As of last Friday, Governor News Om announced new plans for the economy and schools to reopen, described as a plan for a safer economy. This week we received information from Dr. Clayton Chau, director of the Orange County Department of Health, who under the new plan, will be able to reopen schools for individual instructions on September 22, 2020, if the number of cases is not known. On Wednesday night, the Board of Directors applied for a discount for primary schools and applied to work with the parties involved, as required by the waiver process, to return to individual guidelines as soon as possible. This process may take several weeks, including the county will need to review our waiver request. The Board of Directors has also requested follow-up using small groups, as a guide to providing back to special education services as soon as possible. For more information, contact this link. The Board of Directors also voted to approve the reopening schedule which you can see below. This schedule is in place for the county to move to the new state-level red level on September 2020. The quality explanation can be found here. As you have seen in communications we have already shared on the issue of reopening plan to ensure that we re-open our school campus safely and reduce the likelihood of future disruptions. Our reopening plan will

Orange County will be eligible to reopen September 22, 2020, the county continues to move down trends. Our priority is to safely reopen our campus and reduce the chance of future destruction. The staff will be advised, considering the trustee, a charity opening. The goal of a vibrant approach is to make the reopening process as smooth as possible, and to focus on bringing students into special education with the most important need for first-person programs and services. We invite all families to read the September 2 board report. In addition, our community is invited here to submit written communications to our board members. For members of our community who want to speak during the special board meeting tomorrow evening, you can sign up here. The board session at approximately 5:30 pm. You can livestream Here. Our Board of Trustees will discuss our re-opening plans tomorrow evening and will vote to approve a reopening timeline for our school district based on the new timeline from the state. We will share the final plan and timeline with our community Thursday, September 3. The co-author, Ryan Borras Chief Communications Officer Aziz Kosad Family, described the governor's news om as a new plan for the economy and schools to reopen as planned for a safer economy. Today, we have received information from the Orange County Department of Health Administration, where, under the new plan, Orange County is eligible to reopen individual education in September 22, 2020, the trend in number. Our priority is to safely reopen our campus and reduce the likelihood of future disruptions. Staff will be recommended to consider board of directors, open the door. The goal of the approach is to make the reopening process as easy as possible and focus on bringing students into special education with the maximum need for individual programs and services. We invited families to read the board meeting report on September 2. In addition, our community who want to speak during the special meeting of the Board of Directors can hold a meeting tomorrow afternoon here. The board session will begin at 4:00 pm with a private session and the public session will begin at approximately 5:30 pm you can watch the live stream here. Members of our Board of Directors will discuss our re-opening plans tomorrow night and vote to move the re-opening schedule to our school district based on the state's new schedule. We will share the final plan and schedule with our community on Friday, September 3. In addition, Ryan Borras Communications Director 9/1/20 2020-21 LCAP Pack Applications Now Open California Education Funding Model requires the state to develop a local control and accountability plan (LCAP) that improve student outcomes to improve student achievement, including the participation of input and influencers, low income, and representation of English learning students. It is providing support through the establishment of a parent advisory committee (PAPs). LCAP will get to review parts of THE PPL and Input in LCAP monitoring and review. The focus will be on the actions that students will be taking to increase academic success and performance, which are linked to state and local priorities. There will be an emphasis to meet annual targets for all students, including voluntary, low incomes, and learning English. The cosed parent has a strong record of parent/guardian engagement and is encouraged to continue its partnership with parents and guardians to guide the district's actions for the coming years. If you are interested in serving on this committee, please complete the application and return by 22 September 2020. The California State Education Fund model requires the development of a local control and responsibility plan (LCAP) that combines spending on specific district targets to achieve goals and improve student academic performance. An important aspect of the LCAP process is the participation of parents or legal representatives, including temporary, low-income families, and english language educators to give their opinions and suggestions to represent students. It would be possible with the formation of a Parent Al-Mussa Committee (PAAp). This LCAP and PP Committee will meet regularly to review the LCAP parts and provide the impression on ICAP monitoring and review. The focus will be on the actions of the debate that will be associated with state and local priorities to increase student education development and performance. This emphasis will be to meet the annual goals of all students, including students in a temporary, low-income home and English language educators. The cosed parents or legal representatives to guide the district's actions over the next few years. If you are interested in being part of this committee, please complete and submit the application on September 22, 2020. Kristin's main superintendent posted 8/28/20 Cossed Video Message: Welcome to 2020-21 School Year! Good morning Cossed family! Welcome message, Superintendent Kirsten Important. While this first day will look different since school which is used for all of us, we invite you to share your family's favorite back-to-school moments with us using #CUSDBacktoSchool! In the post, Ryan Borras, Chief Communications Officer, posted a message about the reopening for the cosed families, less than 24 hours in our district 2020-21 school year online. This opening is the brand new for all of us. Unlike the first time on a computer screen. This new medium will take some time for everyone to know each other. I pray to thee for thy patience and grace, as we re-open in this new way. New start and new technology always require time and patience. When technology is working well, life can be a breeze. However, last week, we worked to link our two systems--The Iris and the Canvas--and what we have felt is that they always speak the same language. When we open up, the already complex problem is even more difficult when we are preparing our teachers, staff and families to use these systems! The great news is, unlike spring, we now have a global online learning platform, Canvas, once we personally reopen schools for learning, that should provide stability throughout the district to support classroom learning online. In addition, your student's academic progress will be tracked by their teacher using the canvas. Students, families, teachers, and staff will learn to use this device together. The first few days may feel uncomfortable, but working together.
