Unlimited water fun on Johnson Lake, Nebraska If you're planning the ultimate getaway to the lake, consider renting a house on Johnson Lake Lake in Nebraska. No matter what water sport you prefer, or whether you want to try them all out, the 2,068 acres of water and generous sailing policies on this lake give you the freedom to play your own way. Water sports Galore Your exploration of the lake holiday probably revealed that not all lakes are created equal. Many lakes favor either vessels or swimmers, but not both. Some do not allow the use of motorized ships. That's not the case at Lake Johnson. This reservoir provides all kinds of boats and vessels, including fishing boats, sailboats, rowing boats, speedboats, kayaks, canoes, inner tubes, water skis, wakeboards, jet skis and anything else you want to sail, float, paddle or ride across the lake. On the 40 km coast there is a swimming beach, public boat ramps and three marinas, and many properties for renting houses on the lake have private docks. Two water fuel locations are available for motorized aircraft so your engine can run all day. Basically, if you can dream it, you can do it at Lake Johnson. Fishing is popular here. You can catch canal catfish, crappie, flathead catfish, largemouth bass, northern pike, perch, striped bass, walleye, white bass, and wipers, but the lake is known throughout the region for white bass and walleye fishing. And access to the lake has improved in recent years, cultivating a large environment for quality fishing. For example, fish cleaning stations are available in two lakeside locations, and there are two handicap-friendly fishing piers. Bathrooms and drinking fountains round out the lake's amenities, giving you the freedom to spend all day. Area Adventures The area around your Johnson Lake lake home has more work to do than water activities. There are a lot of wild animals around the lake, and hunting is allowed. The Hiking and Cycling Trail at Johnson Lake is a 10-mile loop of paved, off-road trails circling the lake. The trail has gazebos and rest areas for a break from hiking or picnicking, and the beautiful views of the lake along the trail provide another way to enjoy the lake without being on the water. Shopping and entertainment options aren't far behind. There is an 18-hole golf course nearby, and several shops and restaurants around Johnson Lake provide all the supplies. For example, Captain's Quarters is a one-stop shop that has everything visitors need, including snacks, ice, life jacket rental, boat rental, personal boat rental, boat repair, fuel and parking permits. They also provide access to the lake through boat ramps and public docks. Marina Bar and Grille is a full-service restaurant with frequent live entertainment that also sells parking permits and has boat ramps/slips for public use. If you rent a house on Lake Johnson during Independence Day, look for a treat. July 4 is a real lake event, with boat parades where you can decorate your own boat and compete for prizes or simply enjoy the spectacle. There is also an annual fireworks display that attracts people from surrounding cities. Fireworks over the lake is the ultimate way to celebrate American independence, as waves of the lake's surface reassess light to multiply the effect of an astonishing light show. Rent a house on Lake Johnson Lake for your next trip and get the freedom to do the lake your way. I'm sure you'll have your best lake experience yet.
