It was great until a new update came out a few months ago when the language was switched to Chinese and many people couldn't understand a single thing. For people who have this problem, tap your character's avatar in the top left corner and tap the settings image. Tap the first big button on the right, just like you did it. Then you need to view the language and tap on the English language. Tap the left button to reopen the game. Hopefully this can help :) they really stand for the (snail) title. It's not a joke, it's really sad. If something bad happens to the player's account, they will do every possible to find out why they can't help you. When they need to do everything they can to help you. They will do the exact opposite, which is a sorry. My account was recently hacked and that person sold all my gear, jade skills, treasures, etc. The list continues. It's a lot of wasted time and hard work because snails are actually too lazy to help. What they care about is your money, and if your account is screwed up, they'll rather start over and spend the money again, so they won't help you. Stupid snail companies are trash. I don't want to support stupid people like them. their careless, thirsty, money hungry people. The game is just fun, but customer service is straight up the garbage. It's a sorry when you lose all the hard work and SNAIL doesn't do anything about it. They resend the same email over and over again, even though you give them the information they asked for. Pretend they're trying to help u by asking u for information, but when you give it to them they'll keep asking you for it. Such garbage people my phone broke a while ago, so I couldn't play the game for a while. A lot of things had changed when I finally got a new one and went to install the game again. There is no problem, but one of the problems is that the default language is Chinese, even though Snail games are said to be among us. Another problem I have is that after level 20, the game will no longer give u upgraded resources and will have to auto-plunder to get them. I've made several different characters, but they all run into the same problem. I have a level 50 character with level 20 gear. Please fix it. The European version of Ullin's Age, published by Webzen, was closed in July 2017 and players were given the option to transfer to a new European server established as part of Wushu's age, a version of the game published by Snail USA. Gameplay players first select one of the eight factions, then develop their own characters, learn new skills, and engage in PvE and PvP content. The game does not feature a class system, but players can join one of the eight-player factions, or schools: Sallin, Taketoyo, Emey, Beggar denominated, Tang Clan, Scholar Academy, Royal Guard and Wanderers Valley. Limited skills are limited to the internal skills of each school. This means that when a player leaves a faction or school, the ability to use the school's internal skills is lost. Many activities, such as quests, gatherings, crafting, and combat, give you experience points converted into cultivation points used to improve combat skills. Elements of the game include solo and party dungeons, equipment systems, craft and professions, housing systems, and mounts. The attributes of chivalry and guilt determine the player's reputation and alignment in the Jianghu system. Combat in-game combat includes elements from legendary Chinese stories like real martial arts as well as super-human abilities and crouching tigers, hidden dragons and heroes are depicted in movies like: [2] [3] There are no class or level restrictions. Instead, the game uses a skill-based system where players are no longer learning new abilities and talents to progress. Combat depends on skill proficiency, not assigned numbers. There are three different skills similar to rock paper scissors games: ally (damage skill), find (defensive skill), block (block in coming damage) There are various skills besides these categories. When you use your skills, you'll consume the energy equivalent to a mana pool. Factions Instead of schools, players can choose factions instead. Factions were released in the Tempest of the expansion of the conflict.
