Snufkin moomin belly ache

Some Moomin characters. From left to right, Sniff, Snufkin, Moominpappa, Moominmamma, Moomintroll (Moomin), Mymble, Groke, Snork Maiden and Hattifatteners. A large number of characters appear in Tove Jansson's Moomin series. The original Swedish name was given with the in nguyen words and word associations proposed by Yvonne Bertills in her 2003 dissie. [1] Moomin Moominmamma and Moominpappa Moomintroll Moomintroll (Swedish: Mumintrollet - invented mumin + troll, troll; also simply Moomin) are the protagonists of most books. [2] Many believe that Moomin loved Snorkmaiden, as they had a very sweet and romantic relationship in the early books. [3] However, he and Snorkmaiden were not seen together often and after 'Moominland Midwinter' Moomin only mentioned Snorkmaiden as simply a friend. [4] His best friend was Snufkin. [6] Snufkin was inspired by Atos Wirtanen, Tove Jansson's best friend, and at one point, her fiance. [7] Moomintroll is also an avatar author for Jansson, meaning that the two characters are based on real-life lovers. [9] In the cartoon strip, he finds himself beset by endless problems. He is a moomin - a bit of a white troll with a large round snout resembling a hippo. [10] Moomintroll was originally called snork. Jansson describes him as her altered altered self. [9] The character received a positive reception from critics. [12] Asteroid 58345 Moomintroll was named in his honor. [13] Moominmamma Moominmamma (Swedish: Muminnmamma) – Moomintroll's mother. She almost never does not have her handbag, which contains essentials such as wool socks, belly powder, and bark. She makes bark boats every summer, and one of the first to go to her favorite. Moominpappa Moominpappa (Swedish: Muminpappan) - orphaned in his younger years, he was a slightly restless soul who left the orphanage to venture out into the world in his youth but has now settled down. He usually wears a black hat. Sniff friends in Moomin World, Naantali, Finland. Sniff (Swedish: Sniffa, to snuff/sob; to sniff) – Moomintroll's adult friend. He is one of the few characters interested in money, and is always on the lookout for another way to get rich quick. Snufkin (Swedish: Snusnummiken – snusnumrik or mumrik, old man who speaks carelessly; old coddler, old drill; old snuff-taker; snotty or scruffy old man, derived from snus, snuff, + interjection mum, also in mumla mumble, with pejorative finish -ik) - Moomintroll's best friend, son of elder mymble and Joxter, and brother of stepfather to mym I'm not going to do this Snufkin wore old green clothing and a wide-brimmed hat that he had since birth. He lived in a tent, smoked a pipe, and played harmonica. He is based on Tove Jansson's close friend Atos Wirtanen. [14] He lived as a nod nod to nodies only stay in Moominvalley in spring and summer, but leave for warmer climates down south every winter. [16] The character has a mostly positive reception. [18] Mymble's Daughter (Swedish: Mymlans dotter) - later referred to simply as The Mymble (Mymlan), she was the elderly of Mymble's many children. Every little independent like the youngest, my baby, mymble daughter is very proud to be the utest, and considers it her duty to raise Baby My. Little My (Swedish: Lilla My - my, micron, mu) - She is a small, determined and fiercely independent Mymble. When she wants something done, she does it right away. She is very aggressive and completely disrespectful, but can be a good friend. She is Snufkin's half-sister. Snork Maiden (Swedish: Snorkfröken – snorkig, snooty, snotty; fröken, Miss) – moomintroll's friend and fair fan. Sometimes she loves others, but returns to Moomintroll before things get too serious. She has blonde hair and sports a golden ankle. She changes color according to her mood, with her basic color in the books described as light yellow. Norks are almost identical to Moomins except Snorks have different colors (Moomins are white) and have hair on their heads, and their hairs change color depending on their mood. Snorkmaiden is known as Floren in the Japanese dubbing of the 1990s animated series. Snork (Swedish: Snorken) – brother of Snork Maiden, is also friends with Moomintroll. He and his sister first met Moomintroll in a comet in Moominland. He later only appeared in Finn Family Moomintroll. He is described as mauve in color, although changing to a pale green when scared. His character is