we believe that the value of the canvas will be realized faster. We know from other schools Those who have already opened online will have boxes in the street as we reopen. Tomorrow will not be perfect. But we also have their experience that helps to smooth the boxes with a little patience and grace on each part. We all need to exercise patience and flexibility as we start back on class. A little work and a little time we'll get it right. See our welcome on the school opening. We are committed to providing extraordinary education in this new way. I am grateful to the teachers and staff who have worked very hard to prepare for tomorrow. They are committed to serving your children and helping them succeed, regardless of the challenges that stand in our way. I'm also grateful to you and for your patience you will extend us all as we start school online tomorrow morning, like never before. This is a campaign for all of us and I am grateful for your partnership and support. In a tweet, Kirsten's principal superintendent P.S. If you need to support the technology, all instructions and information about canvas are located on each school's website, and on the district's website, under parent technology support and canvas login and support. Here are some helpful links to places where you can get help with both student and family access: Good afternoon family in less than 24 hours, our district will be reopening online schools for the 2020-21 school year. This is a new way to reopen for all of us. Unlike our first day of school last autumn, students and teachers will be seen for the first time through a computer screen. This new system will take some time to get to know each other. I pray for your patience and understand with our teachers and staff as we reopen schools in a different way. New teaching systems and new technology always require time and patience. When technology works well, life can be much easier. However, over the past week, we have been working to connect our two systems, The Eris and Canvas, and we found some difficulties, like the cestematad programs always speak the same language. A problem that is complicated becomes even more difficult when we are preparing our teachers, staff and families to use these systems to reopen our schools! The good news is that, unlike last spring, we now have a global online learning in classrooms to learn online, once we have our own personal learning schools. Besides, Track your student's academic progress through canvas. Students, families, teachers and staff will learn how to use these tools. The first few days can be difficult, but when working together, we believe that the benefits of the canvas will be seen immediately.
We have experienced other school districts that have already been opened online that we will face obstacles in the way of re-opening classes. Tomorrow will not be a perfect day. But we also have experience that shows patience and understanding on all parts of the world will help to reduce the difficulties. We all need to practice patience and flexibility when we return to school. A little work and a little time we'll fix. See our welcome message back to school opening. We are committed to providing extraordinary education in this new way. I am grateful to my teachers and staff, who have made a strong preparation for tomorrow's launch. They are committed to serving their children and helping them succeed, regardless of the challenges that stand in our way. I'm also grateful for you all of us for patience when we start online school tomorrow morning, a start, never like. This is a campaign for all of us and I am grateful for your support and support and support and support of login and canvas. Here are some helpful links to places where together. Today I want to share a few updates on parent and teacher training and additional parent al-Adha resources. Although our teachers do not officially return from the summer break, they are working hard to prepare for the new school year. As always, their looks are unprecedented! More than 1,850 teachers have already completed the basic canvas training. Teachers and staff will continue to access online training in the coming days as we are all ready for our students and improve our work from spring. We're also creating training opportunities for you! In addition to the new learning platform to support distance learning, we are offering canvas training for all kindergartens through grade 12 families next week. Inforaca n'Acarque de la Repartora de las Escuelas Good Afternoon Cossed families, earlier this afternoon, The Governor News Om announced that all schools within Orange County will need to open an online 2020-21 school year using. He made it a necessity for all municipalities on the state's Corunawaros watch list.

