When did super bowl 2020 end

Among the much talked-about commercials, the epic halftime show, and, well, the actual game, there's plenty to keep you entertained during the 2020 Super Bowl. But as the evening begins to wear at night, you can find yourself wondering what time the Super Bowl ends. There's still a world there beyond football, after all. Prediction when the Super Bowl — which sees the San Francisco 49ers face off against the Kansas City Chiefs — will end up a little easier than, say, awards shows, because the game follows a very tight schedule (and there aren't any meandering acceptance speeches to work around). This year, it's set to kick off at 6:30 p.m ET and run for a total of three hours and 30 minutes, according to the TVGuide listing. That means if all goes according to plan, the game will be 10 p.m ET, aka the ideal time to wrap up by slinking the house into a breakfast coma and tuck into bed. Or to celebrate/keep drowning in your sufferings. It's to bear its Monday hangover. That being said, there are a number of factors that could throw the schedule off the track: time outs, injuries, and fouls on the field could force all to go on the game allocated more than three and a half hours. There's also the possibility that the score will be tied at the end of the fourth quarter, forcing teams to go into overtime and drawing games forward. For now, though, you can use 10 P.m as a rough estimate when things will start winding down. Also, singing the national anthem between Demi Lovato, Shakira and Jennifer Lopez performing during halftime, and commercials featuring celebs like Chris Evans and John Krasinski (and then, the actual game!), the Super Bowl must fly very quickly. The Rams and Patriots are headed for Super Bowl LIII on Sunday, Feb. 3 in Atlanta. The big game kicks off at 6:30 p.m ET and is sure to deliver plenty of action. But what time will it end? A typical football game lasts about three hours. But the Super Bowl isn't a typical game. Between all of the commercials and an extended halftime, the Super Bowl could stretch out for three and a half or four hours. Halftime during a normal game is 12 minutes, but the Super Bowl remains 30 minutes thanks to commercials, analysis and highly anticipated musical performances. This year's halftime show will be performed by Maroon 5. The average Super Bowl over the past five years has lasted three hours and 39 minutes. Since kickoff is at 6:30 p.m ET this year, you can probably expect the game to end closer to 11 P.m ET. Of course this is not an exact science. If the Super Bowl is anything like the NFC Championship and the AFC Championship, both of which went to overtime, the game could end later too. Here in Philadelphia, everyone seems to care about whether former Eagles head coach Andy Reid will finally take home his Lombardi Trophy. Even the 94.1 WIP, which mocked and ridiculed Reid during his final season with the Birds, held a praise day for the former Eagles coach. You still have to wait all day before taking Patrick Mahomes and Jimmy Garoppolo field, but that gives you plenty of time to take our Andy Reid quiz or read on some of the funky Prop Bets being offered for Super Bowl 54. A typical NFL game in 2019 had more than 20 commercial breaks while delivering just 18 minutes of football action, according to FiveThirtyEight. Due to all the untimely pauses in play, football telecasts don't really have a specific end time. The Super Bowl is too hard to predict, thanks to all those expensive commercials and a full-blown concert at halftime (headlined this year by Jennifer Lopez and Shakira). So what time will the 49ers-Chiefs really end up? The New England Patriots' 13-3 victory over the Los Angeles Rams in Super Bowl LIII last year was a relatively quick affair, which ended at 10:05 p.m and was running for just 3 hours 35 minutes. By comparison, the Eagles' 41-33 win over the Patriots in Super Bowl LII in 2018 went up to 10:25 p.m, lasting 3 hours and 55 minutes. Since 2010, the longest Super Bowl remains The XLVII Bowl in 2013 between the 49ers and Baltimore Ravens, which lasted 4 hours 15 minutes due to a 34-minute blackout at the Superdome in New Orleans. Over the past ten seasons, the average length of the Super Bowl is about 3 hours and 45 minutes. Using that measure, the game should end around 10:16 p.m ET. The Fox announcer didn't realize the Super Bowl connection with the father until it was mentioned on CBSFox had planned on cutting back the number of commercial breaks per quarter, but the network added it added more commercial time to make room for some last-minute advertisers. Back in 2015, MarketWatch estimated that more than a quarter of Super Bowl broadcasts (over an entire hour) have ads, from about 50 minutes during a regular-season broadcast. Any many will be longer — according to Seth Winter, executive vice president of sales for Fox Sports, there will be 28 long-form ads in broadcasts (45 seconds or more), and several 60-second ads. That should give you plenty of time to offer the best guacamole takeout to philadelphia's