You can easily intercept DNS restrictions by bypassing your own DNS servers on your device. Most ISPs use a wider domain and IP keys. Domain comprehensive restrictions and IP addresses: Websites can be accessed through certain domain names (such as best-bittorrent-vpn.com) and hosted under certain IP addresses. The ISP lists the blocked website and prevents you from accessing it with a domain name or IP address. The best way to avoid this block is to use a virtual private network (VPN). However, some ISPs also (or alternatively) block the BitTorrent protocol 3 free methods for unblocking torrent websites: Tor Browser or Web Proxy (free) – This method is effective for unblocking torrent websites (assuming proxy websites are not blocked by your ISP). Disadvantages include: slow connections, frequent captchas, no download encryption. Manual DNS configuration - This is the most effective solution and only works for a small percentage of isp blocks (lazy). It doesn't encrypt your browsing traffic or torrent traffic. Method 1: Use a web proxy There are several free (encrypted) web proxies that will load the website for you. This sometimes helps avoid network blocks (as long as the proxy site isn't blocked as well). Unfortunately, many of these sites (such kproxy.com) block torrent sites themselves. Another problem is that proxy sites can still use your ISP DNS server (causing you to be exposed to DNS-based restrictions). So the best option is to use a unclue torrent proxy site: there are a few of these sites. Mostly versatile and allows you to unblock some commonly blocked categories like YouTube, social media, and torrent websites. Method 2: use tor browser Tor Browser Bundle is a free web browser that allows you to easily route your browser traffic through various encrypted proxies. This not only responds to the ISP ban on torrent sites, but also hides your IP address from the websites you visit. PROS: It is free It is quite easy to configure a functional and intuitive browser (based on the Firefox platform). CONS: Speed usually hurts slow you will get tired of completing captchas on torrent site Using Tor browsers is very easy, and your traffic is automatically routed via an encrypted Tor network. All you need to do is enter your preferred torrent site URL in the browser bar (you may need to capture captcha on some websites that treat Tor traffic as suspicious). Method 3: Change DNS servers often, the only restrictions implemented by the ISP are only at DNS level. DNS, or Domain Name System, which translates IP addresses into website names, is widely used to restrict access to torrent sites. Because, by default, users use DNS servers regulated by the ISP. Therefore, making it public DNS can solve difficult torrent site access problems. The following public DNS server is then used: Google DNS: 8.8.8.8 | 8.8.4.4 OpenDNS: 208.67.222.222 | 208.67.220.220 DNS Comodo: 8.26.56.26 | 8.20.247.20 We may switch DNS servers through network settings and soon we will be able to access all websites blocked by all ISPs. To change the DNS server: In Windows: Insert a network device right-click> Click Properties> IPv4 Properties. Then switch DNS servers and click OK. For Mac OS: go to System Priority > Series > Advanced > DNS, add a new DNS server, and click OK. On Linux: Click Series Edit Connections > Edit > Configuration for IPv4> Automatic Address Only (DHCP)> DNS Server and add each new address separated by commas.
