Earlier this month, players of Pokemon Sword and Pokemon Shield learned that a set of DCs will firmly come through the expansion pass this year. While news of the growing Pokédex is, of course, welcome, it means that players will want to complete the existing Galar Dex before a major expansion comes into play. Wandering around the Wild Area every day, you'll notice that weather conditions don't just impact the battle anymore. In Pokemon Sword and Shield, the weather determines which Pokemon lay eggs in a specific area of the Wild Area. Since the general weather per area only changes every day, it can be a tedious process waiting to open the game and luck to the right weather day to find the Pokemon you want to catch. Luckily, there's a little sneaky way for you to change the weather in Pokemon Sword and Pokemon Shield.Changing the weather greatly speeds up the process of filling up your Pokédex, and it also means that you can target some of the best and strongest Pokémon in the game. Here, you'll find out how to change the weather, how to change a specific type of weather, and some of the best Pokémon to be found in every type of weather in Sword and Shield.Change the weather in Sword and Shield To change the weather in Pokémon Sword and Shield, follow along This simple: Save your Pokémon Sword or or Game Shield, press the 'Home' button to return to the Nintendo Switch home screen. Press 'X' on pokémon Sword or pokémon Shield tile and close the game. Go to the bottom bar and to System Settings, then press 'A' key to sign in. In System Settings, scroll down along the left side to the System option, then press 'A'. In the System menu, select Date and Time by hovering over the option and pressing 'A'. Here, you'll notice that the option to 'Sync Hours over the Internet' is redirected to 'On.' Press 'A' here to open the option to change the Date and Time settings. If you're Offline, you can go straight down to Date and Time. Go to the Date and Time options and change the date to the day and month of your choice to get different weather conditions in the Wild Area. After you change the date, re-exit the settings menu and get back into the game. Going through these moves to find the weather conditions you want each time is a tedious process, but luckily fellow Pokémon Sword and Shield players have found the perfect date for any weather conditions. How to get one weather condition throughout the Wild AreaDiscovered by Austin John Plays, there are specific dates that you can put in your Nintendo Switch that will cause the weather throughout the Wild Area to be the same. While some of these weather conditions are locked at a certain stage of development in the game (listed below), this is the date that should be included to guarantee one weather condition throughout the Wild Area: May 1, 2020: Normal Weather1 July 2020: Sunny Weather1 March 2020: Cloudy Weather1 October 2020: Rain1 November 2020: Thunderstorm1 June 2020: Foggy Weather1 April 2020: Sandstorm1 February 2020 : Hailing1 December 2020 : SnowingIn Pokémon Sword and Shield, blizzard and sandstorm weather conditions won't happen until you defeat the first three Gym Leaders in the game. To unlock foggy weather conditions, you have to defeat Leon and become the Champion of Galar. Now that you know how to change the weather in Sword and Shield as well as what dates produce a certain type of weather, all that's left to do is go out and catch pokémon. Weather Conditions to target the best Pokémon in the Wild AreaIn the Wild Area, Lake Kamarahan has become famous for the quality of Pokémon that lay eggs in the area. Most of the best Pokémon in Anger Lake can only be found in this area and have very low spawning rates in very specific weather conditions. So, if you want to catch some of the best Pokémon in Sword and Shield, consult the table below to see which weather conditions you need and how you need to look for Pokémon in Anger Lake. This is mostly important for the Wild Area in the game, as it has a huge influence on what pokemon will appear! We take a full look at this mechanic and teach you everything you need to know about it. How to Change your Weather can not really change the special weather in the Wild Area in the game itself. It's random and seems determined by the date and time of your Nintendo Switch. However, the weather can vary greatly in various landmark locations throughout the Wild Area. If you don't realize, there are many different parts of this large open world area. You'll see at the bottom of the screen when you enter a new screen. One of these areas can have drastically different weather than the other at the same time. Although you can't change the weather in the game itself, you can do so by playing with your settings a little: How to Get Specific Weather: Fog, Sandstorm, Blizzard! Now it has been found that you can choose a specific weather in the game if you set the date to a specific time! However, for some weather options, you'll need to go further in the story to unlock it. Credit to Austin John Plays on YouTube for exploring this ability. To set a date on your Nintendo Switch, be sure to close your Pokemon game and go to System Settings > System > Date and Time. Clear the option to Synchronize Hours over the Internet check box. Then go to Date and Time and set it to the desired weather option based on the date below. You can do this anytime in the story (date in US format): Clear: 5/1/2020 Sunny: 7/1/2020 Cloudy: 3/1/2020 Showers: Stormy Lightning 10/1/2020: 11/1/2020 Snow: 12/1/2020 For Sandstorms and Blizzards you should be at least in the middle of the game. To unlock Fog, you have to finish the story! Blizzard: 2/1/2020 Sandstorm: 4/1/2020 Fog: 6/1/2020 After you set a date, go ahead and reopen the game. If you do it right, the all-weather Wild Area will be set to a certain type! Check the Weather If you want to know what the weather is like in a particular area, you can go to the map and press the + button to turn the weather on and off Weather Symbol Here's a quick look at what each Weather Symbol means. Fog and Sandstorms seem to be the most Pokemon Spawns Vary During Certain Weather There are some Pokemon that lay eggs much easier when there is a certain type of weather. Fog seems to be one of the that lays eggs, and some Pokemon pull out during that type of weather. That means if you see Fog in a location on your map, you'll probably want to drop it all and head there to see what Pokemon imagine! Weather in Battles & Battles Camp If your preferred pokemon weather is happening when you enter the battle it will do more damage! There are some Pokemon that can have movements that will change the weather which can then improve your ability to deal with damage. Pokemon are happier in Camp in Favored Weather If you head to your camp during certain weather, then Pokemon with the preferred type of weather will be happier! Preferred Weather by Pokemon Type List Here's a look at how Pokemon Type supports each type of weather. You can find the type chart for Sword and Shield here.
