Wed, 08/07/2013 - 09:53 -- typerestore St. George's Catholic Church This is the poem I wrote to propose to my fiancée, Emily. I read to him after Church on October 6, 2012. Our pastor delivered a homily on the wedding that night, which made it even more special. 37th 5 24.864 N, 95th 42 46.4076 W You saw me through good and bad times through thick and thin, through happy and sad You have never left my side No matter what fate has decided That you are sweet, you are kind, you are beautiful You are loving, caring, and perfect also You are my darling, my princess, my special daughter You are, and will be forever, my whole world I love you with all my heart So that we will never part And now I ask you on one knee marry you? I could skip a heartbeat, and I'd survive I could be in a car accident, and still be alive. Clouds could fall from the sky, the oceans could disappear, and all loosen. These things in life are all bad, I know, but there are much worse things, just thought you should know. Life wouldn't be the same without someone like you, you're there when I need you to help me through. Through the good times and through the bad, be it happy, or be the sad. I don't need to be with you, to know that you're here, we don't need to see each other, to know that we care. We could be separated for years, and remain best friends. Life goes on, and people change, and through it all, our friendship will remain the same. It's like a life, and how things come to be. Just thought you should know, how much you mean to me. Source: Through Thick And Thin, Best Friend Poem Reflection: I've had the same best friend since the second year. Throughout primary, middle and secondary school, we were inseparable. I couldn't imagine my life without her. She is more than my sister and I know she always will be. We have been there for each other, and each other's families, for as long as I can remember. We shared many laughs, meals, clothes, tips, carpooling, and tears and I would not exchange my experiences and memories I made with her for nothing in the world. We have had our fights like anyone else, but they are resolved quickly, without resentment or resentment. Who has time for that anyway? With her, I am fearless, and together we are Love is the center of a deep red rose, love is the bruise that never goes, love is the feeling of your 2 in 1, love is pain when they are gone. Love is the traces after your walk, love is the voice behind your speech, love is knowing that they will be there, When everything seems naked. Love goes through thick and thin, love is knowing together that you will win. Love is the wings of a fragile bird, love shares happy moments you have both seen and heard. This message was submitted by soph. Email This Poem To Your Friend More Quotes The poem my best friend sent me made me cry. We've known each other since we were three years old. It is a friendship that has lasted over the years and now that the world is going through this pandemic, it was so wonderful to hear about it. This poem brings me back because I have a best friend. Her name is Giseh; I love it so much. We met in seventh grade and have been friends ever since. We went through a lot and went to different schools. I went to high school, and she went to college. I love every piece of the poem. I remember the love of my life, Joy. Although apart, let go of your fear. Love is sent to the end. Wow! This poem is so beautifully written, I was crying! I'm going through a difficult time with my friend now - she's very mean, and this poem reminded me of the days we shared before this average series in her. I know I can get away with it. Thank you for publishing such a beautiful work that really touched me. This poem is just amazing! He actually describes my friendship with my two best friends. I'm going to move around the world and I'm going to miss them so much! I really don't want to leave them! I hope our friendship will continue! I've been friends with them for 2 years and we just clicked! We've been telling them my secrets ever since! This poem describes me and my perfect best friend, we were best friends for 6 years, I moved out last year and I hated it. But about 2 months ago she moved to where I live and it was the best thing ever. This poem describes us so well. Hello. I'm Mahsa. I am from Iran and of course I am 14 years old. Your poems are really beautiful and amazing. Thank you for your help. You helped me find my best friend. Thank you very much. I love this poem! It's unbelievable. Described perfectly me and my best friend, I am a 43 year old woman who has been sick for a while now. I just got diagnosed with liver cancer and was given a short time to live. I have this 31 year old INCROYABLE Best Friend. She's been with me for three years since I got sick. She was there every time I went to the hospital, when I wasn't able to keep anything down, she was there to clean up the mess, hold my hair and hold my hand through it all. Honestly, I don't know what I would have done without it. I had to be in bed for a while, she turned me, wiped my face, gave me baths and everything I needed. I had staphylococcus really and couldn't walk and had to wear diapers until I could walk on my own, she changed my diapers every hour on time. There are a lot of people saying they LOVE me, but... she really loves me. I am so happy that she I'm a best friend. It is the REAL SENS of a 'BEST FRIEND'. I thank God every day that she was brought into my life and I cannot and will not imagine my life without it. This poem is perfect for me and my best friend, I walk away and write a book to say goodbye and it was the poem I wanted her to read! Thank you very much! It really touched my heart, I lose my friend because I'm moving. I've only known them for two years, but I'm so sad. I have many other friends I've known since kindergarten, and I might never see them again. When I read these poems, I cry with tears! This poem reminds me of my best friend that we clicked the first time we met and we share everything and distance is separate, but we share something very special. I literally just came across this out of nowhere, but this describes me and my best friend more than any poem I've ever read. I was looking for a poem for my best friend because she is 16 years old and it is the perfect poem for her :) This poem is incredible. I was looking for a poem for me and my best friend, and this one hit right on the head! I loved it!! !!!
