Quo vadis bookmark

Post Comment Speaking of bookmarks, here is a new product that might be of interest to people who like flexible closure on their covers: uh, flexible bookmark. Bascially, the idea is that you slip a bookmark into your planner or notebook, then wrap elastic around the front and back covers to keep them closed. Brown and tan paint closure is designed to complement a variety of cover colors, but the ruler gives you a convenient way, you know, to measure (it is marked in centimeters and inches). At 5 inches long, it's a bit big for my Sapa X planner, but it fits right into my large and average Clairefontaine notebooks, and will be a great way to make sure that they stay closed when I toss them in my bag. I think there's no reason you can't use it in normal books as well. On the other hand, if you're curious, features a little globe graphics: the flexible bookmark retails for $1.50 and is available now, so ask your favorite retailer if you're interested. Magazines Shop NowExacompta magazines are good for everyday book writing down your thoughts and experiences. Each magazine is sewn and tied, which makes them both flexible and powerful. Sewn paper signatures ensure that the leaves do not become loose and fall out with us. Each notebook can be used with a simple tan hardboard cover; or as a refill with leather or leatherette cover.