obsessed with details, rules, and protocols in books. In the Japanese drama, he is depicted as an avid inventedist who has a strong belief in the power of science and an obsession with building a flying car. Other hemulen characters in Moomin World, Naantali, Finland. The Groke (Swedish: Mårnan - morra to growl; to grumble) - She is cold and spooky, and represents loneliness and all that is scary in Moomin's world. She seeks warmth and fire, but can not do anything but to take them out. She has a scary and dangerous appearance to reach due to the cold that she radiates, however, she is not really evil, just very lonely. First appeared in Finn Family Moomintroll and returned in Moominland Midwinter and Moominpappa at Sea. Groke is used for an anclip, often the same as the word 'God' (The Groke knows...). She is the only character that Xiao My really fears. In the Japanese dubbing of the Japanese drama, she is called Hemulens (Swedish: Hemul – hemul, a legal term, jurisdiction or guarantee for something (n.), has the right (adj.)) (In Swedish Hemulen means hemul) hemul) Hemulens feature frequently in books. One of them is an avid stamp collector, and the other is an avid skier. A Hemulen woman raised Moominpappa in an orphanage, and then Moominpappa met her aunt, who looked like her in a confusing way. Other characters often find hemulens annoying or overwhelming, as they can be slightly loud, bossy, abrasive and insensitive, but they have good intentions and often have other redeeming qualities. In Finn's head the Moomintroll Family, a hemulen is a stamp collector the interest is depressed, as he has all the seals on the ground and has lost his purpose in life. Then he found a new purpose: to collect plants. In Finn Family Moomintroll, un-Hemulenish (ohemul) contains an unsu guaranteeful, ridiculous feeling. Hattifatteners Hattifatteners (Swedish: Hattifnattar - with the first element comparing hatta, dither, or related to Moominpappa's hat, with -i showing dimininess; the second factor is related to fnatta (omkring), vibrations around; få fnatt, going crazy or excited about something; poss. Hattifatteners are always moving and traveling the sea in large groups (but always with odd numbers) , such as the train. They meet every year on a lonely island. [19] Their only goal in life is to reach the horizon. They can communicate using psychopathy. The Hattifatteners can't see very well, but their sense of touch is very strong, and they can feel ground and electric vibrations. People hate to assemble once a year when they recharge during a storm, when they can cause electrical burns. Hattifatteners grow from the seed, but only if this seed is sown on the night of midsummer. Too-Ticky (Swedish: Too-ticki) - A friend of the actual family, craftsman and philosopher. First appeared in the novel Moominland Midwinter and returned in short stories Tales from Moominvalley and in comics. The character and name are modeled after Tuulikki Pietilä, Tove Jansson's life partner. The Mymbles (Swedish: Mymlan – mymla, a slang word used in Tove Jansson's circle, with the meaning of love;[20] compare mumla, to mumble; [21] – The Mymble is a description given to two different characters. In The Exploits of Moominpappa there is a matriarchal character called The Mymble. She is the mother of a very large and indisa identifen number of children, including Little My, Snufkin, and a girl known simply as Mymble's Daughter, who appears to be Mymble's eldest child, and helps her mother care for her younger brothers and sisters. In later books and in comics, Mymble's Daughter is called The Mymble. She re-emerged as a relatively minor character in Moominsummer Madness, Moominland Midwinter and comics, and as a important objects in Moominvalley in November and in The Book about Moomin, Mymble and Little My. [22] The Police Inspectorate (Swedish: Polismästaren) is a hemulen in charge of law enforcement in the valley. He has feelings for Mymble. Fillyjonk at Moominworld Fillyjonk (Swedish: Filifjonkan - no singling, but with the first element compares filibuffare joker, filidera, makes bad noise, and with the second, fjompa / fjanta / fjolla + -an = silly / stupid / fussy woman) - Called The Fillyjonk in some English translations, the first we hear of the late theater director in Moominsummer Madness (Rats are his widow) and young Fillyjonk, who joined Snork Maiden late at night Then