[Charles Manson Epic] [Interview question:] Source: LYBIO.net People look at you today after 20 years and they still tell you in a sentence who you are, don't you know what you are about? [Charles Mills Manson (from November 12, 1934) No one I'm nobody. I am a trampler, a bum, a hobo I am a boxca and a wine jug And a straight razor ... If you get too close to me, Over the course of his nearly 50-year imprisonment, cult leader and convicted serial killer Charles Manson made his fair share of interviews to local and national media. But for many, one interview in particular stood out over the rest. The interview took place in 1989, 20 years after Manson orchestrated the horrific murders of pregnant actress Sharon Tate and six others in Los Angeles in the summer of 1969. In the interview, Manson was asked by a reporter to describe in one sentence who he was. It would be a reaction to Manson's response and how he reacted, which caused people to become even more deeply disrupted by the convicted murderer. Immediately following a reporter's question, Manson leaps forward from his chair. His eyes double in size. Manson then begins leaning on his chair, with a strange expression and at one point sticking out his tongue. Manson eventually answers the question about six seconds after he is asked. No one. Manson whispered to the reporter. I'm nobody. After a pause, Manson answered that question further. I'm a trampler, a bum, a hobo. Manson continued to whisper to the reporter. I have a box and a wine jug, and if you get too close to me it's a straight razor. Manson, 83, died of natural causes Sunday, November 19, 2017.
