Early in his life, Davidtz was born in Lafayette, Indiana, while his father was studying chemical engineering at Purdue University. His parents, John and Jean, then moved to Trenton, New Jersey, and then back to their native South Africa when Davidtz was nine years old. Davidtz has Dutch, English and French ancestry. She had to learn Afrikaans before going to classes in South Africa,[1] where her father took a teaching position at Potchefstroom University. Davidtz graduated from Glen High School in Pretoria in 1983 and studied at Rhodes University in Grahamstown. Early and early in his career, Davidtz made her acting debut at the age of 21 with capab (Cape Performing Arts Board, now known as Artscape) in Cape Town, playing Juliet in a staging of Romeo and Juliet at the Maynardville Open-Air Theatre. Performing in English and Afrikaans, she has also appeared in other local plays, including Stille Nag (Silent Night) and A Chain of Voices, both of which earned nominations for the South African equivalent of the Tony Award. His first film came in 1988 with a small role in the American horror film Mutator. Soon after, she won a bigger role in the South African short TV movie A Private Life, as the daughter of an interracial couple. Davidtz won a DALRO Award for Best Supporting Actress for her work in the play Houd-den-bek in 1990. For the same play, she was nominated in 1991 for the Esther Roos Award for Best Actress in a Supporting Role in an Afrikaans film. Steven Spielberg noticed his performance in the 1992 South African film Nag van die Negentiende and offered him the role of Helen Hirsch in Schindler's List. Hollywood Career In 1993, Davidtz played the by Helen Hirsch in Steven Spielberg's Schindler's List. Davidtz played a central role in the fact-based film Murder in the First (1995), followed by the July Ivory production festival (also 1995). In Matilda (1996), a based on Roald Dahl's children's fantasy, she played the role of Miss Honey, the title character's first-year teacher. In 1998, Davidtz played a theologian helping Denzel Washington crack a supernatural wave of crimes in the mystery drama Fallen and a femme fatale linked to Kenneth Branagh in Robert Altman taking on a previously unused John Grisham manuscript, The Gingerbread Man. The following year, Davidtz portrayed a 19th-century world woman in Patricia Rozema's recast of Jane Austen's comedy Mansfield Park and played a dual role opposite Robin Williams in the futuristic fable Bicentennial Man. A supporting role in the film adaptation of Bridget Jones's Diary (2001) saw Davidtz play Natasha, a colleague and one of the love interests of Mark Darcy (Colin Firth). That year, she began her run on the CBS drama Citizen Baines, playing the daughter of a defeated U.S. Senate president (James Cromwell) who is herself leaning toward a career in politics. Other roles include horror thrillers such as Thir13en Ghosts from 2001 alongside Tony Shalhoub. In 2002, she appeared in Michael Hoffman's drama The Emperor's Club, which co-starred Kevin Kline and Emile Hirsch. In Junebug (2005), Davidtz played a foreign art dealer from Chicago brought to North Carolina by her husband (Alessandro Nivola) to meet his family for the first time. Davidtz also guest-starred on the hit ABC drama series Grey's Anatomy as the sister of Dr. Derek Shepherd Nancy in season 3 episode Let the Angels Commit. In 2008, she had a regular role on HBO In Treatment as Amy, part of a fractious couple alongside Jake Josh Charles. She portrayed the unfaithful and unhappy wife of Anthony Hopkins' character in the 2007 drama Fracture. From 2009 to 2012, she played Rebecca Pryce, wife of Lane Pryce, on the hit television show AMC Mad Men. She also played Felicia Koons, the dean's wife and mother to Becca's best friend, Chelsea, on Showtime Californication. Davidtz played Annika Blomkvist in David Fincher's adaptation of The Girl with the Dragon Tattoo. She also appeared in Marc Webb's Spider-Man reboot The Amazing Spider-Man as Mary Parker, the mother of Peter Parker who disappeared under mysterious circumstances with Richard Parker. Davidtz's personal life married entertainment lawyer Jason Sloane on June 22, 2002, and they have two children. Davidtz has a younger sister who is a psychologist at Nova Southeastern University in Fort Lauderdale, Florida. In an interview about her appearances on Ray Donovan, in which she portrays a breast cancer survivor, Davidtz revealed that she had been diagnosed with breast cancer in 2013, which stopped working and for which she had a mastectomy. [9] The role was the first davidtz after undergoing treatment, and when informed that he required nudity, Davidtz worked with the producer Hollander to incorporate her partially reconstructed right breast into history, refusing the use of a prosthesis as a substitute for her right nipple that had to be restored by surgery. Someone might not believe it if an actress pretends to have their nipple gone and says, Look, I'm still sexual and pretty. But when it's real, I hope it makes someone feel beautiful. I still feel beautiful, Davidtz said of the message she wanted to convey as she took on the role. Four years ago, Miss Honey, the teacher we all wanted. The film Matilda had some key characters that left a lasting impression on the viewers. There was the central character Matilda, played by Mara Wilson, who was endearing and gentle, and her family, led by the character of Danny DeVito M. Wormwood, who were cruel and unsympath. The Matilda school also brought another unfavorable character, Ms. Trunchbull, who was the principal who terrorized children with her overly harsh disciplinary methods. Who can forget the nail room, where the children were put if they behaved badly, or the only time Mrs. Trunchball took a child by her pig's tails and threw her in the yard like a discus. through GIPHY The saving grace of school and children was Miss Honey, played by Embeth Davidtz, who was a charming and kind teacher who had the well-being and safety of children as the number one priority. She eventually saved Matilda from her family and adopted him. She was a hero. She looked young when she appeared as Miss Honey in 1996, but now, 20 years later, she still looks so fresh and young. She is now 50 years old and still stars in films, most recently seen in The Amazing Spider-Man 1 and 2 as Mary Parker, alongside Andrew Garfield and Emma Stone. Look at her now, she's gorgeous.
