You can rent one, but it's even more fun to make your own. The 10-year wedding anniversary is traditionally called the tin or aluminium anniversary. In the modern list, it is referred to as the diamond jewellery anniversary. Either way, it's the first of the major milestone anniversaries, according to About.com. The importance of aluminum and tin to represent this anniversary is their flexibility, an important requirement in a permanent marriage. The importance of the diamond is its beauty and strength. Other symbols that go along with celebrating the 10th anniversary are the narcissus for its flower, diamond or blue sapphire for its gemstone, and the colors silver or blue. sozajiten/Datacraft/Getty Images The 13th wedding anniversary is the anniversary of lace. For this reason, traditional gifts for this occasion include homeware or garments featuring made of lace or featuring lace inserts. The celebration of the wedding anniversaries dates back to the ancient Roman era, when couples used to celebrate the anniversaries of their 25th and 50th marriages. The wives offered their wives a silver wreath for the 25th anniversary and a gold wreath for the 50th anniversary. The tradition of having a name for each wedding year dates back to the early 20th century. This is when various gems became associated with wedding anniversaries. The gems for the 13th wedding anniversary are malachite, creatine and moonstone. For a 35th wedding anniversary, the traditional gift is coral, and the modern gift is jade. This means that a 35th wedding anniversary gift should include coral or jade in some place if a person wishes to follow tradition. Of course, some people may choose not to follow these traditions when choosing a gift for their spouse or another couple celebrating their 35th wedding anniversary. Jewelry is a popular anniversary wedding gift, and both corals and jade can be made into jewelry. Coral can make an exotic statement in jewelry, while jade has a smoother appearance. If real coral or jade jewelry is not an option, one can also buy coral or jade colored jewelry. This way, jewelry can be in any desired style. Even men can enjoy gifts of coral or jade. A set of jade cufflinks or a coral-colored lathe pin could work nicely. If the couple does not For jewelry, a trip to an exotic location to visit coral reefs can be a convenient and luxurious gift. On a smaller scale, a trip to a local aquarium or even a gift of a home aquarium filled with coral and exotic fish will do beautifully to celebrate a 35th wedding anniversary.
