In 2019, the university admission rate fell to 7.6%. Admission is highly selective and all applicants are carefully considered through a comprehensive process. Contributing factors include academic record, standardized test scores, extra-classroom achievements, recommendations and articles. NYU Stern actively seeks students who have a variety of backgrounds, interests, talents, and goals, who are socially, ethnically, and economically diverse. NYU Class 2023 16% admission rate - New LowNYU received 84,481 applications for the 2023 class and offered 16% admission, down from 35% as recently as 2013. NYU Class 2023 is the most selective category accepted to date with the highest average SAT score: 1480. Of these applications, more than 23,000 come from outside the United States, including a large number of applicants from China, India and South Korea. This represents a 12% increase over last year and marks the 12th consecutive year of record application scoring. Based on this metric, NYU is clearly ahead of its direct competitors such as Boston University and George Washington University, which has seen only a 2% rise in applications and will have 300 fewer students entering the fall than last year. Of the students admitted to NYU, 6,500 are expected to enroll in the fall at one of the three nyu universities (New York, Abu Dhabi and Shanghai). Equal opportunity. New York University prohibits any form of discrimination in the admissions process. Review our non-discrimination and affirmative action policies. The originality of the app. NYU has a strict policy on app authenticity and working with agents or third parties and interest in EDI and ediinyu's rising popularity is also reflected in early decision request numbers. More students than ever (more than 14,000) applied the early decision in the 2018-2019 admissions cycle. Early decision applicants can apply in one of two rounds: the first early decision (applications due on November 1, decisions by December 15) or the second early decision (applications scheduled for January 1, decisions in February). These binding application options are increasingly popular, with EDI by 41% and EDII by 17%. With more than half of the early accepted category, applicants have a clear advantage by committing to NYU as their first choice - surely this is also a way for NYU to improve their statistics regarding returns. There are important lessons to be learned from the remarkable growth in applications to NYU over the past 10 years: Young people are keen on a rigorous liberal arts education that builds on the vitality and diversity of urban environments and gives them access to internships and global learning and research opportunities, said NYU President Andrew Hamilton. They want to be prepared for the challenges and careers of the 21st century, and they We believe that across a wide range of human endeavour, NYU can be prepared for it. I look forward to next fall when I welcome the outstanding new student class that will come out of this group of applicants. DiversityNYU's commitment to its international ism preserves the largest number of international students in America as well as a commitment to diversity.
