I'll be traveling NYC to Atlantic City via Greyhound, and I'll be hoping a taxi to my hotel. Are taxis easy to flag outside the bus station? Thank you very much. Contributor Level 879 posts 1. Ohio Ave., right next to the bus area where buses arrive and depart from. Hopefully the GOOGLE MAPS connection of the bus station map area above will work to give you a view of the area. If not, just search the Atlantic City bus terminal on GOOGLE MAPS. Contributor Level 15,155 posts 56 comments 122 useful votes 2. Re: Taxi from the bus station 3 years ago I have never caught a taxi from the bus station. But. The bus station is next to The Walk where I catch a lot of taxis without problema. Maybe we can offer some more information, and I start with a Q - What is your hotel? Info I'm tossing out there: And, if y'all get off at the bus station, there's $slots casino from Greyhound Level Contributor 1,314 seats 1 review 3. Re: Taxi from the bus station 3 years ago Sometimes some routes on the lucky bus streak can be confusing. There's no need to get off at the Atlantic City terminal. As long as you have your ticket printed at the New York terminal and get off at any casino you will get some slot when you arrive. When you get off at a casino you will easily be able to get a taxi. Or a jitnie, if you like. No baggage is allowed in rewards. I've seen some let go, but I've also seen some people wait and then the driver says no. The best thing to do is to find the order of casino pick ups (every person inside the office bus depot can help you) for your return trip. Sometimes buses can fill up. So it's best to hop on on the first pickup. :) Contributor Level 2,460 posts 3 comments useful votes 4. Re: Taxi from the bus station 3 years ago Link worked flawlessly, naimar. Thank you for your trouble. rship1, I live about a mile from the bus station at Quality Inn Flamingo (Pacific Ave @ Montpelier). I won't visit the city for the usual reasons, so I'm not looking for casinos or slot machines. (But I will definitely check out the pedestrian street, since my hotel is a block away.) littlelauraann, I travel to Greyhound, and (according to site, at least) the bus throws me into the bus terminal. It will probably only take two taxi rides during my visit- to pick me up to and from the hotel. As for the luggage, the Bloodhounds have luggage lockers. (Fortunately for me, since I'm a geezer who hasn't figured out how to travel light!) Thank you all for taking the time to help me. Contributor Level 9,116 posts 8 comments 15 useful votes 5. Re: Taxi from the bus station 3 years ago The hotel is just over a mile from the bus station, travltowhrvr. Which I'd be happy to walk if I didn't carry luggage. But... Re: Taxi from the bus station 3 years ago Ookie dokie, the Trop stop is just 3 or less blocks from flamingos. I remember watching them gut and rehab The Flamingo from a balcony in a suite in Trop over months... And I'm going for another tangent. So. The taxi fare should be less to/from the Trop bus depot, since it is shorter distance Level Contributor 1,314 seats 1 review 8. Re: Taxi from the bus station 3 years ago I meant if you were to live on the side of the marina, you cant get luggage for the total bus rewards. The one who takes you from Caesars/ Ballies. You can completely take the luggage for the hound. :) his in the tes, but. if you can find one that falls on the tropicana, you shouldn't go to the hound at all. use this link if you like and see if any of the tropicana ones work in your favor. Right next to there. :) Contributor Level 2,460 posts 3 comments 8 useful votes 9. Re: Taxi from the bus station 3 years ago rship1, I am 100% PRO-TANGENT. Suite with balcony in Tropicana? Yozer. I shudder to think how much this costs. I'm dropping what feels to me like a blackmailing piece o' change ($324) for a weekend night at humble Flamingo. And flamingo was at the low end of the price range. Thanks for the excellent stop suggestion Trop. Haul my bag 3 blocks is not prob. littlelauraann, I misunderstood your first post-sorry-and thanks for clarifying. And thank you for connecting Greyhound. I'll look into it!
