Project angel heart bag decorating

Project Angel Heart and Local Relic brewery team up for Labels of Love, a month dedicated to Project Angel Heart's paper meal bags. The bags are illustrated by local artists of all ages and skill levels and used to deliver nourishing meals to neighbors who are sick. Their artwork provides a personal, heartwarming touch that reminds meal receivers they're loved! Join us for any (or all) of the events below to see a pocket art show, decorate your own bag, enter your bag of artwork in our regulated art fair/beer label competition, or fill a bag with food. Every $50 donation fills a bag with a week's worth of nourishing meals for a Colorado Springs neighbor living with life-threatening illness! > November 2, 4:30-9:30pm- First Friday Kickoff First Friday Meal Bag Art Show + Bag Decorating Party + Give! campaign. Local Relics at the Carter Payne 320 S Weber Street, Colorado Springs, CO 80903 Hours: Wednesdays 4-9pm, Thursdays 4-10pm, Fridays 4-10pm, Saturdays 3-10pm, Sundays11:30am-6:30pm Project Angel Heart improves health and wellness for Coloradans with life-threatening illnesses through the power of food as a medicine. Our professional chefs prepare tasty, nourishing meals from scratch and adapt them to meet customers' medical needs. Every week, volunteers deliver them to 250 Colorado Springs neighbors (and another 1,000 in other areas) dealing with diseases like cancer, kidney disease, and HIV/AIDS Why Food gives power. It brings joy. And it serves as a medicine for people who are sick. Our meals are designed to support the medical treatment plans of critically ill neighbors - and research shows they are doing just that. Many Project Angel Heart meal recipients save money on health care and are more likely to stay out of hospital. That's why this big idea -- that nutritious food is essential for health care-catching on. Need volunteers! Join us to deliver meals to neighbours in need on Saturday mornings or add a special, feel-good touch by decorating our meal delivery bags. Did you know Project Angel Heart customers living with diabetes, heart failure, and COPD spend an average of 24% less on savings of $416-$736 per month! If it wasn't for Project Angel Heart, I probably wouldn't be alive today. It's amazing how hard it is to have healthy meals you are alone and sick. I appreciate the variety so I don't lose my appetite. - Project Angel Heart customer who is with heart failure Available Now Photograph: Courtesy Project Angel Heart The meal bags go to Coloradans who are homebound due to serious health conditions. The nonprofit invites families to decorate their meal delivery bags. Most of our customers are extremely ill and as a result they are often isolated, says Amy Daly, director of marketing and communications for Project Angel Heart. The drawings on the mealbags are a way to bring a little courage into their lives. It's a good reminder to our customers that people care about. The meal bags can be picked up and dropped off (with no contact) at the Denver and Colorado Springs offices. Project Angel Heart encourages individuals of all ages to decorate the bags with thours, markers and colored pencils. It's a great project for a learning pod, corporate volunteer group, or a family, Daly says, and it's a simple way to introduce children to volunteers and philanthropy. Our hope is that the dinner bags bring some joy to someone who might be going through a very difficult time, she says. projectangelheart.org/volunteer This article appeared in the November 2020 issue of Colorado Parent. What a surprise! ♣ ♣ ♣ Warmest Wishes for You and Yours! ♣ We're taking a little break today, so our offices in Denver and Colorado Springs are closed. If you normally receive your meals on Fridays, you can expect them tomorrow afternoon. While we keep thinking about new ways to celebrate this holiday season and come together, the act of giving back to our community feels even harder. However, families can volunteer together in their own homes by decorating meal bags for the local non-profit, Project Angel Heart. Decorating meal bags is a great way to introduce children to the ideas of volunteers and philanthropy. Project Angel Heart, a Colorado-based prepare and deliver medically adapted meals to people living with Diseases. Every week, their professional chefs and registered dietitian prepare thousands of meals, from scratch, and adapt them to meet the medical and dietary needs of those who are ill. Project Angel Heart generally uses about 1,600 meal bags each week to deliver more than 10,000 meals to about 1,300 Coloradans in need. The focus at Project Angel Heart is on improving health and nutrition, but they've always worked hard to make sure there's a lot of heart in the work they do. Most of their customers are extremely sick and as a result they are often isolated. The volunteer who delivers their meal bag may be the only person they see a few weeks. The artwork on the mealbags is a way to bring a little courage into their lives. It's a good reminder of the customers people care about. Not everyone has the time to volunteer in the Project Angel Heart kitchen or deliver meals. But decorating meal bags is something anyone can do, and it can be a fun, interactive group activity for families. Pocket decoration began many years ago when a volunteer group arrived and there weren't enough tasks for them in the kitchen. The group was put to work decorating meal bags. Customers loved the ornate bags, and a tradition was born. Many customers write or call to share how much they enjoy seeing different pocket designs each week. Meal bags can be picked up at the Project Angel Heart offices, decorated offsite and then returned to the offices. All ages may participate. Project Angel Heart offers a no-contact bag pickup and drop-off process at their offices in Denver and Colorado Springs. This is a great way to introduce volunteers of all ages and abilities to the service provided by Project Angel Heart and have a positive impact on the lives of meal recipients.