As The Orange County state remains on the watch list, the case is now required to open 100 lbs online. We understand that many families like to go to school. If and when the governor orders, the plans we have developed over the past three months will allow us to immediately adopt our classroom and campus to reopen. We will reopen our classroom and campus, based on our board approved re-opening plan, when today's new updated instructions allow us to do so safely. This will only happen with the approval of the Board of Trustees. As we reopen with learning 100 lbs online, I want to assure my families that we have heard about our experiences since spring and we are working to upgrade and improve the experience for this next school year. All students deserve a rigorous and engaging education that meets their unique learning needs in an online form. The direction of our trustee-approved reopening plan is a robust, consistent, and busy curriculum that aligns with the core values of the district and can be successfully provided in both a traditional school setting and online. In preparation for returning to school in August, our board has approved a comprehensive online curriculum that has been used with continued success, and provides the district's
and emotional health. I am also grateful to you, your families, who have had to constantly move and adjust through this universal practice because you have to work in the house, jobs, responsibilities and school. Your patience and understanding as we take these changing situations together together has been incredible.
I'm sure you'll have many guestions to eat in days, and we'll send more communication to families next week. Attorney Ryan Borras, Chief Communications Officer, posted a 6/29/20 message from President Reardon: Wednesday night, the beloved Kosad families, as you know, want to reopen the School as usual, state and county health and safety officials. The board also tries to ensure as much openness and transparency as possible. Keeping our staff and community informed is not always easy because sometimes it travels more quickly than true. Recently our teachers' union president has put out a false information by that our Wednesday board includes the extension of the agreement for our superintendent and deputy superintendent to increase the salary. It's a false statement, but it's getting a rash in social media and bothering some of our employees and families. This information is incorrect, and the teacher knows the president of the union. Nor are our district superintendents and deputy superintendents getting new salaries and daily rate adjustments are exactly the same as the schedule for the central president and all its members, which was approved in December. In fact, the extension of the contract is understood to be based on the language on Wednesday night that the superintendent and his deputy commit to in order to give our other co-workers the same salary reduction status. While teachers and grading staff are covered by negotiated labor contracts, some of our district's leading staff (including the superintendent) are contract employees. It is every June that the school board will review and determine the performance of our superintendent and deputy superintendent. Or we don't want to extend their contracts. We are very proud of the work of superintendent and deputy superintendent to extend their contracts for an additional year. This agreement is available to the amendment public and to the president of the teacher's union, not to include a new salary increase. The budget our board approved last week requires $35,000,000 to be negotiated with all our unions and management employees in the next school year budget reduction. Making false statements to the public before formal negotiations can be a trick for our union leadership. I believe that spreading misinformation is careful to the negotiation process and ultimately does not help serve the school community. Sincerely, Jim Reardon, President, Cossed Board of Trustees posted 6/22/20 budget cuts and settings to the beloved Cossad families, the Board of Trustees of the Costrano United School District wants to be as open and transparent as possible because we are not going to be able to do this. With this in mind, I want to share an update with you on our district budget and with the decision we are facing today. Earlier this month I informed you that based on the governor's proposed budget, our school district would be cut from next year's budget to $35,000,000. We also estimate that we will need to make additional reductions for the following two years. By June 30, we will learn more about our 2020-21 budget, as we estimate that the governor will approve the state budget from then on. Later today, you will get the agenda of next Wednesday's Board of Trustees meeting. The agenda includes the first round of specific actions and reductions that we are taking to ensure a balanced budget for our district. These factors include: a reduction in the size of the administrative staff. while a recommendation to ensure our unrelenting commitment to student success is 88 employees, out of approximately 4,500 within our school district. These initial settings will fall on non-education employees, especially as I mentioned earlier, 88 lbs our budget goes directly to dedicated employees who support the education of our young people. We know that every end affects real people and their families. However, state law requires a district to maintain a balanced budget, often during challenging economic times to make very difficult decisions. If the budget approved by our state government does not require a district budget cut, we will look to Rehrang to support our re-opening plan. Next Wednesday's board meeting will also include further discussions about our received a copy of last week. It remains our intention as to open the school On August 18, however, we must comply with the health and safety