we meet the wonderful psychological research of Fillyjonk Who Believed In Disasters in Tales from Moominvalley. No moment of imagination or joy, only duty and discipline; she is an extremely methodous person associated with principles and has a deep belief rooted in prestige and tradition. However, after a disaster, Fillyjonk can be freed from the trammels of social expectations and can explore the joys of freedom, irrationality and self-expression. Deep inside she had a desire to live freely as the Moomin family does, without any worries. Fillyjonks are like human rodents; they are tall and thin, with long snout and panda-like rings around the eyes. Ninny (Swedish - a real female name, mainly used as a nickname, for example for Anna) - Ninny first appeared in Tales from Moominvalley in the story Invisible Child. She becomes invisible by the fear too much by her former carer. This carer gave Ninny to Too-ticky, who then took her to Moominmama to help Ninny be able to see again. Moominmamma succeeds with one of her grandmother's 'Ines mistakes' household remedies and a lot of love. Ninny at first was a bore and did not know how to play games or have fun. She became completely visible during a day on the beach. Moominpappa planned to sneak up and scare Moominmamma, but Ninny rushed up behind him and pushed Moominpappa into the sea. Eventually, the family realized that Ninny was very similar to Xiao My. Toffle (Swedish: Knytt - as a common nod is also translated as creep, for example småknytt small creatures / creeps, raw words related to oknytt which by convention is knytt what unseele is to seele; knytte, bundle; (pictured) the term of endearment for infants, 'little mite'; (in a dialing number.) short and/or plump woman; knytt, the nod word for knyst, is not the smallest sound) - Toffles are small creatures, shy, scared and confused. A toffle called Salome is featured in the Midwinter Moominland and a toffle is just named is the protagonist in Who Will Comfort Toffle?. Miffle (Swedish: Skruttet – as well as a common noun, det lilla knyttet/skruttet, the little creep; skрутt, a noun noun Different meanings, although with a common feature, it is something small or something weak, junk (skräp, garbage), trash or core, which in turn also shows something quite insignificant and worthless, about to be thrown away. When referring to the person, it is slightly ate, used especially for those who are inferior, sick, incomp capacity or weak (nod names often refer to the elderly: skräplig gubbe, weak old man). But the nod word is also used for tiny creatures with supernatural characteristics, especially in fairy tales. Toffle's Love Object in Who Will Comfort Toffle? The Hobgoblin (Swedish: Trollkarlen – The Magician) – Appearing in Finn Family Moomintroll (Swedish: Trollkarlens hatt), he is a powerful magician traveling the universe with his flying leopard, searching for the king's Ruby. His top hat was found in the Lonely Mountains by Moomintroll, Snufkin and Sniff, who brought it back to Moominhouse. Chaos occurs then, as anything you put inside the hat is converted. Moomintroll himself is transformed into a strange creature by the hat when he uses it to hide in a game. The hat also changed the Moominhouse into a kind of jungle. Hobgoblin has a rather scary, but friendly appearance. Thingummy and Bob (Swedish: Tofslan och Vifslan – tofs, tuft; justification vivsa, tuft, cf. vifta, waves; comparing the names of Tove Jansson and Vivica Bandler) - Two small creatures appear in Moominvalley with a large suitcase, including the king's Ruby. They speak a strange language (with -slan attached to the end of some words in the original Swedish, which has become spoonerisms, e.g. 'Man you cake it out?' asks Thingummy. ' Mot nutch', said Bob, in english translation) and was pursued by Groke, who wanted the content. They annoyed Moominmamma by stealing her handbag. Eventually they returned it and the whole family held a party to celebrate. Hobgoblin arrives when Thingummy and Bob open the king's ruby for everyone to see. They didn't give him ruby, but when Hobgoblin gave everyone a wish, then they wanted for Hobgoblin to have a ruby as beautiful as theirs; Ruby of the Queen. Stinky - A career criminal, fraudster and a dangerous influence who tempts the Moomin family to do illegal things. He has a code of conduct of his own, and is offended when moomins want to give