The Voiceworks series goes from strength to strength, and this heavy spiral-bound book is a very useful resource. . . . Each piece has a full page of written introduction, context giving, tips on how to start teaching a piece to your collection, and guidance on performance creation. . . . There is advice every step of the way on how to keep your singers engaged, sing healthily, learn well, and excellent music content. Where there are piano parts, they are easy to play. Everything is explained and explained again, and the presentation is beautifully displayed. What's more, each page has a logo that may be copied. There is a CD at the back, loaded with MP3s including learning tracks, which highlight each part individually, and piano support tracks. Lydon, music teacher, June 2016) Getika Partington is a singer, songwriter, organization and workshop leader. She runs two large community choirs - the Bishops' Singers and the Tophombing Choir in the City of London - and a primary school choir in Camden, as well as training days for local music education authorities (teacher training and community choir leaders), capella workshops, and singing festivals for adults, students and families. She has co-written two children's musicals and arranged a wide range of songs for the SATB Kabila Choir, many of which are featured in her pop-sing Capella (Novello), and wrote song committees to sing up!, including a 2015 national singing song to the day. Gitika holds a Master's degree in Coral Education from the University of Surrey, Roehampton, and is a Licentiate from the Guildhall School of Music and Drama (jazz singing and arrangement). She studied high school music for 12 years and is a member of the Natural Voice Practitioners Network and band 3 Bucket Jones. Alison Burns is a songwriter, arranged, and music educator. Her songs can be heard in environments as diverse as public art installations, theatre, mainstream education and special needs, and in the repertoire and recordings of many community choirs throughout Britain and the USA. She has published several collections including two school books, and many of her songs are part of even singing! The song bank site has featured specifically in singing up! S magazine. It is also known for its originalperformances titled Choirs - in 2008, her song 'Sunshine in My Heart' was used by the Association for All Children with Disabilities Speech (Avasic) in an attempt to enter the Guinness Book of Records by getting as many people as possible to sing a song simultaneously in sign language. Allison is a founding member of Natural Voice Practitioners Network, an international organization of sound teachers and singers who work in community environments and continues to participate in its development.