order, or consider why this year's Super Bowl logo looks almost identical to last year. . . Kansas City Chiefs quarterback Patrick Mahomes, left, and teammate Tyran Mathieu celebrate after defeating the San Francisco 49ers in Super Bowl LIV at Hard Rock Stadium on Sunday. MIAMI — So, at their most serious, most important moment yet, the Kansas City Chiefs doubled again at being down by double digits. Trailing by 10 points, they scored three touchdowns in the final 6 minutes 13 seconds Sunday in hard rock Stadium.in beat the San Francisco 49ers 31-20 in Super Bowl LIV to regain the franchise's second Super Bowl title and earlier in 50 years, the Chiefs rebounded from down at least 10 points to win each of their three playoff games. , something the NFL team had never done. Defensive tackle Frank Clark said he predicted his team's latest comeback to emphasize the field early in the fourth quarter when, he claimed, some of the 49ers were already celebrating. I went out on the next drive and told them, 'Ya am. . . They are going home just like the rest, Clarke said. Sorry my French. They asked me to slow down on cussing, but it's the end of the season, so we're going to stretch. In advancing to Miami, Kansas City overcame a 24-0 deficit in the divisional round to a 10-0 hole in the AFC championship game against the Houston Texans and Tennessee Titans. The title-clinching rebound was orchestrated by quarterback Patrick Mahomes, who passed two for the fourth quarter And was named the game's most valuable player. We are a mentally tough team, said security tortured Mathieu. I think Coach [Andy] Reid is getting us right mentally, physically and, you know, even emotionally does a good job. The 61-year-old Reid, in his 21st season, earned his first championship after entering Sunday with the most career wins of any NFL coach to never win a Super Bowl. Kansas City's 21-point fourth quarter came right after the most productive tally in Super Bowl history and Mahomes, 24, was one of the poorest of his three-year career stretches. He made interceptions on the Chiefs' first two campaigns of the second half as they went 10 points behind tied 10-10 at halftime. Obviously, in the third quarter, the way I wanted him to go, he didn't go, Maham said. I tried to force a few things. ... [But] people believed in me and gave me confidence to fight. Kansas City Chiefs celebrate after winning Super Bowl LIV over San Francisco 49ers. Down 20-10, Kansas City took over at its 17-yard line with 8:53 to go. Mahomes drove the offense 83 yards in 10 plays and hit tight end Travis Kelce for a one-yard touchdown with just over six minutes. The series included a conversion on third and 15 when Mahomes connected with wide receiver Tyreek Hill for 44 yards and another conversion on the third and 10 when 49ers safety Tarvarius Moore was called for pass interference. After Kansas City's defense forced a three-and-out, Mahomes led the Chiefs downfield again, this time on a seven-play, 65-yard drive that ended when he passed a five-yard touchdown run back to Damien Williams and left the lead with 2:44 left. I just went out there and kept competing, Maham said. I knew we weren't in the ideal situation. I believed in my defense. ... People believed in me and started making plays, and we found a way to win. In his second season as a starter, Mahomes finished 26 for 42 for 286 yards and two touchdowns with two interceptions. Noted for his dual-threat abilities, he didn't run wild but made gains 29 yards in nine. He also scored Kansas City's first touchdown on a one-yard run. What Mahomes did mostly Sunday helped awaken a high-level and highly touted offense before it was too late. The Chiefs thrived all season behind their speed and playmaking abilities. But they were bottled up by San Francisco for most of the first three quarters. Kansas City's three longest plays all came in the final 7:13. These are the guys I have around me, we'll enjoy this for a long time, said Mahomes, who was the NFL's MVP last season. It's really historic to be here and win this game. Williams finished with 104 yards in 17 carries. He scored his 38-yard run with 1:12 to 1:12. The touchdown was added after the 49ers overturned the ball on the down. For San Francisco, for, The loss came after consecutive convincing victories to reach the Super Bowl. The 49ers, behind a rough running game, hammered Minnesota and Green Bay in the NFC playoffs. Against the Chiefs, they had 141 yards rushing in 22 attempts. But quarterback Jimmy Garoppolo was caught twice and his Final Four possessions netted no points. Kansas City, meanwhile, ended its Super Bowl run by exactly what it did to reach Super Bowl LIV. We have the ability as a team to figure out what the other team is doing and put their foot in the ground and say, 'Enough is enough,' Kelce said. This is special. We showed it throughout the playoffs and it showed even more tonight. — The NFL (@NFL) holds on to february 3, 2020 chiefs winning the Super Bowl — defeating the Kansas City 49ers 31-20 and capturing their first championship in 50 years.
