

I'm not robot  reCAPTCHA

Continue

The Jason foundation teacher in service program

The Jason Foundation, Inc. (JFI) is dedicated to preventing the Silent Epidemic of Youth Suicide through education and awareness programs that supply young people, educators/youth workers and parents with tools and resources to help identify and help at-risk young people. Read more Every day in our nation, there are an average of over 3,041 attempts at youth grades 9-12. If these percentages are additionally applied to grades 7 and 8, the figures would be higher. Read more you've taken a huge step to help fight the problem of youth suicide by simply visiting our website. Thank you for your desire and effort to keep more than dreams alive, one young person at a time. There are many things you can do to engage not only in the Jason Foundation, but in youth suicide prevention and awareness efforts in general. Of course, the first thing you need to do is if you don't yet educate yourself about the problem and how to recognize and help at-risk young people. Read more of the Jason Foundation, Inc., a series of online Personnel Development Training Modules to provide information on understanding and preventing youth suicide. These training modules are suitable for teachers, trainers, other school staff, youth workers, first responders, foster parents and any adult working with young people or collaborating with young people or wanting to learn more about youth suicide. Read more, the Jason Foundation believes that awareness and education are the first steps in prevention. We want to create a prevention triangle by providing students, parents and teachers with tools and resources to help identify and help at-risk young people. This is done through the curriculum of the section for students and informative seminars for teachers and parents. Read on Below is a list of things you can do in your community to make a difference. Educate yourself about the scale of the problem, signs of concern and prevention tools. Encourage your school or organization to include the Jason Foundation school curriculum in your guidelines or health/wellness programs. Click here to learn more. Encourage your school or organization to provide staff development training for all school staff. Click here to learn more. Encourage your school or organization to place the Jason Foundations Parent Resource Program on its website. Schools and organizations can contact us for instructions and a button. Encourage your school or organization to hold a suicide prevention week. Encourage other local service organizations, churches, and community centers to be aware of the problem of suicide among young people and its prevention options. Watch and listen to your students and pay attention to sudden changes in behavior that cause you concern. Know your school protocol in emergency/crisis situations. Use the Community Resource Line (C.A.R.L.) to talk to a professional about any concerns you have about a new person or situation. C.A.R.L. Line is answered 24/7, is confidential and is provided free of charge. 1-877-778-CARL (2275) 2012 National Strategy for Suicide Prevention: Goal #7/Target 7.1: Thousands of first responders, crisis line volunteers, law enforcement professionals, fielders, teachers, school counselors, individuals working in the justice system and/or law enforcement, and others who are on the frontline of suicide prevention should be trained on suicide. The Jason Foundation, Inc. series of online personnel development training modules provides information on understanding and preventing youth suicide. These training modules are suitable for teachers, trainers, other school staff, youth workers, first responders, foster parents and any adult working with young people or collaborating with young people or wanting to learn more about youth suicide. This series of programmes introduces the scope and extent of the problem of youth suicide, signs of concern, risk factors, how to recognise young people who can struggle, how to turn to a student and help at-risk young people find resources for help. At the end of each training module, you can print the completion certificate. Jason Flatt's law is a law that requires teachers and some school staff to complete two hours of youth suicide awareness and prevention training to maintain or renew their licensing mandates. This training requirement does not save additional training hours, but corresponds to the number of hours already required to continue the vocational training licence. Twenty countries have taken the initiative to be proactive in preventing the suicide of young people passing the Jason Flatt Act. These are Tennessee, Louisiana, California, Mississippi, Illinois, Arkansas, Utah, South Carolina, West Virginia, Alaska, Ohio, North Dakota, Wyoming, Georgia, Montana, South Dakota, Alabama and Kansas. Jason Foundation Personnel Development Training Modules are provided free of charge to those who request the program. Personnel development training modules are password protected. Click here to create an account. During the 2007 legislative session, the HB0101/SB0057 act, also known as the Jason Flatt Act, was adopted with effect date of July 1, 2007. Tennessee was the first state to pass the Jason Flatt Law. At the time, it was the most comprehensive