Calculate the 10-year risk of heart disease or stroke using the ASCVD algorithm published in 2013 in the ACC/AHA guideline for assessing cardiovascular risk. This calculator assumes that you had no previous heart attack or stroke. If you do, it is generally recommended to discuss with your doctor about the onset of aspirin and a statin. In addition, if you have LDL-cholesterol (bad cholesterol) greater than 190, it is also generally recommended to discuss with your doctor about starting aspirin and statin. Unfortunately, there is insufficient data to reliably predict the risk for people under 40 years of age or over 79 years of age and for people with total cholesterol over 320 years of age. UPDATE (11/21/17) -- Acc/AHA released the 2017 Guideline for the Prevention, Detection, Evaluation and Management of High Blood Pressure in Adults. At a high level, the new guidelines redefine hypertension as blood pressure >=130/80 and recommend the initiation of anti-hypertension based on the risk score of ASCVD >=10%. This will be a major change from JNC-8. Let us know if you want us to incorporate the new guidelines into cvriskcalculator.com by completing this 1 question survey. UPDATE (6/30/16) -- The calculator has been tested in accordance with the final instructions of the USPSTF for initiation of aspirin therapy. UPDATE (9/18/15) - The calculator now also incorporates draft guidelines from the USPSTF for the initiation of aspirin treatment. UPDATE (5/26/14) - The Calculator also incorporates guidelines from JNC-8 for blood pressure management. An excel spreadsheet is also available for download.
