Alaska guide license application

Alaska rental applications are submitted to potential tenants when looking at rental residential properties to get their information. The app itself asks individuals for their current work, income, and references. Depending on the owner, the app can also request past rental history in addition to personal details to run background checks. The typical screening process for landlords can last from 24 to 72 hours. Application Fee (Landlord Tenant Handbook Page 5) - The Landlord may charge any amount. Although, the application fee cannot be associated with a security deposit if approved. Security Deposit (US 34.03.070(a)) – Homeowners must not charge more than the equivalent of two (2) months' rent. Although, if the monthly rental amount is more than $2,000 there is no maximum. Step 1 - The first paragraph will have some spaces available for some required applicant information. These parts are clearly labeled. From left to right, fill in your Phone Number, Current date, and Email address in the appropriate area. Step 2 - The next section or paragraph should contain information about the unit being applied. Fill the Apartment # in the room provided. Then write the address next to the words located in, and finally declare the monthly rent advertised in USD. Step 3 - The next section will come in the form of a table. It will collect information about prospective tenants. This is the Personal Data section. The first line is for your name, social security number, and birthday. There's a special area for your last name and first name, so be sure to read the column headings. Step 4 – The second line is to name the co-applicant, social security, and birthday. Fellow applicants can be considered spouses, roommates, or domestic partners. Step 5 - The Proposed Other Residents Section will follow. List each additional resident's name, social security number, and birthday. Each must be on a separate line. Step 6 - The next area of this section will be provided for your current address and previous address. The first line is for your current address, the name and phone number of the current owner, and the date range in which you have lived there. Be sure to place close attention on the current title of this fill so that you can place the information in the appropriate section. Step 7 - The second line is for the last residence you placed before your current address while the third line is where you will place similar information for the address where you lived before your last residence (if any). In each case, be sure to fill in the appropriate street address, city/state, landlord name and phone number, and date of residence in the area Step 8 - The final area of this section is provided for additional additional information not previously requested. The first line will require applicants to state why they want to leave their current residence. Enter this information under the Reasons for Emptying Current Address box. Step 9 - If you have a pet, set this in the next line, and describe the pet (i.e. the dog breed). Step 10 – The next two lines of application will require the applicant and the applicant's associate (if any), driver's license number, state, and expiration date. Step 11 - If the applicant has a vehicle, they can enter make, year, model, color, license plate number and state. There is an additional path to enter the same information if the household has another vehicle (such as a second car or boat), the applicant can put it in the 'Other vehicles' box. Step 12 - This area of the Personal Data section will require the applicant (and his/her fellow applicants) to enter their employment information. Step 13 – Reference Data Section, will collect information about the entity that will verify your ability to pay rent as agreed. This section will require the applicant (and the applicant's associates) to collect their records. He must provide their bank name and phone number, credit, and personal reference address. The same information will be required for next of kin. Step 14 – The second part of this section will require some answers about a person's personal history. Applicants need to explain any bankruptcy, eviction, and/or refusal to pay rent in their history, if applicable. Step 15 – The final part of the rental application will be a must-sign consent line that will a) verify the candidate's honesty and b) give the landlord permission to conduct a credit/background check.
