Ben 10 secret of the omnitrix dvd

This article belongs to Classic Continuity Sebastian MontesScooter Tidwell Tara StrongMeagan SmithPaul Eiding Ben 10: Race Against Time Ben 10: The Secret of Omnitrix is the first Ben 10 film released and serves as forty-one and forty-second episodes of the series. Drawing The film begins with a detailed graphic montage activating Omnitrix when it reveals the title screen. The plot opens with Gwen complaining about what normal kids are doing during the summer holidays, like going to a shopping mall, which is what the gang had to do that day. Max says they got sidelined before revealing they were both chained to the ceiling leading to a device built by Dr. Animo. Animo says his device is a DNA bomb that he hooked up to a nuclear reactor that once exploded spreads to the atmosphere and de-evolution of the world. Ben breaks as Heatblast (XLR8 and Eye Guy in blue and gold editions, respectively), ready to stop Animo and free Max and Gwen. However, Ben is stuck when Animo gets sick with his latest creation of him: the giant Mutant Horret. Ben can win it back as long as possible before releasing Max and Gwen. Since they manage to trap wasps, Animo says that's not the way Ben can close it in time in an easy way, so Ben decides a more direct approach; If I can't turn it off, I just have to turn it off. Ben shoots a devastating burst of fire or an energy beam (either as Heatblast or Eye Type) in the reactor's water tank, or sabotages the machine (like XLR8) and continues to pour it until the machines start to burst with steam. Gwen's against it because neither one of them knows what it does. Ben ignores his saying: Can't be worse than what happens if I don't. Ben's fire blast successfully overloads the system and shorts out of the bomb timer, neutralizing the threat. Unfortunately, the siren blares and the bomb releases the energy wave that hits Heatblast/XLR8/Eye Guy. Omnitrix cracks energy and Omnitrix time is the end of time, causing Heatblast/XLR8/Eye Guy to return to the back of Ben and Animo flies away in a mutant hornet. Max and Gwen drove down to make ben all right. Just then, Omnitrix glows orange and charges instantly. Ben shrugs away at this unnatural thing and tries to turn into a Stinkfly so he can peruse Animo despite Max's warning. Unfortunately, Omnitrix fluctuates, turning Ben into Stinkfly, then Wildmutt, then Diamondhead and finally grey. Animo flies into a room with toxic sediments, already planning its own revenge. Grey Matter flies into his hoverboard and hits Animo with it. The board is destroyed when it flies away and then sinks in a barrel and Animo grabs Ben and throws it in the barrel. Luckily, Ben can grab a chain that hangs over it. Animo runs into the wall with his Mutant Hornet and is pinned under it, Long enough for the police to arrive. Grey Matter returns to Ben and falls, but Gwen catches him in a spell just before landing vat. If this crisis is averted, Max will take Gwen to the mall, as they were supposed to do that day. And Ben, who is bored, gets into trouble when Omnitrix comes out of the explosion of energy out of nowhere, which kicks him and Gwen into an employee and gets tennysons banned from the mall. Gwen's furious with Ben and rushing away. When the three sleep inside the Rust Bucket, the Dtenns wakes up at 3:30 a.m. They look out and it's revealed that this is a giant ship landing next to the Rust Bucket. The pilot of the ship is leaving and Ben is preparing for a hero. However, the pilot shoots a diamond shard in front of Ben, revealing that it is Tetrax. Ben and Gwen are excited to see him because they haven't seen him since the last time they took down SixSix. Tetrax says it's good to see them too, and shows that he came as soon as he heard. Ben initially tries to excuse him for destroying the hoverboard he gave him, but Tetrax says he has actually come to Earth since he picked up the SDM: a signal omnitrix. Ben still thinks it's just one of omnitrix failures. Max concludes, however, that SDM represents self-destruct mode. Tetrax says it's natural for Omnitrix to transmit a signal when it starts its countdown. Ben understands that the clock will destroy itself over time, and Tetrax adds to his fears when he says Ben will be destroyed with it when it happens. Ben is trying to think hard about how the SDM mode was activated in the first place. This takes it back when they fought the Animo reactor, but further understands it as a mystery and tells Gwen that it doesn't really matter, assuming Tetrax can handle it. But Tetrax shows that he doesn't know how to restore it, but Azmuth, the rumored creator of Omnitrix, would be able to. Tetrax says he can find Asmuth's DNA signature on Omnitrix with supplies on his ship, and they can