At the bottom of this notice, you'll find a link to provide written comments, see the board meeting tomorrow night, and see the recording of what we did for families this afternoon. Executive summary, like many California school districts, the Board of Cossed voted to close our schools in mid-March 2020. This sudden shutdown gave teachers and other staff very little time to prepare for the unprecedented changes in the spring to learn distance in this learning model and to strengthen the support of students and will continue to work with administrators, teachers and staff to improve the virtual learning model in the future. Soon in May, the Superintendent of District Leadership, Administrators and others were instructed to start work on the education plan for 2020-21. The result described in this document is not a planning, emergency or crisis education program, and it is not a match for the 2020-21 school year to learn. With 60 days until the school opens, the trust and staff may not know what conditions will be available in the 2020-21 school year. Orange County may move to Phase 4 sometime during the year, or we may return to the first phase. In addition, a school or classroom spread may force the temporary closure of a specific school or classroom. The project presented was designed to be able to provide high quality instructions to our teachers which brings in the immediate future. To accomplish this complex task, Kosad wants to use continuous curriculum throughout the district for the entire 2020-21 year. The curriculum will be comprehensive, rigorous, and applicable for a classroom or an online setting. The use of continuous curriculum will provide fair access to strict instructions for all students, regardless of whether they are learning in the classroom or at home. And because the district recognizes that the spring closure will result in a loss for some students, the 2020-21 year will emphasize the standard, especially in math and literacy, which is essential for the master for students. In summary: Grade K-5 parents will choose one of them: Program A: 10 lbs on campus learning program B: 50 lbs campus learning and 50 lbs home integration Program C: 100 lbs online with the support of a traditional modern master provided in the classroom setting, teachers provide educational instructions (mathematics, literacy, science and social studies) for nearly half the school day. Activities include the rest of the day such as sittoork, art, music, reclamation, and lunch. Importantly, monitoring these activities does not necessarily require a credital teacher. Therefore, to meet step 2 requirements for the size of the far and small class, the option suggests that the small classes of early students join each other with a credital teacher and a second teacher or staff member on their day with a cridenalteacher and the other half of the day. The works which will allow parents or other adults to use the same established and proven curriculum that will be used in the 2020-21 classroom, with parents or other adults having additional learning opportunities at home (Program B) program C, 100 lbs online option, which will be used in the classroom. Although this curriculum is designed for home use, it is not a home school curriculum. While an adult must ensure that students are completing the lesson, parents will not need to teach. Trained teachers will provide support to students who are using the curriculum at home. Students with grades 6-12: Learning campus at Program A: 50 lbs and 50 lbs online free study program B: 100 lbs online Please note with teacher support that the 100 lbs campus learning model will not be available for middle and high school due to lack of enough classroom space for Phase 2. As our projects progress, we will discover our ability to find and provide supervision for younger students of working parents, outside of class time. In Program A, students will be spending 2 1/2 days per week on campus with the rest of their academic time spending online study or home-supplement activities. In Program B, the 100 lbs online-linning program will allow families to use the same established and proven curriculum that will be used in the 2020-21 classroom. Although the curriculum used in choosing two programs for middle/high school is designed for home use, they are not home school curriculum. While an adult at home must ensure that students (especially small students) are completing the lesson, parents will not need to teach. Trained teachers will teach students using online curriculum. Although great thinking, consultation, and effort have already gone into the key features of the 2020-21 reopening schools plan, it is still a task in the process with many details to solve. We will continue to update our parents, students, staff and community as we progress our work. Recommendations for the reopening will be submitted to our Board Last night at our public board meeting. Our board will discuss the projects of trustees and provide guidance to the staff. It's for tonight! As we promised, you can now review recommendations for the District Board of Trustees about initial plans for schools that will reopen in August. These projects are published online in preparation for our June 17, 2020 Board Trustee Meeting. Recommendations on early plans for re-opening schools have been developed based on the values of our families (shared through family surveys) and will ensure a strong focus on our Board of Trustees and basic educational priorities for our youth. As you will see in the document, staff has recommended the option #3 planning the 2020-2021 school year to reopen early. Next week, we will focus on the guided model we will put in place as we reopen in the autumn. New health and safety

