Next FAQ How to protect yourself from the cold? Prev FAQ How to improve endurance/health? One of the weapons you will use in Zelda's legend: Breath of the Wild is the bow. Using it requires arrows. They are quite expensive to buy, so replenishing your ammo with various dealers can be frustrating. This section describes how to avoid this and gain indexes during scouting. There is a trick to purchase a lot of arrows in a short time. Set the camera so that it is inalienable and collect the arrows of opponents. First, you need to find a large open space with riding enemies. This type of opponents shoots arrows in the direction of link. Get close to the enemies so they notice you and immediately point the camera down, so see the hero from above. This will lead to the fact that opponents will always be missed, and you can quickly pick up the arrows from the ground. It is worth adding that this type of bokoblin has an unlimited number of shots, so you can quickly get a lot of arrows. But do not forget to stand still and not move so that the enemies do not beat you. Another solution is to clean up bokoblin camps, except for shooters on the towers. Move the radius of your offensive zone, avoid the arrows and collect them later. In this case, however, you can get a limited number of arrows - each opponent has about 5-10 arrows at his disposal.