use it to find him. After reviewing the Omnitrix pattern, he estimates that they have less than four days to deactivate the SDM before the countdown reaches zero. Later, Ben and Tetrax say goodbye to Max and Gwen. Max can't go with them because Tetrax believes it would be too much of a risk if an alien recognizes Max from his plumber's days. Max tells Ben to take it seriously and Ben, who is very enthusiastic and confident, take off from the ship Tetrax. The Tetrax ship will impress Ben when he's touring. Ben meets the Tetrax pilot, Gluto, and the ship takes off. Elsewhere on another ship, Vilgax commands the ship from some foreigners and one of its drones picks up the SDM signal. Tetrax on board the Tetrax Is a Scan of Omnitrix, but can't find Asmuth Signature. Ben tells him to look back, and he finds it. He's looking for Asmuth and finding a signal on the prison planet Incarcecon. The alarm's going down the lower level, and Ben and Tetrax are heading down to search. Ben tries to turn xlr8 in order to search for the intruder, but turns into Wildmutt instead and discovers that the intruder is Gwen, who says he thought Ben needed backup, but Wildmutt accidentally knocks the button and opens the hatch. Wildmutt and Gwen will start sucking into space, but Tetrax will close the hatch when Wildmutt returns to Ben. Gwen explains herself, but Tetrax becomes anxious when she notices Omnitrix's self-destructive countdown accelerating. Later, Ben plays Tetrax in the overboard simulator, and Gwen tries to talk to Ben about it all. Ben tells her he's not worried about anything that might happen. Gwen reminds him that Max doesn't want Ben to be vaporized (or whatever might happen if the clock doesn't get destabilized in time) and reminds him that Tetrax said that Azmuth would deactivate Omnitrix, not fix it. Ben doesn't believe him, but Tetrax confirms. Tetrax tells Ben that his transformations will speed up the census and tell him not to use it again. Omnitrix then releases another burst of energy as he did back in the mall, and this time Ben goes flying and gets zapped hard. In the control room, Gwen talks to Gluto as the ship approaches Incarcecon. Unfortunately, their conversation is shortened as they approach and the defense systems begin to activate. The Incarcecon communication system shall order a proper permit or their ship shall be destroyed. Tetrax enters multiple codes just before the Incarcecon cannons fire until it finds the right one. He's programming the ship to appear as a garbage truck, and it's accepted to prison. They land in a dumpster, and Tetrax is programming a scanner with asmuth's signature. He said it was too dangerous for prisoners to see Ben and Gwen as people. He's giving them disguise and three searches of Azmuth in prison. The prisoner spots Tetrax and follows him, and he tells Ben and Gwen to wait for him while he searches. Ben then sees who he believes to be vilgax. Ben chooses that if he has to be a hero, he'll at least take Vilgax down once and for all. He becomes a Upchuck and runs out of a combat inmate, which leaves Gwen open to other prisoners. Upchuck attacks Vilgax, while the prisoner pursuing Tetrax, revealed as the SixSix, attacks him and Upchuck and the prisoner who sees him across from Vilgax. Upchuck is modest and the prisoner reveals that a female member of the Chimera Sui Generis species and kicks Upchuck away back to Gwen. When he returns to Ben, the prisoners realize that Ben is an Omnitrix Encircle. Ben tries to activate Omnitrix to become a foreigner, but Omnitrix is out dated and is loaded. Gwen grabs the tube and fights off aliens and Ben does as well. Tetrax and SixSix fight each other when Tetrax sees anxiety. He climbs on to the hoverboard and comes to Ben and Gwen's aid and fights the prisoners. Wife Chimera Sui Genera arrives and recognizes Omnitrix and she shows that she is Azmuth, the creator they have been looking for. Gwen casts a spell that knocks out an alien prisoner, and Ben asks Azmuth to fix the clock, and he says he'll do it if Ben releases him. The prisoner carries Ben, but Omnitrix releases the energy again, this time knocking him unconscious. But it provided the kind of cover they all needed to escape. Gwen and Tetrax are rushing to Ben and she's waking up. Gluto flies over and opens the ship and the three manage to make it inside the prisoners after. They all manage to take the prisoners off the ship, but they're allowing Asmuth to enter. Ben closes the ship and the SixSix sails on the ship, but is shot and swims in space. Asmuth scans Omnitrix, but shows that he is actually Asmuth's assistant, Myaxx. The reason for the signature of Omnitrix's DNA was that he deleted her and put her in front of her because she never gave him the recognition he