In real life, if you want, but it can be expensive and cold and give you bruises if you fall or fall under another hockey player. NHL SuperCard 2K18 is a much safer and easier way to try for hockey glory. Like other 2K SuperCard mobile games, the goal of NHL SuperCard 2K18 is to create the best team of real NHL players from a variety of maps. All NHL teams are well represented in the game (yes, even the brand of spanking the new Vegas Golden Knights), so you can assemble a real dream team of talent from across the league. And your team isn't just for looking at and admiring its awesomeness as you take it to virtual ice in multiple game modes, all of which can earn you more cards in order to make your team even better. To help you on your way, we've put together these NHL SuperCard 2K18 tips, codes and strategies to get you skating circles around your opponents. Again, in the game, not in real life. SuperCard Basics: Stats don't lie player cards at the heart of the game all rated in four four stats that come into play in each game mode. These statistics are: FOC: Focus PM: Playmaking SH: Stickhandling SKT: Ice Skating as Face Off and Fast Game Mode use these stats in direct comparison to players on other teams. Each game/match involves you being asked to choose one or two of your players and matching one or two specific stats in relation to opposing players - not always the same as your cards' stickhandling can be against your opposing players skating, for example. If your stats are higher than your opponent's, you will win this period. Winning two or three periods will defeat you that game, while losing two or three earns you L. Ties are also possible and resolved in overtime periods. Support cards can be used once in the game to give a temporary increase in statistics, and players also have special skills that will activate a certain percentage of the time, but overall, your stats are what they are, and much of the gameplay in NHL SuperCard 2K18 just requires you to pick the right players at the right time. Bonus Tip: Position matters. While you can play any player in any position (except goalkeepers), they get a stats boost if they play their natural position. If you have a super powerful card that can help you win while playing elsewhere, try your best to keep everyone in the lineup in their preferred positions. Know your NHL Super Card modes has, at least for starters, three different modes of play. Two of them will be familiar to you if you have played in any of the previous SuperCard 2K games, particularly a fast game that simply allows you to play an instant game against your selection of one of several players owned but AI-controlled teams. This is useful mainly for chopping extra cards, and the good thing is that there are no restrictions on how often you play. Season Play is an extended simulation featuring 29 other players competing against you for the Stanley Cup. You don't make decisions for games in this mode; rather, they are modeled based on a set of ruler that requires three cards at each position and three support cards - if you don't have at least 21 cards, you can't play in this mode. The key to success in Season Play is to use the energy cards earned from other modes to restore the energy of your players at regular intervals to keep their stats as high as possible, which you can do by simply clicking the Manage the season button and dragging the energy card on the player. Rewards in this mode will be given at the end of the season based on your final finishing position. If you like new things and you should, the most interesting mode will be Off, which is SuperCard's answer to live PvP as you play a standard three-to-one game against a human opponent. The gameplay is just like a fast game, except that you have a timer for each solution to save the game. game There's also a limit to the number of games you can play in Face Off mode at any given time: a maximum of three, although your available games recharge quickly in just a few minutes. Playing the Board: All About Post-Game Rewards in both Fast Game and Face Off modes, you'll get the chance to choose cards from a selection of 25 face-down cards. In fast mode, you get one choice for loss, two for winning and three if you shut down the opposing team. Most of the cards on the draft choose to board players of various rarities. You will find mostly common and unusual players, as well as support cards and energy cards. However, there is always one card of rare or greater rarity, and find it immediately resets the board, even if you still have the choices remaining. You can determine the maximum rarity of cards on your board at any given time by looking directly under the cards. This is based on the overall strength of your current line-up, so the better your team is, the better the best card on the board. After all, you can work your way so even Epic or Legendary cards are possible rewards. Finally, Face Off has its own twists. Not only do you get three picks to win, but there are also light bulb spinners hidden among the cards. Finding Spinner gives you a spin to win one of eight different prizes, including some that you have a much better chance of landing there than anywhere else. Better Spinners can earn by moving up Face Off leaders or finding map updates on this mode in draft advice. Bonus Tip: On the board screen, you'll sometimes be able to earn four more picks by watching a short video. Just tap the icon in the bottom right corner of the screen, and in about 30 seconds you'll be able to select four more cards. Since it's more than you'd earn any other way, it goes, of course, that you should take advantage of this offer as often as its available. Yes, ads can be annoying, but winning here is worth it. All ways to make your cards better Although generally higher rarity cards are better than those of the lower levels in the NHL Super Card 2K18, you can also take matters into your own hands and make the cards you have better. It starts with using the Train feature you can find by clicking on any card in any line of screen. Training cards require you to donate cards that you don't need to do the one you want to improve better, to its maximum level. The better the card you donate, the greater the learning effect. New to this version of the game is the ability to fast train directly from the board screen. Instead of taking the card you choose for inventory, you can press the button at the bottom of the screen to use it as training fuel immediately. This speeds up the process and keeps your inventory from getting cluttered with lower cards You can change the target for a quick quick Simply clicking on the portrait of the card you will also find at the bottom of the draft board. Another option to improve the card is to improve the card with special Enhancement cards you will find as a reward. Any player of rare or higher rarity has one or more Improvement slots specified in small circles at the top of their card. Just click the Improvement button and then choose a raise slot to boost one or more players stats. Finally, if you have two copies of the same player card, they can be combined to form a pro version of that card. You'll find this option when applicable by clicking on my cards button in the main menu and then the Combine button under a particular card - it will only light up when you have two of that card. Pro cards have higher maximum stats and can be trained to higher levels than their regular counterparts, but you should remember that a nether copy can be in your fast game or season lineup for combining goals. Bonus Tip: For the best effect, you'll want to wait until both cards you want to combine the maximum level. This will make a better version of the Pro Card, which is usually even more powerful than the card's next rarity up. For example, the maximum-level Pro Rare card has a higher stat potential than the Super Rare card, so always look for ways to fully align the two copies and then combine them. You'll be glad you did it. Do you think we missed or glossed over the rookie level for NHL SuperCard 2K18 do you think we missed or glossed over? Be sure to let us know in the comments below. Below.
