The Great Gatsby Vocabulary for Chapter 1 contains 30 words from the text. Students engage in the language of the story and understand the vocabulary and context of what they read (including student page numbers to easily find the words in the context of the novel). PROPOSED IMPLEMENTATION OF ACTIVITIESWe've all seen the matching or multiple-choice vocabulary ratings with the words in one column and dictionary definitions in the other. These assessments require students to understand the context of the word in a sentence from the novel. This not only requires them to know the definition, but it also forces them to use the word in the right situation. Students challenged to find the word on the page, to find out its meaning sentence, and write their own definition without using a dictionary. INCLUDED: ★ 30-word vocabulary list from Chapter 1 of The Great Gatsby★ 30-question Quiz from Chapter 1 of The Great GatsbyOr you could choose another set of chapters: ★ entire novel... Chapters 1, 2-3, 4-5, 6-7, 8-9Quests are corresponding and require the student to read a line from the novel, understand the meaning of the words, and fill in the blank entry with correct-meaning word. Great vocabulary word choices. Vocabulary is never really fun for students, but if you get it for a story they love, it makes it so much easier! My students loved having vocabulary that came out of their story rather than having a pre-selected list that had nothing to do with her reading material.▼ I love this! Not only do students have to define the word, they have to calculate the context of the word using clues from the book. No more boring definitions copied from a dictionary—these make students think! ▼ Very engaging and a great way to make sure that students really understand unfamiliar vocabulary. The teacher's author chose large vocabulary words and contains the page number on which each can be found. It's strictly what's in the preview. The quizzes are composed of sentences that are removed directly from the text. It was an enrichment for my existing unit ▼. I used this with my special education students in our literature circles! The vocabulary was a huge help. The quizzes were excellent resources for a review at the end of the book! Thanks for making my life easier! A+++▼ LOVED this rather than a more traditional approach to vocabulary. Love how the words were relevant. Great list of vocabulary words from the book along with quizzes! Working on words in context is useful in so many ways. This got the kids to make sure they use the words in context and refer to the text. Knowing how the words are used in the book is invaluable. Register to be aware of If personality is an unbroken series of successful gestures, then there was something wonderful about him, an increased sensitivity to the promises of life, as if he were related to one of those intricate machines that record earthquakes ten thousand miles away. dignified formal or stately in lower or outward this responsiveness had nothing to do with that flaccid impressionability worthy of the name of creative temperament-- it was an extraordinary gift for hope, a romantic willingness as I have never found in another person and which it is unlikely that I will ever find again. Temperament your usual mood This responsiveness had nothing to do with that limp impressionability that is worthy under the name of creative temperament--it was an extraordinary gift for hope, a romantic willingness as I have never found in another person and which it is unlikely I will ever find again. romantic not wise about practical matters This reaction had nothing to do with that limp impressionability worthy of the name of creative temperament--it was an extraordinary gift for hope, a romantic willingness I have never found another person and it is unlikely that I will ever find it again. prey hunting for No --Gatsby turned out well in the end; it's what over Gatsby, some dirt dust hovered in the wake of his dreams that temporarily shut down my interest in the abortive grief and short-breath elations of the people. dirt disgusting dirty; filled or smeared with offensive matter No--Gatsby turned out well in the end; it's what preyed on Gatsby, what dirt dust floated in the wake of his dreams that temporarily closed my interest in the failed grief and short-winded elations of the people. failed not to achieve a intended result No--Gatsby turned out well in the end; it's what preyed on Gatsby, what dirt dust floated in the wake of his dreams that temporarily closed my interest in the failed grief and short-winded elations of the people. elated a sense of joy and pride No--Gatsby turned out well in the end; it's what preyed on Gatsby, what dirt dust floated in the wake of his dreams that temporarily closed my interest in the failed grief and short-winded elations of the people. prominently striking in position or interest My family have been prominent, well-known people in this central-western city for three generations. generation group of genetically related organisms in a line of lineage My family have been prominent, well-known people in this mid-Western city for three generations. descended from The Carraways are something of a clan and we have a tradition that we descended from the Dukes of Buccleuch, but the actual founder of my line was the brother of my grandfather who came here in fifty-one, sent a substitute to the Civil War and started the wholesale hardware company that my father carries on today. founder of a person who establishes an institution the Carraways are something of a clan and we have a tradition that we descended from the Dukes of Buccleuch, but the actual founder of my line was the brother of my grandfather who came here in fifty-one. sent a substitute to the Civil War and started the wholesale hardware company that my father runs on today. grave that requires serious thought All my aunts and uncles talked about it as if they were choosing a school for me and finally said, Why-- ye-es with very serious, hesitant faces. He had casually granted me the freedom of the neighborhood. security property that