Communications Officer is here! Reopening School Plan Recommendations Dear Cossed Families, as we inform you through a message sent by our superintendent, members of our Board of Directors want to reopen their school and we will soon allow it as soon as possible. As promised, you can now review the recommendations of district board members on initial plans for reopening schools in August. This project is published on our website in preparation for our meeting of the Board meeting on June 17, 2020. Recommendations on early plans for the school reopening are based on the values of our families (shared by family surveys) and our Board of Directors and will focus on the basic educational priorities for our youth. As you will see in the document, staff suggest Option 3 of the 2020-2021 school year's preliminary school re-opening plan. Next week, we will focus on the guided model we will apply as we reopen in the autumn. New health and safety guidelines will not be approved unless we are nearing the reopening of the school, because these guidelines are constantly changing. We continue to look ahead to the Final Health and Safety Regulations of the Orange County Department of Health. At this time, we are using the guidance provided by the California Department of Public Health to report on our work. Sansermanty, Ryan Borras posted on Director De Comonacanas 6/12/20 Distance Learning : Re-opening Survey Results/A Dastanka : This evening we are publishing recommendations to the district board of directors about the initial plans of schools that reopen in August. Our trustees want to reopen our schools and we want to return as usual as soon as we allow it. We are building our reopening plan based on feedback received from 24,000 family survey responses, as well as the needs of state and local health agencies that we should follow. We will send you a link to the recommendations of the plan to reopen after we are published on our website this evening. District Survey: What did you tell us? conversations with students and live instructions (especially at the secondary grade level) families with a schedule to support their student distance learning experience for 50 lbs. for early families, 40% of middle school families and 37% of high school families agreed that their school has done an effective job implementing distance learning results, indicating that Additional help and training will be needed in preparation for any form of online learning in future parents, including weekly schedules and work schedules, reducing the number of platforms being used, and re-opening the school's student live interactions
The restrictions are lifted, and schools are in normal operation in the autumn, about 88 lbs parents prefer to attend their child's campus full-time school, but with a flexible learning model (online and at the same time). , approximately 86% will participate in this model, And 14% prefer to attend an online or a home school option was of interest to child care parents if we implemented a flexible learning model (a mix of online and in-class), where 43% are elementary and 22% care for middle school families Give, outdoor activities, and lunch served elsewhere in the classroom. Parents also desperately desire a constant focus and improvement of support for social and emotional health and the well-being of their children, in an online teaching model. It is our intention to re-open the schools safely on August 18, 2020. Our goal is to open on schedule, possibly in general, if the circumstances and resources allow us to do so. When we are developing re-opening options, we will normally share new essential health and safety guidelines tonight, unless we are close to reopening school. We continue to wait for the final health and safety regulations from the Orange County Department of Health. At this time, we are using the guidance provided by the California Department of Public Health to inform our work. On behalf of the Board of Trustees, we appreciate your feedback and input. We acknowledge that our classrooms provide rigorous learning experiences for our young people, relationships with friends, teachers and staff, and support social and emotional needs. Our priorities for re-opening schools are to provide basic educational opportunities, a safe place for working families during the school day, and better post secondary opportunities for our seniors and seniors. I also share your concern about events in the country this past week. In public schools are not being the country this past week. In public schools are not being the country this past week. we value diversity and participation and share these values with students. We teach students that racism and discrimination are incompatible with a free society, and we have also taught that peaceful protests are an essential part of democracy. We also teach that there is no proper answer to violence, even in the face of injustice. It's the conversation that we're usually in our classrooms. Physically separated does not diminish the importance of this conversation that we're usually in our classrooms. Physically separated does not diminish the importance of this conversation. I pray to you to share these teachings in each of the houses. These are valuable lessons and conversations for each of us and I'm waiting for the day when we can once again guide us to our classroom. 1. Our board members are determined to safely reopen schools and my staff is working on detailed plans to make it possible. Our goal is to open as planned, if the circumstances and resources allow us to do so. To make sure we have your opinion, school distance instructions and re-opening planning surveys were sent to all parents in our district. It received more than 24,000 responses, which provided us with valuable information about child care needs and the need for online and classroom learning models. Families have also indicated that they want flexibility when we return to school in the autumn. After more than 2,900 pages of California's educational code, the County Governor's Office, the California Department of Education, and the Orange County Health Care Agency need to comply with the legal orders. We encourage you to share your opinion directly with these agencies about possible applications, restrictions or instructions for reopening schools. While no mechanism has yet been established, we will make our local project as motivated and flexible as possible. We know that once the state is re-opened in the agency's guidelines, schools will change once. According to the government law, employees also need to consult and consult unions representing their teachers and staff before changing working conditions. We are now in talks with the leaders of the employee union (a partnership and cooperation that we deeply appreciate) to support flexibility in reopening. The law prohibits us from negotiating directly with teachers and grading staff.
