Jojo episode 12

Thank you for visiting my fundraising page. This March I am walking 10,000 steps a day throughout the month to help beat cancer earlier. Help me walk through all the cancer and fund life saving research by sponsoring me. Television personality JoJo Fletcher | Source: David Becker/Getty Images There are many reality shows that are hated, but The Bachelorette might be one of the most beloved. Every season a woman who didn't find love on The Bachelor gets her own shot at finding love on national television. Last season it was JoJo Fletcher's turn. She had her heart broken by Ben Higgins who told her he loved her only to finally propose to someone else. And what else should you know about this girl from Texas? Here are seven interesting facts. 1. She knew about Jordan Rodgers before the JoJo show on The Bachelorette | Source: ABC Aside from JoJo, the big star this season has been Jordan Rodgers, who used to be a quarterback for the Jacksonville Jaguars. Jordan is also the brother of Aaron Rodgers, who thus happens to be a big NFL star. Although contestants are usually kept under wraps before the show started, jojo somehow found out about it. A week before this all started I think his name leaked, and it was kind of all over the internet, so, you know, he's like 'Jordan Rodgers, Aaron's brother' - so that's what he knew going into it, said the ET reality star. The secret was out, but according to JoJo I didn't know much about him. Before meeting him, she continued. I knew only that mother of him, but nothing else, and I don't think it made a difference either way. I don't follow football closely, so it's not like there was a big difference, but I definitely knew about him getting into it. 2. She is half Perse the Bachelorette | Source: ABC The reality show has gotten a bit of flack over the years for not being diverse, but many people probably wouldn't know about the current star's background just from looking at her. The Bachelorette is from Texas, so she's definitely a country girl, but that's not the only culture that plays a role in her life. My mother is a Perse, and my father was born and raised in Tennessee, she wrote in her biography. It's important for me to live up to people stereotyping Iranians. 3. He reportedly dumped his ex for the JoJo show after throwing the first pitch at Dodger Stadium | Source: Kevork Djansezian/Getty Images Has JoJo Fame Hungry? Or is his ex just out of revenge? Her ex, Chad Rookstool, gave an interview with In Touch Weekly claiming that the single lady might not be what it seems. The two were leaving before competing for Ben Higgins' heart and Chad claims the two turned to between shows. JoJo said to me, 'Chad, come on, you know it was TV,' she said. she has just been sucked into the show instead of trying to have legitimate feelings. Chad continued, She tried to tell me she wasn't saying goodbye forever - but I told her I'm not going to sit back and wait for her [this time], and that was it. Chad's interview appeared on the show and JoJo vehemently denies anything happening to his ex. He also insists that he is on the show for the right reasons. 4. She keeps in touch with Lauren B The Bachelor | Source: ABC JoJo might not have won Ben Higgins' heart on The Bachelor, but the experience wasn't a total loss. Not only did she get her own season, but she also won over a new friend - with the girl Higgins ended up choosing. Who knows, maybe we'll see her at the wedding! Ben and I don't communicate, JoJo said on Good Morning America. I have my relationship with Lauren, which is my first priority. 5. His brother was on a reality show also Ben Patton, Ernesto Arguello, and Tim Lopez (from left to right) | Source: Frederick M. Brown/Getty Images This family knows how to go on TV! JoJo's half-brother Ben Patton was on Ready for Love as one of three bachelors trying to find love. He also made an appearance on The Bachelor when Ben Higgins arrived in JoJo's hometown to meet his family. In the episode he questioned Ben a little to find out the intentions of the bachelor with his beloved sister. 6. She owns a real estate development company House for sale sign | Source: iStock JoJo definitely wasn't hurting for a paycheck before I got to reality TV. After graduating from Baylor University in 2011, she has done very well for herself. She owns a development company called JHF Realty Development and reportedly has a net worth of $400,000, which is pretty good considering she's still in her mid-20s. Some have questioned whether JoJo is still actively working with her company while she is on the show. There's no mention of it on your social media accounts and a website for your development company hasn't been found, but either way, you'll probably be fine after the show. 7. She is well connected in the maiden universe The Bachelorette | Source: ABC The reality show franchise is much smaller than you might think. The brunette knew several people who were on the show before she became a household name. According to The Inquisitr website, his siblings went to school with Jake Pavelka and one of his brothers and Jamie Otis, who was a contestant on the season of Ben Flajnik, had a short relationship. Chances are jojo knew exactly what to expect on the reality show. Follow Nicole Weaver on Twitter @nikkibernice a user of Entertainment Cheat Sheet on Facebook!