your creditor can claim in case of default I bought a dozen volumes on banking and credit and investment securities and they stood on my shelf in red and gold as new money from the currency, promising to unfold the shiny secrets that only Midas and Morgan and Maecenas knew. solemn dignified and gloomy manner or character was rather literary in college - one year I wrote a series of solemn and obvious editorials for the Yale News--- and now I was going to bring back all these things in my life and again that the most limited of all the specialists, the well-rounded man. epigram a witty saying This is not just an epigram — life is much more successfully viewed from a single window, after all. domesticated converted or adapted to use in the house Twenty miles from the city a few huge eggs, identical in contour and separated only by a courtesy bay, jut in the most domesticated body of salt water in the Western Hemisphere, the great wet farmyard of Long Island Sound. Continue forever or indefinitely They are not perfectly ovals - like the egg in the Columbus story they are both crushed flat at the contact end - but their physical resemblance should be a source of eternal confusion for the seagulls who fly overhead. phenomenon each state or process known by the senses To the wingless a more arresting phenomenon is their inequalities in every particular, except form and size. bizarrely striking or grossly unconventional or unusual I lived on West Egg, the - well, the less fashionable of the two, although this is a most superficial tag to express the bizarre and not a little sinister contrast between them. colossal as large in size or size or size as awe to arouse The one on my right was a colossal affair by a standard - it was an actual imitation of some Hôtel de Ville in Normandy, with a tower on one side, spanking new under a thin beard of raw ivy, and a marble pool and more than forty acres of lawn and garden. console giving moral or emotional strength to my own home was an eye-sore, but it was a small eye-sore, and it was overlooked, so I had a view of the water, a partial view of my neighbor's lawn, and the comforting proximity of millionaires - all for eighty dollars a month. proximity to the property from close together My own house was an eye-sore, but it was a small eye-sore, and it was overlooked, so I had a view of the water, a partial view of my neighbor's lawn, and the comforting proximity of millionaires--all for eighty dollars a month. blaming a mild rebuke or criticism His family was hugely wealthy - even in college his freedom with money was a matter of recriminations - but now he had left Chicago and come east in a way that would rather take your breath away: for example he had brought down one polo ponies from Lake Forest. turbulence a state of violent disturbance and disorder This was a permanent move, said Daisy over the phone, but I didn't believe it - I had no sight in Daisy's heart, but I felt that Tom would float forever looking a little bit the dramatic turbulence of an irreparable football game. Momentum a compelling force or force The lawn started on the beach and ran to the front door for a quarter of a mile, jumping over sun-dials and brick walks and burning gardens - finally when it reached the house floating side in bright vines as well as out of the momentum of the run. supercilious have or show arrogant disdain or hubris Now he was a sturdy, straw-haired man of thirty with a rather hard mouth and a supercilious way. state dominance when one person or group has power over another Two radiant, arrogant eyes had established dominance over his face and gave him the appearance of always aggressively leaning forward. effeminate with unsuitable feminine qualities Even the effeminate swank of his riding clothes could hide the sheer power of that body - he seemed to fill those glittering boots until he strained the upper lacing and you could see a large pack of muscle shifting as his shoulder moved under his thin jacket. disdain disrespect accompanied by a sense of intense revulsion There was a touch of paternal disdain in it, even toward people he liked --and there were men in New Haven who had hated his guts. vista the visual percept of a region Turning Me Around by one arm he moved a broad flat hand along the front vista, including in his sweep a sunken Italian garden, half an acre of deep pungent roses and a snub-nosed motorboat that bumped the tide off shore. sharply strong and sharp to the sense of taste or smell Turning me around by one arm he moved a wide flat hand along the front vista, including in his sweep a sunken Italian garden, half an acre of deep pungent roses and a snub-nosed motorboat that bumped the tide off shore. conscientiously characterized by extreme care and great effort The other girl, Daisy, made an attempt to get up -- she leaned forward slightly with a conscientious expression -- then she laughed, an absurd, charming smile, and I also laughed and came forward in the room. irrelevant without affecting or connecting with the subject in question (I've heard that the murmur of Daisy was just to make people lean towards her; an irrelevant criticism that made it no less charming.) compulsion to do something that could be better undone Her face was sad and beautiful with bright things in it, bright eyes and a bright passionate mouth - but there was an excitement in her voice that men who had cared for her had to forget: a singing compulsion, a whispered Listen, a promise that she had done gay, exciting things only a while since and that there were gay, exciting things floating in the next hour. hovering, of something threatening, dark, or menacing Tom Buchanan who was floating restlessly across the room stopped and rested his hand on my shoulder. desolate crushed by The De De city is deserted. Grieving state of grief over the death or departure of a beloved All cars have painted the left rear wheel black as a funeral wreath and there is a sustained wailing all night along the North Shore. wailing a cry of grief and sorrow All cars have painted the left rear wheel black as a mourning wreath