Students on campus must sign up for a meal plan. Your meal plan and food points plan are legal agreements between you and the university. It is therefore important to carefully review the selected agreement and submit it for future use. We offer several convenient ways to pay for food, including different traditional meal plans (listed in the Read More section below), food points and flexible cost account (FLEX). These accounts, which are available to students, faculty and staff, almost eliminate the need to transfer money on campus. Meal plans are taxed at a combined state and Durham county rate of 7.5% (6.75% for students at Duke Marine Lab in Beaufort). Your semester's bill in the Bursar office is an NC sales tax in addition to your chosen plan. Both the dining table and the tax charge are credited separately. The price of a dining plan gives the same amount of meals that you had before the tax took effect. For example, dining plan A, priced at $2,391 for the fall of the 2020 semester, is valued at a tax supplement of $179.33, plus $25 contract fee total cost of $2,595.33 for the first 2015 Board Plan Plan Plan I First Year Students Only: (First Year Dining Plan for East Campus) Dining Plan: .....$3,021 Food Points:.....$824 7.5% Tax --Food Points: $61.80 --board plan: $ 226.58 Total tax supplement .....$288.38 Dining contract fee:.....$2500 per semester:.....$4,158.38 Plan G (First Year Dining Plan West Campus) dining plan .....$3,174 7.5% Tax: .....$238.05 Meal Contract Fee:.....$25 Total cost per semester:.....$3,300 7.05 Upperclass dining plans available to upper-class students living on campus, and also students live at the Washington Duke Inn, Blue Light, and 300 at Swift's. Meal plan:.....$1,691 7.5% Tax:.....$126.83 Meal Contract Fee:.$250 Total cost per semester:..$1,842.83 Food Points Food Points is used to supplement meal plans. Each food point is the equivalent of $1 and can be accessed with a DukeCard. They can be used to buy snacks and meals at any on-campus eatery, Merchants Points vendor, food trucks and a campus convenience store or vending machine. Do not stress over calculating the perfect number of food points. During the semester, you can add more points with $25+. We recommend that you select the lowest level points and add more if necessary. Flexible cost account (FLEX) Your FLEX account is just as flexible You are! You can add money to your DukeCard through your FLEX account and use them in all campus locations (and even outside campus). FLEX is useful for buying everything from food, books to event tickets and more. Sorry, we're closed Opens Today 5:00 Categories: Brunch, Delivery service, Indian, Lunch We're open! Everybody be all right! --- Duke is home to one of the most innovative, dynamic and cutting-edge collegiate dining programs in the country. No matter where you are at Duke, there's somewhere you can go to find what you're looking for when desire hits you. Our award-winning program features more than 50 restaurants and cafes with an abundance of options and nutritious choices that helped Duke earn top rankings as one of the best campuses for college dining! Menus and Meal Classes Daily Symptom Monitoring: Before leaving your living space to come to campus for the first time each day, you must perform daily symptom tracking activities through the Duke Symptom Monitoring Application (SymMon), downloadable from Apple and Google Play app stores. If you report symptoms related to COVID-19 through the SymMon app, you must contact the COVID-19 helpline and not participate in personal lessons or use campus resources until approved by Duke Student Health. It is extremely important that you report symptoms accurately and accurately to protect the health and well-being of other people in the Duke's community. Students must perform symptom-monitoring every day no later than 12:00 (noon), even if they have not left their living space. If a student has not completed their symptom monitoring by 12pm every day, they will receive a reminder message to do so. At 2 p.m., all students who have yet to report their symptoms via the SymMon app have their DukeCard deactivated. More information about monitoring symptoms can be found here. Why some eateries aren't open because of covid-19: As we prepare for the fall semester, Duke Dining worked closely with our vendor partners and academic stakeholders to assess the viability of reopening each of our diners. Together, Dining, our vendor partners, and building stakeholders studied on-site class sizes, faculty numbers, staff numbers, and student numbers that would be building daily To assess whether employees could work safely and customers could safely visit any location, Duke Dining also examined the ability to physically distance from any location. The proximity of the venues to the Brodhead Centre and the Bryan Centre was also taken into account. For some of our venues, it was decided jointly that the location would not be able to maintain a viable operation during the autumn semester. We hope, however, that many, if not all, of these places will reopen in the spring. In the meantime, visit other Dining locations throughout the campus that are open. The hours and menus for these locations can be found at the link above. Above.
