three dimensions: the smallest has only 175 square feet of interior space with an almost as large outdoor area. Our favorite part of the ecological holiday? A retractable window wall that opens to make a relaxing slab breeze. Adjacent to both a lake and a vineyard, this small boathouse didn't really need much more to recommend it, but its owners still chose to make it extra cozy and and with fireplace and antique floors, all in a space of 20 'x20'. Related: 10 See Worthy Boathouses Around the World This cozy cabin takes advantage of its scenic location with glass doors and a wall of windows, but maintains privacy while keeping the remaining walls windowless. A wide overhang allows you to sit on the porch and enjoy the view outdoors even when it rains. The diminutive size of the MicroHouse, of only 96 square feet, was determined by the maximum allowed for construction without permission. To make the most of the living space, the designer and owner included a sleeping loft area; a large connected bridge extends the outdoor living area. Designed by Taylor Smyth Architects, this cedar cabin has a sophisticated, modern vibe from its cedar-slatted exterior and green roof. Slats allow sunlight to enter the house at various intensities during the day. Related: The Great ESCAPE - A Prairie-Style Cabin on Wheels These glass structures by designer Linda Bergroth are as minimal as a lakeside house. A shed behind the head of the bed provides space so you can stick to the basics inside. Here, the simplicity of the glass cabin is accentuated by its idyllic environment: let's imagine that it would be difficult not to relax. While many of the lakeside homes on our list favor extra comfort, this minimalist cabin at Andersson-Wise Architects is best suited for those who don't mind roughing it up just a bit. Although equipped with a small kitchen, toilet and electricity, the cabin lacks heating and air conditioning. The simple wooden exterior of this lakeside house by Rural Design Architects allows it to blend in with its country surroundings. Looking for a rustic holiday? You're in luck: The award-winning Hen House is available for vacation rentals. Slatted walls allow the sun and wind to pass through the house. Subject to strict regulations, this house was developed to occupy one of the many small islands in a lake in the Netherlands. The exterior has been kept as simple as possible to focus the spotlight on the picturesque surroundings. After seeing how well received the Island House was, 2by4-architects developed plans for a prefabricated version. From a former gym to a time capsule from the 1960s, the cool factor on these lists doesn't disappoint. December 15, 2016 Zillow Not all homes are the same, and these 10 at the top of our list out there this year. 1 of 10 YMCA Convert In a city like New York, space is a real luxury. This makes this 7,000-square-foot YMCA-turned-YMCA a one-of-a-kind real home. Lavish in the club's history (with former members including Andy Warhol and Al Pacino) as you enjoy more space than all your neighbors. 2 of 10 Brooklyn Brownstone Recognize this Brooklyn Stunner? That's because it's been featured in shows like Girls and Saturday Night Live. Despite its newfound fame, the 1860s property has been meticulously restored to honor its original grandeur. 3 of 10 Abstract Art This Newport Beach home is a work of art in itself. It features traditionally high-end touches like beamed ceilings and wide-plan floors, with striking elements like colorful deer heads and jungle-themed wallpaper. 4 of the 1960s Original Do you think this house was decorated by an interior designer obsessed with the retro? Try again. It hasn't been redecocorated since 1969, which means the groovy décor is original and still oh-so-fabulous. 5 of 10 Midcentury Throwback The teal set-up and terracotta accents surrounding this home make it perfect for Dallas' famous Disney Streets neighborhood. Monochrome neutral circles? We'd better keep moving. 6 of 10 NOLA Stunner This 1820s New Orleans home is a true product of the surrounding environment. Hand-painted murals reflect the neighborhood's vibrant restaurants and French waiting just outside the front door. 7 of 10 New York Castle Although this castle may seem like it belongs to the Scottish Highlands, it's actually a country house turned New York Castle. Despite its regal façade, it has earned a reputation as an epic celebrity party venue. 8 of 10 Basement Tavern This list could earn a place on our list simply because of its age (an incredible 267 years old!). But the best kept secret of the house is the incredible original stone tavern in the basement. 9 of 10 wandering waterways If you're a water lover, this Florida home might just be your dream come true. A quick dip in the pool will take you from the living room to the dining room to the dini winemaker, along a private beach at Hilton Head.