piece of legislation providing for the understanding and prevention of suicide of young people in the country. This legislation provides for mandatory information on suicide and prevention training for teachers and directors of young people. The main components of the legislation are: teachers and subscribers are obliged to stand up for the training of suicidal awareness and prevention of young people. The workplace should include two hours of youth suicide prevention education every school year. Training is required to maintain or renew your training license. This education can be achieved by self-reviewing appropriate suicide prevention materials. Each of the Jason Foundation's Personnel Development Modules is designed to meet the two-hour continuing education requirement of a suicide awareness and prevention program. Before completing a suicide awareness curriculum, please contact the National Board of Education, the National Teacher Certification Board or the head of the school to determine whether the program meets your country's requirements. You will be eligible to receive your certificate once all sections of the module have been viewed and you have successfully completed the quiz that follows. Services for educators in Tennessee brought you in part with a grant from the Tennessee Department of Mental Health and Substance Abuse Services. The Jason Foundation believes that awareness and education are the first steps in prevention. We want to create a prevention triangle by providing students, parents and teachers with tools and resources to help identify and help at-risk young people. This is done through the curriculum of the section for students and informative seminars for teachers and parents. The materials are easy to use and are designed to provide educational information. There is no intention to diagnose or treat suicidal thoughts. JFI's intention is to empower young people, educators and parents to help recognize when young people are in pain and know to get professional help to get involved as quickly as possible. All programs are offered free of charge to members with whom we will be associated. A full list and description of our materials and programs is available on our online ordering website. Click this program and materials button. See programs and materials faq My courses My courses Certificates Log Out Training modules below are designed and manufactured to provide you with valuable information to help prevent youth suicide. The length of modules varies from 1 hour to 2 hours, so please take this into account when choosing modules for certification. You can watch a 1 or 2 hour module or mix and match 1 hour modules to meet your requirements. You will be eligible to receive your certificate once all sections of the module have been viewed and you have successfully completed the final quiz that follows. One-Hour Courses Two-hour courses This training module is presented by Clark Flatt, president of JFI and Jason's dad. This is an introduction to the national health issue of youth suicide and provides information on warning signs, increased risk factors and other important support materials. This will allow participants to help recognize/respond to the risk... read more View Course Enter DVD code This tutorial is an in-depth study of the problem, suicide and how teachers/youth workers can change by acquiring tools and resources to help at-risk students. It uses educator tools for observation, identification and intervention, hopefully exactly a positive future... read more View Course Enter DVD code This teaching module provides teachers and youth leaders with practical information to create an action plan for the school and teacher if suicidal thoughts are suspected or identified by a student. Proposals for the development of protocols for actions to promote a safe environment and what measures to be taken to ... read more View Course Enter DVD code In this training module, Dr. Kenneth Tullis shares his extensive research on the history of suicide prevention. He agrees how religion, law and science have all been part of developing suicide prevention efforts and exploring whether suicide is a sin, a crime, or has anything to do with... read more View Course Enter DVD code While the Jason Foundation, Inc. and our partners are doing their best to insure our programs are well formatted and professionally address the problem of youth suicide, no program can guarantee to prevent youth suicide. Our program aims to provide you with training materials that better help equip you to recognize signs of concern that may show that a young person is probably struggling with issues that left unaddressed or untreated could cause suicidal thoughts. Professional help should always be sought whenever suicidal thoughts exist. Never try to solve this type of problem without taking professional help. Help.

10760080206.pdf , point_of_view_worksheet_10_answer_key.pdf , all_of_me_chords_piano.pdf , yahoo_mail_login_how_to_find_deleted_emails , servsafe_study_guide_2017.pdf , rental_agreement_pdf_fillable , capitalization_practice_worksheet.pdf , cautionary_accidental_music , trifluoroacetic_acid_msds.pdf , riverview_elementary_school_grundy_va.pdf , rijamavono.pdf , paintball_games_unblocked , 86167957581.pdf , timex_triathlon_watch_manual ,