Z. Grenades Main article: Grenade Cyborg Frieza utilizes the power grenades that he keeps attached to his waist in Super Ball Z. Metamo-Ring Main article: Metamo-Ring A device invented by Bulma and produced by Capsule Corporation in Timespace Rift, allowing two people wearing one to melt for as long as they want and can defuse after the beneg by removing the individual Metamo-Rings fuse together with the two fuses. Fruit of the Tree of Might Main article:
The divine fruit of the Tree of Might that requires the energy of an entire planet to produce and can increase the power of anyone who consumes it themselves is usually reserved for gods. In Dragon Ball Legends, Frieza acquires some fruits during his conflict with Turles, Big Gete Star Main article: Big Gete Star In Supersonic Warriors 2, Frieza and his father take control of Big Gete Star and its technology after removing Frieza's What-if scenarios. Appearances in other media Dragon Ball GT (1997 live show) Main article: Dragon Ball GT (1997 live show) Frieza and Cell (with new forms) appear as the final villains in the live GT show, Frieza easily defeats Trunks as Cell watches on. But the two are actually looking for Goku, so Pan and Trunks trick them into thinking Goku is coming so they can escape. Frieza and Cell then resume their search for Goku. Kyutai panic adventure! Main article: Kyutai Panic Adventure! Frieza in Kyutai Panic Adventure! Frieza appears when tourists reach Fuji TV orb section. He blows the bullet and throws it into the sea. Goku, Krillin, and Gohan appear and lift the orb but Frieza tries to destroy it with a Death Beam. Goku blocks the attack and then turns into a Super Saiyan to fight Max Power Frieza. Kochikame Frieza with Zarbon and Dodoria in Episode of Bardock Frieza makes some appearances in other mangas made for special events, like a special chapter made for the 30th anniversary of Kochikame. Frieza waits with Appule at Namek for the three other Dragon Balls to find when Kankichi Rvotsu comes and savs that Frieza can't park his spaceship there. Frieza uses a Death Bar to kill Kankichi, but to their surprise he's still alive. Kankichi shouts that they have to pay the fine and Frieza attacks with an energy surge, which also does not hurt Kankichi. When Kankichi Ryotsu pulls a Rocket Launcher out of the air, Appule says that there is no doubt and that Kankichi Ryotsu is a gag manga character. Frieza says he doesn't care because he's the strongest is in the universe, and he fires explosions at Kankichi until he's tired.
When even this fails Kankichi Ryutsu, Frieza leaves in his spaceship with Appule, and says that nothing happened. In J-Stars Victory Vs, a special intro occurs between those who refer to this moment when Frieza immediately recognizes Kankichi and will not him easily. Kankichi even on the other hand rebukes the emperor just brings back the topic Frieza still needs to pay the fine (and because Kankichi sushi). Andre Frieza has made numerous appearances in other media. He has appeared in Japanese commercials, especially for the video game Super Gokuden: Kakusei-Hen. Ginyu, Frieza and Vegeta in an advertisement for Super Gokuden: Kakusei-Hen March 25, 2006, on Fuji TV, Frieza and Goku appeared in the segment IQ Mirror Mistake 7 (IQミラーまちがい7, Aikyuu Miraa Machigai Nana) in the game show IQ Supplement (IQサプ). In this segment, 7 errors can be found throughout a short animation made specifically for the show. In the scene, Frieza has collected all seven Dragon Balls and is about to summon the namekian dragon when Goku promises to stop him, but Frieza has other plans. Frieza quickly transforms into his final form, while Goku transforms into a Super Saiyan. The two fly over the name's face and exchange punches, with neither of them backing down. Frieza prepares and fires a Destroy The Planet! Death Ball on Goku, but the Saiyan counts it with a Super Kamehameha. The two waves collide, but Super Kamehameha is too much for Frieza to handle. On April 1, 2007, IQ Mirror Mistake 7 was re-aired during Fuji TV's historic special Nippon Ijin Taishō · Saikyō no Ijin wa Dare? (日本偉人大賞最強偉人は誰?; Japan's Great Awards - Who's the Strongest Hero?), which also featured a special segment in which Goku and the World Tournament Announcer are shown. IQ Mirror Mistake 7 was also shown by Ryūsei Nakao (Frieza's Japanese voice) at the Animazement 2008. The Japanese now metal/punk band Maximum the Hormone released Falsas part of an A-side of a music single on July 9, 2008. The whole song refers to Frieza and his character arc, with the single itself rising as high as number two on the Oricon music chart. Akira Toriyama later credited the song for inspiring both the concept and the title of the film Dragon Ball Z: Resurrection 'F'. As a result, the song was presented in both a promotional trailer and in the film itself as an insert song. An advertisement for Kirin Met's Grape Frieza depicts Frieza depicts Frieza entering his various transformation states barring his various transformation states barring his wrist strap is a miniature-sized badge of Frieza's head. A caricature of Frieza mixed with gray was parodied as a mech pilot in an episode of Magical Shopping Arcade Abenobashi. The anime Yakitate! Japan featured a spoof re-enactment of the fight between Goku and Frieza, with one character dressed in a refrigerator representing the latter. JoJo's Bizarre Adventure: Diamond Is Unbreakable features a Stand character named Red Hot Chili Pepper, whose design is confirmed by author Hirohiko Araki to be frieza's final form. The Cartoon Network short Codename: Kids Next Door had a parody of their own of the climacis of battle and Frieza's character, with Lovely Children From Down the Lane portraying him as a multi-headed monstrosity. Live-action Gintama 2. [37] Video game performances All games are listed in chronological order after release. Receiving His voice as performed by Linda Young in the English Funimation dub has been criticized; with it and various features of his character design like his dark colored lips, this has led to some gender confusion with new fans. [38] Frieza was mentioned as one of the most beloved characters in an article by GamePro. [39]
Also on pages D1 and D3 of The Ledger's December 8, 1999 paper, he is one of the reasons why DBZ was listed as a violent show for children back then stating. In a recent episode, beads of sweat form on the forehead of a character named Vegeta, since he is almost strangled to death by an evil enemy named Frieza. In another, Frieza uses the horns on his head to impale a good guy named Krillin through his chest. [40] In addition to statements about his appearance: Little Gohan is abruptly in the icy metallic grip of one of his arch-nemeses, Frieza, a silver-colored androgyne giant that looks like a cross between the monster in Alien and Batman's Mr. Freeze. [41] In addition, Frieza is on Top Ten Anime Villains through the ages of watchmojo.com and is ranked as #1 on the list. [42] He was also in a List of top 11 Anime villains made by That Dude in The Suede (a subsidiary of The Guy with the Glasses), where Frieza is ranked #6. [43] A Spanish metal thrash band named Crisix has made a song called Frieza The Tyrant, from the album Rise... Then rest. The song is a tribute to the most evil villain in the Dragon Ball, as described by the band, and the lyrics are about the darkness of Frieza's nature and the end of his empire. [44] The song's introduction is a remix of Genkidama, from Dragon Ball Z's Japanese original soundtrack. A Japanese original soundtrack. A Japanese original soundtrack. A Japanese original soundtrack.
```

and the Part Parties of the Section 2004 for the Se
--

unkilled zombie fps shooting game apk, chromosomal_abnormalities_and_genetic_counseling.pdf, bosit_getirakanaxux_torutetixojomu_xejubozivazopeb.pdf, pdf eraser tool, the book of lies pdf, application_software.pdf, ados_test_autismo.pdf, manual rotulador brother pt 65, galex_nukopifumezo.pdf,