Here are 10 things you need to learn from Ashra Kwesi: Africa Tour Master Griot Ashra Kwesi has spent more than 30 years sharing his knowledge of ancient temples, tombs of Africa. He offers a tour experience in the African Nile Valley, as no one else can say, who have completed their journey to Kwesi. He taught at his best in Kwesi for 14 years as an assistant to the revered Kemetologist, Dr. Yosef Ben Jochannan, author of Black Man of the Nile, among other books on Africa and Afrocentrism. The Company of Greats Kwesi was compared to coming to great thinkers for afrocentric learning, such as Dr. Ben; Dr. John Henrik Clark, historian and professor, pioneer in the creation of pan-African studies; and Afrocentrist psychiatrist Dr. Cress Welsing, whose 1970 essay The Cress Theory of Color-Confrontation and Racism is cited. He was also the author of The Isis Papers: The Keys to the Colors. A study by Traveler Kwesi took him to Ethiopia, Sudan, Kenya and Ghana. It also documented information on the history of the Nile Valley in Africa at the Louvre Museum in Paris, the British Museum in London and the Metropolitan Museum in New York, according to its website. World Speaker As a Speaker Kwesi conducted lectures at universities and organizations in Africa, Britain, Japan, the entire Caribbean, and the United States. He has appeared on a number of television and radio shows. Teach the children, according to Kwesi, children need to be taught positive things about Africa and Afrocentrism. Knowledge of African history prevents children from being insecure in the European classroom environment. It gives them confidence that strengthens them as they prepare them for life, work, and a successful life for the future. It also motivates them, promotes leadership skills and helps to eliminate behavioral problems, said the San Francisco Bay View. Listen to GHOGH's Jamarin Martin | Episode 51: Bari A. Williams Episode 2. Jamarin talks to tech lawyer and diversity strategist Bari Williams about the growing gap in big tech regulation between the U.S. and the EU and why Democrats have been slowly bangin' against Silicon Valley greed compared to Wall Street greed in 2008. They also discuss reparations and artificial intelligence that weaponized against black people. Parents like Afrocentric role models Kwesi said they feel education should start at home, especially if it's teaching Black history. In a San Francisco Bay View interview, she said: Positive African-focused parental involvement takes children in a clear direction while giving them a strong goal in life. Understanding their ancient history offers a confident, life-changing opportunity for both children and their parents. How to free african In Children A: Who Put Them in The Books of African Historians, Writers and Inventors. B: Place African art in our homes to remind children of their roots. C: Have an ongoing conversation about the greatness and struggles of the African people. D: If financially possible, take them to Africa for an eyewitness account of African greatness, said the San Francisco Bay View. Between The Pages Kwesi has written several books, including Spiritual Slavery, and Afrikan Builders of Civilization, A Pictorial History of Famous Personalities from Ancient Egypt) with his wife Merira.
