The daughter of actors Cary Grant and Dyan Cannon, she is best known for her roles in the television series Beverly Hills, 90210 and Movie Stars. Early life Grant was born in Burbank, California, to actors Dyan Cannon and Cary Grant. Her parents divorced when she was just two years old. Jennifer had a close relationship with her father for the rest of her life. Partly because her father didn't want her to become an actress, she tried other things for several years. As a teenager during high school at Brentwood School in Los Angeles and on break from college, she worked as a babysitter, stock clerk at the Village store in Pacific Palisades, cashier grocery store checkout at Rainbow Grocery in Malibu, and waitress at the Pioneer Boulangerie restaurant in Santa Monica. [1] After graduating from Stanford University in 1987 with a degree in American Studies, she worked for a law firm, and followed this with a job as a chef at Wolfgang Puck's Spago restaurant in Beverly Hills. [1] When her father died in 1986, he left him half of his $60 million fortune; the other half of the property went to her stepmother, Barbara Harris. [2] Career Jennifer and Cary Grant, Gerald Ford (top center), housekeeper Willie in 1976 at Century Plaza Hotel President's Suite, Los Angeles. In 1993, seven years after her father's death, Grant played her first role in the television drama Beverly Hills, 90210, as Celeste Lundy. She appeared as a guest star in a variety of shows, including Friends, and later appeared in several films. In 1999, she was the lead actress in the television series WB Film Stars. Grant's Memoir, Good Stuff: A Reminiscence of My Father, Cary Grant (2011), is a portrait of her relationship with her father, who was 62 when she was born and who died 20 years later. [3] The title refers to a preferred phrase of his, spoken in reference to the things he approved or the situations he was happy about. [1] Grant's personal life has two children, a son, Cary (b. 2008), and a daughter, Davian (b. 2011). [4] [6] She was previously married to director Randy Zisk from 1993 to 1996. [7] Grant volunteered as an actress and mentor to the Young Storytellers Foundation.
