The lively music videos and catchy melodies have allowed everyone to dance and sing along to songs like Boy with Luv, Kill This Love and Fancy. But before you take this K-pop quiz, let's discuss some of the most popular artists and groups of all time! You may have heard of Gangnam Style and the famous group BTS, but what about Super Junior, TWICE and EXO? These talented groups are popular for songs like Mr. Simple, What is Love? and Love Shot. Some K-pop artists include actors such as D.O. in Hello Monster, Kim Hyun-joong in Playful Kiss and Im Yoona in God of War. Other popular K-pop groups include Miss A, T-ara and Wonder Girls, all of which have been nominated for many awards (and they've all won their fair share). K-pop groups usually consist of many members, and it is not uncommon to find 10, 13 or even 27 members in a band (the latter, Apeace, have since reduced their membership to 15). So if you feel energetic today, then it's time to do our fun K-pop quiz now! There are few bands or music groups that survive the test of time, especially those that were founded in the 2000s. From Fifth Harmony to One Direction, both boys and girls' groups aren't really durable. That's unless you're talking about Little Mix. The British girl group won the British X-Factor in 2011 and was the first girl group ever to do so in the British version of the show. Since then, they've been doing bangers, but they're not that big in American. To really convince why Little Mix should be a hit, here are seven videos to show. It's also a good introduction for them if you've never heard their music. It's such a bop, with multiple levels to the song. It has the rhythmic, staccato vers and then the more fluid, sensual chorus. It's a song that's great to work, dance, dance, a big hype-up song. As one of the top comments said: Every time I hear Little Mix, I become a cheeky, confident queen, then the song ends and I come back and I'm a little potato.) 2. Black Magic One of the first hits of Little Mix and songs in general, Black Magic tells the fantastic story of wanting to use a love potion on a guy to get them to finally notice you. While it's just a fantasy, the music video is so worth it. The four members play this kind of nerdy or awkward girl who have a massive crush on this one guy. They grab a magical book and begin to sabotage the mean girl and help other less than popular children in their school. It's fun and really meant their massive start. 3. Love Me Like You A retro-inspired song, Love Me Like You, will remind you of a sockhop jam from the 1950s. It's slower and perfectly highlights their voices. It also has the great 50s concept of longing and pining for a guy who seems to be unique. However, the video from 2015 shows that maybe some guys are too good to be good. Regardless of how you take its meaning, it's a fun song that will put you in a happy, bright mood. 4. Think About Us ft. Ty Dolla $ign Think About Us basically acts when you're so into someone that when you think about them (which is a lot), you can't help but wonder or hope they do the same. Whether it's at the beginning of a relationship or near its end, it's definitely a worry or thought someone might have. The song itself is also a really, really good mood. The beat can be for dancing or just a nice background pulse when you need it. 5. Woman Like Me ft. Nicki Minaj Little Mix has always had an underlying or sometimes unhurried message of empowerment. Woman Like Me, one of her newer songs, basically says that they are strong, open and sometimes don't really behave the way a real woman should. But they like a guy and ask themselves: Can they deal with it? This also has Nicki Minaj and is such a good song for you to feel powerful. 6. Reggaet'n Lento CNCO duet Originally, Reggaeton Lento was completely in Spanish as it was a single by the Latin American boy band CNCO. Little Mix jumped on the remix, and it's such a good song. It's definitely a different style of music that they usually do, but they execute it perfectly. There are still parts in Spanish, and it's perfect to dance. 7. Shout Out to My Ex Okay, time to crown it with one of little mix's best and greatest songs. It is the ultimate It is not the ex, per se, but it is uplifting the girls. They thank their exes for making them what they are now by teaching them lessons and being out of their lives now. Honestly, it's like thank you U, go on, but obviously years It's also famous about Zayn Malick, who reportedly split with Little Mix member Perrie Edwards via text message. It's the perfect song to scream out the lyrics, even if you don't have an ex. Every week there are hundreds of thousands of new songs that go up in the air. Eminem jumped into the political sphere this week, announcing that he was working a new album, and putting his music where his mouth is by releasing an eight-minute verse called Campaign Speech. A dense and highly virtuoso effort that shows his legendary pun, the rapper spends a lot of time picking Donald Trump apart on the track – ironically, considering that Mr. Trump himself supported Em as president in 2002. Amazon iTunes Grateful Dead legend Bob Weir recently brought his folk magic (and several members of the famous indie rock act The National) for a special appearance on Stephen Colbert's Late Show, with a new single called Lay My Lily Down. A gentle walker with banjo, several acoustic guitars and a slow-rolling groove, this is one that you can put on by sipping your first cup of coffee in the cool October air. Amazon iTunes A politically motivated verse from Common appears on this excellent remix of Solanges Cranes In The Sky. This is a subtle jam that bounces over clean R&B hooks with the Chicago rapper's thoughts on modern American democracy – a good platform for political discourse, as we can imagine. Vinyl crackles, gentle bass drum and jazzy horns abound on Jordan Raf's duvet, creating a kind of soft single that warms the room as it slowly unfolds through your speakers. This three-minute jam is as cathartic as it is catchy. Amazon iTunes Maggie Rogers burst onto the music world's radar this summer after sharing her first single Alaska with a tear-jerking Pharrell in a video. The folk-driven pop song with layered vocal hooks hasn't changed since she first shared it with the superstar in New York, but now he's coming up with a spectacular music video at a party in the woods in Rogers' Maryland was filmed.