With that we want That there are many stock holders to reopen our schools and we are committed to respecting them all as we implement the development and our re-opening plan. The initial plan will be published on our website on 12 June 2020 and will be publicly discussed at the board meeting on June 17, 2020. As long as this happens, the cosed does not have an approved reopening plan and the information published online is purely sensitive. 2. Budget update 2020-21 the annual budget of the cosmis is $516,000,000, which is used to pay for staff that offer students directly or indirectly. Unlike many government agencies, most of our funds come from the state, while the federal government provides four percent, Regarding the 2020-21 budget, the governor's proposal is that we have sought to reduce our budget by more than $59,000,000 for the period starting July 1. While some reductions may be delayed for a short time, most will be immediately in the next school year. State law requires a balance of budget estimates for each school year, as well as the next two years. As we have made additional costs for COVID protection measures, we also need to meet the budget requirements and reduce the current employment agreements to comply with the requirements. We, as a district, work together with our PATA legal teams to advocate on behalf of our students and families and to advocate in Scraminto and Washington, D.C. for the needs of our students. When we believe that our concerted efforts can play out, state and federal governments can reveal to you until we do nothing. Our partnership with our PATA leaders is inaddition and we appreciate your support for local schools. State law requires that they sign a state budget by the governor on June 15. Our state leaders have a duty to meet this deadline, we should have more information about the immediate funding funding for the project in the next three weeks. We're posting you in the summer, now I'm saying good goodbye, you wish a fantastic summer! Honestly, Kristin's principal superintendent has posted 6/2/20 values we teach in our classrooms, as our school year ends, I personally want you to date on a number of issues affecting your community school children, as well as teachers and staff. I will be reported on the plans to reopen During the next period, as well as give you a brief update on the state budget. On a personal note, I would like to thank you first for all the hard work that you do during our first experience with learning distance. I personally experienced happiness and shared that you had encountered during this extraordinary school year because I worked from home and helped my six-year-old daughter with my lessons. I also share your concern about last week's national events. In public schools, we value diversity and participation and we share these values with students. We teach students that racism and discrimination are a part of free society, and so we teach that peaceful protest is an essential part of democracy. We also teach that there is no proper answer to violence, even injustice is evident. It's the conversation that we're usually in our classrooms. Physically separated does not diminish their importance. I ask everyone to share these teachings at home. These are valuable lessons and conversations for each of us again in our classroom. 1. Planning to reopen our district schools is a busy process for our school board to safely reopen schools and my staff are working on detailed plans to do so. Our goal is to open on schedule, if the circumstances and resources allow us to do so. To ensure your input, distance learning and re-opening planning surveys were sent to parents throughout our district. More than 24,000 responses were received, providing us with valuable insight into the needs of the class and care for the online model and the desire of families. Families also want flexibility as we return to school in the autumn. The cosed is also required by state law to meet and provide with unions representing our teachers and other staff before making changes to the employment conditions. We are now engaged in discussions with the leadership of the employees' union (a partnership and collaboration we deeply appreciate) to support the re-opening flexibility. We are prohibited from directly classifying by law and interacting with file teachers and grading staff. All this says that in reopening our schools, there are many stock holders and we are committed to respecting them all as we implement the development and our re-opening plan. The initial plan will be publicly discussed at the School Board meeting on June 17, 2020. Until this happens, the case has no approved reopening plan and information you can see online is just a matter of time. 2.2020-21 Budget Update Is $516,000,000 in which approximately 88 lbs is paid for those who are directly or indirectly Serve the students on. estimates for each school year and two years after that. As we spend additional costs for the protection measures arising from COVID, we also need to reduce the need for balanced budgets to meet the needs, and respect labor agreements that are already in place. We advocate for the district on behalf of our students and families and work closely with the PATA legislative teams that advocate for the needs of our students in Scraminto and Washington, DC. When we believe that our joint advocacy efforts can bear fruit, we have nothing to do with the State and Federal Governments Act. Our partnership with THE LEADERS of THE PATA is in-house and we appreciate the support of local schools. State law requires the provincial assembly to sign the state budget. Our state leaders have a duty to meet this deadline, we should know more about the immediate funding of the drug within three weeks. We'll keep you informed in the summer, and on distance to learn As we take this new area to the fore, we will be able to take the place of the people. The new quidelines, daily instructions, work-office hours, 1:1 or small group support for our students and families, and establish the quality of education and learning throughout our district. The construction of a distance learning program in the middle of the summer has been an incredible task. Our teachers and staff have worked extremely well to change classroom instructions in their new virtual environment, while maintaining the same standards and expectations from the state of California and California's educational code. Our new standards for learning distance about daily instructions include: Initial: At least 2 assigned lessons daily. Weekly communications about office hours/small groups will be available on virtual classroom platforms (including, but not limited to, school loop or Google classroom). Meeting hours, classroom hours and office hours are included in the weekly plan. Secondary: The clearly appointed plan will be implemented by teachers and completed by students on at least a weekly basis. Such planning and office hours/small group help hours are virtual classroom platforms (including, but not limited to school loop or Google classrooms).