deserved. Tetrax is furious when he also reveals that he can't stop the countdown due to Asmuth not trusting him in the abortion saga, and insists on reason not to shoot him back in Incarcecon. Myaxx says he knows where Asmuth is: Xenon. The name scares Tetrax, and he explains the random energy that Omnitrix constantly releases: the clock is struggling to contain all the energy it generates for the big bang, and they become more powerful until the final explosion. Ben knows he's going to be destroyed when the clock goes off, but Myaxx says he's not the only one who dies. With this, Tetrax shows that when Omnitrix explodes, the explosion causes an energy meltdown that destroys the entire universe at once. Myaxx says Azmuth built self-destruction to keep Omnitrix out of the wrong hands, but he never calculated that anyone would be foolish enough to turn it off. Ben's mad at Tetrax for not telling her how horrible the situation really is. Tetrax didn't tell Ben because he thought Ben was more concerned about how it affected him. Ben tried to protest, but Tetrax forces Ben to understand why he helps people with Omnitrix in the first place; Is it because it's the right thing to do, or is excitement a hero? Meanwhile, incarcecon, Vilgax picks sixsix and omnitrix signal. Myaxx is compatible with the Omnitrix device, which stops energy from bursting further. Ship arrives in Xenon, which is completely hidden device that absorbs the entire light range. Xenon is surrounded by an asteroid belt that also has a hidden device, so now the asteroid belt consists mostly out of failed attempts. Tetrax will send Ben to the outer part of the ship to use the Omnitrix diverting device to guide Gluto and everyone else through the field safely. Omnitrix sends out its tracking signal, and Ben's in charge of the ship. Omnitrix sends out a beam that illuminates the device, bringing light back to the quadrant and the asteroid field, while Gluto receives a signal from a giant incoming piece of debris that drills tethers into the ship's haul. They're from the Vilgax ship. The drones are about to enter the ship, and Vilgax is calling for Omnitrix. Tetrax will send Ben a capsule he can use to get back on board. Suddenly, several Vilgax drones cut through the Tetrax ship, followed by Vilgax and SixSix. The capsule was built for Gluto, so Ben's having trouble figuring it out. Tetrax destroys drones on board. The cocoon is accelerating the debris. When Ben figures out how to run the pod, he'll fly to the ship and be followed by drones. On board, Tetrax gives Myaxx a suit and a gun, and two go out to remove the ship from the Vigax tether before both ships enter the Xenona atmosphere. Vilgax and SixSix go to the control room to find it empty, and he sees Myaxx and Tetrax outside and sends SixSix after them. Gluto reveals that he's still in the control room, and he's fighting vilgax at best. Ben figures out a pod of weapons and combats drones while Gwen destroys drones with a hover simulator using a spell and runs to the control room where Vilgax and Gluto fight. Ben continues to avoid the drones in the e-capsule and makes his way to the ship where Tetrax opens the ship for him. Vilgax sees Ben and tells his drones to hold on to the capsule. SixSix climbs out and attacks Tetrax and Myaxx. Ben shoots the SixSix and knocks him off the ship with his helmet. Gwen arrives at the control room and discovers gluto has been destroyed. The drone is in his sights. Just before gluto shoots him, he recovers and sacrifices himself to save him. Ben's capsule explodes, but he lands on the ship where Vilgax is waiting for him. Vilgax attacks Ben, and he escapes because he can't do anything with omnitrix in his current condition. Ben tried to tell Vilgax that Omnitrix was self-destruct, but Vilgax doesn't care. Meanwhile, Myaxx and Tetrax are opening their ship from Vilgax. After Ben can't make a deal with Vilgax to help him find Asmuth and stop the count, he opens the hatch and Vilgax flies into space when the ship begins to enter the Xenonasphere. Gwen tries to fly with little success and Ben arrives to help. Gwen told him that Gluto sacrificed himself for him, which he that's completely selfless. Something Ben wouldn't understand. Tetrax and Myaxx enter the ship, and Ben and Gwen stop the ship from crashing, but they're going to fly into the rock and still crash. The ship slips towards the canyon, but stops before it falls to the ground. Tetrax and Myaxx arrive and four ride hoverboards towards the Azmuth compound. They find that it crosses vines, which then turn into wild florauna and attack Gwen. The group shoots Florauna, but they keep coming. Gwen saves Ben from one, but it grabs her and drags her away instead. Seeing Gwen in serious danger, Ben