The Story of Santa Claus Directed by Toby Bluth Country of origin United States Original language(s) English Production Produce Rachel Koretsky, Steven Whitestone Running time 44 minutes Production company(s) Arnold Shapiro Productions Film Roman CBS Productions CBS Broadcast International Distributor CBS Television Distribution 20th Century Fox Home Entertainment (VHS prints) Release Original release December 7, 1996 (1996-12-07) The Story of Santa Claus is a 1996 animated television special directed by Toby Bluth. He presented the voices of Ed Asner, Betty White and Tim Curry. The special presents an original story for Santa Claus, who is portrayed as a man named Nicholas Claus who wishes to give every child in the world a gift for Christmas. The elves of the North Pole are obliged to grant his wish, in the face of great obstacles. Plot The story opens in Europe, a long time ago. Nicholas Claus, nicknamed Santa by his wife Gretchen, is a toy manufacturer who wishes he could give a toy to every child in the world. It is explained that Nicholas grew up in angel's Island Orphanage, where he learned to make toys for other children himself. However, Nicholas is now in debt because he gives more toys than he sells. The clauses were later expelled by their greedy owner, Mr. Minch, who later forced Ms. Claus to hand over her wedding ring as a payment. Now penniless, Nicholas and Gretchen decide to bring their remaining toys to the children at angel's Island Orphanage. However, their ship is caught in a storm and they are miraculously transported to the North Pole. There they meet the elves, including the sorcerer's elf Nostos, his son Clement, and the elf-all-girl Aurora. When Nicholas saves Clement's life, Nostos is forced to grant him a wish. Nicholas wants him to be able to deliver toys to all the children of the world at Christmas. Nostos declares that it is impossible and trying to accomplish it will condemn the elves by destroying their magic. However, the wish cannot be taken up because it is now engraved among the stars. Nicholas and Gretchen manage to recruit almost all the elves to help them. Soon they built a toy factory and got to work. Nostos looks from afar, mocking their attempt to do the impossible and forbids Clement from getting involved. Clement sneaks in to help anyway. On the big day, Aurora realizes that Nicholas will have to be accompanied by a magical expert on his journey. She goes to Nostos, but he refuses. After thinking about it for a while, he changed his mind and went to the toy factory to help Nicholas. As their round-the-world trip ends, Nicholas insists that they make a stop at angel's Island Orphanage. It gives a to a young boy so he can cut toys for others like Nicholas once did. Once back at the North Pole, Nostos and the other elves vote to grant Claus, making them immortal. Nicolas declares that they will do it again every year forever and the elves applaud. Voice cast Ed Asner (talking) and Jim Cummings (vocals) as Nicholas Santa Claus Betty White as Gretchen Claus Tim Curry as Nostos Miko Hughes as Clement Kathryn Zaremba as Aurora Jim Cummings as Mr. Minch Songs To Give Every Child in the World a Toy (performed by Jim Cummings) We're going to Pull It Off (performed by Jim Cummings, Miko Hughes, Kathryn Zaremba and Tim Curry) Clement's Song (played by Jim Cummings and Miko Hughes) Santa's Ride (played by Jim Cummings, Miko Hughes, and Kathryn Zaremba) Production Phil Roman produces the special based on a teleplay by Steven Whitestone and Rachel Koretsky.
