Game Pricing (Play for free or order additional benefits.) Horse Isle can be played completely for FREE. There are benefits of ordering ($5/month or $40/year) described below. The main purpose of these advantages is to limit the game's transfer of money to a non-subscriber subscriber. This prevents cheating and makes it fairer for honest players. Joining Benefits: Player player trading: Trade money, items, horses, pets and even rent a horse to another player. Send money / items to the game mail: If the player is offline, you can still give them something! Horse auctions: Sell or buy horses with all the other subscribers. Participate in all arena levels: Non-subscribers can only enter the lowest level. Ranch island property: If you can afford it, you can buy your own island! Additional content: Your subscription fee is what makes Horse Isle possible by supporting many artists, servers and support needed. For those who can't afford to subscribe, the game is still fully playable, just not so easily or maybe not quite as much fun. However, many players sell subscription signs within the game, so it's possible to earn a subscription, even if you can't spend real money. Parental Info (We take the safety, well-being and education of children seriously.) Content of the game: Horse Isle is designed from the ground up to be an enjoyable, safe and educational experience. Players of all ages enjoy horse sing. The entire content of the game is completely nonviolated. There is no horse breeding or related terminology. Horses never die in The Horse. Education benefits: (Almost all of this is happening without the child's understanding!) puzzles: many mini-games require memory, logic, planning, and problem solving. Reading: Visitors to the game of characters require a lot of reading, understanding and even decision-making. Spelling: Our chat filter requires that every word a player speaks is found in our clean dictionary. This is a continuous spelling exercise because the child cannot communicate successfully if they do not correctly spell. Finance: Many expensive items in the world require saving a lot of game money. The banking system includes interest and a simple stock market system. Policy: The club system requires players to work together to succeed in a hierarchical system. Social: Multiplayer minigames and chat allows players to interact with other real people around the world. Horses: A lot of accurate horse information, artistic and breed history. Brain bullies: Many puzzles and other brain teasing stretch the mind a little bit. Education games: A wide range of topics in history, physics, programming, mathematics, etc. are directly used in some games. Child Protection: Rules: We have detailed rules designed to keep the game safe and clean. They are strictly enforced, requiring all players to adhere to them or risk losing their accounts. Chat filtering: there is a conversation, but it's limited to saying words from our pure dictionary. Moderators: Even in a clean dictionary, trouble-makers could still discuss topics that violate our rules. In such cases we have moderators to enforce the rules. Abuse system: If someone is blatantly violating the rules, each player can notify them using our Abuse Report system. All of these reports are follow-up to a living person to check their accuracy and then take appropriate action. Content rated G: Our goal of the entire game content we produce is rated G. No violence, vulgar language, etc. No Advertising: We have chosen pay-to-play instead of an ad supported model, so your child is not included in the ad's dubious origin. The requirement to meet Hera, one of the Esrohs on HI2, is to answer all the mystery post questions in the game. When we first started playing HI2, we were all answering three questions in every mystery post we found. It was great - our total answering mystery post questions climbed quickly. Problem: we were unable to track which mystery posts we had already hit. Even without a trace, we finally answered 192/195 mystery post questions. It left only one riddle post there that we had somehow missed. But which one? This question has haunted us for years. Every time we happened to post a mystery post on our travels, we'd click on it just to make sure it wasn't what we had missed. Recently we finally got serious about the issue and began systematically visiting all islands with complex mystery posts to cross them from the list one by one. First, we went through all the Plains. Happiness. Second, we went through the snowy islands. Again, no luck. Next up is desert islands. The last desert island we studied, or rather, Lily and Odette were exploring, was the Dry Isle itself. Aha! I finally found it! When I heard Lily's victory cry across the room, my first thoughts were that she won the lottery or hit a high-soot palomino Hanover or something. XD I'm so happy Lily decided to try the desert islands early to look, but don't ask me how we overlooked the Dry Isle all this time! All 195 puzzles answered, we eagerly headed to flurry isle to meet hera. Julie and Sardonyx had the honor of embarking on the journey. When Pepsi asked to learn his wisdom, he replied: So, Pepsi and Sardonyx turned around and headed straight back to the desert to complete the first work. Having met Dionys a long time ago, Pepsi had no trouble getting under the sink of the Golden Isle to deliver a letter from the hers. They then returned to Hera to do his second job. Question: We took one look at it and immediately opened a new card for Esroh Legends with some help. The helpsite came through as usual. The answer, if you care, is A = 9 B = 8. We all took turns taking the reins to collect the necessary ingredients for cornucopias from foreign islands. This adventure kayak definitely is comfortable! Thanks to Esroh Legends, we also knew that we needed to craft 2 Esroh materials to work #4. As long as we were collecting the ingredients, we thought we were preparing for it. So, we traveled to the Sois Islands to collect one rare ingredient, some unfortunate unusual bugs in the jug plants. (Talk about going to the pan fire!) After that came the journey to the Leaf Islands to collect another rare ingredient, colorful dust. When we finally had cornucopias and Esroh materials crafted, we returned again to Hera. From there we made the journey through the Shipwreck Isle and found lorddoubloon, who line players out of the Center Isle for a hefty fee of 20 doubloons. For the first time, Pepsi visited the Center Isle! I checked the pepsi and decided to go to the northeast entrance first. Center Isle is not as impressive as you might expect. Only three complex but not very large tunnel systems and hardwood terrain. To get to the middle, we had to find and pull the lever in each of the three tunnel systems. For some reason, Usko and I had a terrible time finding a lever for the first tunnel system. Then later, when we tried to search again, we found it easily. Go figure it out. Lever 1 After that we had to spend another 20 doubloons on each LordDoubloon to bring us to the other two tunnel systems. Julie and Yellowstone found the levers in them without any major difficulty. Showing off. XD Lever 2 Lever 3 Finally we reached the gazebo landscape center! Pepsi couldn't see Zeus yet, probably like him. All the other Esroh miracles that finish first, but he couldn't meet his guardian and see his sinkhole. Pepsi told the squirrel that Hera sent us to pick up his gift. We passed him from Esrohi's material so Zeus could polish it, and then... So it was the crown! Too bad we didn't look at it. Pepsi made the trip back to Hera, who was thrilled with his gift. The reward for all this was to increase the durability of the competitive momentum. Since we don't compete much, it's not a big deal for us. Still, it doesn't hurt, and we're one Esroh closer to meeting Zeus! Flurry helped us celebrate later by giving Pepsi a meteor. We also fluted pretty gray Norwegian Coldblooded Trotter there. :) Edit, November 6: Hello everyone! For those who ask for HI3 guides; The EU team is not uploading any, unfortunately. Neither of us play HI3 actively (I've been to twice ... In the last three months... I wish I had more hours a day) and we don't have time to keep the site updated. There is at least one HI3 help site that seems to be in the work in progress, and I'm sure others will appear as the game evolves. If you want to use EU forums to discuss HI3, feel free to just show what kind of game you are talking about!