becomes the Four Guns, not caring about the dangers of the background despite Myaxx's warning. Four hands chase after Florauna, who's trying to save Gwen, but it drags her to the ground and eats her. If he gets away with Gwen, everyone else will stop attacking floraunas and leave. Four Hands are trying to save Gwen, but she can't close behind it because of an impenetrable hatch. Four guns a pound on the ground trying to open a hatch. Tetrax tells Ben, unfortunately, that he can't be saved. These wild Floraunas won't stop until they have one of them. Ben collapses to the ground and he blames Myaxx for the disaster - Ben claims that if he wasn't omnitrix, Gwen wouldn't have found it and Gwen would still be alive. Tetrax will calm them down and take them to asmuth where asmuth might have gone if he survived such an attack. Before the asteek goes into the burrow, Ben looks back at the hatch where Gwen was taken, regretting that he couldn't save her. On the way, Tetrax tells Ben that he knows exactly what he's going through. When Tetrax was his age, he was everything he cared about. A mercenary who worked for the best, no matter how evil they may be. It was only a matter of time before he started working for Vilgax. He stole the last piece of the puzzle Vilgax needed to penetrate Tetrax's home planet. When people didn't give up, he completely destroyed the planet to set an example. When he heard that Vilgax wanted Omnitrix, he swore he would never let Vilgax get his claws on another powerful weapon again. Ben blames himself for Gwen's death and believes his reckless behavior in the reactor somehow triggered SDM. Tetrax says they need to go ahead before Omnitrix self-destructs so that Gwen and Gluto and everyone else wouldn't have died in vain. Myaxx stops and Ben and Tetrax fly through a safety laser that triggers an energy field, and Tetrax saves Ben when they fly through it. The camera recognizes Omnitrix. A hologram of the mechanical creature appears, asking what Ben is doing with his Omnitrix and shows that he is Asmuth. Ben introduces himself. He's asking Asmuthil to turn off the SDM, but Azmuth is closing more doors. He said he wouldn't turn it off. Ben angrily becomes Cannonbolt and down the doors, declaring that he has come too far to return, and that two of their most valuable teammates have died, making it so far (Gwen and Gluto). Cannonbolt tells Azmuth to close omnitrix, but if he further refuses, he will argue that if the universe is doomed anyway, he will say that Azmuth will go first and attack him, which will destroy his suit. Asmuth, exposing himself to the galvan, climbs out and Cannonbolt returns to Ben. Azmuth says he didn't create a weapon; Omnitrix was supposed to be a peace device, and people like Ben and Vilgax have made this perception a weapon. Asmuth says that destroying the universe is the best thing that can happen, given his inability to see good people, and Ben calls him selfish. The urg is about to collapse and four are running out, where Vilgax, SixSix and many drones are waiting for them. Giant drones land and Vilgax are sending SixSix to attack, and drones are also attacking. Azmuth asks why Ben continues to defend Omnitrix, and Ben says it's because he thinks of people other than himself. He shoots drones and two drones with self-destruct i.e. a magic spell cast of Gwen, who enters the battle of Gluto. Ben, in tears seeing his cousin alive again, runs to embrace Gwen and he explains that Gluto regenerated particles left in his clothes when he exploded back on the ship. When he dissolved, he saved him from the wild Florauna. SixSix attacks them and drones march on them, but the group is fighting and destroying drones while Tetrax fights SixSix. Ben's gun has been destroyed, and he and Myaxx are surrounded by drones. Ben removes the Omnitrix energy shattering flashing device, where a huge energy explosion destroys all drones and knocks out Vilgax and The SixSix. At the same time, Azmuth deactivates Omnitrix to zero just before its count, removing the dial. Giant drones climb into the group position when Vilgax drives on one. Vilgax says he will make Azmuth build him a better weapon if Ben says Omnitrix is useless now. Azmuth grabs the Omnitrix dial while Tetrax destroys the drone. While under fire, Gwen then tells Ben that she doesn't need Omnitrix to be a hero and Azmuth reattaches the dial, which not only reactivates Omnitrix, but also opens and turns Ben into ToKustar, a very powerful transformation he calls Way Big. Way Big destroys all Vilgax troops and then grabs Vilgax while Tetrax wins sixsix. Vilgax claws into Way Big's hand, which annoys him until he's cast into space by Vilgax. Later, Azmuth builds the ship from parts of the scattered robotic drones. Ben thanks him