If we feel at any time that the animal will not be in a safe house, or the right home for any reason, we reserve the right to refuse to sell the puppy until the time the contract is signed by both parties. This happens very rarely however, this is for the safety of puppies. In this case all deposit funds will be refunded. If the buyer only decides that she no longer wants a puppy any deposit will not be refunded to the buyer. Also known as the Morkshire dog, Murky is his social sweetheart. This pooch designer is known for fluffiness and her large personality with matching power engine. Find out more about our Murky puppies for sale below!

The Murky history breed is the hybridization of Yorkshire terriers and Maltese dog breeds. Yorkshire and Maltese combine to form a combination of intelligence and elegance. The nearest Murky was raised in 1990 by Americans to create a low-shed and sociable companion. Demand for this fashionable dog has risen since then. Its soft coats come in black, brown, apricot or white colors. His temperament may look like teddy bears but are not deceived. Morkies are small but selfish dogs. They are oblivious to their size and will try to control other small animals and pets. Morkies are also attention seekers. With early socialization, they will learn to tolerate other dogs and cats but still prefer to be a dog or just a pet in the family. They love physical activity and games involving close contact. They cannot afford to be alone, they can become extremely destructive and they will bark excessively. They form strong contacts with their owners. It is also closely linked to one person in multi-person households, and prefers small families to somewhat larger families. Stubbornness goes away with early training, so be sure to start introducing them to commands on time. The environment as long as they are indoors with their owners, Morkies stay happy. They fit apartments and families that spend a lot of time at home with their children. They quickly adapt to adjustments in their environment, and they love to have a hug. They are excellent lap when they are trained as puppies. They have a high prey motor that can be attributed to their Yorkshire blood. It is recommended to keep them on the steering wheel outdoors, so as not to get caught chasing prey. It is not recommended if you are looking to take it straight or for a swim. Exercise due to high energy engine, they need at least thirty-five minutes of exercise daily. Spice things up with short walks, live play sessions, and games. Their size matches the requirement to exercise so very powerful exercises can actually hurt them. Like all dogs, they require patience from their owners during training. Once they are fourteen weeks old, start mixing with new environments and other pets. That's softening. Training process. Keep them away from the big pets that can hurt them. Focus on basic commands and potty training before you introduce tricks. They appreciate the rewards for being obedient. Mentally exciting activities help Morkies bond with their owners. Since they're eager to pay so much attention, it's a great way for you to make them behave well inside. Do not use a collar while walking them to prevent throttle or collapse of the trachea. Use the harness instead. Grooming Morkies barely shed. To prevent knots and matting, hair require daily brushing. The color of their coat will change as they grow. It is necessary to start priming them early, so that they get used to holding. Due to their small and fragile nature, they require gentle grooming. Binary week nail decorations, haircuts, and daily dental care are essential. Small dog breeds are more susceptible to oral infection. Use the recommended finger brush and dog toothpick. Bathe your murky regularly to keep their coats free of dirt. Check their ears and clean them as recommended by the veterinarian. Their eyes should be cleaned regularly to prevent infection. Public grooming should be done at least once a month. Morkie grooming requires patience and precision because they are fragile creatures. If you can't handle them carefully our Morkie puppies for sale come from any of the commercial breeders licensed by the Department of Agriculture or hobby breeders with no more than 5 breeding mothers. There is a base of thumb for the Yorkie's weight at 6 weeks, and the weight is estimated for Yorkies at 8 weeks, 10 weeks and 12 weeks of age: the puppies' weight is three times their weight at 6 weeks and add one pound. In eight weeks the Yorkie puppy will weigh three times the weight at that specified time. The weight of a Yorkie at 10 weeks is twice that weight plus 1/2 pound. In twelve weeks you can estimate what your Yorkie puppy will weigh by doubling its weight to see how much a Yorkie puppy will weigh when Yorkie implants.