Meeting hours, classroom hours and office hours are included in the weekly plan. The proposed daily activities or learning distance about office hours include: Beginners: Make daily office hours schedule to get help for students. interact with colleagues, and discuss weekly learning objectives. This will be a total number of 90 minutes per day. It can be via audio or video, but will not be limited to e-mail conversations. This minute will be not informed in the overall (no need to be consistent), and in the weekly schedule. Secondary: Make a daily office hour schedule for each preparation where students can help with the assignments, ask questions, etc. This will be a total number of 90 minutes per day. It can be via audio or video, but will not be limited to e-mail conversations. This minute will be not informed in the overall (no need to be consistent). and in the weekly schedule. 1:1 or smaller group support includes our new standard for learning distance: provide support to students who are unable to struggle or engage during scheduled office hours, which may include 1:1 virtual appointments or small group hangouts. It will take some time to roll across the quality district. If you have specific questions or if you are facing challenges or concerns, please contact your student's teacher and, if necessary, your principal. It is our wish as much as possible as we support families and students who are working from home. We realize that there is a lot and it will look different for every family and student. As a reminder of our work since March 16, 2020, we have completed the following: over 2,000 teachers and 500 hotspots More than 150,000 participated in the 50,000 Google meeting with the most important stakeholders, During the debate, it was recognized that every new day brings about changes to our existing COVID challenges. However, at this moment, based on state and local agencies and based on any changes to the health agency's guidelines and restrictions (now until June 4th), the board may decide to re-create the calendar assessment, our Board of Trustees has also discussed temporary grading policies that will be in place for the rest of the school year. The temporary grading policy will return to the Board meeting on April 29, 2020. school buildings have been closed, school districts should continue to educate young people and accelerate students' efforts to help our students, families, teachers, staff and administrators prepare for the end of the school year, we have decided that the distance will continue to be learned until further notice. While our hope is to return to the classroom before our last day of school, this realistic environment cannot be given, and is less likely to pass every day. The district has recognized that there are many questions that we should consider and plan if we are not returning to school sites, such as graduation ceremonies, student assessment, and grading policies (only a few names). On April 15, 2020, our Board of Trustees will hold a public meeting to discuss the review in the calendar and consider additional policy decisions. The board meeting will be broadcast live and we will provide additional information as the meeting moves closer to the date. We hope you are happy, healthy, and staying at home. Thank you, Ryan Borras, Chief Communications Officer, posted a 4/2/20 update: Parents & amp; Student Information Meetings have been compiled into individually prepared parents & amp; student meeting information for 2020. A Cal Preparation Information Video will be posted on the Cossed website and the subsequent Preparation Academy website (April 5-10). education? As you may know, Al-Majares, Orange County schools, recommended that districts begin to cancel student attendance in the rest of the school calendar again with the April 15, 2020 Board Meeting at 6:00 pm the meeting will be live-broadcast on our website, attached here.
