With an old wooden bed frame to cut a one See 2 photos for Make it more stable. So I started with getting some palette to see what it seemed like. I wasn't impressed. But try to get some advice palette that's alike or fit together well I had to play Tetris with me. I picked mine at this recycling center in the city. I then went to the menards 3-1x12x8s and picked up 3-1x10x8s 1x10s went around the outside side of the palette and the 1x12s went on top of the highlight palette. I diagonally just cuz I think it looks alil better, but your options I cut the palette corners measured to fit around outside for a 1x10x8s cut. I used 1x12x8s for top pieces that get lapped of mattresses. I cut corners at a 90 degree angle. A cut from corner to corner by measuring 1 foot square. Alil sloppy but I didn't have a triangle. I used 2 inch dry wall screws to mount all this palette, a few cherry oak stains from Valley World. One is this. Im now thinking about deeds some mini night stands on the side. Considering a small headboard. If I do anything i'll update eles. Thank you. Watch Photography/Uppercut Images/Getty Images A standard full size bed frame fits double mattress.
