Godiva chocolate covered strawberries recipe

13/08/2012 It wasn't good-wasted chocolate chips. It was too thick and didn't stick. 02/15/2013 I thought it would be even healthier to use dark chocolate and skip the shortening. I kept the chocolate over the double boiler while I was working to keep the chocolate hot and easy to work with. These are both very nice to look at and delish to eat! I washed and dried my dry berries, then let them air dry a little longer so that they were not wet at all and prevented the chocolate from sticking. I placed them on parchment once soaked. I had no problem what'sy and they came out great! 08/13/2012 it tastes good but is way too thick to look pretty 28/06/2014 I changed the shortening to almond butter. It was delicious 26/02/2013 I used 1 tablespoon of intelligent balance with dark chocolate. I added a pinch of dark chocolate cinnamon and it was amazing! Also - depending on the size of the strawberry toothpicks did not work too well. I just dipped them and placed them on a large plate that had a layer of parchment paper on it. Place the strawberries there and let them cool for 30-45 minutes. They are great the next day too b/c the kind of ferment and great taste! 15/10/2015 I love chocolate-coated strawberries. I can eat them every day nd night 04/01/2017 These are perfect! Let them harden in the fridge, they were so quick and easy 03/10/2017 Delicious I used all the natural peanut butter instead of lard. 1 of 3 strawberries coated in healthier chocolate Trish Shanley 2 of 3 strawberries covered in healthier chocolate 'Lissa' 3 of 3 strawberries covered with healthier chocolate Beverly Robinson Herbst auf HGTV Auch als Geschenk eine schon Idee DIY Das perfekte Geschenk DIY Perfekt für die kalte Jahreszeit Herbst auf HGTV Säe Herbst-Deko!