him large sums of money that has caused them a lot of trouble. Physically, Stinky looks like some kind of furry mammal, having the most characteristic attribute of his constant, unbearable stench. He appeared in a book (Villain in the Moominhouse) but mainly in comics and cartoons. Niblings (Swedish: klippdassar – rock hyraxes; compare dassa, patter or sneak around, walk quietly; (in some areas) hurry up at work; (in children's language and rhymes) also known by the variant name Klibbtassar, which is explained as klibba / klibbig, sticky / sticky + tass, legs - small aquatic creatures, chew people's noses if they are too long for their taste. They like to do the human contests that were thought of by Hemulen's aunt quite bossy. The Muskrat (Swedish: Bisamrättan) – a philosopher who believes in the nonsense of things and reads Spengler, appears in comets in Moominland and the Finn Moomintroll Family. The Moomin children annoyed him by placing hairbrushes on his bed and the like. Eventually he takes to live in the cave Sniff discovered to get some peace. There was an unfortunate accident, however: in Finn Family Moomintroll, Moomintroll hid Hobgoblin's hat there; Whatever you put in Hobgoblin's hat becomes transformed, and Muskrat gets a nasty shock when he puts his dentures in it to keep the sand out of them. He enjoyed reading a book titled the uselessness of everything that was later changed by Hobgoblin to the usefulness of everything. Hodgkins (Swedish: Fredriksson - a common family) - an invention and childhood friend of Moominpappa (The Exploits of Moominpappa). He's Muddler's uncle. He built Oshun Oxta (misspelled by the Ocean Orchestra in English, called Haffsårkestern in Swedish), a boat in which Moominpappa and his friends travel on their adventures. Joxter The Joxter is an old friend of Moominpapa and father of Snufkin. He is described as anxiety free, cat-like and so lazy that he describes his perfect life as: sitting in a fruit tree, eating fruit as it grows. He appears beige and has eyes in the water. He foreswamed throughout the book to tell his friends about the danger. Joxter also shared that his son dislikes powerful figures who say the family is at war with a park spokesman in The Exploits of Moominpappa. Joxter is the lover of The Mymble (the 1980s). Finnish: Juku Sweden: Joxaren Muddler (Swedish: Rådd-djuret - rådda to fuss or muddy or mess about + djur, animals) - Grandson of Hodgkins and father of Sniff. A rather neat and confused individual who collects buttons of all kinds and lives in the coffee tin where he holds the buttons. Married to Fuzzy. Fuzzy (Swedish: Sås-djuret - såsa, to linger; to loiter + djur, animals) - Sniff the mother. Married muddler. The Island Ghost (Swedish: Spöket) – a ghost haunts the colonial island of Moominpappa in The Exploits of Moominpappa. He is not very good at obsession and gets annoyed when the diner laughs at him. He takes knitting to soothe his nerves. Ancestors (Swedish: Förfadern) - moomintrolls descended from ancient creatures living in tiled stoves. One of them is still in moomin family bathroom and kitchen. He is known as Ancestor and appears in Moominland Midwinter Moominvalley on Nov. Misabel (Swedish: Misan – misår, suffering; miserabel, misery) – a very depressed and paranoid female character. In comics and picture books, she is often the helper of the Moomin family. Misabel has the only novelty appearance in Moominsummer Madness, in which she is not a domestic helper, but appears to be a good actress. She is sometimes the owner of Sorry-oo. It is said that Misabel's initial reaction to anyone who spoke to her was to be afraid of them complaining about the quality of her work. Whomper (Swedish: Homsan – among many Whompse in Who Will Comfort Toffle?: homsa or håmsa, rush, hurry, bustle, or muddle about (etc.); do something careless (e.g. work), often with bad results (etc.); women who are not neat or careless (n.)) – a serious little chap. He joined the Moomin family on the floating theater in Moominsummer Madness. Emma (Sweden) – the stage mouse is quite bitter (teaterrått). She helped the Moomin family understand what a theatre was and also collaborated with Moominpappa on his play, The Lion's Brides. Before she introduced herself, the family called her Theprop after a misunderstanding. The Park Keeper (Swedish: parkvakten) - a Hemulen in charge of a park where vegetation