Click here to see if your restaurant operates with our fast and free Wi-Fry Is offered in partnership with Macca's free Wi-Fi Telstra Air which provides Wi-Fi infrastructure. Telstra Air Network is an open and unsafe network. This openness is one that allows hotspots to be accessible, although it also means that you may want to take some extra precautions when using it to protect your information. If your information before transmitting from your device to hotspot If not, the data you send over the open network can potentially be caught. is. The way to help protect your security is to always check the padlock icon in the bar of your device's web browser address. This helps identify that the website employs a layer of security to help protect your data such as SSL or HTTPS. Most public Wi-Fi networks, including Telstra Air, are unencrypted or open and potentially unsafe. When you connect to an open network, check the padlock icon in the address bar of your device's web browser. We recommend that you do not send or receive personal information or carry out activities such as internet banking when using unsecured public Wi-Fi. When you connect to a Wi-Fi network, your device may prompt you to enter the network type ('home', 'work' or 'public'). If this happens, always connect as 'public' as it will lock the connection more securely. Free Wi-Fi in Macca gives you a connection for up to 60 minutes or up to 250 MB (whichever happens earlier) within any calendar day, at the participating McDonald's Australia campus. After this time, you will be automatically logged out of Wi-Fry until the next day. The speed and throughput of each McDonald's Australia Wi-Fi service varies depending on a number of factors, not limited: the number of users accessing Wi-Fi at any one time is combined with the amount of data being uploaded/downloaded. Sometimes, the amount of users unexpectedly exceeds the amount of bandwidth available at a location, thereby slowing the connection speed. The capabilities of your wireless enabled device and the physical location of wireless access points within the premises can affect Wi-Fi speed. Each Wi-Fi access point has a limited limit, to gain optimal access, it is recommended that your wireless enabled device access wi-fi within the radius of the premises. Not to worry, you can still access your mymukka account. Click here and follow the prompts to reset your mymacca password. Password.