Thank you, Ryan Borras, Chief Communications Officer, 4/1/20 Update: Good evening in the farthest families, today, all California Superintendent of Public Education, Tony The letter states, 'The Social Age Warrant requires that we continue to keep our school's campus closed to students during this global event. The letter further states, 'Due to current security concerns and ongoing social needs, it currently shows that our students cannot return to the school year, but we must strengthen all efforts to strengthen our education delivery. The entire letter is attached to this news item. At this time, we are scheduled to continue through Friday, May 1, 2020. However, we are in the process of planning a distance education programme that can continue through the school year if necessary. As has already been reported, the date of the restart on the classroom instructions (currently 4, 2020) is subject to changing based on future information. Our Board of Trustees will discuss the school calendar at a public meeting April 15, 2020. We focus on the health and safety of our students, families and staff and we appreciate your patience and flexibility as we take them to the changing days. Thank you, Ryan Borras Chief Communications Officer 3/31/20 Posts Attachments: Tech Support & Resources Happy Monday Families! First, be happy to make it through the first week of learning distance! We hope you had a safe and healthy weekend. On Friday, the Superintendent of All Schools held a virtual meeting with the president of the SITE OFP, addressing questions and learning distances to get feedback on the challenges and achievements of the first week. We are committed to making this the best experience for our students and families and, while it is new to all of us, we will continue to seek improvement. Today I want to share the resources to help you through this week as we work to support you and your students. the past few weeks, we have been a buzz for our students, families, teachers, staff and administrators and have made a great effort to teach and learn their classroom education at home, Kristin said at the Board of Trustees meeting on March 25, 2020. We are still working and we can always improve, but I want to thank and appreciate my efforts to prepare for distance education for our teachers, staff and administrators, said the chief. I can say without a doubt that Kosad is setting a very high standard and we will continue to invest more time, hours and more resources in our work to help young people through this crisis. Teachers and staff are working extremely to embrace our new reality with a laser focus to ensure the high quality of guidance and education for our community and our students. Administrators and wirtual learning preparations —basically re-inventing the school experience for the district's 47,000 students. In addition, teachers and district staff help students to adopt technology and problem of triple shooting. The distance education began on Tuesday. Teachers provide thousands of virtual lessons, and students have successfully completed hundreds of tasks and assignments. The district has provided more than 34,000 free meals and, by Friday evening, a device in the house will be distributed to each family in need of Chromebooks. We are unhappy with the stress that our family is under, important additions. No doubt learning the distance is as new to many of you as it is for us.
Your flexibility, patience, and support are incredible and we are very grateful to support your students in this work. The school district comprises 63 schools in seven cities covering 200 square miles. We are waiting for the day when we can reopen our school and welcome young people to our classroom, said Theam.
Until then, stay healthy. We shall all meet him. Posted 3/25/20 Our initial team for early-learning resources for parents has compiled a comprehensive website. Although it is still ready with more and more items to be added, we want to share with our families at this time. Please go to the linked link. Posted in 3/24/20 traffic congestion and long lines. Tomorrow you will receive more Our staff plan to help understand the needs of our families as well as to distribute on each school site. The confusion about whether students need a chromebook. Please know that you do not need a chromebook to receive a lesson from your child's teacher. Any Internet connected computer, tableette or cell phone will work. Our first priority is to help families who do not have access to a device at home. For how to help you log into the Google classroom on Android, iPhone, iPad, or computer, please visit our online Learning Parent Resources page. We are working with teachers and principals to ensure flexibility on dates and classroom content due to assignment, Student grades and participation will not be geo-pardue due to this short delay. We work to support distance learning for 47,000 students as we appreciate your patience and support. Thank you. Ryan Borras, Chief Communications Officer, updated 3/24/20: Chromebook pickup was out of response to the distribution of the beloved Cosed families, chromebooks we expected – and out of the numbers we received from our families survey. We understand that the line for the pickup is long, pulling in the streets and creating safety hazards. If you don't get chromebooks today, please know that we are working on a new plan to distribute devices that are effective and safe for our families. Our priority is to get these devices first in the homes of students who do not have access to a computer or laptop. We may have experienced this morning to praise your patience and apologies for any disappointment. Thank you, Ryan Borras, Chief Communications Officer 3/24/20 The distance learning begins tomorrow! Dear cosed families, tomorrow, all 47,000 of our young people-- we will never imagine that school will be attended in a way. This intense learning distance is new to all of us! Many of us are magic to our own work responsibilities as a home school parent or guardian with our new role.
