Millionaire club scam

Do you want to make money from the binary market? are you looking if the Secret Millionaire Club is a scam or a legitimate opportunity to make money? First of all, I want to congratulate you for doing your due diligence and really, is the best way to avoid online fraud and save your hard-earned money. Let me help you learn the truth about the Secret Millionaires Club and help you in the right direction to make money online. Secret Millionaire Club software is a recurring auto shopping scam binary options! This program is very old and you can check your privacy policy, which says it is updated in 2014! Secret Millionaire Club Review Company Name: Secret Millionaire Club Website URL: Owner: Unknown? Steven and Sam? Launched: Re-released in 2019, first launched in 2014! Price: $200 Recommended: NO! What is a secret millionaire club all about? Secret Millionaire Club provides secret software through which you can earn $1,135,659 in just six months! It's a marketing software and make you a system. Representative Steven claims that the software is completely free to use for everyone. The program also states that even if you are new, without trading knowledge, you will be $1,135,659 in six months! How does a secret millionaire club really work? According to Steven and Sam, owners of the Secret Millionaire Club, they have some secret software that will make you money on the autopilot system. You do not have any knowledge of trading, all this will be done to you by this software, and the software is only available for a limited time. Red Flags of Secret Millionaire Club's full selling video at Secret Millionaire Club continues claiming huge earnings you can make with this software. But never mention a single word of how this software really works! although the program claims that you earn $1,135,659 in six months, it is hilarious how you can accurately count how much you are going to earn this a lot of money. Secondly, in marketing you can not guarantee the results, then as a secret millionaire club, claims that anyone who uses this software will earn this a lot of money, even if one does not have any knowledge! Any business that is binary or affiliate or blogging needs proper knowledge and training, without which you can not succeed in the program. I mentioned affiliate marketing and blogging because Steven mentioned a sales video that did nothing to help him, tried affiliate marketing and blogging. You can't create and run affiliate marketing and blogging as a business using any secret software you need to work hard and patiently in any area. 2. Unknown owners! Like many dubious programs, the owner never appears in the video, and Sam, whether they are owners or spokespersons for the press is not clear. As I said, this program is old, it is presented again with some changes and small tweaks, a few years before the same program was submitted by owner Mark and Alex! I've reviewed many programs where owners never reveal their identity, and it's going to prove that the program is not reliable and low quality. 3. The Secret Millionaire Club's privacy policy explicitly states that personal data collected from people such as name, phone and e-mail may be provided to a third party. so your personal data is not secure with the Secret Millionaire Club, and there is no guarantee that they will not sell your personal information for your profit! 4. The Non-Free Program Secret Millionaire Club claims that it is free to join this program, and the secret software is free to use for all its members, but you need to pay $200 for a trading brokerage, and then only you will be able to use this software. 5. Not a single testimony Although the program has been online for several years, and every time it is presented in a new form, the program does not have a single certificate to prove that this program is running. A few years ago, it introduced a few success stories, but that with over-using random photos from the internet, and secret millionaire club, has not been successful and you will clearly see the screen years since this program tries to scam newcomers. You will also see that you need to pay starting a deposit of $250 in 2014-2015, now it is reduced to $200! How much does a secret millionaire club really cost? The Secret Millionaire Club claims that the software and the program are free, it costs you $200 to log in unless you are unable to use the secret software provided by the program. Is the Secret Millionaire Club a scam? After reviewing the Secret Millionaire Club in detail, and the marketing scammers and binary company backlisted this program, this is a clear scam program. There are many programs that claim excitation and unrealistic income claims and all red flags, but at least they have a money back guarantee, even if you pay as little as $9 or $7. The Secret Millionaire Club program pays $200, and there is no money back guarantee, you don't have any training nor any proof that the program is running. In addition, the Secret Millionaire Club has made it clear that they are not a broker and under US government rules, if you want to trade, you need to consult with official brokers. So the best option is not to invest your money in this scam program and better invest in other web applications like affiliate marketing, which is a novice friendly program. If you want to learn about A by Z about affiliate marketing for free, have a look at the platform where I've been working over the last few years. This is a platform where I have been working over the last few years and about internet marketing. But if you want to put little or no effort into getting results. This is a new site that claims to generate $1,135,659 in six months using special trading software. Apparently, the software does all the work for you. Sounds a little too good to be true though, doesn't it? Well I decided to take a closer look at whether it's legal or just another scam. And in this review, I will show you what I found. Secret Millionaire Club Review I came across the Secret Millionaire Club website (secretmillionairesclub.co) today, after someone sent me a spam email about logging in. This is actually how I discover many programs to view this blog. And unfortunately many times this is a scam that uses misleading hype to sell you something that doesn't work. anyway, I clicked the link to the email address and wound up on the Secret Millionaire Club sales page. Which consists of a video and form to put your name and email address to join the club. The video is provided by Steven, who claims to make millions of dollars online because of special marketing software that only he and his buddies have access to, so far. Apparently, he is now sharing this software with a select group of just 30 people, absolutely free. So if you sign in, you'll get access to revolutionary software that runs 100% autopilot, that devastating amount of money. Unfortunately, this is nothing more than BS hype. This character of Steven never even shows his face, or provides any evidence that he is a real person. Not to mention that he's making millions. And despite the fact that this software is free, here is a hidden agenda and in this section I will explain what it is. How does the Secret Millionaire Club work? A few Secret Millionaires Club works are primarily luring you to the sales page. Often through spam email or online advertising of some kind. Then when you are on the page, the idea is to sell you the idea that you can make tons of money full of autopilot because secret software no one knows about. All this sounds very compelling, and exciting. Because let's face it, who doesn't want that quick and easy money? In any case, if you follow Steven's instructions and formalize your name and email into the form, you'll find yourself on the second page. Which is also the video, but this time it is presented by a guy named Sam Johnson. It instructs you to fill out another, more detailed form. From here you are directed to a trading broker, where you have to deposit at least $250 to start trading. And, of course, to get this secret software. And here is the deception. The whole purpose of this site is to direct you to the shady trading brokerage you are making money. Because when you do this, the people behind the Secret Millionaire Club website earn commissions. So the software may be free, but it still costs you money and these people still make money from you, so they direct you to join. There is nothing wrong with promoting a legitimate brokerage and offering people software to win deals. But in this case, neither is true. The software will not make you rich in autopilot and often brokers on these sites directly for you to log in, are unregulated and in some cases, outright scam operations. Verdict - Is the Secret Millionaire Club a scam? Yes, in my opinion, the Secret Millionaires Club is a scam. The site uses incredibly misleading hype to persuade you to join a trading broker and deposit money. All the way that people running the site can earn commissions from you. Unfortunately, this type of scam is very common too. Many people have lost money to scammers just like this over the years. As a weed millionaire, for example, a recent scam I've been exposed to that uses similar tactics. For example, pretending that there are only limited spots available. Which is a complete lie, all you have to do is update the page and free positions again. All this hype is designed for you to join the momentum without doing your homework. That's it. Either way, the software itself won't make you rich and it probably won't get you any money at all. The only people earning money here are the ones who are behind this site, at your expense. You decided to do it, but it's mine. I hope it will help. Helps.
