It was released through Republican records on August 25, 2014. The song was added to Grande's honeymoon tour in 2015, five years later, and the song was included in the series for Grande's Sweetener World Tour, which began on March 18, 2019. [1] Mo Money Mo Problems by The Notorious B.I.G. and 1980 hits I'm Coming Out by Diana Ross[2] Grande shared two examples of this song. [5] This song is about a man who cheats on Grande and another man. Grande then cleared up those rumours grande was performing this song on The Today show on August 29, 2014, alongside Childish Gambino. Edit source] [Article 1: Ariana Grande] I should see it coming, I should see the signs, but I want to believe you trust you, you say you are not lying, but baby, you are so good, you let me blind, you say he is your best friend, I guess I'm not your type, hey. And if it goes around it comes down, I know you're angry because I find you feel what I feel now [Chorus] now it's over, I just want to break your heart back right, want you to cry me, the river, I want to break your heart back, yes, all the time I'm blind, run 'around, tell everyone my love, who loves my son. My son who loved me [verse 2], you said I was your best person, it was your last time, now he's gone, you alone don't want you back, you're telling me you're sorry, well, I'm sorry. Because I've already done that, don't do this again, there's no [Pre-Chorus] going on around and if it goes up it comes down, I know you're crazy because I find that you want you to feel what I feel now [Chorus] now it's over, I just want to break your heart back right, want you to cry me, river, I want to break your heart back, yes. All the time I'm blind, running 'around, telling everyone, my son loves me, my son, my son, my son loves me [verse 3: Childish Gambino], listen, you have a guy, but your people are not loyal, don't understand how to spell it out for ya yes I'm G from A and they ask why sorry, tell you I'm a dean. I'm sick of too much money, I stepped on stage and the girls moved too much, the gross flow, my school lunch, my nickname and he with them, and you know it's true because, okay, G-A-M-B-I-N-O, I know they hate it, but I don't know why, uh, I know how he did, you were beaten. [Chorus: Ariana Grande & Childish Gambino] now it's over (now it's over!) I just want to betray your heart right back (I just want to break your heart right back). I want you to cry me river, I just want to break your heart right back (broken your heart right back), yes, all the time I'm blind (all the time I'm blind) running 'around, tell everyone (tell everyone). My son loves me (but does he really tho?) my son loves me (but does my son really love me.) my son loves me (but he really loves me?), my son loves me (but he really tho?) my son loves me [Outro], Ooh, yes, run 'around town, tell everyone ooh yes run' around town, tell everyone. 'Oh, everybody' to run around me,' tell everyone, he's coming out, i'm coming out, i'm going out, i'm [Outro] Ooh, yes, run 'around town, ooh, yes, run' around town, tell everyone, ooh, yes, run 'around town, tell everyone, ooh, yes.'

Ariana Grande fans, by any means, but I've been caught on song thanks to Gambino's children's show with her today's show and find herself really wanting to know the lyrics because the chick knows how to mutter her melodies. After reading the lyrics and giving the show a rewatch, it felt like something was happening beyond the corner. You cheated on me, and now I want you back. In fact, Ariana went out of her way to explain that she thought her last ex cheated on her with men, which inspired her. She* Here's a direct reference in a few lines: You say it's your best friend, I guess I'm not your type, I know you're angry because I discovered, and of course, sampling the famous Diana Ross. On the hook, if we look at the bible verses of CG, there is one really catchy line that sounds like it has double meaning: yes, I am a G from A and they ask YSorry to tell you that I am a good person, I have been playing him in the words there. I'm g (gangster) and from A (from Atlanta) and Y is why, but at the same time he's spelling the word GAY Review, one I read took this to mean that CG is playing a part of a rogue boyfriend in the song, but I disagree because he has these lines: Listen, you have a guy, but you're not loyal, know how he's doing as a hit, but I know you can get a friend right back to him at her address after breaking up and they hook up to get back to her ex. That's pretty standard fodder for a love/revenge song, but the strange thing here is that there's a subtext of karma, especially with these two lines Ariana has in the bridge:Things go around and if it goes up it comes down to him there to help her come back to her past, and also earlier in the lyrics saying he's gay (or even bi from bi in his own name) This is a stretch I'll admit), so she made the same mistake over and over again from the revenge she was trying to inflict. If we look at Ariana's lyrics, we see that there's not much room for analysis because she's still repeating the same thing: she's blind to the city, telling everyone that her son loves her over and over again, but that's the point, because her desire for revenge is stuck in a band of sleeping with gay men and getting her heart broken repeatedly. Although they were clearly spelled out for her that they were GAY*, written by a team of songwriters who did not include her.
