The connections between parents and students are super important for success. pic.twitter.com/xfumkddJEs — Wendy Mills (@WendyMillsTV) November 12, 2019 Absolutely, is engaging parents in the education of their students early and having them feel welcome and have a voice to be a partner in this relationship with their students, said principal Shannon Heller. We look forward to becoming the early learning center of the community. We have wanted it for so long and we want to meet the needs of all our students and be equitable in resources but we also want to meet the needs of the whole family and our effort of community schools will allow us to do so we are delighted. The learning center will focus on early education for children in the district. A community school is both a place and a set of associations. We are here to support families and students, said Kelly Sperduto, community schools coordinator. Whatever the need we identify, we are here to attend to these and help families feel successful. So we're moving to an early learning center and we want to get all pre-K students in the district in the same building so that we can really guide our services and supports to meet the needs of our younger students. Another resource available now is Westies Wardrobe, which is a wardrobe. Needy families are welcome to visit to get the items they need especially now that the cold weather is here. Donations to the West Ridge clothing closet are always accepted and appreciated.
