The difference between suspicion and reality, I expected Mr. Gatsby to be a florid and corporal person in his middle age. The Great Gatsby, Chapter Three The truth was that Jay Gatsby, of West Egg, Long Island, stemmed from his Platonic conception of himself. He was a son of God — a phrase that, if it means anything, means exactly that — and He must go about His Father's business, the service of a great, vulgar and exposed beauty. So he just invented the kind of Jay Gatsby that a seventeen-year-old boy would probably find out, and until this conception he was true at the end.
