One of the things that stands out most about Soul Eater must be its quirky character design. People would be hard pressed to find a design just as Professor Steins or Medusa are elsewhere, and it's easy to remember what characters look like even though it's been quite some time since seeing them. One of the most interesting must crona, the black-blooded experimental child who eventually broke out from under Medusa's thumb to try to take back his own life. Being the only androgynous character in the entire series. Crona has an incredibly unique look befitting their equally quirky personality. But just like how their soft-pink hair helps to add some soft vibes to their otherwise edgy appearance, their fearful, violent exterior belies a shivering child with a heart of gold. With all these things working together, it's no wonder they became such a hit with cosplayers. 10 Dripping Black Especially at the start of the series, before Crona's defense is broken through by Maka, they come out as incredibly scary. These vibes could not have been captured more clearly than in this image of windowcleanr's Crona, as their pose depicts their unstable personality perfectly. Every part of their costume looks amazingly accurate, especially their wig and dripping eyeliner effect they managed to pull off. The pink light shining background behind them is a great touch, and helps the shot pop more. 9 Double-edged Although there is no shortage of incredibly cool weapon designs throughout the series, one of the very best must be Ragnarok, demons value and Crona's weapon partner. Posing by daisya berry sword in this shot makes them come out as even cooler too, as they cross over Crona from an eerie extra set of arms. Their creativity shines through in the way that this shot was made, and the background only adds to the air of anxiety that one feels on its display. Each part of the costume looks fantastic, but the swords look particularly well made. 8 Scarred Child When viewers were first introduced to Crona, it was hard to imagine exactly what their past could have been like. They simply seem like a deranged threat, barking the orders of an invisible witch, one that must be stopped. It's tear-jerking when the series finally reveals its past, being under Medusa's cruel thumb and being subjected to her abusive, manipulative whims when she deemed appropriate. This side of Crona- the wounded child under tyrannical rule- is portrayed heartbreakingly in this shot of brainrot.cos. The bruises painted on the face are contrasted eerily by the shining stars who decorate their wig. 7 A Decade's Work Practice makes perfect, and the best way to get better at cosplaying is to simply keep doing it and hone your craft. This ideology is captured beautifully in this comparison shot of chalisa cos, with a decade has passed between their Crona trials. Even in their older picture, it's clear that they love Crona's character — but as with all new cosplayers, it's also clear that they feel a little awkward. Their newer photo shows massive improvement with their wig styling, posing, and especially their confidence, which is simply amazing to see. 6 Halloween Spirit After Crona is pulled out of the depths of his own madness by Maka, the two begin to spend a lot of time together, with Maka helping Crona discover poetry, attending parties, and other things they missed. It makes perfect sense for them to celebrate Halloween together, then, and mintt.cos makes an amazing wife along with an equally impressive Crona. Both their costumes and wigs look absolutely perfect, and their personalities shine through from their expressions alone. 5 Conflict-Ready Under the ruthless control of Medusa, Crona couldn't do much except swallow the pacifist inside those who don't want anything to do with hurting others and simply swinging his blade instead. This kind of their captured wonderfully in this picture of leafy grasss as they hide behind their beautifully made, giant replica of Ragnarok. Their costume looks spot-on, and it goes double for their wig, as it's immediately clear how much styling and effort went into it. 4 The Experiment & Company of their costume looks spot-on, and it goes double for their wig, as it's immediately clear how much styling and effort went into it. 4 The Experiment & Company of their costume looks spot-on, and it goes double for their wig, as it's immediately clear how much styling and effort went into it. 4 The Experiment & Company of their costume looks spot-on, and it goes double for their wig, as it's immediately clear how much styling and effort went into it. 4 The Experiment & Company of their costume looks spot-on, and it goes double for their wig, as it's immediately clear how much styling and effort went into it. 4 The Experiment & Company of their costume looks spot-on, and it goes double for their wig, as it's immediately clear how much styling and effort went into it. 4 The Experiment & Company of their costume looks spot-on, and it goes double for their wig, as it's immediately clear how much styling and effort went into it. 4 The Experiment & Company of their costume looks spot-on, and it goes double for their wig, as it's immediately clear how much styling and effort went into it. 4 The Experiment & Company of their went into it. 4 The Experiment & Company of their went into it. 4 The Experiment & Company of their went into it. 4 The Experiment & Company of their went into it. 4 The Experiment & Company of their went & Scientist It makes sense for Professor Stein to want to spend time around Crona, as they are an incredibly ambitious experiment considering that their weapons- and of course their blood is black. But it may not be the safest idea. Stein's wide, deranged smile comes out as incredibly creepy, which is absolutely perfect given his nature, especially as the series progresses and the madness grip worsens. Mercurycosplay's wide-eyed gaze doesn't seem very frightened, however, and the two make for the creepy combination. 3 Forever overwhelmed Crona's catchphrase, as early as the very first episode they appear, I don't think I know how to deal with it. No matter what situation they are thrust into, their anxiety is incredibly obvious, and r4iny.jpg captures these feelings of their perfect. From their sad, wide-eyed expression upward to how their hands tightly link themselves with their hands, Crona's easily frightened personality couldn't have been shown better. The choice to have some black blood dripping from your nose is a great artistic touch as well. 2 Uncertain Pout If there's one thing Crona does consistently, that's concern-but, thankfully, their view of the world begins to shine something as Maka begins to open them up to new experiences. Axaebe couldn't have done a more masterful job at capturing the troubled, trapped side of their personality, and their wig styling is particularly immaculate. It's easy to Crona's shaky voice that they can't handle their current circumstances is simply from a single glance, a sign that cosplayer really managed to capture their personality perfectly. 1 Under Her Thumb Crona's past is an incredibly tragic one- at first it is far too fragile and soft-hearted to be treated better. Although Crona states that they have no memories of Medusa acting as a real maternal figure, there is much more of her threatening their lives, locking them up and depriving them of basic necessities. This disturbing dynamic is perfectly captured by cassplayss saltprince cosplay like Medusa and Crona, respectively. They both look absolutely perfect, and their contact lenses are particularly striking. NEXT: Which Soul Eater Character Are You Based On Your Zodiac Sign?