and there is a persistent wailing all night along the North Shore. utterly explicit At this point Miss Baker absolutely said! with such a sudden that I started - it was the first word she spoke since I came into the room. deftly skilled in physical movements; especially from the hands Apparently it surprised her as much as it did me, as she yawned and with a series of quick, deft movements stood in the room. answer back Don't look at me, Daisy replied. incredulous in her host's incredulous manner looked at her incredulous. accentuating stress or single out as important She was a slim, small-chested girl, with an upright carriage that she accentuated by throwing her body backwards on the shoulders like a young cadet. bantering cleverly amusing of tone Sometimes she and Miss Baker chatted at once, unobtrusively and with a bantering inconsequence that never quite chatted, which was as cool as their white dresses and their impersonal eyes in the absence of any desire. pessimist a person who expects the worst I've gotten to be a terrible pessimist about things. dominant exercise of influence or control It is up to us who are the dominant race to watch out if these other races will have control over things. fiery extremely hot We have to beat them, whispered Daisy, winking ferociously at the fiery sun. infinitely small I am, and you are and you are and---- After an infinite hesitation, he took Daisy with a slight wink and winked at me again. --and we produced all the things that civilization is going to make -- oh, science and art and all that. Complacency the feeling you have when you are satisfied with yourself There was something pathetic in his concentration as if his complacency, more acute than of old, was not enough to make him any more. affection a positive sense of taste For a moment the last sun with romantic affection fell on her glowing face; her voice forced me breathlessly forward as I listened - then the glow faded, each light leaving her with lingering regret as children leave a pleasant street at dusk. linger slowly and hesitantly For a moment the last sun fell with romantic affection on her glowing face; her voice forced me breathlessly forward as I listened - then the glow faded, each light leaving her with lingering regret as children leave a pleasant street at dusk. regret sadness associated with number wrong or disappointment For a moment the last sun fell with romantic affection on her glowing face; Hair Hair forced me breathlessly forward as I listened -- then the glow faded, each light leaving her with lingering regret as children leave a pleasant street at dusk. completely deprived or missing Miss Baker and I exchanged a short glance deliberately devoid of meaning. audible or perceptible through the ear A muffled murmur was audible in the room outside and Ms. Baker leaned forward, unabashedly, trying to hear. skepticism about the truth of something I couldn't guess what Daisy and Tom were thinking, but I doubt even Miss Baker who seemed to have mastered a certain hardy skepticism was utterly able to get this fifth guest shrill metallic urgency out of mind. Watch a purposeful guard to monitor or observe Tom and Miss Baker, with several feet of dusk between them strolled back to the library, as if to have a wake next to a perfectly tangible body, while trying to be pleasantly interested and a little deaf I followed Daisy around a chain of connecting porches to the front porch. palpable perceptible by the senses, especially the sense of touch Tom and Miss Baker, with several feet of dusk between them strolled back into the library, as if to have a wake next to a perfectly tangible body, while trying to look pleasantly interested and a little deaf I followed Daisy around a chain of connecting porches to the front porch. turbulently characterized by unrest or disorder or insubordination I saw that turbulent emotions possessed her, so I asked what I thought some calming questions about her little girl would be. sedative that tended to calm or calm down I saw that turbulent emotions possessed her, so I asked what I thought would be some calming questions about her little girl. cynically believe the worst of human nature and motives Well, I've had a very bad time, Nick, and I'm pretty cynical about everything. grin a smile expressing smugness or disdain rather than pleasure I waited for, and sure enough, in a moment when she looked at me with an absolute grin on her beautiful face as if she were her membership in a rather distinct secret society to which she and Tom belonged. crimson colour, a deep and vibrant red colour Inside, the crimson room bloomed with light. confirm to establish or strengthen as with new evidence or facts that is true, confirmed Tom kindly. deceive a false and malicious publication selfishness an exaggerated view of your own interest Something was him nibbling on the edge of stale ideas as if his firm physical selfishness no longer fed his compelling heart. feeding feeding food to Something was causing him to nibble on the edge of stale ideas as if his firm physical selfishness wasn't nourished his compelling heart. peremptory does not allow contradiction or refusal Something was him nibbling on the edge of old ideas as if his firm physical selfishness were no longer nourished his Heart. bellows a very loud uttering The wind was blown away, causing a loud clear night with wings knocking in the trees and a persistent organ sound as the full bellows of the earth blew the frogs full of life. silhouette a sketch of a solid object as thrown by its shadow The silhouette of a moving cat wobbled over the moonlight and turned my head to look I saw that I was not alone - fifty feet away a figure had emerged from the shadow of my neighbor's mansion and stood with his hands in his pockets relating to the silver pepper of the stars. intimation a slight suggestion or vague understanding But I did not call to him before he gave a sudden intimation that he was content to be alone - he stretched his arms to the dark water in a curious way, and as far as I was his I could have sworn that he was trembling. Tremble.
