Program director Paul Leone is responsible for the operation and compliance of this medical school. He failed to provide satisfactory evidence for this medical school to be allowed to continue history established in 2010 at St. Lucia.[1] AUSOM operating in Rodney Bay, Gros Islet[2] until August 2017. It is housed in part of St. Lucia's National Center for Neurology and Mental Health, a facility originally built by China to serve as a regional psychiatric centre of the Caribbean regional and completed by Taiwan after the United Workers' Party came to power in the 2006 election; it was the fourth offshore medical school in St. Lucia at the time. [3] His application was approved by St. Lucia's Cabinet in 2010,[4] although in 2014[update], the country has no laws for licensing and regulating medical schools. [5] The college has an offshore office located in Island Park, New York. [6] St. Lucia's medical and Dental Medicine set a deadline for AUSOM to show evidence of accreditation, as a result of the college in August 2017 to St. John's, Antigua and Barbuda [7][8][9][10][11][12] the ECFMG subsequently added a statement under the Sponsor's Note: In 2017, The ECFMG determined that certain staff/officials of the Atlantic University School of Medicine were involved in unregular behaviour relating to the provision of false information and documents to the EC [12] the College ended its last academic semester in December 2017. For each ECFMG, students who have completed MD by the end of 2017, and those who have moved out of AUSOM by the end of 2017 and resume their medical education with another accredited university in 2018, are eligible to apply for usmlc Steps and ECGMG graduation certification upon completion of medical school at another medically recognized school. [citation required]. After the closure, the AUSOM website remained active for some time. Students who have not graduated in MD by December 2017 are forced to move to another medical school to graduate. Students who graduated from MD before December 2017 were not affected. [14] The College programme received both Lucian and foreign students, offering scholarship programmes for qualified Lucian residents. [15] The primary education program at AUSOM is: a two-year premature course of study; a four-year medical curriculum, leading to a Doctor of Medicine degree; and a six-year track that combines premed and medical training. In addition to theoretical and academic training, students are required to complete 48 weeks of clinical clerks. [16] Students participated in community health clinics from the first year of their studies, offering basic health checks, diabetes screening, and basic eye examinations. [2] The Atlantic University School of Medicine accreditation received approval from St. Lucia's Cabinet in 2010. [4] It is not recognized by the Caribbean Accreditation Authority for Education in Medicine and other Health Professions (CAAM-HP). [17] On February 14, 2018, the Antigua Daily Observer printed an article containing claims by AUSOM administrators that the school was now approved CAAM-HP. [18] By December 2017 the school was closed. On February 19, 2018 CAAM-HP responded with a statement in the Disclaimers section of their website leading a False Claims made in the Accreditation of the Atlantic University School of Medicine. [20] The United States AUSOM is listed in the International Medical Education Directory of FAIMER (IMED) and the World Directory of The World Health Organization of the Medical School,[1] but on 1 January 2018[update], only students and graduates of this medical school with the graduation year 2017 and earlier qualify for ECMM Certification United States Medical Licensing Examination.