for fixing Omnitrix and offering it back. Asmuth lets him keep it, saying that the soul's goal to build it in the first place was to create a better understanding of the creatures of the universe. then it turns out that he moved Ben's advice to think more than just himself and says Ben can do that understanding happen, then he sees no reason why he can't keep Omnitrix. Azmuth puts the finishing touches on his ship, and Myaxx goes with him. Ben asks Asmuth to give him Master Control, but Azmuth flies away instead, sarcastically asking him if he wanted to understand that through his like a true hero would. Gluto later reveals that he can speak English and has condemned every insult Ben has used for him. Later, tetrax drops Ben and Gwen off to Earth with a new hoverboard and leaves. Later, the Tennysons hear on a radio bulletin from Rustbucket that zombies attack the mall and the film ends as the team prepares to fight them. Notable Events Major Events Ben and the gang meet tetrax again. Ben is studying Omnitrix self-destruct mode. Ben and Gwen will learn and meet Azmuth, the creator of Omnitrix. Ben becomes Way Big for the first time. Tetrax reveals his past to Ben, and how his former selfish lifestyle pays him for his home world (which turned out to be the Secret of Chromastone called Petropia). I wouldn't count on it. I think it's better than this prison planet. Mistakes When Ben and Gwen fight aliens on inCarcecon, just before tetramand prisoner destroys tetrax hoverboard, Omnitrix is missing ben's wrist. When Azmuth is re-entering the Omnitrix dial, the tower dial is gray and green, not standard black and green. Tetrax calls Wildmutt Vulpin instead of vulpimancer. If Way Big is swatting at Vilgax's Flying Drones with your hands, it's similar to the movie King Kong. The scene where Ben runs away from some of Vilgax's Drones in the asteroid belt of Xenon resembles level 2 of The Little Road in game Star Fox 64, called Into Asteroid Field. Trivia Some of Vilgax's drones This film is considered the series finale of the original Ben 10 series.[pop-up 1] despite airing several months before the final episodes of the TV series and they were the first three episodes of Season 4 made on a production order. According to the pop-up trivia from the improved version of the movie: the film takes place between Goodbye and Good Riddance and Race Against Time - although it aired before them both. I can't believe you did this. The first, however, is what-if story, and the latter has been revealed to be part of an alternative timeline[1] making the chronology of the film unclear. When Ben was resolutely touring, Gwen took her clothes and snuck on board. I can't believe you did this. Tetrax used a special Petropian crystal to dissect Omnitrix. I can't believe you did this. The costume Ben and Gwen wore in Incarcecon was left from the celebration of Arburia. [Pop-up 5] Galvanizing Mechamorph on Incarcecon was not a prisoner, but a maintenance engineer with his computer systems. I can't believe you did this. Because many prisoners wanted to prove how tough they were when they took down the notorious SixSix, he wore a disguise. I can't believe you did this. Omnitrix rumors grew in the galaxy's underworld because of Ben's brief time with alien gladiator Grudge Match. I can't believe you did this. Ben's transformation put the emphasis on Omni-Energy's core, thus accelerating the countdown. [pop-up 9] Since Omnitrix could not be removed, Tetrax changed Ben's leotard so that Omnitrix acted as a seal between Ben's arm and arm. [Pop-up 10] Drill lines seen when Ben was in space are commonly used in deep space mining. [Pop-up 11] The heavy drink that popped up on Ben's ship was Protost's version of coffee. [Pop-up 12] The little drones that attacked Ben in space didn't have any pilots. So they fearlessly drive their target into every dangerous situation. [pop-up Gwen won some of Vilgax's drones by setting a simulator resolute to restore the sun to the storm - the highest level it is. [Pop-up 14] The Vilgax cages damaged the effects of resolute stabilisers, causing it to fall toward Xenon. [Pop-up 15] In addition to Myaxx, Azmuth had others who helped him build Omnitrix - including other Galvans. [Pop-up 16] This later turned out to be true good copy, Bad Copy with the introduction of Albedo. Vilgax called his entire robot army omnitrix the last battle. I can't believe you did this. Gluto had to go back to resolute to get his bumper. Otherwise, he and Gwen would have made it to the last battle sooner. [Pop-up 18] The Battle of Xenon will be saved in the history of plumbers as an important turning point for Ben and Gwen. [Pop-up 19] Zombies at the end of the movie were actually invaders from Anur Ormerow. [pop-up 20] Links Pop-ups