is trimmed and cut into proper lines and shapes. The park follows very strict rules, mostly forbidding things, written in large letters on some of the signs placed around the park. Among everyone in the world, Park Keeper is the only one Snufkin really doesn't like. Snufkin planted Hattifattener seeds in the park's grounds to drive the Keeper away and then ignited all signs banning everything. Sorry-oo (Swedish: Ynk - ynklig, poor; miserabel; ynka sig, moaning (v.); or ynka, insignificant) - a small one that appears in different relationships - however, he is always melancholy and longing. He has his only novel appearance in Moominland Midwinter, in which he constantly ú after his distant cousin the wolves. In The Dangerous Journey, he is called Sorry-oo Le Miserable (Ynk von Jämmerlund: jämra sig, to moan; jämmer, moaning, as in jämmerdal, vale of tears; playing on family names in Finland with von, which indicates a foreign name, and -lund). The Dweller Under the Sink (Swedish: den som bor under diskbänken) – a small furry creature living under the sink in Moomin House. He only appeared in Moominland Midwinter and became famous for Moomintroll when he woke up during the long hibernation performed by the entire Moomin family. Moomintroll tries to strike up a conversation with him by complimenting on his rather bushy eyebrows, but only succeeds in upsetting him. Edward the Booble (Swedish: dronten Edward dronten, dodo, Finnish: drontti Edvard) - a giant monster (the second largest creature in the world - only older brother) pay for people's funerals if he accidentally treads on them. He is generally bad tempered because of this. He inadvertently supported the launch of the Oshun Oxta (Ocean Orchestra), a boat invented by Moominpappa's childhood friend, Hodgkins, by sitting at the bottom of the river. Daddy Jones (Swedish: Kungen/Självhärskaren, Finnish: Iisevallias) – dictator in Exploits. He possessed a fairground full of surprises, sat on the throne and launched an explosion on his mist as he made the royal declaration. The Lady of the Cold (Swedish: Isfrun, Finnish: Jäärouva) - a very scary, beautiful woman who brings winter to Moominvalley. Looking into her eyes will turn you into a block of ice. She is the only character groke really fears. Toft (Swedish: homsan) Toft – show homsan Whomper; Toft is perhaps imagining, albeit co-written with the toft, obstructed (n., rowlock, Finnish: Homssu) - a small, very shy boy who appeared in Moominvalley in November. Toft made up one of the people who visited Moomins while they were absent. He is very mysterious and seems to have the power to make the things he imagines, come true. He can also use Moominpappa's crystal ball. In the original book, Toft was someone, but the British translator translated his character into a boy, Grandpa Grumble (Swedish: Onkelskruttet – onkel, uncle, also used in the meaning grandfather; for the second element, see under Miffle, Finnish: Ruttuvaari) - an old man who appeared in Moominvalley in November. He is quite old and slightly old. He uses a sugar cane and owns many pairs of glasses that he carries in one basket. Gaffsie (Swedish: Gafsan – gafsä, chatter; little-tattle, Finnish: Louska) – does not have much information about Gaffsie, except that she is a friend of Fillyjonk. She appeared in Tales from Moominvalley in the stories The Fillyjonk who Believed in Disasters and The Fir Tree. She is also mentioned in Moominvalley on Nov. Witches in Moomin World, Naantali, Finland. The Witch (Swedish: Håxan, Finnish: Noita, Japanese: Clarissa (クラリッサ)) - The witch looks quite scary and has some powerful magic in her possession, but is a harmless old lady although she does not like strong moomins. She wants Alice not to play with them and pay more attention to her studies, but to warn them up later. The Witch first appeared in the 1990 animated series and did not appear in original or comic stories. Alicia (Swedish: Alisa, Finnish: Alisa) - Alice, granddaughter of the Witch, likes moomins and plays with them on sly whenever witches are otherwise occupied. She is a witch in training herself, and develops some magical skills in the series, most notably walking water surface, breathe underwater and run at lightning speed. Like the Witch, she first appeared in the 1990 animated series and did not in original or comic stories. Nanna Anton Billy The Kid References ^ Yvonne Bertills.
